

Wall Paper Ideals

WALL PAPER
will be realized here. Our Wall Papers are beyond the average in artistic merit. Not only are they quite out of the ordinary, but they produce effects which one might consider impossible to get. We're showing a lot of truly decorative features that you cannot afford to ignore when papering. The housewife's responsibility in selecting appropriate papers is lessened by consulting us. We specialize in this work.

Daniel McBain of Brook street is detained from his work at the Presbytery-Coykendall plant as the result of an injury received yesterday when he was struck in the right eye by a flying fragment of steel. The steel particle came from a bush hammer which the cutter was using and for a few moments he was blinded by the blow. Uptown he visited the office of an eye doctor and had the foreign matter removed. Unless there are untoward developments Mr. McBain expects to be back at the banker within a few days.
Frank J. Hunton of Orange street submitted to an X-ray examination of his right arm yesterday in the office of Dr. H. H. Reid and learned that the radius bone had been cracked as the result of an accident which he sustained while cranking one of the Smith & Cummings delivery trucks Monday. At first it was thought that one or both of the arm bones had been sprained, but when the usual ministrations failed to ease the pain, Mr. Hunton determined to have the member examined through an X-ray. The nature of the partial fracture makes it necessary for him to wear the arm in a sling.
George H. Wilder, teacher of voice, flute and pianoforte, of Burlington, Vt., authorized exponent of the William Shakespeare method of breathing, tone production and singing, refers by permission to William Shakespeare, London: Franz Americh, Berlin, Germany; Oscar Saenger, New York; Gustav Saenger, New York; Edwin Gordon, Boston. Mr. Wilder, by request, will teach in Barre each Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday forenoon during the season. For further particulars address the Wilder School of Music, 116 Main street, opposite Van Ness house, Burlington, Vt.—adv.

Admission, adults 10c, children 5c. All exhibits must be brought to the Church street building before noon Friday. No exhibit will be removed from the building until the exhibit is closed. All exhibitors who are to compete for prizes must have their names attached to all articles. Parents or friends are invited to bring any plant, flower or vegetables they may wish to exhibit. Prizes will be awarded Saturday at 10 a. m.
Barre friends of Rev. W. C. Johnson, father of Cashier W. C. Johnson of the People's National bank, who formerly resided in Barre for a year, will regret to learn that ill health has compelled him to give up his pastorate of the Methodist church in Windsor, a charge which he has held for the past three years. He plans to move to Derby, where he hopes to regain his health, as physicians have advised him not to attempt to do the work of a settled pastor until he had rested for a year. For some time he has been on a leave of absence from the Windsor church and has spent several months on the shores of Willoughby lake in the hope that the change would prove beneficial.
Goddard seminary students who have starred on the hilltop diamond continue to attract the attention of major league talent as is evidenced by the following notes in yesterday's Boston Globe: "George Faulkner of Dorchester, who played with the St. Johnsbury, Vt., club this summer, has been out at Braves field and made a fine impression. Manager Stallings likes his work and the Dorchester boy may go south with the Braves next spring." Faulkner at present is a student at the seminary, having enrolled in the fall of 1915. He returned to school this week and is taking an active part in plans for Goddard's football campaign. Among his school-mates he is known as an unusually versatile athlete.

Free Demonstration of Wilson & Co.'s Certified Oleomargarine

This is an absolutely pure article, put up under government inspection. It has been the practice with some manufacturers to use a small amount of cheap butter to get the butter color.

Wilson & Co. put up the pure article without color, but if you care to color it for table use, we give you a capsule of pure vegetable coloring with each pound. This gives you an absolutely pure article and saves you from 10c to 15c per pound on your butter bill.

Come in and let the lady tell you about it. This Oleomargarine is cream churned and cream flavored.
