14 WOMEN ARRESTED.

They Marched with Banners Past the White House.

Washington, D. C., June 26.—Fourteen suffragists were arrested last night by the police when they marched in front of the White House, lined up against the fence and unfurled suffrage banners. A crowd of hundreds watched the arrests but there was no disorder.

Just after 4:30, however, when employees began to pour out of the nearby departments, a squad of women, each carrying a furl banner, started in single file to march in front of the White House from east to west. When they reached the end of the block they turned and started back still with the banners furled.

Reaching the middle of the block immediately in front of the White House itself, at a signal every banner was thrown to the breeze and the women stood silent, as close to the iron pickets of the fence as possible. The police, who had been watching them nearby, arrested most of them and took them in automobiles to police headquarters.

The women all were released on personal bonds after appearing at headquarters, giving their names, ages and occupation. No time was set for a hearing on the formal charge of blocking traffic. The arrested were: Misses Mabel Vernon, Nevada; Kathleen Morrey, Boston; Maude Jamieson, Norfolk; Lucy Burns, New York; Florence Youmans, Minnesota; Bertha Crowe, San Francisco; Virginia Arnold, North Carolina; Lavinia Dock, Philadelphia; Pauline Clarke, New York; Martha Hickley, Washington, D. C.; Elizabeth Stuyvesant, Cincinnati; Mrs. Alexander Shields, Texas; Mrs. Annie Arnel, Delaware, and Mrs. Townsend Scott, Baltimore.

NO MOTIVE FOUND For Murder of John V. Piper at New Brunswick, N. J.

New Brunswick, N. J., June 26.—The charge made by Mrs. John V. Piper, wife of the Rutgers college student whose body was found a week ago with a bullet through the heart, that her husband had quarreled with Dr. W. J. Condon, held in connection with the murder, is to be sifted by the prosecutor who so far has been unable to find a motive for the crime.

Mrs. Piper said that her husband often had to go two or three months at a time without getting his pay for tending Dr. Condon's furnace. She also said that on the day he disappeared he had just succeeded, after much trouble, in obtaining two months' back pay.

At least twenty witnesses have been obtained who heard a shot fired at about ten o'clock near the Condon home. A witness has been found who heard, just before the shot, a man cry out in terror, "Don't kill me." The witness is an elderly woman, whose name is withheld.

TO KEEP FOOD FROM GERMANY

American Export Board to Try to Stop Great Shipment Now Ready.

COUNCIL FORMS ORGANIZATION

And Plans to Carry Into Effect the Recent Act of Congress

Washington, D. C., June 26.—The newly created export council, consisting of Secretaries Lansing, Houston and Redfield and Herbert C. Hoover, met to-day to perfect an organization and to carry into effect the recent act of Congress giving the president control over American exports.

Close supervision over all exports to prevent supplies reaching Germany is planned, and it is hoped to hurry the regulations in order to stop shipments of large quantities of foodstuffs by neutrals with a view to evading the expected embargo.

President Wilson's statement of the export control policy, contains the following explanation: "It is important that the whole country should understand just what is intended in the control of exports which is about to be undertaken, and since the power is vested in Congress in the president, I can speak with authority concerning it.

"The exports council will be merely advisory to the president. There will, of course, be no prohibition of exports. The normal course of trade will be interfered with as little as possible and so far as possible, only its abnormal course directed. The whole object will be to direct exports in such a way that they will go first and by preference where they are most needed and most immediately needed and temporarily withhold them, if necessary, where they can best be spared.

"Our primary duty in the matter of foodstuffs and like necessities is to see to it that the people associated with us in the war get as generous a proportion as possible of our surplus; but it will also be our wish and purpose to supply the neutral nations as nearly in proportion to their need as the amount to be divided permits.

"The government is taking, or has taken, steps to ascertain for example, just what the available present supply of wheat and corn is remaining from the crops of last year; to learn from each of the countries exporting those foodstuffs from the United States what their purchases in this country now are, and where they are stored; and what their needs are, in order that we may adjust so far as possible to our own needs and free stocks; and this information is in course of being rapidly supplied.

"The case of wheat and corn will serve as an illustration of all the rest of supplies of all kinds."

EXTEND CONTROL OF GOVERNMENT TO OTHER PRODUCTS

Exemption of Farmers, Gardeners and Stock Raisers Leads to Greater Likelihood Food Control Bill Will Pass.

