St. Albans, June 24.—C. F. Flint, a bridge foreman for the Central Vermont railroad, fell from the roof of the new railroad station at Alburtz to-day and was injured severely. He was brought to the hospital in this city this afternoon.

VERMONT MEN OPPOSE NEW HAVEN DIVORCE

Clement and Howe, Vermont Representatives, Say Merger Has Been Advantageous

Disatisfaction with the efforts of the federal government to divorce the Boston & Maine from the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad is expressed by Percival Clement and Willard B. Howe, Vermont representatives to the New England Railroad conference, in their report to Gov. Allen M. Fletcher, which was made public last night.

"Whether it was the wish of the administration to punish some great banking house in New York or to reduce the market value of railroad securities in New England, looking toward government ownership later, or whether it was deemed necessary to have an example before Congress in order to prepare the public mind for more drastic railroad legislation is immaterial."

After stating that the government's attitude toward the New Haven is due to a right desire to enforce the Sherman anti-trust law, the commissioners state: "If the principles of that law were applied to the railroad situation in New England, the roads most highly competitive would be first affected."

Consolidation, the report declares, has been the policy in New England railroad affairs and has been for the benefit of the public because rates are fixed by law and because consolidation makes possible economy in management.

The belief is expressed that higher rates are necessary. Mr. Howe and Mr. Clement concluded, with the statement that New England does not want state or federal ownership of railroads. "What is needed on public service commissions, says the report, is men who have knowledge when their interference is not required, and courage to let well enough alone."

Uniform legislation in New England regarding the issue and sale of railroad securities is recommended, and it is suggested that the railroads be allowed to continue operation as nearly as possible as they were before the federal government interfered.

WELL KNOWN GRANITE CUTTER

Edwin C. Veale Died To-day After Long Period of Ill Health

Edwin C. Veale, a long-time resident of this city and one of the best known granitecutters in Barre, passed away at his home, 61 Maple avenue, this forenoon at 11 o'clock, death following a long period of poor health. Mr. Veale had been quite seriously ill for the past six weeks, although his ultimate recovery was confidently expected until the last.

Mr. Veale was born in Constantine, Cornwall, England, April 4, 1866. He learned the stonecutters' trade in his native country, where he spent most of his boyhood. His marriage to Catherine Weymouth took place in England 24 years ago. Soon afterward, Mr. Veale and his wife came to Barre to reside. Mrs. Veale's death occurred in July, 1911. The deceased had been employed by the Harrison Granite Co. till last winter, when he decided to take a much-needed rest. This spring he worked for a time, but ill health compelled him to leave the stonework. Mr. Veale was a member of the Sons of St. George and also belonged to the Modern Woodmen of America. He had many warm friends in Barre who will deeply mourn his passing. The funeral will be held at the house Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the interment will be in Elmwood cemetery.

DEATH SUMMONS UNEXPECTED

Mrs. Catherine Fitzgerald Passed Away Early This Morning

Mrs. Catherine Fitzgerald died suddenly at the home of her son, Matthew Fitzgerald, 74 Maple avenue, this morning at 1 o'clock. For a woman of her years, Mrs. Fitzgerald had been in excellent health and only yesterday she was able to go to the home of another son in North Barre for a visit. Early this morning she awoke and complained of a closeness in the room. It was seen at once that she was ill and hurried attempts were made to get a physician, but death came within 15 minutes. Mrs. Fitzgerald leaves a daughter, Mr. Henry Courtney of Dorechester, P. Q., and six sons as follows: James, John, Richard and Matthew, all of Barre, Thomas Fitzgerald of St. Paul, Alberta, and William Fitzgerald, who also lives in Alberta. Thomas Fitzgerald came to Vermont a week ago for his first visit East in five years. He was with his mother at the hour of her death.

THREE YEARS FOR FORGERY

Aaron Britch Sentenced in St. Albans City Court

St. Albans, June 24.—Aaron Britch, who was arrested at Scottstown, P. Q., a few days ago on the charge of forgery, was arraigned in city court yesterday afternoon before Judge N. S. Post. An information was filed against Britch by State's Attorney G. F. Ladd, to which he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve not less than three nor more than four years at hard labor in the State prison.

TWO BIG FIRMS BURNED OUT

Manchester, N. H., Visited by $400,000 Fire This Morning

JOHN B. VARICK CO. AND SULLIVAN CO.

