Congressman Frank Plumley arrived last night from Washington.

Mrs. L. E. Dix left Saturday and broke her arm.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Davis were in Hanover, N. H., Saturday.

William Luther of Malden, Mass., has sold his place at Northfield Falls to William Greenwood. The sale was made through the W. H. Douglass Real Estate agency.

Frederick Bacon, the world's famous banjo player, assisted by Mrs. Bacon, and a reader, will give a concert in Army hall to-morrow evening under the auspices of the Norwich university foot ball team. There will be dancing after the concert and the admission will be 15, 25 and 35 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Moriarty have returned from a week's stay with relatives in Boston.

ROCHESTER

Mrs. Van L. Day and daughter, Marjorie, who have been visiting at L. J. Spencer's, have returned to their home in South Newbury. Little Marjorie made many friends during her stay here by her bright winsome ways and she has left pleasant memories for all who know her.

The many friends of Mrs. E. H. Edgerton, who underwent a serious operation at Mary Fletcher hospital, will be glad to know she is quite comfortable.

Fire destroyed the home of Reuben Whittaker in South Hollow early Monday morning. Very little was saved except the horses. The insurance was very small.

Mrs. Emily Pearson of Chicago is a guest at Wake Robin farm.

Seymour Kent is having extensive repairs made on his house, a large piazza, dormer windows, and has raised the house, making a great improvement.

R. S. Morgan has a new Metz runabout.

Freud Wiggott and family have moved to Warren, where he has work in the mill.

News has been received of the death of Mrs. Alice Chaffee of Chicago, widow of the late Dr. Fred Chaffee.

Frank Hubbard has returned from Gardner, Mass.

PLAINFIELD

Mrs. Bertha Moore has put in an up-to-date stock of dry goods in the Sashers block and respectfully solicits a share of the public patronage. Five per cent discount for cash.

Child's Life Saved
BY DR. TRU'S ELIXIR

We have just received a letter from a charming mother of children, wherein she says: "When I was lying up in the mountains of New Hampshire, my baby was very sick and a friend of mine wanted me to use Dr. Tru's Worm Elixir, and now I have six children and have never been without it. (Dr. Tru's Elixir) is my home now and I don't want to be without it at a time, and I bought a bottle last week."

—MRS. J. N. GILBE.
"N. F. D., Jan 15.
"West Newbury, Mass."

This is the way lots of children seem to feel. Tell it and their own is almost instant when the trouble is worm. Dr. Tru's Elixir will gently expel the worms and build up the system, restoring the child to normal health.

MONTPELIER

The presentation of the Indian play, "Hiawatha," by the young people of the city, under the auspices of the ladies' auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. and directed by Miss Eva Steves, will net the society about $200. The event was much enjoyed by a crowded house, almost every seat in the city hall auditorium being taken.

In city court Saturday, Charles Mahan pleaded guilty to a third offense of intoxication and was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Rev. L. O. Shorburne is in Washington, D. C., where he is attending a meeting of Methodist church leaders, who are trying to raise a $5,000,000 fund for pastors whom old age or illness have forced to give up work. Representatives from 31 Methodist conferences will attend the meeting.

The Montpelier Union of Congregational Ministers will meet Tuesday at 10:30 in the Y. M. C. A. building, the subject for the day being "Bible Study: Some Neglected Books." These will be: "The Message of the Book of Job," Rev. Frank Metzger; "The Message of the Book of Habakkuk," Rev. Frank Blomfield; "The Message of the Epistle of Jude," Rev. W. A. Remels.

Down in the lower Connecticut river valley preparatory schools are organizing a snowy football league. Turin Falls high school, Cheshire high and W. T. Lusk academy are among the schools to enter. Secondary schools in this section might study the Vermont snow league in active next summer and follow suit in the fall of '15.

Prospects for a hunting league in Barre and Montpelier the coming winter are rather slim, although at the end of the season last spring the indoor sport had gained such a following in the latter city that hunting was looked forward to with interest in 1914-1915.

Omrah Gus Nichols, the English actor, was given a rousing reception when he returned to Yale the other day. English singing is still popular in the New Haven stronghold and its protagonists say it is bound to triumph.