Washington, D. C., June 26.—The extension of government control to iron and steel and their products, petroleum and its products, farm implements and sial, jute and hemp products, such as binding twine, was decided upon to-day as an amendment to the administration food control bill by the Senate agriculture sub-committee, in addition to the other articles under consideration.

Other amendments agreed to by the sub-committee, which will remove much opposition to the legislation, provide that the bill shall not apply to farmers, gardeners and stock raisers of products raised upon their own land, and shall not give the food administration power to impose individual rations or regulate their meals. The committee deferred action on the prohibition sections.

A WAR ROMANCE.

National Guardsman Found Bride While on Military Detail.

Charlestown, N. H., June 26.—A pretty romance incident to the location here of a detachment of the First Vermont National Guard, for the past two months, culminated in marriage at Brattleboro, Vt., by Rev. Delmar Trout, pastor of the Universalist church, of Sergeant Ernest N. Cary of Brattleboro to Miss Ruth D. Hunt, daughter of the late James L. and Mrs. Fannie H. Hunt of this place.

The marriage was hastened by prospect of early departure of Sergeant Cary's command to Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. The bride comes from military ancestry. She was a granddaughter of the late Major Hunt of the 10th Vermont Infantry in the Civil war, while her father saw service in the regular army and participated in the Indian campaigns in the West in the early 70's.

SEVERAL MILLIONS More Than the Red Cross Amount Desired.

Washington, D. C., June 26.—A collection of Red Cross war fund subscriptions obtained in the week's campaign, which closed at midnight, began throughout the United States to-day, with indications that the amount would exceed the $100,000,000 goal by at least several millions. Headquarters tabulations early to-day showed a total of $100,500,000, with some cities yet unreported.

At noon the committee's tabulations had reached a total of $104,000,000, and it was predicted that at least $6,000,000 more would be reported before night. Just as the campaign was closing last night the first actual money reached the Red Cross treasury by aerial messenger. Miss Katherine Stinson, a young aviator, descending upon the capitol at the end of a two-day flying trip from Buffalo, Albany, and Philadelphia, carried to Secretary McAdoo, treasurer of the Red Cross, money and pledges gathered from the cities she visited.

Alighting near the Washington monument at dusk, Miss Stinson was taken in an automobile by a Washington women's Red Cross motor corps to the south steps of the treasury, where Secretary McAdoo and a great throng of sightseers were waiting.

"You have made a remarkable and daring trip," said the secretary as he took the envelope containing checks and pledges. "You have typified by your act the spirit of the Red Cross, which is dare anything, even death itself, for the sake of bringing relief and comfort to suffering humanity."

EIGHT NAVAL RECRUITS.

Nearly a Day's Record at Station in Burlington.

Burlington, June 26.—The naval recruiting office at the federal building made something of a record for a blue Monday by yesterday enlisting eight strapping Vermonters for the United States Navy. Three of the men, Horace A. Holden of Wallingford, machinist's mate, second class, M. D. Leonard of Stockbridge and Ernest J. Flint of Lyndon, both as firemen of the third class, were sent last evening to New York. The others, John H. McCarthy of Barre, landsman for ship's cook, Homer C. Neal of Montpelier, apprentice seaman, J. D. Blanchard of Barre, apprentice seaman, Leo F. McGilhey of Montpelier, hospital apprentice, second class, and Theodore R. Holden, apprentice seaman, were sent to their homes to await orders.

J. C. White, United States navy, who is in charge of the sub-station at Rutland, arrived in Burlington yesterday with two recruits. He has been conducting an advertising campaign for recruits in the southern part of the state in automobiles loaned by patriotic citizens. The officers in charge of the Burlington station would appreciate the co-operation of automobile owning patriots, so that similar work might be carried out.

Manchester, June 26.—The trial of Francis Ketchum for the murder of William Costello at Bennington on the night of September 16, last, was commenced at the June term of Bennington county court now being held in this place before Judge Leighton F. Slack.

Ketchum, who is defended by Collins M. Graves of Bennington, has served terms in the industrial school and house of correction and since December, last, has been in Waterbury under observation at the state asylum by order of the court after he had been indicted of murder in the first degree by the grand jury which was called for the December term on account of two state cases which State's Attorney Archibald wished disposed of as soon as possible.

Although the alleged slayer has made a full confession the trial will proceed and the following jury have been called and accepted: J. B. Covey of Manchester, Wallace Bailey of Arlington, Henry S. Walker of Manchester, Leo Grut of Arlington, Harry R. Davis of Dorset, Benjamin Prouty of Paris, Robert E. Young of Glasbury, Harry L. Adams of Manchester, F. H. Ferguson of Bennington, Jay Beebe of Rupert, Forrest Hager of Woodford, H. L. Laib of Readsboro. The jury is in charge of Deputy Sheriff Charles Norcross of Dorset.

