

BARRE DAILY TIMES

MONDAY, JANUARY 8, 1917.

The Weather

Tuesday, probably fair.

TALK OF THE TOWN

C. A. Lundgren of 125 East street, who has been ill with pneumonia, is slowly recovering.

Big rubber sale at Shea's. Men's, women's and children's rubbers at mark-down prices.

Regular meeting of the Barre Woman's club Tuesday afternoon at 3:15 in Odd Fellows' hall.

Mario Bianchi of Milford, N. H., is visiting at the home of his uncle, Stephen Rizzoli of North Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Reaside went this morning to Bethel to attend the funeral of Herbert Hassam, their nephew.

The Nature Study class will meet with Mrs. Murray Love at her home on Highland avenue this (Monday) evening at 7:30.

On cold nights or any night stop in to Marriion's restaurant for a hot chicken pie and frankfurts. 120 North Main street.

Misses Ruth M. and Dorothy McLeod of Websterville passed through the city this noon on their way to Springfield, Mass.

Burns club members, attention! A special meeting of the Burns club will be held in Clan Gordon hall Wednesday, Jan. 10, at 7 p. m., when business relative to the disposal of certain Burns club property will come before the meeting. A full attendance is requested. Per order president.

Guests registering at Hotel Barre through the week-end included Atty. Stanley C. Wilson of Chelsea, recently elected speaker of the House of Representatives, A. J. Leduc of Burlington, M. A. Margini of Rutland, Francis A. A. Healy of Hardwick, F. M. Short of Lowell, Mass., E. W. Mareno and R. E. Paulkner of Boston, J. W. Howard, jr., of White River Junction and F. C. H. Bowman of Mount Vernon, N. Y.

E. J. Newhall of Orange street, a draughtsman employed by Marriion & O'Leary, contributes an interesting article on winter camping to the current issue of Field & Stream, a monthly magazine devoted to hunting, fishing and life in the open. Mr. Newhall's contribution deals with his experiences while hitting the winter trail over Camel's Hump and Mount Mansfield. Photographs taken on the trip and furnished by the writer accompany the article.

Acting in conjunction with the state board of health, which makes certain requirements of school heads in Vermont, the principal of Spaulding high school has inaugurated a series of tests for the eye, ear, nose and throat.

Before Feb. 1 every student in the high school is to submit to the tests recommended by the state board. A number of students had their faculties tested early last week and the high school was opened Saturday morning for others.

A few bargains in second-hand pianos at Bailey's Music Rooms—One Henry F. Miller square in good condition; cost, when new, $600; price now, $67. One upright at $87, one Wellington upright, used but six months, at $175. Call and see these bargains. We also have the agency for some of the best high-grade pianos on the market, such as the McPhail, Ivers & Pond, Knabe, Mason & Hamlin and a number of other makes. 14 Elm street, Barre.

Ice harvesters in the employ of W. H. Ward gathered the last cake of the season's initial harvest at the south end mill pond in Jockey hollow Saturday. The sawyers and haulers were working against time and hung up a record in stripping the pond of its first crop. One half of last week's cut will be sufficient to complete the work of filling the storage houses and the second harvest will be under way as soon as ice of the required thickness forms.

Selected readings by George J. Seager, superintendent of the Barre Town schools, will constitute the program for the regular monthly meeting of the Men's club in the First Presbyterian church this evening. Every man in the parish is invited to be present. Supt. Seager's repertoire was one of the solid contributions to the club's program of literary night in 1915-1916 and he is expected to repeat this evening. Refreshments will be served by the young men of the club.

To-day was Blue Monday for three musketeers who arranged themselves for the police Saturday night and were accommodated with bunks at police headquarters through the week-end. Edgar LaRoche of Gardner, Mass., who shook the dust of the county jail from his heels Saturday morning, was back in his old haunts this afternoon. He got 30 days and will serve the alternative of $15 and costs in addition. James S. Clark of Burlington acknowledged his second offense when brought before Magistrate H. W. Scott and went to jail for the alternative sentence. Michael A. Hale of Brattleboro will serve 10 days in lieu of paying the $5 assessment for a first offense of intoxication.

Charles Greig of South Main street is in receipt of a letter from Sergt. Archie Stuart, from the St. John ambulance brigade, Hospit, France, telling him that he has been in a hospital wounded and has lost three of the fingers on his left hand, being left with his thumb and forefinger and very little of the palm of his hand. He also got a bullet through his neck and, as he says, it was very lucky it did not touch any of the vital parts. Mr. Stuart writes that it will take a long time yet for his hand to heal and he expects to be on his way to England. Archie Stuart was a stonecutter in Barre before enlisting and he was also a member of the Bonaccord Football club, the members of which he wished informed of his accident.

Only at intervals were Barre patrons of last night's celestial show able to observe the eclipse of the moon. Known moon Dark clouds stacked up against the orb of night and only those who were really persistent had their faithfulness rewarded. In a clear sky, it was proclaimed that the eclipse would be visible throughout the United States, but it was well after midnight before the nocturnal watchers knew just what was going on behind the pall. Some moments before 12 a slight darkening of the moon's disc appeared on the edge of the disc. At the rate of 37 1/2 miles per hour the earth's shadow was guaranteed to advance across the face of the moon and at 2 o'clock or thereabouts the moon was entirely obscured. After 1 o'clock the clouds began tumbling each other out of the way and here in Barre, at least, some of the later phases of the phenomenon were seen antagonistically. The eclipse ended at 5:53 this morning. Two more eclipses of the moon and four of the sun are calendar for 1917.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Save $1 to $2 a pair on your footwear at Shea's.

