

SCHIFFMANN'S NEW BRONCHIAL REMEDY

For Bronchial Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Coughs

E. A. Drown is willing to lose the profit which would be made on a bottle of Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectorant, and announces that he will sell a regular 50c bottle of this remedy for 25c (half price) to persons presenting the coupon below, but only for the first bottle to each person.

Although a remedy for bronchial affections, and coughs or colds might not have yet been required so far this season, it is more than likely that some member of the family will need some before it is over, and it will pay to take advantage of this opportunity now and buy a bottle at half price, instead of putting off until later and paying full price.

While losing money, they have decided to give the public an opportunity of trying this most excellent, successful, new remedy at no greater price than they would have to pay for almost any ordinary cough remedy, and are positively certain that it will be found the best medicine ever used for coughs, colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, whooping cough, croup and hoarseness.

the very best remedy possible, at half price, you also get as much as would cost you $2.00 to $3.00 for the same quantity of ordinary, old-fashioned, ready-made kinds, because a 2-ounce bottle makes a whole pint (128 teaspoonsful) when mixed at home with simply a pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of water, as directed. It is altogether different from any other medicine. It positively contains no chloroform, opium, morphine or any other narcotic, as do most cough medicines. It is most pleasant to take and absolutely the best and safest for children.

Absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy, as if it does not give perfect satisfaction and even more—if it is not found the best remedy ever used for any of the above complaints, go back, and the above druggist will refund your 25c, just the same as with Schiffmann's famous Asthmador. Can anything be fairer? You will be the sole judge, and your money is not wanted if you are not satisfied. Better buy a bottle at once, while fresh in memory, otherwise you might forget it. The cost could also be reduced by inducing a neighbor or some friend to buy half the quantity.

TWENTY-FIVE CENT COUPON—NO. 4

This coupon and 5c is good for one (only) 50c bottle of Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectorant at E. A. Drown's if your name and address is filled in.

PRESIDENT WILSON WEDS

Wilson-Galt Nuptials in the Bride's Washington Home

BRIDAL COUPLE OFF FOR HOT SPRINGS, VA.

Simplicity of Ceremony Relieved by Magnificent Decorations in Bride's Home

Washington, Dec. 20.—President Wilson and Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt were married at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night and left afterward to spend their honeymoon at Hot Springs, Va. The president and his bride traveled in a private car attached to a special train leaving Washington at 11:10 o'clock. The train was due to arrive at Hot Springs yesterday at 8:15 a. m.

At Hot Springs Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will live at the Homestead hotel until after New Year's day, unless some development should necessitate the president's earlier return to the capital. Two of the White House automobiles have been sent on ahead and the couple expect to spend their honeymoon motoring, golfing and walking the mountain trails. Besides the secret service guard, the party was accompanied by one stenographer. The president will keep in touch with the White House over special wires.

Because the hour of the wedding was known to comparatively few persons, there was not a large crowd in the vicinity of the bride's home, although a large police guard had been provided. All arrangements for the wedding ceremony were carried out perfectly, the president arriving at his bride's home soon after 8 o'clock and the remainder of the wedding party, which numbered less than 30, following soon after. The ceremony was begun, as had been arranged, at 8:30 o'clock and was followed by a buffet luncheon. Mrs. Wilson was married in the traveling gown which she wore to the train.

Soon after 10 o'clock the president and Mrs. Wilson entered a waiting White House automobile and motored to Alexandria, Va., across the Potomac, to take their private car there and avoid a crowd at the railroad station in Washington. After the president and his bride had departed Secretary Tumulty made this formal statement on the ceremony:—

"The wedding was marked with simplicity. It was just such a wedding as might have taken place in the home of the humblest American citizen."

The prayer book which the officiating clergyman used once was the property of the late Judge William H. Bolling of Virginia, father of the bride, and was used at her request. Several guests added to the list at the last moment included Prof. Stockton Axson, a brother of the late Mrs. Wilson; A. Bolling Galt, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Galt, the former a brother of Mrs. Wilson's first husband, and Mrs. Tumulty, wife of Secretary Tumulty. One of the added guests was Matilda Braxton, an old negro mammy of Wytheville, Va., who has been a servant in the bride's family all her life.

