Auction sale of Barre real estate tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock p. m., of a two-story, two-tenement house, known as 112 and 113 Brooklyn street. Home seekers and investors, be on hand; a positive sale to the highest bidder. C. F. Smith, auctioneer.

A reader of The Times, ill with tubercular trouble and confined to the house, has expressed a desire to read the following books: "The Prince of India," "The Rules of the Game," "Truxton King," "Laddie," "The Woman Thou Gavest Me." Anyone having copies of any one of these books which they wish to donate can leave same at this office and they will be delivered to the person desiring them.

The C. O. F. gained a big margin of points last evening in another of the series of "45" matches which are being held between the C. O. F. and the A. O. U. during the winter. The victory was a 10 point lead and placed them but 10 points behind the A. O. U. in the standing. The final match will take place in another fortnight. The C. O. F. have a bare chance of winning out over their opponents in this match.

Angus A. Smith of Perry street returned yesterday from Montreal, P. Q., where he has been making an extended business visit. Mr. Smith states that the mercury in the Canadian metropolis sank to unprecedented depths Tuesday and Wednesday and that the untold suffering among the poor of the city when the water mains burst a few weeks ago was repeated this week. A temperature of -35 prevailed Tuesday and Wednesday.

Local members of the Knights of Columbus have received invitations to attend the commemoration of the 17th anniversary of the institution of De Goesbriand council, No. 279, Knights of Columbus, which is to be held at Burlington next Thursday. The affair will be held at the Vanna Ness hotel and members of the order from all over the New England states will be present. Barre is contemplating sending a large delegation to the event. At the commemoration will be James A. Flaherty of New Haven, Conn., supreme knight of the national organization, James McKinley, supreme secretary, and several other important national officers. This will be the first visit of Supreme Knight Flaherty into Vermont.

Spaulding's basketball squad left the city at 8:15 this morning for Morrisville, where the team will play the first game of a two-day trip that will end in Stowe tomorrow evening. To-night the local schoolboys will line up against the People's academy quintet and tomorrow night their opponents will be the high school team which Spaulding defeated in this city last week by a narrow margin. The following players made up the squad: Hooker, T. Tomasi, Olliver, Gordon, Levin, and J. Carroll. Coach Agnew, Manager Arthur Blackmore and James T. Kenefick of the high school athletic council accompanied the team. All will return to this city Sunday morning. This is Spaulding's first trip of the season. Several others are contemplated before the schedule is completed.

This week's rigorous weather has called to mind the warning issued by the state humane society in regard to leaving horses to stand in the street without the protection of a blanket. Lately there have been several violations of this humane law. Every deputy sheriff in Washington county is a qualified humane officer and each has the power to institute neglect proceedings against offenders of this kind. Thus far the responsibility seems to rest with the officers, as there is a certain element of horse owners, who will disregard the humane laws as long as the authority vested in the deputies is not exercised. No longer ago than Wednesday, one of the coldest days of the winter, a lone horse stood for hours right on North Main street without so much as a thin blanket to protect it from the weather.

Grangers in this section of Vermont will be interested to learn that Andrew Elliott of Gault, Ont., a well-known authority on horse breeding and agriculture, has returned to the state and will speak in several important centers at the request of E. S. Brigham of St. Albans state commissioner of agriculture. In 1912 Mr. Elliott gained a considerable reputation by his excellent judging of live stock and horses around the fairs in this state. He also made frequent speeches during his stay in Vermont and will be remembered here for his talk to the farmers at a demonstration at the Morrison farm. Another prominent agriculturist engaged by Commissioner Brigham is Hugh Van Pelt, editor of the Kimball Farmer, published in Waterloo, Ia. It is likely that both Mr. Elliott and Editor Van Pelt will speak in this vicinity before they leave the state.

BANQUET AT ST. JOHNSBURY.

Commercial Club Listened to Several Addresses.

St. Johnsbury, Jan. 16.--The St. Johnsbury Commercial club met at the Avenue hotel last night, the post-prandial exercises, with the club's president, Joseph Fairbanks, as toastmaster, being one of the finest the club ever listened to. M. J. Lyster of Whitefield spoke on "Boasting" and Judge Frank L. Fish of Vergennes, on "Friendship in Business."

Franklin H. Wentworth of Boston, secretary of the New England Protective association, addressed the club on "The Economic Significance of Fire Waste."

FROZE UP TELEPHONES.

Have Worked in Montpelier During Recent Cold Snap.

The recent cold snap worked havoc with many telephone lines in Montpelier, the cable at the corner of Main and Elm streets being put out of commission, including one hundred lines. The city's steam thawing machine was brought into use, but it failed to do the required work, so that it is expected that the cable will have to be dug up before the lines can be put into operation.

DIED IN CHURCH.

Henry Walton Griffith of Philadelphia Was in New York.

New York, Jan. 16.--Henry Walton Griffith of Philadelphia, secretary of the Norfolk & Western railroad, died suddenly last night in All Angels' Protestant Episcopal church on West End avenue. Cards made out to him furnished the means of identification. The body was removed to a police station.

Philadelphia, Jan. 16.--Henry Walton Griffith went to New York last night to attend a concert at the All Angels' Protestant Episcopal church. Recently he had been complaining of not feeling well and was fearful of a weak heart.

His sister, with whom he lived here, said she had been advised of his death by telephone and did not think there was any doubt in the identification.

Mr. Griffith was secretary of the Norfolk & Western railroad and was a member of several well known clubs in this city. He was 56 years old and unmarried.
