

BRITAIN MOVES TO SAVE CALAIS

Kitchener's 2,000,000 Men Now on Way to France

AND IRELAND SENDS 124,000

John Redmond Tells of Success in Recruiting

London, July 21.—Kitchener's army is at last on the move. The training camps up and down the country are being deserted. The swarms of recruits who enlisted in the early days of the war, 2,000,000 of them, according to well-informed reports, have been safely shipped to France during the past few weeks.

If the Kaiser has planned to take Calais, the British are determined he will have to fight for it. The best of England's manhood will oppose him. Physically the new army is the best troops England has ever sent to do battle for her and her hopes are high.

The great training grounds of Aldershot and Salisbury plain are to be filled up immediately with the newest recruits training as reserves. "The greater the army the greater the need for reserves" is Kitchener's motto. Britain, facing her needs, has been aroused as never before by the sudden departure of this vast army.

With Germany and Austria heavily engaged on the eastern front this is regarded as the time to send home a vital thrust on the western line.

The drive, it is predicted, will be under way no later than Aug. 1. One of the surprises of the war has been the attitude of the Irish Nationalist party, which has proved more than a passive loyalty to the British empire, as witness the statement of John E. Redmond, M. P., the Irish patriot and leader of that party.

"The greatest disappointment Germany has met with is the attitude of Ireland, South Africa, India and Egypt," said Mr. Redmond recently. "She reckoned not only on disloyalty, but revolution. Instead of that, England has had the hearty support of these countries against Prussianism."

Irish recruiting has been a marvellous success. I have the latest figures issued by the Irish government, and according to them there are to-day with the colors 124,000 Irishmen. There are 24,000 national volunteers in the army. Recruiting is going on at the rate of from 6,000 to 7,000 a week. These figures speak for themselves. They show how thoroughly stirred the Irish people are against the German menace. Some 25,000 of the so-called Orangemen, the Ulster volunteers, have enlisted. The 10th Irish division, which has been waiting in south England, is the first to go.

"It was recruited from the south and west, and consists of new battalions of the Dublin fusiliers, the Munster fusiliers, the Connaught rangers and the royal Irish regiment, and the other famous historical regiments belonging to the south and west of the country. The division is commanded by General Sir Bryan Mahon, a very distinguished Irish soldier. They are as fine a body of soldiers as ever left this country, and wherever they go they will add fresh glory to the annals of Irish fighting.

"The feeling between Ireland and England has entirely changed since the war began. The home rule has had the same effect on national sentiment here that the grant of home rule to south Africa has had in that country. In England I can say with knowledge that Ireland's attitude toward the war has had an enormous influence on what was up to that time opinion hostile to home rule and to Ireland."

"The democracy of Great Britain trusted the democracy of Ireland, and they have now had the surest evidence that that trust was well placed. It has always been one of the bases of the demand for home rule that Ireland self-governed would be an Ireland loyal and contented. The support Ireland has spontaneously given England in this war shows how splendidly that prediction has been fulfilled."

"The cry about young men running away to America for fear of conscription is a cruel and untrue one. I believe a few young men from the west of Ireland do go some months ago, but public opinion in this country is so strong upon the point that no young man would have the courage to face it."

"However, the recruiting returns are the best answer to statements of that kind. The young men of Ireland have come forward nobly to take their stand against Prussianism, which is detested here as cordially as in any country in Europe."

"The universal feeling of the Irish people is one of horror and loathing at the brutalities perpetrated by the Germans, especially in Belgium, and in regard to the treatment of the priests and nuns of that country Ireland has demonstrated her feeling in that respect in no uncertain way."

"I cannot recall a demonstration of a more impressive character than that organized by the Irishmen of London to show their sympathy with Belgium by the reception accorded to Cardinal Mercier, who is not only a great prince of the church, but a great statesman and leader of men. If only for her barbarities and devastation in Belgium and northern France, Germany could count on the hostility of Ireland."

MILLIONS FOR MINISTERS.

Nearly All Protestant Bodies Plan for Pensions—$65,000,000 Desired.

New York, July 21.—Almost every Protestant religious body in America is pushing, with special campaigns, pension funds for their ministers and the widows and orphans of the deceased ministers. Ministers in America number 175,000, and their dependents run into many more thousands. The sums that all the Protestant bodies seek total $65,000,000, but it is said by experts that at least $15,000,000 more will be required, or a total of $80,000,000, if worthy ministers and their families are to be cared for properly. The leaders in these pension plans will hold a conference on July 21, in the California building on the Panama-Pacific exposition grounds.

