VERMONT STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

PHYSICIANS AND HEADS OF FAMILIES TAKE NOTICE!

LAWS RELATING TO

Contagious Diseases

These diseases MUST be reported to the HEALTH OFFICER (See Sec. 5434 of the Vermont Statutes)

- (a) The head of the family in which the disease occurs,
- (b) The physician called to attend such a disease.

The physician is required to "immediately quarantine" at his first visit. If the physician is "unable to make a specific diagnosis" at the time of his first visit, he may quarantine until such a diagnosis can be made.

Such quarantine is in force until the health officer can examine and quarantine.

Attending physicians must report such cases as they SUSPECT may be "infectious or contagious," as well as those they KNOW to be such.

"A head of a family or a physician who fails to give reasonable notice to the health officer of the existence of such disease shall be fined not more than $50 nor less than $10 with costs of prosecution."

Watch future advertisements for more details.
