COMMERCIAL BANQUET.

Was Held at Goddard After the Graduation Exercises.

Following the graduating exercises of the commercial class of 1917 of Goddard seminary last evening, the alumni of the commercial department of the seminary gathered in the new dining hall to the number of 82 for their second annual banquet. The hall was decorated in the colors of the graduating class, all the members of which were in attendance at the banquet.

Edward Lambert acted as toastmaster and called for toasts from at least one graduate of all the classes from 1909 down to the class that finished last evening. The list of the speakers and their subjects is as follows: Edward J. Lambert, '15, welcome to the graduating class; Oscar Boyer, '17, response; Algot Knutson, '16, Wallace C. Guernsey, '15, Calais; Rhoda E. Parry, '14, Montpelier; Ruby E. Jeffords, '12, Williamstown; Mary Carroll, '10, Mary Donnelly, '15, "An Office Experiment"; Josephine Rizzi, '14, "Business Woman"; Principal O. K. Hollister, "Our Alumni"; Miss Bertha Bridges, "Our Graduation"; C. L. Hoernle, "Business and Athletics."

At the close of the toasts the gathering became an alumni business meeting and after hearing and approving the reports of the secretary and treasurer, proceeded to re-elect the officers of last year. They are: J. Edward Lambert, '15, president; Mary M. Donnelly, '15, vice-president; Ruby E. Jeffords, '12, Williamstown, secretary; and Nathan W. Flint, '14, of Orange, treasurer. The meeting broke up at a late hour.

JURY INSPECTS PLACE OF DEATH

found on the morning of Easter Sunday last year. All of the important physical exhibits were pointed out by the attorney-general or Atty. Fay. It was expected that the party would return to the courthouse by 3 o'clock, or in time to permit a two-hour session until 5 o'clock, the customary hour for taking the recess.

Among the interested spectators at the trial yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. John Felch, parents of the murdered man. Mrs. Williams, wife of Otis Williams, who is serving a life sentence in the state prison at Windsor, after having been convicted of murder in the second degree for complicity in the Felch homicide, was present and probably will be called as a witness. The infant daughter of Mrs. Felch, born in the county jail last November, was present, but not in the arms of her mother. A number of persons whose testimony figured prominently in the trial of Williams a year ago are attending the June term of court.

SOUTH BARRE

Will all the girls of South Barre between the ages of 9 and 20 please meet at the grange hall Thursday, June 21, at 2:30 to plan work for the exhibit?

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank all our friends and relatives who so kindly and sympathetically assisted during the illness and bereavement of our son and brother. Also for the beautiful floral offerings.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Larkin and family.

Regular meeting of Winnetka Council, No. 10, D. of P., Thursday, June 21, at 7:30 p. m. Adoption. Important business.

Regular meeting of Hiawatha lodge, No. 20, I. O. O. F., Thursday evening at 7:30. Work. Initiatory degree. Let every officer and member be present. Per order N. G.

Barre has had no opportunity as yet to indulge its taste for open air band concerts this season but to-morrow evening it will have an opportunity to hear the headquarters band of the 1st Vermont infantry. The headquarters band of 28 pieces is to journey all the way from the fort in order to participate in the "Girl from Broadway," a local talent show being given at the opera house to-morrow and Friday nights for the benefit of Co. C of the 1st Vermont infantry. The concert will take place from 7 to 8 o'clock in city park.

On the verge of Cranberry Meadow pond in Calais a successful auction sale was conducted Monday, when personal property on the farm of Glenn Sanders brought good prices under the tactful urge of D. A. Perry, a local auctioneer. The real estate, comprising a farm of 50 acres, was bid off by Fred Dailey, a Calais farmer, who owns land adjoining the Sanders farm. Mr. Sanders has not completed his plans for the future.