Methodists lead all in the sum now asked for, $15,000,000. Presbyterians, Baptists and Episcopalians want $10,000,000 each. Disciples, Methodists South and Lutherans $5,000,000 each, and Congregationalists $2,000,000.

COLONEL READY FOR HUGHES

Reported as Convinced That Third Party Has No Chance

HE DEFINES "MOLLYCODDLE"

Says Bryan Is "a Milk and Water Statesman"

Portland, Ore., July 21.—Rooseveltian fulmination of the future are to continue more of the big stick elements than ever, take it from Col. Theodore Roosevelt himself, speaking before 2,000 enthusiastic admirers in this city yesterday. The colonel made his dire foreboding when he said: "What I will have to say in the future will not be for sapheads or mollycoddles."

In talking about war the colonel frequently referred to peace-at-any-price propagandists as "sissies" and mollycoddles.

"What is your definition of a mollycoddle?" some one asked. "A mollycoddle," the colonel went on without stopping to pause, "is nothing but a grownup sissy—a grownup sissy of either sex."

The founder of the Progressive party broadly hinted in his address that if the Republican party selects a man of the type of Justice Hughes for the presidential nomination in 1916, he will give him his support. It is asserted that he made such a statement to Progressive party leaders here and in Seattle. It is said Roosevelt has been convinced that the third party has no chance in the coming struggle.

"It will be up to the Republican party to say whether the Progressive party is to maintain a separate party existence," the ex-president said in his speech, and his auditors attached great significance to the utterance.

Among other things along this line the colonel said:

"A large part of the world is in a state of war. The vital interests of the people of this country, as well as of others, are centered about the war. Internal politics can be only secondary to it. The people of the United States are not interested and cannot be made so in political reforms in this war atmosphere to such a degree as to make it possible for a new party to win any measure of success."

"As matters stand now, it would take about twelve years to make definite headway with the Progressive party, and in my part of the country the Progressives cannot be held together that long if there is an opportunity to carry forward the principles of the party through another channel."

"I made two comprehensive statements on the Lusitania incident at Syracuse and I stand on them now precisely as I did then. "I wrote two long articles for the papers on the Mexican situation and I stand on them now precisely as I did then."

"I haven't changed my views one iota, and the sooner that Uncle Sam acts on those two statements and those two articles the better it will be for the country."

"It seems inconceivable that we can refrain from taking action in this matter, for we owe it not only to humanity but to our own self-respect."

"I am not making political speeches and whenever I have anything to say it will be over my own signature, so don't believe anything you see in the newspapers to which people give out statements purporting to be information I have given to them. From time to time I will give out statements on vital subjects to the whole country."

Thaw Courts Quiet at Home. Pittsburgh, Pa., July 21.—Harry K. Thaw spent his first day in Pittsburgh after his home coming Monday night quietly at his mother's home in Beechwood boulevard. Only close personal friends of the family visited the house. Thaw said he intended to take in the San Francisco exposition, but his plans for going there were indefinite.

100,000 LIVES LOST IN CHINA FLOODS

American Consul at Canton Appeals for All Assistance That Navy Department Can Give.

Washington, July 21.—From 80,000 to 100,000 lives have been lost in the floods in the vicinity of Canton, China, according to a cablegram to the state department yesterday from Pekin. Consul General Cheshire has appealed for all the assistance that can be rendered by the navy department.

HEAVY LOAD OFF CONSCIENCE.

Treasury Department Receives $10,000 From a Formerly Wicked Citizen.

Washington, July 21.—Ten thousand dollars in currency, the second largest contribution to the "conscience fund" ever received by the government, arrived at the treasury department yesterday in a plain envelope, mailed Monday at New York, accompanied by an unsigned letter, saying:

"The sender has paid double to the United States the amount he stole, and still conscience is not satisfied. Here is another payment."

The package contained three $1,000 gold certificates, eight $500 certificates and 30 $100 silver and gold notes. Treasury officials found nothing in the letter or the amount to indicate a connection with any of the government's losses by fraud or theft, so they placed it with $300,000 more which has accumulated in the treasury vaults from conscience-stricken folk who have sent sums ranging from one cent to $18,969. The largest sum ever received came in 1909, contributed from someone who had committed a customs fraud. The $10,000 package yesterday came addressed to Secretary McAdoo, and was marked "Personal."

WESTFIELD PLANT SOLD.

Pope Manufacturing Co's Property Bought by New York Syndicate.

