

EASY VICTORY FOR BARRE G. C.

Defeated Waubanahee Club of Burlington, 12 to 1
MATCH WAS PLAYED ON BARRE COURSE

Some Good Scores Were Made—Return Match Later

On Saturday afternoon the Barre Golf Club had as their visitors a team of 13 players from the Waubanahee club of Burlington. This was the first time these two clubs had met in match play on the Barre course, and they sent over some of their strongest players, but the home team had easily the best of matters and came very close to a shut-out. However, the fact that the course was strange to the Burlington players had a great lot to do with the result; yet the Barre team all played in their best form and some very low scores were made. The Burlington players all spoke highly of the nice condition of the course.

At the close of the game, all sat down to a very fine supper, which was prepared and served by the lady members of the social committee. Those two teams are to meet again in a return game, which will be played on the Burlington course sometime in August. Below are the results of the match:

Barre	Burlington
W. Johnston	1 Soule	0
Walsh	1 Spaulding	0

For the last week in the weekly tournament there was some very low scoring done. The players are now in the top of their form. If they keep this form till the time the championship is played, then it will be very hard to pick the winner till almost the last stroke is played.

In class A for last week, H. Forsyth wins first points with a very low net score of 68, while no less than four players are tied for second and third places, they being W. Johnston, L. R. Hutchinson, P. Brown and D. J. McMillan. They all turned in a net score of 71, which goes to prove that the handicaps are almost perfect.

The point winners in class B cannot be posted in this list, as one card has yet to be turned in. However, there are three cards with 71 net. They belong to G. Brand, H. Davidson and R. Wright.

In the novice class, H. Davidson and R. Wright are tied for first and second points, while A. Milne and D. Peduzzi are tied for third.

Sporting Notes.
Reulbach and Twombly, two former Braves, who were involved in the deal in which Powell and Rehg came to Boston, have gone to Toronto, where they will join the Providence club.
Austin, the third sacker of the St. Louis Americans, had a perfect day last Friday, with three hits in three times at bat to his credit and two putouts and three assists.
Rehg, the Braves' new acquisition, is certainly starting his big league life in fine style by securing three hits out of five times at bat in Friday's game.
Gardner did his "bit" towards winning Saturday's game between Detroit and Boston, by securing three hits out of three times at bat.
Holke, the New York first sacker, had a perfect day Friday, when he had four hits—a double and three singles—out of four times at bat.

WELL-BALANCED BASEBALL WINS

Situation in Both Major Leagues on July 7 Demonstrated That Fact—Strong Defense Shown By Boston Red Sox.

New York, July 16.—That well balanced and even baseball play points the way to the pennant has again been demonstrated by the figures compiled from the various averages and records available at the halfway mark in the present big league contests. When the turning mark was reached on July 7 neither leading club in the National and American leagues was among the first three in total number of runs or hits made, but this mark of a finished offensive was more than counterbalanced by the strong defensive game played by the league leaders.

In the National league the Chicago club was first in runs with Cincinnati second and Philadelphia third. Chicago was second in total number of hits, reversing places with Cincinnati in this respect, while St. Louis was third. This strong offense of the two western clubs was offset, however, by weakness in defense. Chicago was first in error making; had more runners left on bases than any other senior league club and third in total number of runs made by opponents. Cincinnati was second in errors; second in left on bases and more runs had been scored against the team than any other club in the league. Pittsburgh, in last place, had made the third largest number of errors and had next to the largest number of runs scored against by opponents. Boston was third in left on bases.

The complications showed a more complicated situation in the American league. Boston, the leading team on that date, was second in runs scored but in other respects was playing close, careful, but not particularly brilliant baseball. The Chicago White Sox, right on Boston's heels, led in greatest number of runs, but strange to say, had the third largest number of runs stranded. Detroit was third in run-making; second in hitting, while St. Louis led in the greatest number of safe drives registered, with Cleveland third. St. Louis spoiled her hitting record by piling up the greatest number of errors with Cleveland second and Washington third. Cleveland had more runners left on bases than any of the other teams in the American league with New York second and Chicago third. The New York club was in third place notwithstanding that the opposing teams had made more runs against the Gothamites than any one of the other seven combinations. St. Louis and Philadelphia, the two tailenders on July 7, were second and third respectively in this department of the records.