The ruse by which the wedding party got away to Alexandria was complete. When the White House automobile pulled away from Mrs. Wilson's house, lines of police blocked pursuit in all the adjoining streets. At the union station the presidential entrance was fully lighted and lines of police were spread all about. Those who were attracted to the railroad station by the show of preparation were disappointed while the president and Mrs. Wilson were speeding to the station across the river, 10 miles away.

The president dined as usual at the White House at 7 o'clock with his daughter, and afterward drove to his bride's home, about a mile from the executive mansion. A cold, driving rain which swept the city all day cleared off at sunset, and the evening was cool and pleasant. Because the wedding arrangements and the hour of the ceremony had been kept a close secret, there were few on the streets about the White House, but near the bride's home the crowd was held back by police lines spread during the afternoon.

Everything was in readiness for the ceremony when the president arrived, and it proceeded without incident. Neither the president nor Mrs. Galt had any attendants, and there were no ushers or flower girls. Neither the army, the navy nor the diplomatic corps was represented, and the occasion was essentially what the couple had wished it to be—a home wedding.

On the first floor of the bride's home, in two communicating rooms, a wedding dinner had been arranged with a background of ferns and maidenhair ferns which extended from the floor to the ceiling. Overhead, there was a canopy of green in the form of a shell, lined with Scotch leather. In the background and at the center was placed a large mirror framed with orchids and reflecting the scene. Above the mirror was a spray of orchids across a background of ferns and the corners of the canopy were caught with orchids. American Beauty roses were on the sides of the canopy, beneath which was a prayer rug, on which President Wilson and Mrs. Galt knelt during the ceremony.

Just at the hour set for the ceremony the president and his bride appeared at the head of the staircase, which was decorated with ferns, asparagus vines and American Beauty roses. They descended to the lower floor, and the guests were grouped about informally. Rev. Herbert Scott Smith, pastor of St. Margaret's Protestant Episcopal church, of which the bride is a communicant, was waiting beneath the canopy to perform the ceremony, and with him, to assist, was the president's pastor, Rev. James H. Taylor of the Central Presbyterian church.

Bride Given Away by Her Mother. Mrs. William H. Bolling, the bride's mother, gave her away. The president stood to the right of the clergyman and the bride stood on their left. At once Dr. Scott began the words of the Episcopal marriage service. The president, looking his representative first, and then the bride making hers. After the bride promised to "love, cherish and obey," the president placed the wedding ring upon her finger and then after a prayer and while the couple clasped their right hands together, Dr. Smith declared them man and wife. The brief and simple ceremony was over.

The entire party then turned to the dining room, where a buffet supper was served. The decorations there were of pink and on the buffets were banked growing ferns and pink roses. The tables were decorated with Lady Stanley rose blossoms. On a table in the center was the wedding cake—a fruit cake several layers high, ornamented with sprays of pink orchids in the center. Mrs. Wilson cut the cake without formality and no arrangement was made for bestowing bits of it upon others than those in the wedding party.

Groom's Gift a Diamond Brooch.

During the ceremony and at the luncheon afterward, during which a string orchestra played, the bride wore her traveling dress, a black silk velvet gown, with a picture hat of black beaver with no trimmings whatever except one feather slightly turned on the left side. At her throat she wore the president's wedding gift, a magnificent diamond brooch. The skirt of her gown was of walking length and cut on full lines. The waist had silken embroidery of blue, shading from the deep tones of royal blue to delicate shades of pastel, and was threaded with silver.

The lower part of the waist was embroidered on black net over a band of silver in the design of lilies, below which was a girle of black velvet. The sleeves of the gown were of black net fashioned in tiny tucks, with long, bell-shaped cuffs of embroidered velvet which came well down over the hand. Her collar, which was high and upstanding, was of black lace. When she left on her honeymoon journey Mrs. Wilson wore over her gown a fur coat of broadtail with bands of Yukon, and muff to match. She wore a chin-chain collar.

The President's Daughters.

Miss Margaret Wilson, the president's eldest daughter, was gowned in sapphire blue velvet, with sapphire and velvet trimmings. Mrs. William G. McAdoo, his youngest daughter, wore blue silk brocade with fur and silver trimmings. Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, his third daughter, was attired in rose chamoise with cream lace. Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, the president's cousin, had on yellow silk and gold.