Westfield, Mass., July 21.—A New York syndicate, through attorneys, purchased the automobile and bicycle manufacturing plant and business of the Pope Manufacturing Co. at receiver's sale yesterday. The price paid was $725,000. There was no other bidder. The attorneys declined to state whom they represented.

MEXICAN ARMIES PREPARE FOR BATTLE

Generals Villa and Carranza are Ready for a New Clash.

Washington, July 21.—Villa and Carranza armies were massing yesterday north of Mexico City for another "decisive" battle.

Evacuation of the capital by Carranza's army was regarded as seriously menacing the inhabitants.

The main Carranza force, under Gen. Gonzalez, was reported nearing Pachuca to engage Villa's "flying squadron." Gonzalez sought to prevent a junction of the Villistas and the Zapatistas, recently driven out of Mexico.

Gen. Villa has taken Queretaro with his column according to reports to the state department yesterday. At the same time the department received word of the capture of Naco by 200 Carranzistas under Gen. Gardinas. Villa has no communication south of Zacatecas, says an El Paso report.

NO ROCK ISLAND CRIMINAL PROSECUTION

Neither Department of Justice Nor the Interstate Commerce Commission Will Act in Connection With Recent Inquiry.

Washington, July 21.—No criminal prosecution in connection with the recent investigation of the affairs of the Rock Island railroad are contemplated by either the interstate commerce commission or the department of justice. Explicit denial of any purpose to proceed criminally in the case is made by high authority. Neither the attorney general, the interstate commerce commission nor the counsel for the commission has considered bringing criminal suits, and while it might be an overstatement to say that no one associated with the case believes the government could find a warrant for legal action, it is true that the situation is in such shape, owing to the statute of limitations and other causes, as to create no present desire for criminal prosecution.

RICH PRIZE FOR AUTO RACE.

Buenos Ayres Plans to Open Speedway With a $100,000 Event.

Chicago, July 21.—Automobile racing is to be introduced to several South American cities within a year, according to Tex Rickard, promoter of sporting events.

Rickard, who was here yesterday to inspect the Chicago motor speedway, is representing a syndicate of Buenos Ayres business men, who propose building a two and one-half mile track. The South American city, Rickard says, plans to offer a purse of $100,000 for its first race, which is to be over a distance of 500 miles. Speedways will be constructed in several cities of South America he said.

CARRANZA TAKES TOWNS.

Three Important Places in Sonora Fall, It Is Reported.

Douglas, Ariz., July 21.—Nacozari, Cupmas and Pilares, three important towns of the Moctezuma district of Sonora, have been occupied by Carranza troops, according to reports received at Agua Prieta yesterday. This gives the Carranza forces under General P. Elias Calles control of a strip of country 150 miles long, including 70 miles of the Nacozari railroad, which was being prepared to handle shipments of concentrates from Nacozari, Tigre and other mining camps.

General Calles himself telegraphed yesterday news of another victory over Villistas forces at Villa Verde and notified his representatives that he would continue on to Nogales, headquarters of Jose Maytorena, Villa governor, and lay siege to that place.

The battle at Villa Verde occurred on Monday and Calles' message stated that the Villa forces retreated toward Nogales after three hours' fighting. The Villa losses were given at 55 killed and 70 prisoners. Calles also claimed to have captured two pieces of artillery, 325 rifles and a military train loaded with provisions and ammunition.

News of the victory was telegraphed to General Carranza at Vera Cruz, Calles' representative here said their chief planned to occupy Cananea, where large American mine interests are centered, before next Sunday. In the meantime he hopes to drive Maytorena out of Nogales. He will then have control of the chief Sonora border points—Agua Prieta, Naco and Nogales.

AMERICAN COTTON TO BE CONDEMNED BY COURT

This Indicated by a Ruling Made Yesterday by the Government of Great Britain.

London, July 21.—A large part of the shipments of American cotton held up by England probably will be condemned by the prize court. This was indicated by a ruling made yesterday by the government.

STILL FEAR GARMENT STRIKE?

Union Representatives Make 11th Hour Demand for Closed Shop.

New York, July 21.—Labor conditions in the clothing trade assumed a serious phase again yesterday, and it was said that a general strike might occur after all. There is one ray of hope, however, in the fact that the committee of adjustment, representing the workers and the manufacturers, is still in conference. The threatening factor, it was stated, was an 11th hour demand of the union representatives that the closed shops be maintained. It was also demanded, according to the manufacturers' representatives, that all differences must be settled within 24 hours. These demands came after the manufacturers had agreed to 50 per cent of the claims made in behalf of their workmen.