METEORIC MILITARY CAREER.

Of B. C. Freyberg, Winner of Victoria Cross and Other Honors.

Wellington, New Zealand, July 16.—(By mail)—The meteoric military career of B. C. Freyberg, West Surrey, English regiment, winner of the Victoria Cross and the badge of the Distinguished Service Order, is a subject of congratulation in Wellington, where he was born and in all New Zealand. It is summed up in official advices that Lieutenant Colonel Freyberg recently was promoted to the rank of brigadier-general for service in the field. As he is only twenty-seven years old he is probably the youngest brigadier general in the British imperial forces. He is a son of the late James Freyberg, government timber expert in New Zealand. He was one of the best swimmers in New Zealand. At the beginning of the war he went to England and enlisted in the West Surrey regiment. Later he was in the allied defense of Antwerp, serving with the British marines. He was wounded and returned to England, but he recovered in time to take part in the initial allied military and naval descent upon the Gallipoli peninsula. According to an official statement he displayed conspicuous gallantry on April 25 during the landing operation in the Gulf of Xoros, when he swam ashore towing rafts with dares, and reconnoitered the enemy's position. He was in the water more than two hours. By this fact of daring and swimming he diverted the attention of the Turks from the actual place of landing. For this he was awarded the Distinguished Service Order badge. At the Battle of the Ancre he was the hero of the highly successful attack by the naval division. He was awarded the Victoria Cross for personal gallantry in carrying an attack through the enemy's front system of trenches. During the advance he was twice wounded. He again rallied and reformed all who were with him and although unsupported in a very advanced position he held his ground for the remainder of the day and throughout the night under heavy artillery and machine-gun fire. When reinforced on the following morning he organized the attack on a strongly fortified village, led the assault and captured the village and 500 prisoners. In this operation he was again wounded. This enabled the advance object of the corps to be permanently held, and on this point of approach the line was eventually formed. When in New Zealand Brigadier-General Freyberg was known among his intimates by the nickname, "Tiny."

CONVICTED OF CUTTING TIRES

George Stevens Was Sentenced to Pay Fine of $60 and Costs

HE WILL TAKE CASE TO SUPREME COURT

Jury Unable to Agree in the Case of Royal F. Fassett, Accused of Assault

Chelsea, July 16.—The fourth week of the June term of Orange county court was taken up Monday afternoon, July 9, and the first work of the afternoon was the granting of the exceptions taken by the state in the case of State vs. Anna Felch. Bail was fixed in the sum of $1,000 and the respondent was allowed to go on her own recognizance and the cause passed to supreme court.

The next case disposed of was entitled State vs. Matt Garvin, who was charged with the crime of burglary. The respondent pleaded guilty to petit larceny, which plea was accepted by the court, and the respondent was sentenced to pay a fine of $40 and costs taxed and all owed at $20 and upon payment of the costs the payment of the fine was suspended and respondent placed on probation for six months. The prosecution was conducted by State's Atty. Sherburne and the respondent was represented by D. S. Conant and M. C. Taft.

In the case of George Stevens, who was charged with cutting automobile tires, the respondent pleaded not guilty and stood trial and was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $80 and costs. Exceptions were allowed the respondent, execution of mittimus stayed and cause passed to supreme court for revision. State's Atty. Sherburne prosecuted and the respondent was represented by D. S. Conant.

In State vs. Royal F. Fassett of Randolph, who was charged with an assault, the respondent pleaded not guilty and stood trial, and after several hours' deliberation, the jury returned into court, and reported that they were hopelessly deadlocked and were discharged from further consideration of the case and the case was continued. The prosecution was by the state's attorney and the respondent's welfare was looked after by M. M. Wilson of Randolph and D. S. Conant of Bradford.

