

ABOUT THE STATE

HAZARDINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

Mr. and Mrs. Simon W. Scribner are to observe the 50th anniversary of their wedding this evening at their home in Hardwick.

Prof. George H. Perkins, the state geologist and curator, has recently purchased for the state cabinet a fine collection of Indian relics from O. H. Humphrey of Northfield. These were collected mostly from the states of Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia.

Mrs. Caroline E. Cushing, who died Dec. 18 at the home of her son in Newfane, had reached the age of 93 years three months and 18 days. She was the oldest woman in the village and had retained her mental and physical vigor to an unusual degree. She was one of a family of 12 children.

WHITNEY-BENEDICT.

Brattleboro Man is Married to Supervisor of Drawing.

Brattleboro, Dec. 27.—Harold E. Whitney, secretary of the Fort Dummer Cotton Mill corporation and secretary of the Connecticut River Power company, and Miss Marguerite S. Benedict, supervisor of drawing and manual training, were married Saturday in the bride's home by Rev. Roy M. Houghton, pastor of the Center Congregational church. Only members of the two families were present.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Boston and New York. They will live in the Abbott on Canal street. Mr. Whitney is a son of Edwin D. Whitney, a retired merchant. Mrs. Whitney is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Benedict of High street.

FIVE-LEAVED CLOVER PLANT.

Mrs. Ethel H. Griffith of Springfield Has a Unique Growth.

Springfield, Dec. 27.—Five-leaved clover leaves are common enough, but a whole plant that is five-leaved like that possessed by Mrs. Ethel H. Griffith here, is believed well-nigh unique. The plant measures 10 inches across and some of the leaves are three and a quarter inches in diameter.

Mrs. Griffith found the plant last spring in a clover field. She kept it all summer in a garden outdoors, but as cold weather came she transplanted it to a large flower pot, and it thrives equally well in the house.

It now has more than 50 five-leaved petals, about a dozen flowers and one six. A few threes come occasionally, which are immediately clipped off, but it has never blossomed.

Bennington's Observance.

Bennington, Dec. 27.—Bennington's community observance of Christmas included carol singing in the streets. Shortly after 6 o'clock the choirs met in the center of the village, where Christmas trees had been erected at four corners. While carols were repeated famous paintings of the nativity were thrown upon a screen.

Children Are Remembered.

White River Junction, Dec. 27.—A community Christmas festival was held here Saturday evening with a large tree illuminated on the park. There was a real Santa Claus and a gift was provided for every child under 12 years of age.

530 VESSELS PASS THROUGH CANAL

From August 15, 1914, to June 30, 1915—Detailed Account of Operation and Maintenance Given in Gov. Goethals' Report.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 27.—A detailed account of the operation and maintenance of the Panama canal during the first 10 months and a half after its opening to commerce in August, 1914, is given in the annual report of Governor Goethals of the canal zone, made public last night. Final construction work just prior to the canal's opening also is described in the report, which embraces the fiscal year ending June 30 last, prior to the earth slide which blocked the channel.

Between Aug. 15, 1914, and June 30, 1915, 530 vessels, representing a net Panama canal tonnage of 1,884,728 and cargo tonnage of 2,125,735 were passed through the canal. A net tonnage of 1,938,307 and a cargo tonnage of 2,844,057, from Pacific to Atlantic, making a total of 1,688 vessels with a net canal tonnage of 3,843,035 and a cargo tonnage of 4,969,792. During this period three minor slides interrupted traffic, the channel being closed from Oct. 14 to 20 and Oct. 31 to Nov. 4, 1914, and March 4 to 10, 1915.

Construction of the canal proper, except for dredging excavation and construction of the east breakwater at Colon, virtually was completed prior to this fiscal year. In the old Culebra cut, renamed the Gaillard cut, there were removed, in the process of construction during the year, 1,960,617 cubic yards at an average cost of approximately 42 1/2 cents a yard. In maintaining the channel—including removal of earth deposited by slides—there were taken from Gaillard cut 4,710,569 cubic yards at a cost of 34 1/2 cents a yard and from the channel at the Atlantic entrance 1,233,301 cubic yards at a cost of 10 1/2 cents a yard.

"Cucaracha slide," the report says, "was very active from July to October, 1914, quiet during the dry season, and active again with the beginning of the rainy season in April. On the west side at Culebra the slide showed little activity through the greater part of the year; but in 1915, the general movement of the bank was noticeable, and it was estimated that 5,000,000 cubic yards of material were in motion on June 30, 1915, on the west side. It is estimated that about 4,000,000 cubic yards will have to be removed from the east side."

Of the $394,399,149 appropriated by Congress to June 30, last, the report states that $14,889,873 has been spent on fortification; $750,000 to cover three annual payments to the republic of Panama; $6,440,000 for the operation of the civil government of the canal zone for the fiscal year 1915, $4,289,159 for the operation and maintenance of the canal to the end of the fiscal year 1915, while stock on hand aggregates $2,225,000, leaving $365,999,116 appropriated for the actual construction of the canal and its adjuncts.

Two million dollars of this was invested in collars, and $6,563,987 was returned to the treasury department up to the close of the fiscal year 1915 as miscellaneous receipts, leaving $357,436,048 as the net amount expended for the canal, including the amount available for work still in progress. A dry dock, two coaling stations and terminal piers, not included in these figures, are yet to be constructed.

Health conditions in the canal zone, the report says, were very good during the year. The total death rate from disease was reduced from 14.46 in 1914 to 11.77 in 1915. Victims of malaria, the principal cause of disability, were re-

The admission rate to hospitals from typhoid was reduced more than 76 per cent, from dysentery, 50 per cent, and the death rate from pneumonia was reduced more than 39 per cent. Iron Ore in Northeastern Texas.

The brown ores of northeastern Texas have been used to some extent for making iron in small local forges or furnaces in almost every county in which a good sized deposit of ore occurs. This form of industry was carried on mainly between 1850 and 1870. Between 1870 and 1899 iron was manufactured from time to time in five or more small charcoal blast furnaces. Since the last of these furnaces went out of blast several plans have been made to establish iron and steel works on the Gulf coast as well as at points between the ore field and the Oklahoma-chokecherry field. The recent conditions of the iron and steel markets have not, however, been favorable to such enterprises, so some iron ore has been shipped to blast furnaces in Alabama and on the Atlantic seaboard.

In response to many requests received by the United States geological survey during the last three or four years for published data concerning the iron-ore deposits of northeastern Texas, a reconnaissance of this area was made in the autumn of 1914 by Ernest F. Dunbar, a survey geologist, who, in bulletin 629-E, which may be obtained free by applying to the director of the survey, gives an account of the early exploration of these deposits together with descriptions of deposits in Cass, Marion, Morris and Cherokee counties and analyses of the ores.

In the iron-ore district of northeastern Texas the surface is occupied chiefly by sand, clay, gravel, and silt. The most recent deposits—those that form the bars and bottom lands along the streams—are of Quaternary age, but the great masses of sand and clay with which the iron-ore deposits are associated are of early Tertiary age (Eocene). The iron ore consists of limonite, or hydrated iron oxide (brown ore), and siderite, or iron carbonate.

Both kinds of ore occur in nodules and irregular masses of almost endless variety, embedded in glauconitic sand and clay.
