Bothersome Bath.

George C. Boldt, the doyen of the hotel-keeping world, said in New York: "It is now the excellent fashion—and this fashion will be permanent—to build hotels with a bath for every bedroom."

"I remember the time—of course, I was then very young—when baths were not so necessary. In fact, I once overheard a little boy say to his father in a hotel corridor:

"Pa, what are Knights of the Bath?" "Why, Saturday nights, of course," the father replied.

"Another time we put a rich old lady from the country—this, too, was ages ago—in our best room, a room with a bath.

"The room clerk asked her in the morning how she had slept. She hid a yawn behind her hand and answered: "The bed was good, and I'd have slept fine, young man, only I was afraid somebody would be wanting a bath and the idea of strangers passing back and forth through my room worried me so I just couldn't snatch a wink."—Detroit Free Press.
