If the vast amount of detail work upon which the Washington county board and its assistants are engaged is an earnest, the task of selecting soldiers in this district for the war army will not have been achieved without full preparation on the part of the registration board, which comprises George N. Just now the board is engaged in making duplicate copies of all the names registered in Washington county towns June 5. A copy of the revised list with the serial number arrangement is to be forwarded to Washington, a third copy is to be retained by the registration board and the fourth copy will be forwarded to the newspaper with a request that the list be published.
