

THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Words of Encouragement to Childless Women.

Motherhood is woman's natural destiny, but many women are denied the happiness of children simply because of some curable derangement.

Among the many triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is its marvelous power to overcome such derangements, as evidenced by the following letter:

Worcester, Mass.—"I suffered from female ills, and was advised to have an operation, but a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and who has six children, told me to try it. It has helped me so much that I am now healthy and have a baby boy who is the picture of health, and I thank the Vegetable Compound for my restoration to health."

—Mrs. BERT GARVEY, 20 Hacker St., Worcester, Mass.

In many other homes, once childless, there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

ITALY INVADED BY 3 ARMIES

Rome Reports Furious Battle on the Tyrol Front

THE FOE IS NEARER VICENZA

Pasubio, Key to the Plain Region, Is Under Attack

Geneva, May 24.—Despite the most stubborn resistance, the armies of the Austrian crown prince are pressing steadily forward against Vienna, the Italian "Verdun," on the first anniversary of Italy's declaration of war.

Austrian artillery has begun a bombardment of the snow-capped peak of Monte Pasubio, twenty-one miles northwest of Vicenza. The position has been strongly fortified by the Italians. It bars the northern entrance into the valleys leading directly into the northern Italian plain, less than ten miles distant.

The whole Tyrol front is now the scene of most desperate fighting. South of Rovereto, the Italians are making a stand near Serravalle, captured in their advance up the Adige valley last summer. Italian guns on the ridge of Monte Baldo are sending great shells screaming across the intervening gorges against the attacking enemy forces.

East and southeast of Rovereto, the Austrians have crossed into Italian soil at three different places. Rome reports

USING UP VITALITY

The struggle for success uses up vitality in America at a greater rate than any other thing. Fighting to keep away from the poor-house we shorten the distance to the grave.

Especially in middle age, at forty or thereabouts, do we become impressed with the necessity of laying up a competence and with that feeling in time comes worry, nervous breakdown, neurasthenia. The entire system feels the result of the nervous strain. The digestion resents things that it accepted before, the heart palpitates on slight exertion, the muscles of the back ache after a day's work. Your blood is thinner and not so bright a red.

When these things occur, whether you are fourteen or forty, you need a tonic. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills suit most people's need because they are non-alcoholic and they really build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. They are useful for growing children and for men and women whose nervous energy has been overtaxed.

Your druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for free booklets on the blood and nerves.

NEW EVIDENCE IN ORPET CASE

Poison Phial and Alleged Eyewitness Are Found

THE PAIR SEEN IN THE WOODS

Teamster Asserts Man Put Bottle to Girl's Lips

Waukegan, Ill., May 24.—Two further points have been developed in the state's case against Will Orpet, University of Wisconsin student charged with the murder of his former sweetheart, Marian Lambert, in Helm's wood, Lake Forest.

The vial from which the girl took or was given the poison is in the hands of State's Attorney Dady and will be introduced as a strong link in the chain of circumstantial evidence gathered by the prosecutor.

An alleged eye witness has been found by the state. He is a deaf mute teamster, who declared he saw the boy and girl in Helm's woods. They kissed, he said, then parted. But he has not yet been able to identify Orpet as the man whom he saw.

State's Attorney Dady, it was learned yesterday, has fairly well outlined the order in which he will call his witnesses.

Frank Lambert, father of Marian, who found her body in the snow under the "Three Oaks" in Helm's woods, and William Marshall, a professional golfer, who aided in the search, are to be called first. Josephine Davis, Marian's chum and the state's principal witness, will follow.

The state continued its activities yesterday in collecting evidence to strengthen its case. The tedious work of choosing a jury has given ample opportunity to investigate every detail connected with Miss Lambert's death, and it probably will take the rest of the week to complete this work.

Four men sit in the jury box, with the prospect of having to wait until the beginning of next week before they are joined by their colleagues. Five panels of veniremen, a total of 936, have been called. The chief obstacle found has been the settled opinions of the men of the county.