Nine Firemen Were Hurlled Through Window by an Explosion

Manchester, N. H., June 24.—A loss estimated at $400,000 was caused to-day by a fire which destroyed the five-story brick building of the John B. Varick company, hardware, jewelry and photographic supplies, and the storehouse and retail store of the R. G. Sullivan cigar factory.

The men's furnishing store of former Governor C. M. Floyd was also damaged considerably. With the recent destruction of its largest dry goods store, the chief business concerns of the city have been wiped out. A girl telephone operator gave the first alarm. The Varick company was the largest of its kind in the east and has three times been completely wiped out by fire. Business will again be re-established.

SLOW PROGRESS IN GOMEZ TRIAL

Because Many of Spanish Witnesses Do Not Understand English and Have to Use Interpreter

Chelsea, June 24.—Much interest centers in Orange County court around the case of State v. Ricardo Gomez, the young Spaniard from Williamstown who since last Friday has been on trial, charged with assault with intent to kill, the alleged victim of his assault being Emilio Fernandez, another Spaniard from Williamstown, whom it is alleged, Gomez shot on the evening of April 25 last. He is being defended by Attorney Richard A. Hoar of Barre, who is assisted by Attorney William Henri Irish of Boston, who with Senior Pedro M. De Almeida, the Spanish consul for New England, arrived Tuesday morning from Boston. The progress of putting in the evidence is necessarily slow, as many of the witnesses are Spanish and cannot speak or understand English and their evidence has to be taken through the medium of an interpreter. Joseph G. Galois of Montpelier, State's Attorney Frank S. Williams is being assisted in the trial of this case by Attorney David S. Conant of Bradford and when the court took its recess Tuesday afternoon the state had not completed its evidence.

Emilio Fernandez has but lately emerged from the Heaton hospital in Montpelier, and although he was present Friday and Saturday, the exertion was too strenuous and on Monday he was too ill from the effects of coming to Chelsea to leave Montpelier and unless he improves sufficiently to enable him to be present before the state closes its case it is not at all unlikely that the attorneys on each side and the consul will go to Montpelier to take his deposition.

The courthouse is thronged with interested visitors from the opening of court in the morning until it closes at night and on Tuesday about 50 Spaniards from Williamstown, Barre, Montpelier and West Berlin were present throughout the day.

MR. AND MRS. ALEX EDWARD SURPRISED AT NEW HOME ON LONG STREET

An old-fashioned house warming was the attraction that called 25 friends of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Edward to their new home on Long street last evening. The affair was a complete surprise to the host and hostess, but the quality of the entertainment they furnished once the presence of visitors became known left no one in doubt as to the cordiality of the welcome extended when the guests knocked at the door. After the company had been shown about the new house, which Mr. and Mrs. Edward occupied for the first time only recently, there was an informal program of musical and literary numbers and games. Nearly every member of the First Presbyterian church choir, to which Mrs. Edward has belonged for some years, was present and the music was of the finest.

MR. AND MRS. ALEX EDWARD SURPRISED AT NEW HOME ON LONG STREET

Following is the program: Duet, Mrs. David Stuart and John Angus; reading, Miss Edith Watson; solo, Alex. Edward; reading, Miss Christie Rae; solo, Mrs. Isabella Johnston; solo, Miss Alice Walker; solo, Miss Agnes Keith. It was during the later hours of the evening that Mr. and Mrs. Edward were presented an attractive Wallace Nutting picture and a coffee percolator. The presentation speech was made by William Craig, the recipients joining in a happy acknowledgement of the gifts. A light luncheon brought the affair to a close.

WOMAN KILLED IN RUNAWAY

Mrs. Carl H. Blodgett of Waterford Dead and Her Baby Perhaps Fatally Injured While Farm Hand Was Eadly Hurt

Waterford, June 24.—Mrs. Carl H. 112 DEGREES ARE AWARDED

And Seven Honorary Degrees Conferred at University of Vermont

Burlington, June 24.—Seven honorary degrees were conferred to-day by the University of Vermont at the annual graduation exercises held in the college gymnasium before a large audience. The degrees were as follows:

MIDDLEBURY GIVES FIVE HONORARY

Norwich University Cadets Work Out a War Problem

Northfield, June 24.—More alumni and past cadets yesterday joined the large number already here for the commencement exercises at the Norwich university.