BETHEL

A son, William Russell, was born October 21 in Saxtons River, to Mr. and Mrs. Asa B. Chatfield.

In Saturday's report of "Tom Thumb's Wedding" it should have been stated that James Davis took the part of the officiating clergyman.

Fred Chatfield, who has been running the King barber shop for three weeks, returned yesterday to his home in Randolph.

Moses charged with fraud.

Case up in United States District Court at Rutland.

Rutland, Oct. 26.—The United States district court met at an adjourned session Saturday afternoon with Judge James L. Martin of Brattleboro presiding to take up the case of Elvard L. Moses of Buffalo, N. Y., general manager of the Oxyphator company, who was indicted by the federal grand jury at the May, 1914, term of the United States court at Windsor on the charge of using the mail for fraudulent purposes. Mr. Moses has been out on heavy bail. It was expected that a jury would be empaneled Saturday afternoon to try the case. Roy M. Stanley of Buffalo and Walter S. Fenton of this city appearing as his counsel, and United States District Attorney Alexander Dunnett prosecuting. Harry J. Preston of Burlington, the company's manager in Vermont, is also under indictment but will not be tried at this time.

The indictment charges among other things that Elvard L. Moses had devised a scheme and artifice to defraud; that said scheme was to sell to the public generally a device called by Moses a duplex oxygenator, also an oxyphator; and that the positive representation was made that the oxyphator was a curative agency for human diseases and bodily infirmities; that Elvard L. Moses knew all these claims to be false; that he sent letters, circulars and advertisements through the mails in an effort to sell the oxyphators for $35; that the oxyphator is an inert, wholly lifeless, useless instrument incapable of procuring any of the results claimed; that the oxyphators are useless except to sell to persons who do not know the falsity of the claims, and are intended to defraud.

MOTHER! THE CHILD IS COSTIVE, BILIOUS

Don't Hesitate! A Laxative Is Necessary if Tongue Is Coated, Breath Bad or Stomach Sour.

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out of sorts, half sick, can't rest, acting and acting naturally—look, mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cramps, irritable, nervous, stomach sour, breath bad or stomach ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food, and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and soothe the stomach, and they cheerily have its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

How can you be sure of a genuine "California Syrup of Figs" bottle? Ask your druggist for a 25-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advt.

Why Some Great Actors Are Unsuccessful in Movies.

In the October American Magazine Walter Pichard Eaton, dramatic critic of that publication, writes an interesting article entitled "A New Epoch in the Movies," in the course of which he tells why some great actors are unsuccessful in the movies:

"Not every actor or actress can be successful on the screen. Of course, if a player belongs to the so-called modern or naturalistic school of acting, and especially if a measure of his charm lies in his vocal skill, his ability to waft an epigram or point a comical sentence or stab home a tragic line, it may very well be that he will find it extremely difficult to express himself effectively solely by pantomime and facial play. It is said that Bernhardt spoiled two reels of film before her 'Camille' was fit to exhibit. A player like Mrs. Fiske, for instance, who is one of the greatest actresses on our English speaking stage, has made almost a gospel of 'repression' and her art is the art of under emphasis. No one is so eloquent in moments of total inaction, no one so brilliantly brilliant in passages of staccato repartee. But most of these her greatest distinctive qualities, go for nothing before the camera, and she must adopt much of the same method as any movie heroine unknown to fame. For this reason, those of the 'legitimate' actors who were trained in the 'old school' of free gesticulation and constant pantomime are very often the most successful movies.

"But the player's methods have less to do with his success or failure than his physical characteristics. It is well known that some voices reproduce well on the phonograph, while others, perhaps better voices, reproduce badly. Just so certain faces seem made for the camera, while others, apparently no less striking, no less attractive, do not 'register' on the film at all to employ the technical term. When so much of the story has to be expressed by the faces of the players it is of prime importance that every change of expression, every passing thought and emotion, be caught clearly by the camera. If it isn't, that player, however famous on the dramatic stage, is a failure in the movies. And the layman would be surprised if he knew how many players whom he has admired for their skill or their beauty have to be given up as hopeless when the first trial hundred feet of film (which is always taken as a precaution) is developed and run across the screen."

Business is so rushing at the handkerchief factory in Orleans that it will start at once operating nights as well as days to fill its orders.