The poison vial was found in Helm's woods shortly after the death of Miss Lambert, it was said, by Mr. Dady and Sheriff Griffin of Lake county. The sheriff, who divulged the secret of the possession of the vial, said that he and the state's attorney had spent days searching the woods after Miss Lambert's body was found.

David James is the deaf mute who said he saw the two principals to the tragedy. His eyes were attracted to them because of the early hour. He stopped his team, he said, and watched them. The girl was seated at first, but finally she started up and rushed to the man, grasping his arm. Then they kissed, James declared, and the man apparently raised his hand to her lips. She fell and her companion ran away.

Attorney Wilkerson, for the defense, said James' testimony could not be admitted because his distance from the scene prevented clarity of vision, because he first had said the man merely had kissed the girl and because he did not offer his evidence until many days had passed. This witness will have to submit to examination by alienists, Mr. Wilkerson said.

CHANCE FOR ETOR.

To State His Case Against Lawrence Officials.

Lawrence, Mass., May 24.—After a conference here yesterday noon, Judge Mahoney of the district court promised Attorney John P. Feeney and Thomas G. Connelly of Boston that a process would be issued against those whom the complainant would name, as a result of Joseph J. Etor's claim that he was forcibly driven out of town early Monday morning by four local police officials. Attorney Feeney said that he would file a formal complaint this morning, charging false imprisonment and kidnapping.

Immediately after the conference Etor left in an automobile for Boston with his counsel. Their automobile was trailed out of the city by a closed machine loaded with police inspectors.

After Etor had left the city Almerman James W. Cadogan, who is commissioner of public safety, said: "I was elected by the people of Lawrence to maintain law and order and I intend to use the resources at my command to do so. Etor is an undesirable person and I do not propose to allow him to remain here."

Topics of the Home and Household.

When pressing seams in chiffon or any delicate fabric, try using a bottle filled with hot water, instead of a flatiron.

Pack bottles in your overhauls when going away on a short trip with a suitcase. There may be a tooth-wash bottle, a tonic bottle or some other bottle to take, and it is often a problem where such things will be safe. After wrapping them tie and packing them in the overhauls tie the latter together and put paper around them.

Caramel Pudding—One pint of milk, one cup of brown sugar. Put milk in double boiler. When it comes to a boil, add two tablespoons of cornstarch mixed with a little cold milk. Add the yolks of two eggs, well beaten. When cornstarch is set, boil 10 minutes longer. Turn into a baking dish. Beat the whites of the two eggs with a cup of brown sugar. When stiff, put on top of pudding and brown in oven.

Before You Call the Doctor.

Simple cures are often all that is required for slight ailments. Earache, tummyache and many other kinds of ache can be relieved or banished by the application of heat, in the form of a hot-water bottle, hot fomentation, or flannel bag filled with hot salt. The last is almost a magic cure for earache, and should be put on the pillow, and the patient lying with the affected ear against it.

A bilious headache may often be cured by drinking the juice of half a lemon, in which half a teaspoonful of carbonate of soda has been dissolved. No water should be added to the juice. A few drops of peppermint in a tumbler full of water frequently relieves indigestion.

Gargling is the best remedy for a sore throat, and the gargle may consist of either a grain or two of permanganate of potash or half a teaspoonful of borax in half a glassful of hot water.

The old-fashioned hot mustard-and-water remedy for a cold is hard to beat.

Recipes of Various Kinds.

Rhubarb Charlotte—Scald one cup of sweetened stewed rhubarb and stir in one rounded tablespoon of gelatine softened in one-third cup of cold water. When dissolved remove from the fire, and one tablespoon of lemon juice, place on fire until it begins to thicken and fold in one and one-half cups of double cream beaten until stiff and sweetened with three tablespoons of powdered sugar. Turn into a mold lined with any delicate cake and let harden on ice.