Quarriers and manufacturers of the Barre granite district who planned to exhibit their product at the national convention of monument retailers in Philadelphia in August met at manufacturers' hall last evening and voted to cancel all arrangements for the exhibit. Action of this sort followed the report of Sec. H. P. Hinman of the Granite Manufacturers' association, who returned recently from an investigation trip to the Quaker city. Congestion of freight and the possibility that the government would continue to commandeer the use of the exhibition floor were cited as telling arguments against any participation by the Barre producers.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker in Reading, Mass., Saturday evening, their daughter, Miss Gladys H. Parker, was married to Charles H. Ford, formerly of Barre, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Harry E. Hurd. The bride was attended by Miss Grace Flint and the best man was Elmer Barrett, both of the attendants being residents of Reading. After the wedding there was a reception. Among those who attended was Glenn W. Merrill of Boston, a former Barre boy. Mr. Ford was graduated from Goddard seminary in the class of 1906 and was employed for a time by C. N. Kenyon & Co. His bride was a graduate of Reading high school in the class of 1912. Mr. and Mrs. Ford left early Sunday for Barre, where they are making a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Kenyon, after which they will go to Boston, where the groom is employed by the Kinney Manufacturing Co.

BARRE DAILY TIMES

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20, 1917.

The Weather

Probably local showers to-night; colder in Vermont and New Hampshire. Thursday probably fair; cooler in the interior; moderate south winds.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Mrs. R. C. Bugbee and son of Richardson street are passing a few days with relatives in Waterbury.

Miss Beatrice Callaghan of 22 Park street is passing a few days in Hinsdale, N. H., at the Frank Tilden home.

George Pierce of Currier street left yesterday for his former home in Redstone, N. H., where he is passing a week with relatives.

Mrs. James Sterling left this morning for Brattleboro, where she is passing a few days with her children, who are attending school there.

Wallace Guernsey of Calais is passing a few days with friends in Barre while here to attend the commencement week exercises at Goddard seminary.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Thresher, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Hutchinson of Wellington street, have returned to their home in Boston. They were accompanied by Mrs. Hutchinson, who is making a stay of a few days in Boston and vicinity.

Miss Mabel Hewitt of Kingston, Ont., who came here to attend the Land-Red nuptials, is a guest in the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Reid of South Main street, who are also entertaining Miss Ariel Hambleton of Goffstown, N. H., a classmate of the bride in St. Mary's school, Concord, N. H.

Grand bodies of Masonry, assembled in Burlington last week for their annual convocation, contributed a total of $12,500 to the Liberty loan bond issue, according to a statement made to-day by George N. Tilden, grand high priest of the grand chapter, Royal Arch Masons of Vermont. The grand chapter appropriated $5,000 for bonds.

The road leading from the main highway up towards the grounds of the Barre Golf club has been improved and extended so that cars and carriages may now clear the summit and come to rest beside the clubhouse. Formerly, vehicles of whatever sort must of necessity stop when they came to the edge of the pasture including the links, some 70 yards from the clubhouse and many feet below it.

Although the public schools have closed, the garden work inaugurated by over 900 school children from the public schools this spring is to continue through this summer. The work engaged in this year were given badges of honor by Supt. Carroll H. White just before the close of school last week. The badges are of bronze tone, about three-quarters of an inch across, and bear a seal similar to that of the state of Vermont. The seal is surrounded by the words: "Vermont State Guard."

A clipping from the Montreal Star tells of the death of Rev. Oliver J. Booth, who passed away at the Western hospital in the Canadian metropolis June 16, the end following a lingering illness. The funeral was held in St. Matthews church, Cote St. Antoine road, Montreal, Monday, with interment in Mount Royal cemetery. Rev. Mr. Booth was an unattached clergyman in the diocese of Montreal, and as an intimate friend of Rev. W. J. M. Beattie of Barre he assisted in the Church of the Good Shepherd as a special preacher in several Lenten seasons. His last visit in Barre was in the Lenten season of 1911.