WAR GAME AT NORWICH

Was Worked Out for Advantage of Commencement Visitors

The afternoon was given to athletics. At 2 a polo game was played on the polo field, the White Shirts winning, 5 to 2. At 3 Norwich met the Barre Athletic club in its last regular game of the season and was defeated, 8 to 2. Guard mount was held at 5 o'clock and was followed by evening parade. Last evening the annual senior concert was given in Dewey hall. Following it several of the fraternities held their commencement banquets.

ICE CREAM STAND CAUSES EXCITEMENT

Some Washington Street Residents Do Not Want C. A. Heath to Erect Building—City Fathers Take Case Under Adjudication

To-day the aldermanic committee of the whole spent a portion of the forenoon gathering data concerning the little building that C. A. Heath proposes to erect on his premises at 169 Washington street. Later the committee's findings are to be reported at a regular meeting of the board, but for the time-being Mr. Heath is tolerably uncertain as to the ultimate outcome of his application for a building permit. Meanwhile residents of that immediate neighborhood are rocking in the throes of a warm agitation over Mr. Heath's contemplated project and the question of whether upper Washington street is to have a conveniently located ice cream parlor this season answers in the balance.

The board of aldermen met in regular session last night and the proposed ice cream stand was the one diverting topic in the rather desultory doings of a humid half-hour. One week ago Mr. Heath made application for his permit, setting forth a desire to erect on his own land a small wooden building to set back from the street an even 20 feet. Hardly had the application been filed than nearby property owners in that locality raised a storm of opposition. It was declared that a structure such as Mr. Heath hoped to build would do irreparable injury to the landscape thereabouts and at the same time tend to promote the sale of frozen dishes on the Sabbath. Most of the protesting was done outside, but the board took the complaints under advisement.

Apparently he returned at once to his room, for it was around 7:30 o'clock when Mrs. Beagrie heard a commotion upstairs. It sounded as though someone had fallen to the floor. Suspecting something wrong on the second floor, she telephoned to the gas company's office for the son. The latter was away at the time, but word was left for him to hurry home on his return. Mrs. Beagrie heard no more and it was not until the son arrived at 8 o'clock, or a little later, that the true nature of the noise in Mr. Greider's room was learned. Mrs. Beagrie tried to restore consciousness in the man, but her efforts were without avail and death ensued within 15 minutes after the man's act was discovered.

So far as can be learned, Mr. Greider leaves only his wife, a daughter aged seven, whose name is Rosa, a married daughter, Mrs. Leclair, who lives in the A. Tomasi block, and his son. When, a short time ago, the latter was graduated with honor from the high school, there was no prouder father in Barre than Mr. Greider. For a time he seemed to have gained a new lease of life, but the attack of despondency had returned lately. He was 56 years old and had lived in Barre 20 years. He was a Bavarian by birth, coming here from Germany many years ago. He attended the Episcopal church. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

FIVE HONORARY DEGREES GIVEN

At Middlebury Commencement To-day, Former President Brainard Among the Honored

Middlebury, June 24.—Forty-six students were graduated to-day from Middlebury college at the annual commencement exercises. Five honorary degrees also were conferred with the following designations:

GIVEN HOUSE-WARMING

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Edward Surprised at New Home on Long Street

James Loren Martin, jurist and statesman, United States district judge for the district of Vermont, whose ability and eminence on the bench have conferred distinction upon the bar of his native state. Doctor of laws, George Harvey, publicist and journalist, broad in vision, independent in thought, fearless in utterance, worthy son of Vermont and firm believer in her glorious future which he is helping to create, whose doctrine that "an American newspaper should be an American gentleman" is exemplified in the great Review of which he is the head; Doctor of laws, Katherine Kee Bates, daughter of Wesley and grand daughter of English literature, discriminating traveler, skillful essayist, and accomplished poet, whose songs of beautiful America have voiced the patriotism of American women; Doctor of letters, President Brainard: 50 years ago you stood upon the platform, the valedictorian of your class, to receive the baccalaureate degree from Middlebury college. From that day to this you have served this college with the loyalty of a devoted son. All these years but two you have borne official responsibility. Nineteen years you were a teacher, 23 years you served as president. Through trial and hardship your faith never failed. Year after year you staggered under burdens which, please God, no later president of Middlebury shall be called upon to bear. All future usefulness of this institution must rest upon foundations which you have laid. Your work as one of the foremost scholars of America in the laws of heredity. The trustees of your college—this day yours more than any other man's—have chosen this 50th anniversary of your graduation for the bestowal of official honor upon you, and accord to me, your pupil, your admirer, and your friend, the privilege of conferring upon you the richly merited honor of doctor of science.