In the case of State vs. George D. Robinson of Barre City, who was charged with assault with intent to kill (his wife, with whom he had not lived for 25 years, being the victim), pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve a term of not less than five nor more than six years in state prison. Respondent was represented by R. A. Hoar of Barre.

In State vs. Emily Mitchell, the respondent, who was charged with the crime of adultery, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve a term of not less than one year nor more than one year and six months in the house of correction, and because of her delicate condition, the execution of the sentence was stayed and the respondent placed on probation until further order of court. The respondent was represented by Albert A. Sargent of Barre.

The only civil case tried by jury was taken up, it being a case of contract and entitled, Arthur B. Clark vs. S. C. Seavey and the jury found for the plaintiff to recover from the defendant the sum of $22.80 and costs and judgment was entered on the verdict, to which the defendant excepted and the cause passed to supreme court. The jury work being completed, the jurors were discharged for the term unless recalled for further work, which condition is not likely to obtain.

Following the criminal and civil work of the term the attention of the court was turned to the following divorce cases: Cecelia Courser vs. Elwin J. Courser, bill granted for the cause of adultery and the confinement of the libellee in state prison for a term of more than three years. Petitioner granted leave to resume her maiden name of Alger. M. C. Taft for petitioner.

Sophonra H. Mason vs. John Mason. Bill granted for intolerable severity and petitioner granted leave to resume her former name of Hill. M. M. Wilson for petitioner.

Eldora Webster vs. Edgar S. Webster. Bill granted for adultery. E. W. Smith for petitioner.

Ruby Cribbin vs. Thomas Cribbin, bill granted for intolerable severity, and custody of minor children decreed to petitioner.

Charles H. Mitchell vs. Emily D. Mitchell. Bill granted for adultery. W. H. Sprague for petitioner.

Alma Fahrholts vs. William Fahrholts. Petition dismissed without prejudice. This case was contested, E. W. Smith appearing for the petitioner and

D. S. Conant appearing for the petitioner. Carrie Bailey vs. Clyde Bailey. Petition dismissed; case contested. D. S. Conant for petitioner and M. C. Taft for petitioner.

Matilda A. Smith vs. Thomas H. Smith. Case was heard and entered with court. Porter, Witters and Harvey of St. Johnsbury appeared for petitioner.

It is possible that some further case may be tried at a later date and in that event the final adjournment was not taken at this time. Judge Butler will be at Burlington next week sitting as chancellor and on Monday, July 23, he returns to South Royalton to hear a chancery case of Anna Hauser Thelgen vs. John Thelgen, in which the title to real estate is involved. The petitioner is represented by D. S. Conant of Bradford and the defendant is represented by John N. Harvey of Brattleboro and William H. Sprague of Chelsea.

GERMAN BANKS SOLD.

London Property Was Put Up at Public Auction.

London, July 16.—Financial London was greatly interested in the public auction, by order of the public trustee, of enemy banks in the heart of the financial district. There was a large attendance of bankers and financiers and bids came freely for the Deutsche bank (Berlin) for which Messrs. Barclay's bank paid $1,000,000.

The Dresdner bank buildings were taken by the London City and Midland bank for $60,000 and the Disconto Gesellschaft premises sold for $190,000 to the Corporation of Lloyd's.

The Freehold and premises of the "George and Vulture Inn" with its memories of Dickens, Swift and John Wilkes, were withdrawn after bids up to $87,500 had been made.

War-Risk Insurance by German Companies Prohibited.

Washington, July 16.—President Wilson Saturday issued a proclamation prohibiting German insurance companies from doing further business in marine or war-risk insurance in the United States and forbidding American insurance companies from reinsuring with them. Payment on existing contracts is suspended during the war except in cases of vessels now at sea.

The president's proclamation contains the first official acknowledgment that valuable information may be getting to Germany through German insurance companies. "The nature of marine and war-risk insurance is such," it says, "that
