MANY DIED IN RUINS

As Two Buildings in Philadelphia Collapsed Last Night.

Philadelphia, March 20.—Two dwellings in the down-town negro section collapsed last night, burying nine negroes in the ruins. Five of them were killed, while the other four escaped with slight injuries.

An open air sleeping apartment was being constructed on the roof of one of the houses and the police believe the extra weight caused the collapse.

Shortly after the collapse the ruins caught fire, hampering the police and firemen in their rescue work. Two unidentified bodies, a man and a woman, were recovered. The other three bodies, all men, were rescued after the fire was extinguished. A report that an infant had also been killed could not be confirmed.

Mrs. Eubanks' head was almost severed from the body with an axe, and the two children, one of whom was four years old and the other a month, were killed with a knife. Before shooting himself, Eubanks called upon a neighbor and told what he had done.

FORMER VERMONT SURGEON.

Dr. Chester L. Hodgkins' Funeral Held at Rosindale, Mass.

Boston, March 20.—Funeral services for Dr. Chester Lyman Hodgkins, a physician and surgeon of international reputation, who died in Park Falls, Wis., Sunday, were held at the home of his brother, 1633 Center street, Rosindale, this afternoon.

Dr. Hodgkins was born in West Roxbury in 1870. He took a special course of medical study in Harvard university and was graduated from Georgetown university. He first engaged in practice in northern Vermont. During the Spanish war he was the surgeon of the 17th regiment, United States regulars. At the close of the war he resumed practice at Castleton, Vt., where he remained three years, removing to Cotter Hill, Tenn., where he was surgeon in a hospital.

Dr. Hodgkins later went to Ecuador as sanitary engineer of the South American Development company, remaining in its service about two years. On his return to this country, Dr. Hodgkins settled in Memphis, Tenn., where he built up a large practice, which he was obliged to give up for reason of failing health. Following a tour of the world he went to Wisconsin.

Dr. Hodgkins was high in Masonic circles and was member of many prominent medical societies both in this country and abroad. He leaves a wife.

"WATCHFUL WAITING" POLICY DEFEAT

Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas Said Bryan Originated It and He Eulogized Secretary of State on Occasion of His Birthday Celebration.

Lincoln, Neb., March 20.—Defending the administration's Mexican policy, declaring Secretary Bryan was the originator of "watchful waiting" and predicting that the people will some day rejoice over the warning against "woe and desolation" that would follow intervention in Mexico, Senator Joe T. Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, addressed friends and neighbors of Mr. Bryan at a dinner here last night to celebrate the 54th anniversary of the secretary's birth.

Senator Robinson recited the history of "ill-fated" Mexico from the days of Maximilian, asserting that conditions today are worse than ever and that Mexico has continually declined through a series of upheavals until to-day the country is divided with Huerta at the head of one assumed government and Carranza and Villa attempting to reign supreme in another.

"Maximilian was benevolent. Madero was generous. Huerta is malignant and revengeful. Maximilian was self-sacrificing. Madero was patriotic. Huerta is cruel and avaricious. His character is exemplified in his declaration: 'It costs but 35 cents to buy enough rope to hang a rebel.'"

"The vital, dominating leader of the rebel armies is Villa; it is not Carranza. Carranza is like Madero. Villa is like Huerta. His sagacity and aggressiveness have made him the master and the terror of northern Mexico. Villa recognizes neither law nor custom. His most striking characteristic is vindictive.

"I hope to live to eat the beef that will fatten on the grass which will grow on the graves of all my enemies."

"The slaughter of Benton and the murder of Bauch, respectively British and American subjects, by Carranza, Villa, and Huerta, and the sympathy of the administration and the organized cause of the Constitutionalists to doubt, if not to doom, in the minds and conscience of all our people.

"With Villa in command in the north and Huerta in power in the south, what hope has Mexico? If the constitutional cause should triumph, the fate of Madero may become the lot of Carranza. Villa will probably dominate him or destroy him. The dark ages with all their horrors, tyranny, usurpation and torture, cannot produce names more hideous in all that implies oppression and outrage than the names of Huerta and Villa! There is little choice between these men. Huerta stands for the old regime. Villa fights for its destruction."

Senator Robinson predicted that the cause of the constitutionalists would be retarded, if not defeated, "by its lawless leadership, which seems to recognize no limitation upon its own wrath."