BARRE GAVE OVER $4,500

Total Number of Red Cross Subscribers Is About 2400

COMMITTEE HOPES TO RAISE $5,000

Expresses Appreciation of the Response Already Made

Red Cross week ended in Barre last night at 9 o'clock, although the work of tabulating subscriptions and handling any subscriptions that may come in during the week is to be continued for a time. A rising $4,500 has been contributed in Barre and surrounding towns to date, and the number of subscribers is at least 2,400, according to unofficial returns. The maximum of $5,000 has not been reached as yet, but the committee hopes that enough belated and perhaps doubled subscriptions in the next few days will enable Barre and contiguous territory to turn in the maximum sum. The number of subscribers in this territory is such that it has been impossible for the campaign committee to tabulate accurately and fully the returns up to the close, last evening, of the official week.

Full returns, it is expected, will add materially to the approximate figures given above. Whatever the computation may be, it will be less than the actual number of subscribers, as in some instances one subscription covered several members of a family, school, etc.

Though the $4,500 mark has been passed, so far as the index at headquarters shows; and the campaign committee hopes that those who have not yet subscribed will take advantage of the fact that headquarters will remain open for a few days and add their "might."

The campaign committee has submitted the following letter of appreciation to subscribers and workers:

"To the citizens of Barre and outlying towns: We congratulate you for your response to the call of the Red Cross for its war fund. Following so closely upon the Liberty loan bond campaign, it was with hesitation that we undertook the work of further approaching you in the interest of this no less important fund. But your answer has been prompt and patriotic. We realize what sacrifices many of you have made. We appreciate your co-operation in assisting the canvassers in their house-to-house canvass. We are pleased with the large number of subscribers, probably the largest in any cause ever before presented. The results are beyond our first expectations.

"We thank the captains and canvassers for their willing and thorough work. Their service has done much to spread the cause of patriotism and the need of sacrifice in this trying time of war.

"We thank those, as well, who gave their offices, their work and their time to the campaign, with no other thought than that of doing their own part.

"And finally, we specially congratulate the surrounding towns and settlements for the loyal manner in which they supported the campaign."

William D. MacDonald, John W. Barnett, S. Hollister Jackson. Campaign Notes.

A man from Lawrence, Mass., handed in a subscription of $5 last evening. West Hill came down with 28 subscribers and subscriptions of $36.25.

The number of subscribers, not counting the individuals who contributed to the amounts paid by societies, churches and Sunday school classes, is approximately 2,400, a chance yet to make it 3,000 subscribers.

Headquarters is busy tabulating the returns, but not too busy to enroll you as a new member!

Come in and see if your name appears on the roll of honor!

Help us to reach the $5,000 mark! Congratulations to those who have come to subscribers the second time; and there are many of them.

National headquarters has telegraphed state headquarters that it will not be able to ship buttons until the end of the week. Director Slocum writes that "as soon as received we will send enough buttons to supply every person who has given to the war fund."

STATE RAISED $145,000.

Director Slocum Hopes to Reach Quota of $200,000.

Burlington, June 26.—One hundred and forty-five thousand dollars toward Vermont's $200,000 share of the American Red Cross war fund had been subscribed last night at the close of the week's campaign for this fund. All of the money will not have to be paid in, however, before October 1, and Director H. W. Slocum declared that the remaining $55,000 of the fund would be secured before that time. He sent the following telegram last evening to Kenneth Robie, secretary of the war council of the American Red Cross at Washington, D. C.:

Red Cross war fund, Vermont. Total to date, $145,000. Returns not complete. Proctor banner town, Rutland next, Bennington, Brattleboro, and many small towns report big funds. Honor roll of Vermonters, issued soon. Vermont will raise her quota.

H. W. Slocum, Director Red Cross. The fifteen cities and towns in the state which made the largest contributions to the fund are as follows: Proctor, $13,000; Rutland, $14,900; Bennington, $18,000; Brattleboro, $10,500; Woodstock, $7,000; Montpelier, $7,000; St. Albans, $7,000; Burlington, $5,000; Lyndonville, $4,000; Newport, $1,000; Randolph, $2,000; Brandon, $2,000; and Windsor, $1,800. Many of the towns reported that they had just begun to fight and that their contributions would be considerably swelled within a few days. It should be remembered, also, that many small towns made large per capita contributions, which will be figured out at a later date.

