

10 for 5c

Artie's ma bought a box of Adams Chiclets for Artie and me. My, but they're good. Artie and I let them melt in our mouths. Then when the candy's all melted off we chew the gum. I like them and so does Artie, and Artie's ma says she always keeps a box in the house for good little boys.

AMERICAN CHICLE COMPANY

THE BRITISH OFFENSIVE

Berlin War Office Reports Strong Attacks at Two Points

MAY BE THE OPENING OF GREAT OFFENSIVE

Violent Fighting Continues Northeast of Verdun—Positions Unchanged

Berlin, June 29.—Yesterday's official report of operations on the western front indicates that the British have begun their long-expected offensive. The bulletin speaks of "strong British attacks" along La Bassee canal and near the river Somme. The British assaults failed in both sectors, it is asserted.

The war office also announced that French attacks on the village of Fleury and the ridge of Froid Terre, northeast of Verdun, broke down, though preceded by intense artillery fire.

GERMAN U-BOAT SIGHTED OFF PROVINCETOWN

The Undersea Craft Is Said To Be Headed for Boston—Sighted Yesterday Forenoon.

Boston, June 29.—The predicted visit to Boston by a German trans-Atlantic undersea boat is very likely to come true within a few hours if the latest reports from the customs office outlook at Provincetown are correct.

A report was received at the duty officer's office here yesterday noon that what was believed to be a German submarine had been sighted headed for Boston.

Norfolk, Va., June 29.—The tug Thomas F. Timmons, owned by German interests in Baltimore, yesterday continued its lone vigil three miles off Cape Henry, waiting, the crew said, the arrival of the long heralded super-submarine from Germany.

A theory now held here is that the Timmons is being used to draw British warships to the Virginia coast and that the submarine is headed for New York.

MANY TROUT KILLED.

By Being Washed from Streams Into Irrigation Ditches.

Thorough tests of devices to prevent fish from entering irrigation ditches are to be made by forest service officers, who say that thousands of the trout placed in western streams by the government are killed through being carried into the ditches and washed out on the fields.

There are not less than 1,200 irrigation projects on or near the national forests, and in many places the loss of trout is very heavy. The amount of water used in irrigation, it is said, often determines the advisability of artificially stocking the streams.

The government annually plants large quantities of fish fry in the streams of the national forests. Last year over 1,100,000 were placed in Colorado and Wyoming alone. This was done to render the forests more attractive to the public by affording good fishing.

Where much of the water is used for irrigation, unless the ditches are screened, the trout enter and are washed out on to the fields. While fish are said to make good fertilizer, officials think that trout are too expensive to be used for that purpose.

Most of the states in the West have laws requiring that the ditches be screened, but these laws are seldom enforced. The farmers are said to dislike the screens, because they collect drift-wood and trash which prevents the free flow of the water. Very often, too, it is stated, the farmers can supply their families with a mess of fish by collecting the trout which are found in the fields.

A number of devices for screening the ditches are in use, and while two or three have been found to be fairly effective most of them are said to be unsatisfactory. It is asserted that this subject presents an excellent opportunity for inventors, since a successful screen will be sure to be widely used.

WAITS RIVER

John T. Carter Died Tuesday—Funeral Will Be Held Saturday.

John Townsend Carter died at his home in this place June 27, in the 76th year of his age. He is survived by a widow, Alysia M. (nee McCulla) and three children—Frank H. of Waits River, Robert M. of Milwaukee, Wis., and Catherine B. of Lowell, Mass. The funeral will be held from his late home Saturday, July 1.

SAVE YOUR HAIR AND KEEP YOUR JOB

Says Men Are Paying More Attention to Hair Than Ever Before

Tens of thousands of men are losing their hair daily and ignoring the fact. Many a man has lost his job because he lost his hair.

Dust and dirt make dandruff and dandruff makes heads bald and bald heads are the first to go when business is poor.

Wash your hair at least once a week with any pure soap and frequently apply Parolan Sage, rubbing it thoroughly into the scalp.

Parolan Sage will save your hair and promote a healthy growth; it quickly removes every trace of dandruff, banishes scalp itch and makes your head feel fine.

The cost of a large bottle is trifling, but the benefits are very great, so every druggist well knows. The Red Cross Pharmacy cheerfully guarantees Parolan Sage to you.—Ad.

Federal Inquiry or Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation costs of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be settled by reference to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employes, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by such a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employes for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:

"Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opinion, and that eventually the matters in controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railways be disposed of by one or the other of the following methods:

- 1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only tribunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the railways, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue necessary to meet the added cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable; or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot, under existing laws, act in the premises, that we jointly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and promptly dispose of the questions involved: or
- 2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law" (The Newlands Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employes are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:

No other body with such an intimate knowledge of railroad conditions has such an unquestioned position in the public confidence.