AID TOO LATE TO SAVE MAN

Carbolic Acid Had Done Its Work on Frank X. Greidler Today

Melancholia Brought on by Several Causes Attributed as Reason

Frank X. Greider, a polisher employed at the E. C. Glysson plant on Mill street, committed suicide at his room, 31 Keith avenue, this morning by draining the contents of a two-ounce bottle of carbolic acid. Mrs. R. M. Beagrie, in whose house he had made his home for the past few weeks, was the first to suspect that something unusual had happened, but it was his son, Frank S. Greider, an employe of the People's Lighting, Heating & Power Co., and recently the second honor graduate at Spaulding high school, who entered the room upstairs and found his father lying unconscious on the bed. Dr. W. D. Reid was summoned but death ensued at once and Dr. J. H. Woodruff, the local health officer, who was called, pronounced the case a suicide. The remains were taken to the Perry & Noonan undertaking rooms on Depot square.

From circumstances surrounding the man's death it is thought that melancholia was the cause of his deed. A family disagreement, it is said, had something to do with Mr. Greider's taking rooms outside of his own home. At present his wife, with her younger daughter, is living in Plainfield. Mr. Greider's son was rooming with him. A letter found in the room was written in German script. In it he besought his wife to take good care of the children and ended with the words, "Be happy until we meet again. Good-bye, Frank."

His health was undoubtedly a cause too, that contributed to the man's act. For two or three days he had returned early from his work on Mill street, each time complaining of feeling poorly. This morning he arose at 6 o'clock, ate a hearty breakfast, and waited for his boarding mistress to put up the dinner he was to take with him to the stables. Shortly before 7 o'clock he left the house, ostensibly bound for his place of employment. It is not thought that he went to Mill street. Instead, he must have gone southward to one of the local drug stores, where he purchased two ounces of carbolic acid, which he said was to be used for disinfecting purposes.

Apparently he returned at once to his room, for it was around 7:30 o'clock when Mrs. Beagrie heard a commotion upstairs. It sounded as though someone had fallen to the floor. Suspecting something wrong on the second floor, she telephoned to the gas company's office for the son. The latter was away at the time, but word was left for him to hurry home on his return. Mrs. Beagrie heard no more and it was not until the son arrived at 8 o'clock, or a little later, that the true nature of the noise in Mr. Greider's room was learned. Mrs. Beagrie tried to restore consciousness in the man, but her efforts were without avail and death ensued within 15 minutes after the man's act was discovered.

So far as can be learned, Mr. Greider leaves only his wife, a daughter aged seven, whose name is Rosa, a married daughter, Mrs. Leclair, who lives in the A. Tomasi block, and his son. When, a short time ago, the latter was graduated with honor from the high school, there was no prouder father in Barre than Mr. Greider. NEW RIVER DISCOVERED

Col. Roosevelt's Title to Fame Contested by North Barre People

A meandering river of oil flowed down from Railroad street yesterday afternoon and threatened to engulf the basements of several buildings in the vicinity of Berlin, Foss and Ladd streets. Nonplussed mothers who saw their children returning home with faces blackened and feet gummed heel and toe with the oil were the first to learn that the city's big oil tank near the Standard Oil Co.'s receiving station on Railroad street had sprung a leak. The oleaginous fluid, having escaped its leashes in the big tank, cared not whether it trickled and in consequence the city stands to lose around 4,000 gallons at a cost of something like $200, while residents of the particular vicinity where the oil ran rampant are at their wits' end in trying to keep the thick liquid from being tracked into their homes.

Married at Woonsocket

The following from a Woonsocket, R. I., paper will be of interest hereabouts, as Emile Paquin is well known in Barre, being the son of Napoleon Paquin: "Miss Aurora St. George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles St. George of 36 Fountain street, and Emile Paquin of Providence, were united in marriage this morning at 7 o'clock at the Church of the Precious Blood. Rev. Ovide J. Plasse performed the ceremony and also celebrated a nuptial mass. The witnesses were Charles St. George, father of the bride, and Ovide Benoit.
