RED SOX CHAMPION OF AMERICAN

One Defeat for Chicago Yesterday Eliminates That Team From Chances— Brooklyn and Philadelphia in a Close Race.

Boston, winner of the world's championship of 1915, is again the pennant winner in the American league. Although Chicago's defeat in their first game Sunday brought a decision in the American, the pennant in the National league is not yet clinched. Brooklyn, in first place, and Philadelphia in second appear to have the best mathematical chances of opposing Boston in the inter-league championship series. The latter team can lose all its remaining games without a chance of Chicago catching up.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

Scott, the sensational fielding shortstop of the Red Sox, did some clever hitting Saturday, when he drove out three hits out of four times at bat, one of them going for a triple. His single in the tenth was the hit that paved the way for the Boston team's victory over New York. The Dodgers lost the opening game of their double-header with the Philadelphia Nationals Saturday but regained the lead by winning the second contest. Alexander was hit hard in the second contest Saturday and lost by a score of 6 to 3. The Boston Braves stopped the winning streak of the New York Giants in the second game of their double-header at the New York park Saturday, when they stamped an 8 to 3 defeat on the savage Giants. Tyler was the man who had the honor of performing the stunt, and in a very nice way he did it. At no time during the contest did he let them hit the stride which they have been in the habit of making through the past month. Tyler has always been a puzzling block for the New York club. Babe Ruth is some steam-roller himself; six straight for the Babe is not so bad. The third son was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Tyrus Cobb at the home of Mrs. Cobb's father, Roswell O. Lombard at Atlanta, Ga. During the series between the Yankees and Red Sox, the Yankees attended to their own business and let the umpire alone. Louisville won the American association pennant; the deciding game was with Toledo. Indianapolis was the runner up.

PLUNGED OVER FIVE TIMES

Spaulding Played Creditable Game Against St. Johnsbury

VISITORS FAILED TO STOP OFFENSE

On Attack Caledonian Boys Were Also Powerless

Showing an unexpected return to form after playing a spiritless tie with Montpelier seminary a few days previous...

Spaulding high school smothered the football eleven from St. Johnsbury academy at the Gospel village campus Saturday afternoon by the score of 32 to 0. Outweighed several pounds to a man, the school boys from Spaulding outplayed their opponents from start to finish. By carrying the ball cautiously and with a greater degree of generalship, by an improved knowledge of signals and by a more compact attack and defense, the Spaulding team played in a manner that contrasted strongly with the work of the visitors, as well as its own performance in the initial game. A sudden field did not improve the form of either eleven. At times it rained and conditions as a whole on the gridiron were not conducive to the open style of play.

Spaulding scored within four minutes after the whistle sounded for the kick-off and with the scoring thus well under way it straightway became apparent that there was something potentially weak in the St. Johnsbury defense. The high school boys were held for down by three times in the four periods, while the Caledonians seemed to be doing their level best when they made their downs three times. Referee Levin had an eye single for infractions and penalties were frequent, with the violations committed on a 50-50 basis. The academy team lost 15 yards for holding and again there was a repetition of the penalty for tripping. Jameson proved himself a shrewd little general, but with a raw and somewhat untutored team to handle, his performance did not stand out in the same brilliant way that Watkins called off the plays and kept his teammates on their toes incessantly. The brothers Tomasi, Johan and Looie, are prime stars and they shone brilliantly in every other scrimmage. Thompson, Bailey and Pierce looked good. P. Farnham was the biggest ground gainer for Lily White boys, but he had an unfortunate faculty for developing injuries in every period.

The high school scored its first touchdown with J. Tomasi plunging through the line consistently and with yards to his credit at every plough. Watson had kicked off to St. Johnsbury, Gibson receiving, but the bulky boys from Caledonia could not advance. J. Tomasi missed the goal. On the second kick-off Jameson and Lampher essayed an unsuccessful forward pass and when the ball was returned to Spaulding on the St. Johnsbury 30-yard line, L. Tomasi was enough for the second count, his brother failing to kick a goal. The period ended with Spaulding at the 12 end of the score, after Watson had kicked the ball to St. J.

St. Johnsbury braced a bit in the second period and Spaulding seemed to lack the punch so conspicuously shown in the opener. Spaulding lost on downs, but the visitors failed to advance and as the clarion notes of the whistle sounded, the ball was Spaulding's. In the third period P. Farnham kicked off to Watkins who circled the right end when the ball was returned to scrimmage and after the first worthy pass of the game, Wilkins to Maiden, the plucky little quarterback went over for the third touchdown. Thompson kicked a clever goal, the first of the game. Nothing more happened until the fourth period, although Spaulding was penalized 15 yards for holding toward the close of the third. On J. Tomasi's punt to the forty-yard line, St. J. returned and the ball was Spaulding's in the middle of the field.