"The policy of our government is justified by conditions in Mexico," Senator Robinson continued. "The spirit of impatience which has prompted some to advocate armed intervention, must be restrained. Our experience in the Philippines, and the whole history of Mexico, warn us against hasty or inconsiderate action. Intervention means a long period of occupation. It makes certain the sacrifice of thousands of lives. More than that, it contemplates the assumption of a burden which cannot now be weighed. It would array all 300,000,000 of the United States and unite all factions there against our armies."

"Let those who criticize the policy of 'watchful waiting' anticipate the results of armed intervention. Let them realize the many, turbulent years of strife that must follow; the blood that must inevitably flow; the homes that must be made desolate; the almost hopelessness of the problem of bringing order out of chaos and of establishing a stable government in Mexico on principles unfamiliar to her people. Let them grasp, if they can, the additional naval and military burdens which are the direct and unnecessary results of armed intervention. Unfortunately, the Mexican problem is incapable of solution under any plan that can be pre-determined. The character, habits, and traditions of the Mexican people underlie their present struggle, and confirm the administration's policy to leave Mexico to work out her own salvation. Huerta and Villa must, however, be made to realize the sacredness which other nations attach to human life and property. They must be instructed to look for a day when every wrong perpetrated upon a foreigner in Mexico must have restitution."

"We now celebrate the birthday of one who is, in many respects, the most remarkable man of our times. During the last 20 years, Mr. Bryan has been the leader of political reforms in the United States. Many of his principles have been written into the law. He has stood for peace, peace at home, peace with all the world! He has sought to raise the standards of diplomacy. 'Grape-juice diplomacy' and the 'battleship, friendship' have been the slogan of those who would mock him. Modest sobriety and universal peace have been his aim. The time has not yet come when all international problems may be frankly discussed before the public; but the time is approaching when simplicity and frankness will supplant the ancient and pompous practices of diplomats."

STEAMER SLASHED AND 50 DROWNED

Sharp Nose of Torpedo Boat Cut Through Weaker Vessel and Latter Sank Almost Immediately—Many Heroic Attempts at Rescuing Were Made.

Venice, March 20.—A torpedo boat yesterday cut down a small passenger steamer which plies between Venice and Lido, a chain of sandy islands separating the lagoon of Venice from the Adriatic, and 50 persons were drowned. The sharp nose of the torpedo boat went through the stern of the steamer, which sank almost immediately.

Although many Americans are visiting Venice at the present time, it is not believed that any were aboard the steamer. The victims included many women and several children.

Fifteen persons who were on deck at the time were saved by the crew of the torpedo boat. The others were caught in the cabin and were carried down with the wreck. The Italian sailors dived many times in an effort to rescue those who sank with the steamer, but without avail.

In huge excitement prevails here, not only because of the extent of the disaster, but because the names of the victims are not yet known.

GAVE LAWYER 15 MINUTES.

To Finish Preparation of Case in Rutland County Court.

Rutland, March 20.—A jury was drawn in Rutland county court yesterday to try the case of Thomas Fitzgerald of Wells vs. Patrick H. Connors, formerly of Danby, in which the plaintiff sues to recover $10,000 damages for alleged seduction of his daughter, Lydia, by the defendant. At the last term of court the daughter secured judgment for $750 against Connors in a bastardy case. J. C. Jones is counsel for Fitzgerald and Walter S. Fenton for Connors.

Lydia Fitzgerald was 17 years old at the time in which reference is made in the testimony. Connors is about 32.

An effort was made by the defendant to have the case continued. Attorney Fenton saying that counsel whom Connors had previously engaged had been unable to attend court on account of illness and that Mr. Fenton had just been called into the case and had had no time for preparation. Having already had to postpone a large number of cases for various reasons, Judge Willard W. Miles was determined that something must be ready yesterday. He told Attorney Fenton that he personally had talked with Connors over the telephone Tuesday night and had informed him that the case must go to trial Thursday morning. The jury had already been held one day at a great expense to the state to accommodate Connors. Judge Miles gave Mr. Fenton 15 minutes in which to prepare his case.

ON THE SECOND ROUND

Whether a Deer Was Shot Before or After 5 p. m.