Pineapple Mousse—One cup grated pineapple, three-fourths cup sugar if canned fruit is used, one cup water. Cook three 10 minutes and strain. Into hot juice dissolve one envelope of granulated gelatine. When cold, not jellied, but cool, add one cup cream (whipped). Wet a mold and put in mixture. Set in cool place until firm. Put on fancy dish and serve without a sauce or cream as a dessert in slices. A small 12-cent can of grated pineapple will be just a full cup.

Fricassee Cucumbers—Pare the cucumbers, cut them in halves lengthwise, scrape out the seeds, then cut into inch lengths. Put three tablespoons of butter in a saucepan, add three cups of prepared cucumbers, one-half teaspoon of salt and one-fourth teaspoon of white pepper. Cover tightly, shake over a hot fire for two or three minutes, then cook gently until tender. Cucumbers which are rather old may be used for this purpose.

Orange Cake—One-half cup butter, one cup of sugar, two eggs, one-half cup milk, two cups flour, one-half teaspoonful soda, one teaspoonful of cream tartar, one teaspoonful of baking powder and the grated rind of one orange. Bake in two pans. Stir confectioners' sugar into the juice of the orange, until it is thick enough for frosting, and spread between the cakes.

Sponge Cake—Beat the yolks of four eggs thoroughly, add one cup of granulated sugar and beat two minutes. Add three tablespoonfuls of cold water. Into a half pint measuring cup put one and one-half tablespoonfuls of cornstarch and fill the cup with bread flour; add one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Sift these together several times and just before putting into the tin stir in the well beaten whites of the four eggs.

Doughnuts—Take four cups of flour, add one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder, one level teaspoonful of soda, a little salt and grated nutmeg. Beat two eggs, add one cup of sugar, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one cupful of sour milk, mix and add to the flour mixture. Roll, cut and let rise on a cloth for one and one-half hours, then fry.

MARSHALL CHARGES MAY BE DEFERRED

House Committee Is Preparing a Report to Recommend That Course.

Washington, May 24.—The House committee on judiciary is preparing a report to be submitted to the House recommending that the consideration of the charges against H. Snowden Marshall, United States attorney for the southern district of New York, be deferred until after the trial of Rae Tanzer and the trial of Representative Buchanan.

This would carry the matter over beyond the present session of Congress, and it is the general opinion that if this course is followed it will be the end of the matter.

Startling Announcement.

One afternoon just as a Providence clergyman was about to enter the pulpit to conduct the service, a couple from a nearby town presented themselves, making known their anxiety to be married as quickly as possible. The clergyman, an extremely methodical man, replied that he could not oblige at that moment, but that immediately upon the conclusion of the service he would take pleasure in making them man and wife.

So after demurring, the couple seated themselves in the rear of the church.

When the minister had finished his remarks he cleared his throat and made the following announcement:

"The parties who are to be joined in matrimony will present themselves at the chancel immediately after the singing of hymn 425, 'Mistaken Souls that Dream of Heaven.'"

ALLEN M. FLETCHER'S "OFFENSES" AGAINST VT. SPECIAL INTERESTS

Two State Newspapers Analyze Alleged Transgressions of Former Governor Against Railroads and Corporations

The St. Albans Messenger, commenting on an editorial paragraph in the Brattleboro Reformer with reference to the administration of Governor Allen M. Fletcher, indulges in a summary of his offenses; but it has generously omitted those of greatest enormity in its eyes, as the mouthpiece of the Central Vermont railway.

Let us see what some of these offenses were, committed by the governor in question:

Governor Fletcher's chief offense was pushing through the legislature acts forcing the railroads to bear a fairer share of the burden of taxation. This was done by stopping the use as a basis of taxation of the gross income, which could be shifted to roads outside the state controlling those in the state. The taxpayers of Vermont now receive from this source $240,000 more revenue in every biennial period than before. The taxes of the express and telephone companies were also increased by $25,000, and the American Express company was compelled to pay its taxes, although it induced the last legislature to make a slight reduction in the tax.