The Tomasi brothers had things much to their liking in the fourth and Brother Johan went over for the fourth touchdown almost in the twinkling of an eye. Thompson's sure toe bringing the count up to 26. Watson kicked off to Ricker, but St. Johnsbury forfeited immediately on downs and then Bailey, L. Tomasi and his brother on bucked the line that the fifth touchdown seemed inevitable. J. Tomasi compassed the line, but Thompson failed for the first time to kick a goal. Watson kicked off, but the ball went to Spaulding on downs and when Wilkins and Thompson executed a clever pass it looked like another registration under the St. Johnsbury goal lines, but the final whistle came before the forward movement could be completed and the game ended with the ball in Spaulding's possession on St. Johnsbury's 10-yard line.

The score: Spaulding, St. Johnsbury. Cruickshank, Thompson, le. Mortimer, it. Tomasi, re, D. Farnham Barclay, Vanetti, lg. Mortimer, it. Millis Chandler, Sowles, c. Gibson Nichols, rg. Watson, rt. Lougee Maiden, re. L. Lampher, Marshall Wilkins, qb. Jameson l. Tomasi, lb. Ellis Bailey, Pierce, rbb. Ricker J. Tomasi, fb. P. Farnham The summary: Score—Spaulding 32, St. Johnsbury 0. Touchdowns—J. Tomasi 4, Wilkins. Goals from touchdowns—Thompson 2. Umpire—Stradler. Referee—Levin. Lineman—"Nig" Smith. Time—Four 12-minute periods.

Kick-backs. Spaulding is down for a game with St. Albans high school at the Lincoln school campus Saturday. After playing teams that were not altogether representative of every corner of the state, the St. Albans school boys claimed the 1916 championship and are out to gather enough laurels to repeat the claim this season.

If their decisive defeat of Middlebury high school is an indication, they have begun to make good their claim. Coach Brown should not relax for a moment in anticipation of the coming contest.

Some of the spectators at Saturday's contest recognized in Coach Gould of St. Johnsbury the Bill Gould who carved a name for himself on the records of track history at Colgate not long since.

The Gospel village campus resembled a slough of clay after the heavy rain of Friday night.

Coach Will T. Maiden of the Montpelier seminary team was a spectator. Coach Maiden is assuming his charges for the Columbus day engagement with Montpelier high school, an all-important contest in Capital city football fandom.

As Goddard's game with the second team at Middlebury college failed to materialize, most of the hilltop huskies were in Gospel village for the high school contest.

Right End Maiden is a lad who is developing rapidly and his sure-footed work Saturday bulked large in the result. Spaulding had a secondary offense that was 50 per cent better than anything the academy team had to offer in that respect.

Wilkins redeemed a touchdown in the third period when a touchdown seemed lost. Luck figured handsily, but the aggressive quarterback picked his holes well and proved an adept at dodging.

The name, Tomasi, will be written twice in the lineup if an all-Vermont high school team is selected at the close of the season.

St. Albans H. S. 39, Middlebury 0.

St. Albans, Oct. 2.—St. Albans high, interscholastic champions of 1915, started another successful season by defeating Middlebury high at football on Athletic field Saturday afternoon by a score of 39 to 0.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

Few Upsets in Results of Saturday's Games and Big Elevens Win Easily.

A few surprises were recorded in the results of Saturday's football games among the larger colleges, but the majority of teams won their games. Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth, Penn State, Lehigh, Rutgers, Colgate, and Washington and Jefferson came through as expected, but Penn, the Army and Navy failed either to win or to decisively defeat their opponents. Dickinson tied the navy in a scoreless game, and a field goal was the only score which the Army and Penn were able to make on Lebanon Valley and West Virginia elevens respectively. Williams opened its season by trimming Rensselaer and Wesleyan defeated the Connecticut Aggies by a single touchdown. Brown defeated Rhode Island State, 18 to 0. The scores follow:

IN RECORD TIME.

Only Slight Accident in World's Fastest 250-Mile Auto Race.

New York, Oct. 2.—Driving 250 miles without a stop, Johnny Aitken of Indianapolis won the Astor cup race on the Sheepshead bay speedway near New York Saturday afternoon in 2:25.04.2, a new world's record for the distance. His average speed was 104.5 miles an hour. At the 50th mile the Indianapolis driver swung into the lead ahead of Chevrolet and never relinquished that position, finishing the race nearly a lap ahead of Rickenbacker, who finished second. Vail was third. Rickenbacker's time was 2:24.19.55, while Vail's was 2:25.51.84. The following drivers finished in the order named: Mulford, Milton, Klein, Le Cain and Devigne.

In addition to winning the Astor cup and a cash prize of $10,000, Aitken's victory places him in the lead for the championship of the American Automobile association. Saturday's race was the second big automobile event to be won by Aitken without a stop. He finished first in the 200-mile contest on the Cincinnati speedway Labor day.