Burlington, March 20.—The case of state vs. Irving Isham of St. George occupied Chittenden county court all day yesterday. The charge against Isham is that he shot a deer during the open season but after five o'clock. The scene of the shooting was near Bolton and there is no contest over the fact of the deer having been shot. But it is claimed by the defense that the deer was shot earlier in the day by F. J. Jewett, a neighbor of the state who was M. G. McLeod, who has a farm near where the deer was killed. Mrs. McLeod and her son. These people saw Mr. Isham near the scene of the shooting, and saw him loading the deer into Mr. Jewett's wagon. Mr. Jewett testified that he shot the deer before the time in question.

The Barre hospital campaign fast draws to its close. For which we are sorry, as everyone knows.

Mr. C. C. Calf gave a generous dowry. That will bloom thro' the years as a beautiful flower. But who is it that's held us all in his power? Why, C. G. Fencil, the man of the hour.—By Mrs. H. R. Bagley, Captain of Team 21.

This evening a big dinner and speech-making in the vestry of the Universalist church will bring to a finish the 10-day whirlwind campaign inaugurated on the night of March 10 for the benefit of the Barre City hospital building fund. Yesterday's endeavors pushed the total past the $45,000 mark and this morning the workers went forth knowing that $50,000 is the cynosure for the eyes of all who have labored and hoped for a clear way to the new City hospital. Among the men and women who have given freely of their moral and financial support there is a feeling that the goal will be attained to-night. Unlimited confidence reposes in the workers and confidence was the keynote that characterized the preparations for gathering to-day's harvest. Equipped with a firm determination to succeed in their canvass if such a thing as success is possible, the campaigners took up their work to-day conscious of the fact that they have the co-operation of everyone.

To-day the workers were speeding over the last lap. Thursday's returns (Continued on sixth page.)

TELEPHONE HEARING IS COMPLETED

State Board of Appeals Will Meet in Burlington March 27 to Consider the Evidence Presented.

The state board of appeals on telephone appraisals concluded its hearings at Montpelier late yesterday and adjourned to meet at Burlington Friday, March 27, for conference. Of the 88 companies, 33 represented to the board that they were satisfied with the appraisals, including the five New England companies. A report must be filed by April 1.

F. S. Williams of Bradford appeared yesterday afternoon in behalf of the Barre Telephone Co., valued at $2,800, which Mr. Williams believed should be reduced to $2,000, and he requested action on other companies in this manner: Blue Mountain Telephone Co., a reduction from $3,000 to $2,500; Bradford and West Newbury, valuation $300, too high; Bradford Telephone & Telegraph Co., $6,000, too high; Lake Morey Telephone Co., reduction from $3,500 to $2,800; White River Junction & Interstate Telephone Co., a reduction from $4,500 to $3,250; Woodstock Telephone Co., $5,000, satisfactory; Wright's Mountain Telephone Co., $400, too high. C. M. Libbey of South Ryegate appeared with Mr. Williams.

R. E. Brown, representing the North Williston telephone line, asked for a reduction of $5,500 to $4,000.

W. A. Dutton of Hardwick asked for a reduction of the valuation of the property of the Union Telephone Co. of Cabot from $18,500 to $8,000 or $9,000.

Attorney Deavitt, counsel for the state, informed the board at the close of the hearing that only four companies had not been heard from—Newbury Center, South Corinth and West Fairlee, West Fairlee and Windham, and that he had attempted to get into telephonic communication with some officer of the companies. All companies excepting the company at Newbury Center were appraised at less than $500.

Mr. Deavitt explained to the board two or three talks he had with Matt B. Jones, general counsel for the New England company, over the telephone on the Bridgewater and other cases, and in one of these conversations Mr. Jones stated that he noticed in the paper that the statement had been made that he was taking an inconsistent position with reference to the various interests which he represented, the New England and the subsidiaries on the one hand and the Granville and the White Mountain on the other. He said that the reason he made the statement about the Granville and White Mountain was that they were not appraised during this hearing before the public service commission and no inventory of their property was filed, and they were not considered at all, whereas inventories of the property of the other companies were filed with the commission. He said he did not like to have the impression prevail that he was taking an inconsistent position when in fact he was not.

ONE HAD; OTHER HADN'T

So First Paid Fine and Second Will Serve It Out.

