I have moved the studio equipment recently purchased of the Troup studio into the Campbell block studio formerly occupied by F. Eaton and shall carry on the commercial end of the business at above place, making a specialty of monumental photographs and air-brush designs. George Troup, tel. 289-J.

The Barre committee representing the Allies' Red Cross fund will meet in the Scampini building this afternoon. The hour was set at 3 o'clock and the attendance of every member was requested. Subscription sheets have been issued by the committee and will be distributed at once. Anyone desirous of joining in the cause is asked to show his interest by attending the committee meetings.

The winners' class of the Baptist church held their quarterly business meeting Friday evening at the home of their newly elected teacher, Alden Grosvenor, 30 Perry street. The following officers were elected: President, Milton Bradley; vice-president, Arthur Nelson; secretary, Carl Shields; treasurer, Clarence Rogers; reporter, Burton Jones; social committee, Spencer Jones, Gladstone Clark and Robert Christie. After the election refreshments were served.

Among the guests arriving at Hotel Barre last night and this morning were the following people: Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Farrington of Boston, W. L. Proebtel of Burlington, Vt., A. C. Freeman of Norwich, Conn., J. E. Pollard and C. H. Benedict of Chelsea, F. H. Bachelder of Springfield, J. O. Sheldon of Woodstock, N. H., J. T. Travers of Barton, E. M. Jones and E. J. Jamieson of Burlington, J. H. Peretti of Boston, E. L. Varney of Leominster, Mass., F. W. Glynn of Saxtons River, E. M. Clark of Malone, N. H., and Harry J. Smith of Manchester.

With a jury of 12 drawn and ready to hear the evidence, Napoleon Paquin, charged with intoxication, subsequent offense, decided to enter a plea of guilty this morning when brought into Magistrate H. W. Scott's court. Paquin was represented by R. A. Hoar and Grand Juror William Wisbart appeared for the state. When asked to disclose, Paquin mentioned the name of a man who purchased alcohol for him on the evening of Nov. 2. After the disclosure the magistrate consented to let the man sign the total abstinence pledge and payment of a $15 fine was suspended pending good behavior. Paquin paying the costs of $8.11. The jury was discharged.

Mother-in-law troubles which big Jack Hussey is having at 110 River street and vicinity were ventilated in city court this morning when Jack pleaded guilty to a breach of peace charge that specified an assault on his wife last night. Magistrate H. W. Scott imposed a fine of $5 and costs and the respondent was permitted to tell his story. Hussey intimated that a good many of his mother-in-law jokes are very stern realities in his domestic life and further deposed that his wife's mother, Mrs. Steenbarger-Wiggins, was responsible for a row that necessitated police interference at 10 o'clock last night. Officer John W. Dineen arrested the respondent after quelling one of the periodic riots that spring up in the environs of River street. Hussey paid the fine and costs and departed.

Socialists are proud of their party's showing in the national election and one of the notable achievements cited by a German-Socialist organ, the Volks Zeitung of New York, was the election of a state legislator in Vermont. James Lawson, the Socialist who was successful in Barre Town's three-cornered contest, it goes on to say, is the first member of the party to land a seat in any Vermont legislature. The result in Vermont is hailed as one of the significant features of an election in which Socialists throughout the country showed their solidarity by increasing the party vote 25 per cent and electing several municipal heads and legislators. Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Florida, Montana, New Mexico, Utah and California are among the other states which have Socialists in their legislatures as a result of the 1916 election.

The Goddard football squad is still being held to hard practice under the guidance of Coach Kinney, who is putting his team through a hard drive in making preparation for a game which the Goddard school management and Colby academy officials of New London, N. H., are making an endeavor to schedule for Saturday, Nov. 18, at Goddard campus. If the schools finally determine to play the game, it will give Barre football enthusiasts a chance to see one of the best school games staged in Barre for several years, as Goddard is conceded by all to be the best prep. school team in Vermont and Colby has played throughout the entire season and has not lost a game as yet, with several Massachusetts high schools on their list, among them being Everett high, which is one of the strongest teams in the Bay state. Kimball Union academy, Concord, N. H., high school, Tilton seminary and the fast Manchester, N. H., high school team. With a game of this caliber on the Goddard schedule, it will give the dupsters a chance to get a true line on Goddard's comparative strength with other preparatory schools in New England. It will be definitely decided within a few days whether or not the game will be put through.

Members of the Bide-A-Wee club, a newly formed ladies circle, held a very enjoyable social gathering last evening at the home of Mrs. Margaret Stephens, 38 Maple avenue. A musical program shared with delightful refreshments in making the first gathering of the organization. Those who contributed to the entertainment were: Piano solo, Miss Elizabeth Stephens and Mrs. Ralph; vocal solos by Mrs. Jeffrey and Mrs. Thompson, and a reading by Mrs. Robert Inglis.

Barre friends of James Forbes, a well known fullback on the Bonsecour football team in former days, will regret to learn that he again has been wounded on the battlefields of France. Advice just received by Sec. A. W. Cornack of the club say that "Jim" Forbes, as he was known, was badly wounded in the right leg. At present he is an inmate of a hospital in Bristol. Private Forbes has had an unfortunate time, as he was wounded in the arm a few months ago and had just returned to the trenches, after having been a second time in the base hospital.

What's in a Name.

A story which will be appreciated by university men is told in Edinburgh. A number of examinations were being held recently at the university, and at one of them a student bearing the name of Meadow, who had answered the printed papers, was called up for his "oral."

"Ah, Mr. Meadow," facetiously remarked the examining professor, "fine old name yours."

"Yes, professor," responded the student. "It would be a great pity if it were ploughed."—Tit-Bits.

A big, able-bodied man of about middle-aged shuffled into the poor law guardian's office and curtly bade the clerk good morning.

"Wot d'yer mean?" he began, "by knockin' out poor Widder Snuggs' parish pay? She's a honest, 'ard workin' woman, whose nose is in the wash tub all day long, an' it's a wicked shame to rob 'er of her lawful rights."

The clerk took down a big ledger and silently consulted it.

"Mrs. Snuggs has married again," he said, "and the guardians have decided that she is no longer entitled to outdoor relief; and in any event, my man," he added sharply, "I should like to know if the matter is any concern of yours."

"(Concern o' mine!" the man repeated. "Well, I should rather think so, gov' nor. If you stops the old lady's pay you stops my daily ounce o' shag an' quart o' beer too. I'm her noo 'usband."—Answers.

A Desperate Change.

The prisoner, up on a criminal charge, was asked by the court if he had yet secured an attorney.

"No; I haven't any money," was the reply.

"Then the court will appoint one," said the judge. "Now, there are Mr. Smith, Mr. Brown and Mr. Green," pointing to the young attorneys waiting, bristling and breathless, for something to turn up, "and Mr. Alexander is out in the corridor."

The prisoner eyed the budding attorneys, and after a critical survey said: "Well, I guess I'll take Mr. Alexander."—Argonaut.