On cold nights or any night stop in to Marriion's restaurant for a hot chicken pie and frankfurts. 120 North Main street.

Clinton A. Moore, who has been visiting friends on Merchant street during the past week, left last evening for his home in Lunenburg.

Sleighting parties accommodated at Bancroft Inn, Plainfield; supper served at reasonable price; free use of dance hall to parties. W. H. Snow, proprietor.

Roy Anderson, who has been passing a vacation of three weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Anderson of Warren street, left Sunday evening for Detroit, Mich., where he is employed by the Norway Motor Co.

First among young men's clubs in the city to enter the lists with an amateur hockey team is Merlo's academy, which is seeking, through its manager, Oscar Wood of Laurel street, to arrange games with other teams.

Candidates for the academy team were on the ice for a workout Saturday and by the process of elimination the following personnel has been completed: Captain William Forbes, Blossom Ossola, Jerry Burke, Alex. Keson, Joseph Quatropani, George Smith and P. Massie. It is expected that most of the games will be played on the public rink at North Barre, although the academy team is willing to journey up town to Pearl street or Goshop Village if games can be scheduled.

Members of the picked quintet who went to Bellows Falls Friday to play the Co. E basketball team returned to the city Saturday evening bringing home the small end of a 58 to 42 score. The downstate boys were superior in caging the ball, although the Barre team claims better work in the passing game. The Bellows Falls center, by the name of Wilcox, was the strength of the five, shooting a major part of the baskets and his six feet six inches enabled him to outjump his opponent on nearly every occasion.

There is some prospect that the next annual tournament of the Vermont State Checker club will be held in Barre, as Barre's invitation was presented last year next after that of St. Albans. The tournament in 1916 was held in St. Albans, so Barre would be the natural choice for 1917. In anticipation of that outcome, local checker players are getting into trim for the state tournament, a local tournament being planned to be played through the year, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings in the Gordon block. Anyone in Barre wishing to participate is invited. The secretary of the local club received Saturday night the standing of the contestants in the 1916 tournament at St. Albans, as follows: W. C. Hoag 26, William Gill 21, M. K. Judd 20, H. H. Sanderson 17, E. D. Brooks 17, M. D. Jarvis 16, W. D. Ingalls 16, M. F. Sullivan 7, H. B. Corliss 4.

Card of Thanks. We extend our heartfelt thanks for the aid and sympathy received by us during our bereavement; also for flowers. MF and Mrs. A. S. Maker.

Regular meeting of Iroquois tribe, No. 16, I. O. R. M., Tuesday evening, Jan. 9, at 6 o'clock sharp. Business, raising of chiefs. Entertainment will follow the meeting.

Special convocation of Granite chapter, No. 26, R. A. M., Masonic hall, Tuesday evening, Jan. 9, at 7 p. m. Work, past master degree. Per order E. H. P.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Hundreds of bargains in Homer Fitts' $6,200 stock of shoes on sale at Shea's Shoe Store.

Earl M. Lewis of Nelson street has resumed his duties as a city mail carrier, after a vacation of a week.

Paul Nisini returned Saturday night to his work in Greenfield, Mass., after passing two weeks at his home here.

Mrs. E. M. Laws, who has been passing the holiday season at her home on Wellington street, returned yesterday to Boston.

County Agent F. H. Abbott returned Saturday evening from Plainfield, where he held the extension school work throughout last week.

Goddard's evening school will reopen Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, following the resumption of day sessions at the seminary to-morrow morning.

Aaron Gustafson of the granite manufacturing firm of Johnson & Gustafson has been passing a few days in Burlington and Rutland on business.

Mr. and Mrs. John McLean returned last evening from Burlington, where they attended the funeral of Mrs. McLean's brother, T. H. Murphy, for many years proprietor of the Sherwood hotel.

Mrs. P. Bianchi and two daughters, Albra and Eleanor, returned to their home on Beckley street this morning after an extended visit at Mrs. Bianchi's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Martini of Boston.

The annual meeting of the Presbyterian church will be held in the vestry on Wednesday evening, Jan. 10, at 7:30 sharp. Reports for the year will be read. Three additional elders will be elected by ballot. All members, adherents and friends cordially invited.

Returns from the Nute-Boehler bowling match in Boston to-morrow night will be received by wire after each string at Merlo's billiard and bowling academy on North Main street. Harold Nute, a former Barre boy, will compete with Boehler in an elimination match for the New England championship contest.

The following item is in correction of an item recently printed: Francis R. McLeary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christie A. McLeary of Barre, and Miss Elsie E. Brown of West Lebanon, N. H., were married Dec. 26 at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. George H. Sisson, D. D., of the Methodist church, in White River Junction, the ceremony occurring at 10:15 a. m., and the double ring service being used. Mr. and Mrs. McLeary were unattended and at the close of the ceremony left at once for West Lebanon, from where, after visiting friends, they left for Boston, where they will reside. Mrs. McLeary was formerly employed as private stenographer to the principal of Montpelier seminary, Rev. Mr. Hatch, and was a resident of Berlin. Mr. McLeary was formerly employed as draftsman by the firm of C. W. McMillan & Son of Barre, but is at present in the Boston office of Cook, Watkins & Co.
