

STRONG TEAM ON HILL TOP

Goddard's Baseball Material Is Considered to Be First-Class

PRACTICE STARTED IN GYMNASIUM

The First Scheduled Game Is with the Norwich 2ds at Northfield, April 21

The dawn is breaking on another baseball season at Goddard seminary and talk of one of the fastest teams in the history of the school is rife on the hill-top. Coach Charles Hoernle, who makes a sidling of fashioning big league stars, has gathered to his standard a galaxy of constellations that is bound to keep up Goddard's fame in the baseball world. Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and New York are among the states that have contributed the record that the local school has made for itself in years past. Work among the candidates is under way already, although the driven snows of winter on the campus still keep the youngsters and their mentor very much to the gymnasium.

The retention of Coach Hoernle is regarded by loyal Goddardites as a strong indication that success will be the measure of the 1917 team. William D. McIntosh, one of the school's sterling football players, wields the managerial pen and to him is largely due the credit for arranging an excellent schedule. For the backstop position Rogers, formerly of Boston college high school, and O'Hara, a Loudville, N. Y., boy, are the leading candidates. Bridgford of Lawrence academy, and Richards, formerly of South Royalton high school, will do much of the twirling. Three capable first-sackers are available in the persons of Burns, Lawrence academy, Smith, a former Spaulding high student, and Corwin, who comes from Chelsea high school. "Midgie" Shea, formerly of Dorchester high school, and the leading choice for all-intercollegiate honors in Greater Boston, leads the infield contingent and is sure of a berth. Sam Lavoie of St. Anselm's college, Palmer of Allston, Mass., McWilliams of Tilton seminary, and Tryon of Winchendon high school are all likely enough for infield positions. Brickley, a brother of Charles and George Brickley, comes from Everett high school to do his bit for Goddard in the outfield this year. Others who are sure to be worked in the gardens this season are Jacobs, who once traveled with the Montreal Stars, Griffin of Tilton seminary, and St. Angelo of Somerville high.

High class baseball players have been recruited for Goddard this year and fans who are pulling for a successful team believe there is a substantial reason why so many diamond artists have flocked to the hill-top. The explanation is this: Coach Hoernle's tutelage is regarded as invaluable and young players all over New England are coming to realize that he is one of the most capable masters to be found in the preparatory schools of six states.

It will be seen in one glance over the following schedule that the task of winning a majority of games this year is not an easy one.

WILSON'S REPLY TO MEXICO.

Text Not Published—American Consuls Stationed.

Mexico City, March 19.—Candido Aguilar, the Mexican foreign minister, Saturday received the answer of the United States government declining the proposal of Mexico that the neutral nations unite in an effort to bring about peace in Europe or, as an alternative, place an embargo on shipments to the belligerents, but the text of the note was not published pending its consideration by President-elect Carranza, to whom Senor Aguilar transmitted it. The foreign minister declined to discuss the communication until Gen. Carranza had an opportunity to read it. Consular representatives of the United States have been ordered to San Luis Potosi, Guadalupe, Fronteras, Monterey and other principal cities.

Two Boston papers which have arrived in recent years at night instead of on the forenoon train, came ten hours earlier. The threatened railroad strike, the war and interest in the baseball news from the southern camps are probably the principal reasons for the large sale.