VALUE OF BORIC ACID.

Its Use as a Disinfectant and as a Healing Remedy.

A physician writes to Farm and Fireside saying "that the very best disinfectant known to science does not seem to be known to some people at all."

"I allude to boric acid, or, as some people call it, boracic acid. It is exceedingly efficient, safe and economical. It is a white powder and makes the best dressing for wounds that modern doctors have ever discovered."

"In using peroxide or hydrogen it is always necessary to remember that while it is a disinfectant it is not a healing remedy at all, as it is acid in reaction and stimulating rather than healing to wounds."

"Boric acid is mild and safe in its action, promotes rapid healing of wounds, can be used as a dressing powder or dissolved in water as a cleansing solution. Boric acid in solution makes an excellent gargle for sore mouths or a lotion for sore eyes, and as it is not at all expensive a pound box of it should form part of the domestic supplies of every family."

"Always remember that boric acid is nonpoisonous in an ordinary quantity usually used, while bichloride of mercury and carbolic acid are exceedingly poisonous."

Eyes of a Giraffe.

No matter from what direction you may approach the giraffe, the top heavy looking animal is sure to discover you. It has been called the original "rubber-neck." It is not generally known that nature, because of the height of its eyes from the ground, has supplied it with a talent peculiarly its own for making observations. As a matter of fact, a giraffe can see in all directions at the same time without moving its head. The eyes are large and prominent and so placed at the side of the head that, bulging out as they do, they are capable of seeing backward as well as forward.

PRES. WILSON IS FLAYED

Hughes Is a Man of Deeds, Declares Colonel Roosevelt

PRESIDENT "MAN OF WORDS"

Tells Audience the President Sacrificed National Honor Through Fear

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 2.—President Wilson's administration was assailed by Theodore Roosevelt in an address which he made here Saturday on behalf of the candidacy of Charles E. Hughes. He referred to President Wilson "as a man of words," and to the Republican candidate "as a man of deeds."

Speaking to the thousands of people packed into a circus tent Colonel Roosevelt charged that President Wilson "sacrificed the national honor of the United States because he feared to pay the price for upholding it." Roosevelt characterized President Wilson's European and Mexican policies as "cowardly," and as "following the lines of least resistance."

"President Wilson, by his policy of tame submission to insult and injury from all whom he feared has invited the murder of our men, women and children by Mexican bandits on land and German submarines on the sea," said the former president.

Roosevelt declared that President Wilson's chief policy was the policy of vacillation. He declared the president, in "15 messages, letters and speeches," made from Dec. 9, 1914, to Feb. 10, 1916, "took 41 different positions about preparedness and the measures necessary to secure it, and each of these 41 positions contradicted from one to six of the others."

"The European policy of President Wilson, particularly in the Lusitania case, was referred to as 'humiliating as ignoble.'" The Mexican record of the executive was called "ruinous to Mexico, dishonorable to ourselves, and infamous from the standpoint of humanity."

"Discussing the Adamson bill, Mr. Roosevelt charged that President Wilson in urging passage of the measure by Congress, 'took his orders from that one of the parties which he most feared.'"

"We have seen in this country few things more discreditable to our representatives and more ominous for the future of the nation than the spectacle of the president and Congress of the United States being required to pass a certain bill before a certain hour at the dictation of certain men who sat in the gallery with their watches in their hands, threatening ruin and disaster to the nation if there was the smallest failure to satisfy their demands," said Roosevelt.

The colonel referred to the torpedoing of the Lusitania by a German submarine as "the most colossal single instance of the murder of non-combatants, including men, women and children, that had been perpetrated by any power calling itself civilized, for over a century."

"I have been asked what I would have done if I had been president when the Lusitania was torpedoed," shouted the speaker. "I would instantly have taken possession of every German ship interned in this country and then I would have said: 'Now, we will discuss not what we will give, but what we will give back.'" This utterance received wild applause.

When he began his attack on the Adamson bill Colonel Roosevelt declared that an increase of wages and not the eight-hour day was the real issue. "Let President Wilson apply that sacred eight-hour law to the servants in the White House and see how far he'll get," said Roosevelt. "I believe in the eight-hour day as the general rule toward which we must strive, but I recognize that special needs must be met in special industries and that in all such cases there must be a very careful consideration of all the conditions before final action is taken."

Roosevelt closed his address with a plea for the election of Charles E. Hughes. He urged the voters to "repudiate Mr. Wilson because only by so doing can they save America from that taint of gross selfishness and cowardice which we owe to Mr. Wilson's substitutions of adroit elocution for straightforward action."

Colonel Roosevelt spoke at length on the Mexican situation. He criticized President Wilson for refusing to recognize Huerta and for recognizing the Carranza

Premier Zahle urged immediate action on the bill, in view of the fact that the United States already has approved the treaty.