Opposed the Lobbyists.

Another offense of Governor Fletcher, in the eyes of those whom The Messenger represents, was his insistence that railroad lobbyists should cease trying with greater or less success to dominate legislation, especially through the Senate.

Another offense was Governor Fletcher's service in promoting legislation regarding demurrage in freight, for the benefit of the shipping public.

Another offense of Governor Fletcher was his determination that the office of attorney-general should cease to be used as a buffer between the railroads and other public service corporations and the public; and that the abuse of the detective fund should stop. His course has been vindicated by the reduction of detective expenses from $70,000 biennially to $10,000; and that the state has not suffered from this reduction is shown in the large per cent. of convictions in criminal cases secured by Attorney-General Barber.

Justifies Telephone Investigations.

Another offense of Governor Fletcher was his response to complaints as to telephone conditions in Vermont. The prompt elimination of the charge for calls not answered by the party sought has more than compensated patrons for the expense of the investigation. Governor Fletcher's action also stopped the promiscuous "watering" of telephone stock for the promotion of monopoly, and resulted in an order for the reduction of certain excessive rates. That this matter has not been pushed to a full realization for patrons is not the fault of Governor Fletcher, nor is he responsible for the fact that the order for such reduction has all this time been held up indefinitely in the courts.

Insisted on State Purchasing Agent.

Another offense of Governor Fletcher was pushing legislation for a state purchasing agent, with the result of saving taxpayers thousands of dollars as compared with the old system of purchasing by favor from privileged parties.

Another offense of Governor Fletcher was his interference with existing conditions by demanding better school facilities for the youth of Vermont.

Another offense of Governor Fletcher was his determination that acts of the legislature to provide Vermont with a real public service commission such as we now have should not be invalidated or neutralized by reactionary judges, and that the people of Vermont should

Was a "Real" Governor.

In other respects, "the very head and front of Mr. Fletcher's 'offending' is not perhaps so obvious. It is certain that he was the kind of governor Vermont editors and Vermont orators had been preaching about for years. He wore no man's collar. He took orders from no boss. He conducted his office for the benefit of Vermont, so far as he saw his duty, and had the audacity to tell a Vermont legislature to go home after it had 'fudged' away so much time that its further sitting threatened a public scandal.

Fletcher's Distinguished Enemies.

Yes, he made enemies. Perhaps no man in public life ever had a choicer or more distinguished collection, yet, as the fulminations of those enemies grow more dim, can any man truthfully point to a single act of Mr. Fletcher's administration which in the slightest degree threatened the interests of the taxpayer?

On the contrary, it is not true that the plain people, outside of a few politicians, are beginning to realize that his services to the state were very considerable? If pressed, cannot Mr. Fletcher specify, in very effective fashion, just why those politicians hate him?

The Herald does not happen to know whether Allen M. Fletcher is about to become a candidate for further public office, but, if he does, it would strongly behoove his enemies not to provide him with such a ready-made platform as The Messenger seems to have built beneath him.—Rutland Herald.

HISTORIC FLAG INCIDENTS

The Birthplace of "The Star-Spangled Banner"

This house stands at Thirty-Fifth and M streets, Northwest, in the city of Washington, D. C., near the Georgetown College.

It is the house in which Francis Scott Key lived when, as a practical prisoner of war, he wrote the patriotic lines of the adopted national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner."

It is a place hallowed in the memories of all true lovers of The Flag and all the emblem stands for. The house is preserved as one of the show places of the national capital and is daily visited by hundreds.

Who has not seen a multitude of people, at theatres and other public places, arise as one man and uncover when the stirring strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" burst forth from the orchestra or band?

This is Patriotism, and Patriotism can be shown in many different ways. OCCASION shows the patriot.

Every National, State and Civic Holiday is an occasion for patriotism—an occasion upon which every true American should