The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Government board.

Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employes as wages; and the money to pay increased wages can come from no other source than the rates paid by the public.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, with its control over rates, is in a position to make a complete investigation and render such decision as would protect the interests of the railroad employes, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preferment of $100,000,000 a year to these employes, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employes, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts.

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.

National Conference Committee of the Railways

- ELISHA LEE, Chairman
- F. R. ALBRIGHT, Gen'l Manager, Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.
- L. W. BALDWIN, Gen'l Manager, Central of Georgia Railway.
- C. L. BARDO, Gen'l Manager, New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad.
- H. H. COAPMAN, Vice-President, Southern Railway.
- B. E. COTTER, Gen'l Manager, Wheeling Railway.
- F. C. CROWLEY, Asst. Vice-President, New York Central Railroad.
- G. H. EMERSON, Gen'l Manager, Great Northern Railway.
- C. E. EWING, Gen'l Manager, Philadelphia & Reading Railway.
- E. W. GRICE, Gen'l Supt. Freight, Chesapeake & Ohio Railway.
- A. S. GREIG, Asst. to Receivers, St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad.
- C. W. KOUNS, Gen'l Manager, Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway.
- H. W. McMASTER, Gen'l Manager, Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad.
- N. D. MAHER, Vice-President, Norfolk & Western Railway.
- JAMES RUSSELL, Gen'l Manager, Denver & Rio Grande Railroad.
- A. M. SCHOYER, Resident Vice-President, Pennsylvania Lines West.
- W. L. SEDDON, Vice-President, Seaboard Air Line Railway.
- A. J. STONE, Vice-President, Erie Railroad.
- G. S. WAID, Vice-Pres. & Gen'l Mgr., Susquehanna Lines.

CASEMENT'S COUNSEL COLLAPSES IN COURT

In Midst of Impassioned Appeal for Irish Traitor Sergeant Sullivan Breaks Down.

London, June 29.—Yesterday's session of the trial was brought to a sudden and dramatic close. While summing up for the defense, Sergeant Sullivan collapsed as he was in the midst of an impassioned appeal, and the court adjourned until this morning. At that time the defense was to continue with its plea.

GLYCERINE AND BARK PREVENT APPENDICITIS

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-ika, astonishes BARRE people. Because Adler-ika acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel, ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. It removes such surprising foul matter that a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. The INSTANT, easy action of Adler-ika is astonishing. Cummings & Lewis, druggists, 54 North Main street.—Adv.

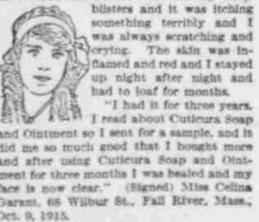

FACE ALL COVERED WITH ECZEMA

In Big Water Blisters, Itching Something Terribly, Always Scratching and Crying.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I worked in a mill where there was a lot of oil, and I got eczema. It was on my face which was all covered with big water blisters and it was itching something terribly and I was always scratching and crying. The skin was inflamed and red and I stayed up nights after night and had to loaf for months. "I had it for three years. I read about Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a sample, and it did me so much good that I bought more and after using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for three months I was healed and my face is now clear." (Signed) Miss Collins Garant, 65 Wilbur St., Fall River, Mass., Oct. 9, 1915.

Sample Each Free by Mail With 22-p. Skin Book on request. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." Hold throughout the world.

DO YOU KNOW THAT

It's worry, not work, which shortens life?

A cold bath every morning is the best complexion remedy?

Poor health is expensive?

The United States public health service has reduced malaria 80 per cent. in some localities?

The death rate from typhoid fever in the United States has been cut in half since 1909?

Pneumonia kills over 120,000 Americans each year?

Flyless town has few funerals?

The well that drains the cess-pool is the cup of death?

CANADA'S NEW GOV.-GEN.

Not Particularly Prominent in Political Circles in London.

The governor-general of Canada to succeed the Duke of Connaught is officially announced from London—Victor Christian William Cavendish, ninth duke of Devonshire. The new governor-general has not been particularly prominent in political circles in England, although he was Liberal Unionist M. P. for Derbyshire from 1891 to 1898. He has also occupied the offices of treasurer to His Majesty's—Edward VII—household, financial secretary to the treasury and lord lieutenant of Derbyshire. He succeeded to the dukedom in 1912. He was born May 31, 1868, and in 1892 married Lady Evelyn Fitzmaurice, daughter of Lord Lansdowne. The duke was educated at Eton and Cambridge. He owns 186,000 acres and six great residences, the most celebrated of which are Chatsworth, Devonshire house, London, and the historic Hardwick hall. The appointment is one due to social position and was probably secured for him by Lord Lansdowne. It is merely an ornamental and social affair in Canada and the new governor-general is bound to be popular at Rideau hall. The Duke of Connaught goes as viceroy to Ireland. Here he will have a more important and more necessary field for his tact and penitence than in Canada and his Irish title will not work against him. If it is necessary to still continue in Ireland the archaic office of a direct representative of the sovereign, the Duke of Connaught will do as well as any and better than most. Perhaps in the end he will so smooth his general turbulent subjects as to become "Duke Pat" to them, if so he will have justified his salary and his abilities.