CO. C. NEEDS 20 MEN.

Lieut. Shaw and a Detail Are Coming After Them.

There are 130 members of C company enlisted to-day, according to a message received by the Board of Trade recruiting committee this morning from the officers at Fort Ethan Allen. Translated into recruiting terms, this figure means that 20 men must be enlisted between now and Saturday night if the company is to have the honor of going into the fray with a full roster of volunteers. Provost Marshal General Crowder has decreed that June 30 is the last day when enlistment in any state will count toward that state's quota of men to be selected for war army. Already the response of the Orange counties has exceeded the estimate and expectations of the company and Board of Trade committees, but there remains an opportunity to bring the roster up to war strength and to that end efforts during the remainder of the week will be redoubled.

Lieut. H. P. Shaw and a detail of men will return to the city to conduct the wind-up campaign and a large number of young men in this vicinity who are contemplating enlistment will be interviewed by officers and privates. The advantages of enlisting in C company have been described from time to time and the mere fact that the state adds $10 every month to the pay of each National Guardsman is not regarded as the most shining inducement by any means. To-day there was a well-founded rumor that one of the city's prominent business men, a young man of considerable responsibilities, had enlisted in C company after considering other units with which to affiliate.

In the message received from the military post this morning the officers joined with the men in paying high tribute to the members of the Barre Pipe and Drum band, which swung into the reservation while on its way home from Burlington last night. The inspiration of their presence evidently impressed the soldiers profoundly and they were loud in their praise of Barre's "kitlitz" band.

SHOULD SWAP HUSBANDS

Felch Had Suggested, Laughing When She Said It

LIKED WILLIAMS' EYES AND HAIR

A Witness Said Mrs. Felch Declared Joe Shot Himself

Chelsea, June 26.—Odds and ends of evidence in the case which the state hopes to make out against Mrs. Anna Felch, on trial here for the alleged murder of her husband, Joseph Felch, at Topsham in April, 1916, were presented yesterday and to-day, with the possibility that the prosecution will have rested when court takes a recess late this afternoon. Much that has transpired since the appearance of Otis Williams on the stand has been in the nature of complementary testimony, although the state yesterday and to-day introduced witnesses whose stories compelled the closest attention. In notable instances a stiffening of the defense has been observed, particularly in the severity with which witnesses have been cross-examined.

Five witnesses were used by the state this forenoon. Mrs. Blanche Avery, an aunt of Joseph Felch, told of a conversation with the accused on the Monday following the tragedy, in which Mrs. Felch said she thought they would find out who killed Joe. To which the witness said she replied: "They certainly will," and mentioned the fact that the murderer might become known through the identification of finger marks. According to Mrs. Avery, the respondent then said they might find her finger marks on the gun, as she had moved it a few days before Felch's death. At the funeral, the witness went on, the accused did not seem to show any grief until the mourners took leave of the remains, when she wept. Witness also noted that Mrs. Felch seemed to eye closely the people attending the funeral as they walked past the casket. Mrs. Avery was cross-examined briefly.

Myron J. Buck, the Bethel engineer, who was sent back to the sugarhouse to complete measurements desired by the state, swore that the distance from the ground to the point in the wall where the state alleges the muzzle of the gun was pushed through, was 38 inches.

The last witness this forenoon was Mrs. Mary Williams, wife of Otis Williams, the young man who is now serving a life sentence at Windsor for complicity in the murder. Mrs. Williams said she used to accompany her husband to the Felch farm and went to the barn frequently with him. They were living on the Payne place, some rods below the Felch farm. On one occasion, soon after Otis had returned to the Felch farm after taking his dinner at home, the witness continued, she started for the Felch home, she saw no one about the place and after walking through the rooms in the house she had seen no one. Going to the barn, she said, she tried three different ways of entering the building, only to learn that they seemed to be locked from the inside. She went to another barn, which she found unlocked, but there was no one to be found. Witness then told of starting toward her own home on the Payne place. Once the Felch buildings were out of her sight, she related, she left the road and climbed to a knoll. Looking back toward the Felch buildings, she testified, she saw Mrs. Felch coming from one of the barns alone. Witness also told of going to the Felches' on the morning after the murder. Mrs. Felch, she said, met her at the door and kissed her, something she had never done before. Mrs. Williams said the accused cried that forenoon and then seemed to regain her composure. Witness also quoted Mrs. Felch as saying that she loved the name of Otis. On the cross-examination it was brought out that the