A man doing business with the baggage master at the Central Vermont station this morning noticed that the two floors that lead from the baggage room into Depot square were strongly bolted and inquired the reason why. The explanation given was that they came just within the limit within which the railway would be under the obligation of carrying United States mail to and from the station and postoffice. By closing the two doors opening on the square and using those that open on the station platform, the distance that the mail would have to be carried was made just great enough so that that duty mail could be carried. Bicyclists are showing a good deal of reckless disregard for the law as well as for the comfort of pedestrians, according to reports and complaints which have reached police headquarters this week. The craze for wheeling, thought to have been practically extinct for some years, seems to have been revived and the younger generation of cyclists have yet to learn the lesson instilled in their elders when bicycle riding was at its height some years ago. On Washington street recently an elderly woman was badly brushed by a fleeing youngster whose sole thought was for getting ahead. The woman lost nothing but her peace, but it was due to her own agility rather than to care on the part of the rider that she was not thrown to the ground. The police have taken steps to stop the practice of riding on the sidewalks.

MONTPELIER

Miss Gussie Gertrude Yett the Bride of Louis A. Simons of Boston.

Miss Gussie Gertrude Yett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac S. Yett of 12 Fuller street, Montpelier, was married last evening to Louis A. Simons of Boston, son of Harris Simons of that city. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock at the bride's home by Rabbi Popkin of Burlington in the presence of a large number of guests. The house was prettily decorated with ferns and cut flowers.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Rose Yett, and the groom by his brother, Joseph Simons of Nashua, N. H. The bride wore white georgette crepe embroidered with silver and carried lilies of the valley and roses. The bridesmaid wore pink taffeta with hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of roses.

The bride is a graduate of Montpelier high school and Montpelier seminary and for two years was employed as cashier in the Yett store at Barre, a year in the W. B. Clark store at Burlington and for the past year in the A. H. Temple store in Montpelier. She has many friends in all three cities, especially in Montpelier, where she has resided practically all of her life. The groom is a graduate of Manchester, N. H., high school and is engaged in the shoe business on Bedford street, Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Simons left last evening on a wedding trip to Atlantic City and other places and will be at home in Boston after Sept. 15.

Among those from out of town present were: Madame Sarah H. Yett of Burlington, grandmother of the bride, who is 95 years old, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Levin, son and daughter, Mrs. Max Samuelson and daughter, Flora, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Agel, Miss Mary Fine and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kriemhild, all of Burlington, Harry Shapiro of Concord, N. H., Dr. A. M. Simons of Hartford, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Levin and son and daughter of Barre, A. Moss of Boston, A. Cohen of Burlington, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Levin of New York City, Harry Edlstone and Mr. and Mrs. William Edlstone, Harris and Harry Simons, all of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. S. Nurnburg of Brockton, Mass., Joseph Simon of Nashua, N. H., and Mrs. L. Reank and Louis H. Reank of Manchester, N. H.

George Tarshis, the traveling salesman who was held up last week when he appeared at the county clerk's office and asked permission to register, received his registration card from New York City this forenoon and left this afternoon for St. Johnsbury. Tarshis told the officials at the time of his arrest that he had registered at Skowhegan, Me., but that the card had been lost in the mails and he wished to register again. In the meantime the clerk at Skowhegan was informed of the trouble that had arisen and he replied that he had mailed the card to Bronx, New York. A telegram was received last evening by Sheriff Tracy informing him that the card had been mailed from New York and it arrived this morning. Tarshis was not detained at the jail during his wait for the card.

Mrs. Bernard P. Lewis and two sons of Omaha, Neb., have arrived in the city to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Emery of Elm street.

Miss Jessie Watson of Barre has commenced work as stenographer in the office of the deputy commissioner of weights and measures at the State House.

May D. Dwight left last evening for Roselle, N. J., being called by the death of her father, Rev. Dr. Henry O. Dwight. She had been visiting in the city with her aunt, Miss Adelaide Griswold of State street.
