PRESIDENTIAL TALK

Hughes and McCall Are Popular in the West.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Former Representative J. C. Needham of San Diego, Cal., talking yesterday of the presidential outlook, predicted that the Republican convention will not nominate any man who has used the Republican party to advertise himself, and said that Justice Hughes and Governor McCall of Massachusetts were mentioned more frequently in the far West than any other possibilities.

His views are interesting as showing the ramifications of the sentiment for Hughes. "In California," said he, "sentiment has not crystallized to any great extent, except to show that the Progressive party is a national organization is no longer important. The name of Justice Hughes is heard oftener than that of any other Republican, and next to him, perhaps, Governor McCall of Massachusetts is spoken of. I believe the Chicago convention will name a man to head the ticket who is not now a candidate. As Chairman Hilles put it, the nominee of the Republican party will be born in the convention hall."

LOVED HER HUSBAND

Even Though He Beat Her, Says Mrs. Mohr in Cross-Examination

DESPITE ACTIONS WITH OTHER WOMEN

Attorney-General Brings Tears to Her Eyes by His Questions

Providence, R. I., Jan. 29.—Again yesterday Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mohr was under an insistent cross-examination in the trial in which she is charged jointly with two negroes with the murder of her husband, Dr. C. Franklin Mohr.

She described anew the alleged brutalities of her husband, yet asserted that she loved him still.

"I loved him from the bottom of my heart. He almost killed me one day, but he loved me the next," she declared. Sobbing at times, Mrs. Mohr related the story as suggested by the prosecutor.

The witness admitted that she had corresponded with stable boys and other servants for the purpose of keeping watch on her husband.

Among these boys was C. Victor Brown, who, with his half-brother, Henry H. Spellman, is joint defendant with Mrs. Mohr. The widow was still on the stand when luncheon recess was taken.

She declared she never intended to carry her divorce suit through and insisted that the doctor had no intention of divorcing her. It almost killed her when she was arrested, she said.

Attorney General Rice questioned Mrs. Mohr about the incident she described in direct examination of her fur coat being thrown out of the bathroom window at Newport.

"Did you call in the police?"

"An officer nearby."

Mrs. Mohr admitted knowing Chief of Police Crowley of Newport, saying Mr. and Mrs. Crowley had been in her house several times. "Mrs. Crowley was a good friend of mine," she said. She did know the police chief of Newport, but denied that she was intimate with him.

The alleged confessions of the negroes had it that Mrs. Mohr told them not to be afraid, as she "stood in" with the police.

Mr. Rice took up Mrs. Mohr's suit against a life insurance company, which she said was brought in an attempt to recover on a $5,000 policy which she had placed on the life of her nephew, Joseph Hennon, but the court excluded questions on this point for the present.

Mr. Rice explained that he was trying to show that the insurance suit was several times postponed and did not come up until June, 1909, after the remarriage of Doctor and Mrs. Mohr at Lynn, Mass. Mrs. Mohr said that she did not know that in that suit she would have to testify that she was the wife of Doctor Mohr and denied that the Lynn marriage was performed for the express purpose of enabling her to so testify.

Mrs. Mohr said the "first serious quarrel with the doctor" occurred in February, 1909. It started when the doctor began taking drugs and giving her severe beatings, she said.

"I understand you to say he drove you out of the house?"

"Yes; I told him I was going to leave him."

"And there was no occasion for the beatings other than he got drunk and used drugs?"

"No, sir."

Mr. Mohr did not live with the doctor from the time of this trouble in February, 1909, till the second marriage was performed in May of that year, she testified. She denied that she took Doctor Mohr to Lynn to be married while he was under the influence of liquor and also denied that the doctor always said that if he ever had married her it was while he was intoxicated. He was not intoxicated when he was married, she declared. She thought his word was sufficient proof of the marriage.

She described the terrible beatings given her by the doctor, and sobbed as she said:

"I loved him always."

"Is it because you loved him so much that you have told of all these beatings here?" she was asked.

"Yes; I loved him. I am here and have to tell the truth."

"And haven't you told this tale of woe to get the sympathy of the jury?"

"No, sir."

The prosecutor introduced the subject of an alleged assault by Doctor Mohr upon Mary McConville, a servant employed by the doctor at Providence in 1914.

"Did you take Mary McConville to the doctor?" he asked Mrs. Mohr.

"A stable man telephoned for a physician before I got there," she answered.

"Doctor Mohr was like a mad man from drink and drugs upstairs and I was afraid Mr. Bennett, the physician who was summoned, might have him arrested. I was trying to protect my husband."

Doctor Mohr was subsequently arrested for criminal assault on Miss McConville, but was acquitted. The doctor at that trial claimed his wife "framed" the case on him.

"Didn't you tell Mary McConville to shoot Doctor Mohr?"

"No, I never did."

"Didn't you tell Julia Duffy and other servants that you would never see Doctor Mohr again—that Mary McConville was going to shoot him?"

"No, sir, I did not."

ESSEX FERTILIZER CO., BOSTON, MASS.

A Full Harvest

A good harvest comes to the farm which is in good condition. Soil is the most important part of a farm and should be kept in the best condition. This can only be done by restoring to it the plant food that growing crops take away.

BONE, BLOOD and MEAT Fertilizers are plant foods in their most natural forms. They feed the growing crops abundantly, enrich the soil and keep it fertile and in best condition for subsequent crops.

Fortunately, we anticipated the shortage in potash, and in all sections of New England, supplied fertilizers without potash, containing good percentages of ammonia in the proper forms, as well as phosphoric acid. The results prove conclusively that satisfactory crops can be grown with Essex, for a time at least, on most soils without the application of potash. We offer Essex Fertilizers with confidence that they will yield a full harvest.

I used Essex Fertilizer without potash in the center of a large field planted to potatoes on 40 Potash Fertilizer, and this plot received just the same care as did the others. The results without potash are well-nigh unbelievable, as I received an actual yield at the rate of 150 barrels of potatoes to the acre. These are farms which I can prove, the crop being harvested in the presence of witnesses. W. S. TAPLEY, Blaine, Me.

It was indicated yesterday that in the middle West the president will devote his addresses to emphasize the points made by him in his New York speech, although he will also discuss practically all important questions pending in Congress, including the shipping bill.

TWO GERMANS

Taken from an American Tugboat and Interned.

The president saw several senators and representatives on legislative matters, but the usual Friday cabinet meeting was cancelled. He expected to see Secretary Lansing, however, to discuss foreign questions. During the president's trip, Mr. Lansing will keep him informed constantly of all important developments in the international situation.

Before departure last night the president and Mrs. Wilson attended a dinner given in their honor by Secretary and Mrs. McAdoo.

The president will deliver the first address of his western trip in Pittsburgh to-day. He will speak in Cleveland to-night, in Milwaukee Monday, in Chicago Monday night, in Des Moines Tuesday, in Topeka Wednesday, in Kansas City Wednesday night, in St. Louis Thursday morning, and will return home Friday afternoon. He will also speak from the platform of his car in many towns through which he will pass.

On the trip west he will be accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, Secretary Tumulty, Dr. C. T. Grayson, the White House physician, two stenographers, a telegrapher and an unusually large corps of secret service men. He will attend no banquets or social affairs, but will devote practically the entire trip to speaking and travelling. Dr. Grayson said yesterday the president is in good physical condition for the tour.

It was arranged that after speaking at the principal meeting in Topeka, the president will speak at an overflow meeting in the high school auditorium.