Two followers of John Barleycorn came over the river from New Hampshire yesterday and reached Barre in time to spend the night at police headquarters. William J. Roy, who mentioned as casually as he could that he owned farms over in Monroe, N. H., pleaded guilty to a first offense and paid a $5 fine with costs of $5.39 attached. The man from Monroe was arrested at 10 o'clock last night by Officer John W. Dineen.

George Monday, twice blest with names, but lacking the real estate, was arraigned before Acting Judge A. A. Sargent on a similar charge. George wears his hair close-cropped and the attaches at headquarters thought they recognized an old-timer when he appeared in court. Upon proper pressure from the judge, the respondent admitted his name was not Monday nor Friday, but Benjamin, George Benjamin, whose name was already on the court rolls. Benjamin said he started from Lisbon, N. H., yesterday for Granville, where he was going to work for Jim Boutwell. He complained bitterly of what he claimed is "the system" and said that grafting in Vermont is quite as prevalent as in Pennsylvania. He promised a change, but didn't say when. Judge Sargent fined him $5 and costs, but the respondent chose the alternative sentence of 20 days in the county jail at Montpelier.

Charges against five men accused of gambling were not pressed in court to-day, although the hearings had been set for this forenoon. Because of the absence of the respondents' attorney, it was said, the cases will be held open.

Benjamin was arrested by Special Officer Andrew Knutson.

NORWICH WAS DEFENDED.

Pres. Spooner and F. B. Thomas Opposed Carnegie Report.

A defense of Norwich university against the report of the Carnegie Foundation investigators was before the Vermont state educational commission at Montpelier to-day by President C. H. Spooner of the university, and F. B. Thomas of Montpelier. Four members of the commission, Judge Watson, State Auditor Graham, Eli Porter of Wilmington and James B. Este of Montpelier, were present.

President Spooner characterized the report on Norwich as "unfair" and he refuted the intimation that Norwich is an institution for correction. He said the college is not a reformatory. He pointed out the details of the engineering course and spoke of the work of the graduates. He said he favored free scholarships and had had no fault to find with the present system of distribution. He denied there is poorer living in Northfield than elsewhere, asserting that Northfield women are just as good cooks as can be found. He declared the report was a "slam" at Norwich.

President Spooner also referred to two men engaged as investigators by the Carnegie Foundation who investigated Vermont educational conditions. He was inclined to wonder how they could be classed as "experts" since one had had no practical experience. He also intimated that one of the men was practically out of a job when he secured his present work.

F. B. Thomas declared that Norwich was judged by their investigators by its buildings rather than by the work which it was performing and had been performing. He supplemented the assertions of President Spooner in making a vigorous defense of the institution.

DRAMATIC ENTRY MADE

Sir Edward Carson, Unionist Leader, Arrives at Belfast

HE WAS GREETED BY A BIG CROWD

His Supporters Were in a Feverish Time All Night

Belfast, Ireland, March 20.—Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Unionists of Ulster, made a dramatic entry into the capital of the province to-day, coming here to consult the other leaders and with the commanders of the Ulster volunteer forces.

Before landing this morning, Sir Edward Carson received on board the steamer from England Sir George Richardson, a retired lieutenant-general of the British army, who is commander-in-chief of the Ulster Unionist forces and chief officers.

As Sir Edward came down the gang-plank, a big crowd gave him a noisy welcome. During the night automobiles were kept busy moving stores and documents from the Unionist headquarters, apparently fearing a raid by the police, who had been keeping a close watch on every move made by the Unionists.

Grave Events Impending.

London, March 20.—Grave events are impending in Ulster, according to the Unionist newspapers, and a rumor is current that the government is preparing for the military occupancy of the province. There are various indications that a crisis has been reached.

A vote of censure on the British government which was moved in the House of Commons yesterday by Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, was rejected, 345 to 252.

Arthur J. Balfour, summoned by Mr. Bonar Law, made a hurried return from the Riviera and arrived in London in time to participate in the discussion.

There were reports also of the threatened arrest of Sir Edward Carson and other leaders of the Ulster Unionists, but it was officially declared that there was no truth in the statement that warrants had been signed for such arrest. Sir Edward Carson, however, made a dramatic exit from the House before the debate was concluded, to catch a train for Belfast.