Mrs. Bolling, the bride's mother, was dressed in a costume of richly jetted net over an underskirt of black satin appliqued in king's blue. A short train was caught at the left side of the girle with a cluster of crushed pink roses. She had old canoes set in pearls which she had worn as a bride.

Mrs. W. H. Maury of Aniston, Ala., a sister of the bride, appeared in white crepe and silver net with a court train of cream crepe embroidered in leaf sprays of gold. A single moon flower caught her corsage at the waist. Mrs. Alexander H. Galt of Washington, another sister, was attired in robin egg blue chiffon velvet with silver bands and a black tulle sash with crushed roses. Miss Bertha Bolling, the bride's third sister, wore a gown of turquoise blue over a full skirt of blue chiffon. Over white lace flounces fell a panier draped overskirt of blue tulle embroidered in gold and silver. The bodice of chiffon was over heavy bands of gold lace and a high girle was of flower embroidered silk.

All the men in the party, which, outside of the relatives, included Secretary Tumulty and Dr. Grayson, the president's physician, wore evening dress.

Room Set Apart for Gifts.

Upstairs in the bride's home one room was set aside for the wedding gifts, which despite intimations from the White House that nothing should be sent by others than relatives and close friends, ran into the hundreds.

In deference to the president's wishes, the houses of Congress sent no gifts officially, but many members sent personal remembrances. The Virginia delegation, representing the native state of the couple, sent a loving cup. Wytheville, the bride's home town, sent a miniature of Mr. and Mrs. Bolling, her parents. The Pocahontas Memorial association, in recognition of Mrs. Wilson's descent from the Indian princess of that name, sent a bronze statue of Pocahontas. The Monocline Institute of Wytheville sent a handsome lead belt. The former queen of Hawaii sent a scarf. Minnesota women

EVERY THREE MINUTES ONE DIES IN THE U. S.

The Anti-Tuberculosis Society illustrates the frightful toll of consumption by extinguishing a light every three minutes, and shows that it is the man or woman, girl or boy, who neglects colds, whose blood is impure, who feels weak and languid, who is the very one to contract tuberculosis—and none are immune.

During changing seasons, or after sickness, blood-purity is most important, and if you and your family will take Scott's Emulsion after meals it will charge your blood with health-sustaining richness, quicken circulation, and strengthen both lungs and throat. Scott's is a new blood-cleanser to take—its name is Scott's Emulsion.

en sent a wedding cake. Every member of the cabinet sent a gift.

In addition to the president's diamond brooch, there were other gifts of jewelry, among them a diamond brooch set with sapphires and a gold and sapphire bracelet. There were so many fans that it is said Mrs. Wilson will have a different one for each evening during the social season. Candlesticks and comports were there in quantity, among the most distinctive in the letter being one from Speaker and Mrs. Champ Clark. Included in the gifts were many vases, ancient and modern, quantities of glass, pottery and silver, books and pictures, an ancient Chinese box and a large mahogany dining table.

Gifts from Belgian Children.

A bracelet of Brazilian tourmalines and an ornament of tropical bird feathers came from South America. From Belgian children came pillows, pieces of lace, engrossed parchments and other articles, including embroideries all inscribed with cards showing gratitude for the president's sympathy, often expressed, for the sufferers of the war in Europe. Gifts came also from the pupils of the Benedictine nuns at Liege, and the children of the Liege school of St. Veronica. The children of Spa, a Belgian watering place, sent a jewel case inscribed "Homage and gratitude of Spa."

In view of the desire of President and Mrs. Wilson that as little publicity as possible attend their wedding, names of those sending wedding gifts have been withheld from publication. The great number received, however, completely upset the plans for cataloguing and classifying them at the bride's home and the work will be turned over to White House attaches. When the gifts are sorted it is understood all those having intrinsic value which came from persons unknown to the president or Mrs. Wilson will, much to their regret, be returned.

Return by Jan. 4. The president and Mrs. Wilson are expected to return to the capital on or before Jan. 4, when Congress reconvenes.

The Pan-American reception in the White House on the night of Jan. 7, will be the social function of the season, which is expected to be unusually brilliant. Not a Place for Thinking.