Usual Way

Mrs. Flatbush—Where have you been? Mr. Flatbush—To see your mother. "Find her home?" "Yes." "Did she receive you with open arms?" "No, open mouth."—Yonkers Statesman.

EAST CABOT

Mrs. Henry Smith returned Monday from Burlington. She left her sister, Maggie, rapidly gaining.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Ray of West Barre were visitors here Tuesday.

Miss Gladys Armstrong of West Danville is spending a few days at Harry Young's.

Ralph White spent Wednesday at West Barre.

Miss Hazel Abbott attended the county conference meeting at the Congregational church Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Chandler of Peacham spent Sunday at Harry Chandler's.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Barr of Cabot and Mrs. J. H. Barrington of Greensboro were visitors Monday afternoon at R. S. Barr's and E. E. Hall's.

E. N. Dunbar and granddaughter, Rachel Bassett, of West Danville visited friends here Monday.

George Chandler of Peacham was a recent guest at Frank Peck's.

David Labbay of Danville green was a business visitor here the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Read spent Monday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Corlies at Marshfield. Mrs. George French of Rochester, N. Y., was also there. She was an old neighbor of Mr. Read's people.

Paul Labree of Plainfield was in this place Monday on business.

John Ladd of Cutler Corner, Orange, was a visitor with friends here Monday and Tuesday.

Leonard Houghton is spending a few days with his daughter, Maggie, at Burlington.

Mrs. William D. Barr spent Wednesday with relatives at Alvin Mackay's at Peacham.

HARDWICK

Miss Dorothy Garland of Burlington, who has been visiting friends here, has gone to Hyde Park to pass the summer with relatives.

Miss Ida Hoyt has completed her duties in I. H. Carr's store and has gone to Johnson, where she has employment.

Fairman Crane was home from the University of Vermont over Sunday.

Burt Hooper, Fred Daby, William Gallagher and Francis Healy visited the state reservation at Fort Ethan Allen Sunday.

Mrs. W. A. Dutton and daughter, Miss Alice, are in Boston.

Miss Mildred Greenwood of Coventry is a guest at her aunt's, Mrs. O. E. Hanford.

Misses Florence Gallagher, Irene Carroll and Anna Moore have returned home from St. Mary's academy, Burlington.

Elisha May of St. Johnsbury was in town Saturday.

Mort Cass is taking a vacation of two weeks from his duties at the postoffice and with Mrs. Cass is visiting relatives in Lowell, Mass.

Boys from here who have enlisted in the state militia are: Howard Townsend, Lawrence MacGovern, Ray Wark, Fred Hitchcock and Alfred Blackwell. Harold Taylor will go as a medical aid.

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-which tradition of education mixed with patriotism. Colonel Reeves will command the Vermont troops—and possibly some others—from now on. In the Vermont's composition, the military spirit flows strong and clear side with the civic ideal.—Boston Transcript.

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the Vermont militia to the call for the Mexican warlike possibility is in several ways characteristic of Green mountain methods. In the first place, the state answers the summons with quite as large a proportion of its inhabitants as any other state, not excepting Massachusetts. In the next place, it was extremely prompt in its reply. Again, the old Vermont trick of turning out entire families of brothers in single companies was repeated. The roll of one company of Vermont minute men in the Revolutionary war contains the names of one man and his eight sons. No families like that in Vermont now; they have gone out of fashion. But we note that with Company I of the First Vermont regiment now assembled at Fort Ethan Allen, there are present three sons of Mrs. Sarah Dunleavy of Brattleboro, and also three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Hinsdale. Patriotism runs all through Vermont families. A very interesting circumstance in connection with the Vermont regiment is that its colonel, Ira L. Reeves, was, at the moment of the assembly of the regiment, being installed as president of Norwich university, Norwich has been a military school from its beginning under old Captain Partridge, and Colonel Reeves, who is a retired captain of the regular army, with a brilliant record as an officer, will continue the Nor-

Characteristics of Green Mountain State

Characteristic of Green Mountain State. The response of the