Perrin hill was the scene of a great deal of merriment last evening, when about 25 members of the Interstreet Pleasure club, which is composed of the young people of that vicinity, gathered there to hold a corn roast.

During the evening refreshments were served, while the evening was pleasantly passed by the playing of numerous games.

The party broke up at a late hour, with the singing of several patriotic songs.

Leslie Wood, the 10-year-old lad who became a problem for local and state authorities to solve, when his mother, Mrs. Amelia Wood of Depot square was sentenced to the house of correction, has been placed in St. Joseph's orphanage in Burlington, where he was accompanied by Probation Officer Charles A. Smith early in the week.

Frank Wood, father of the lad, who came to Barre to assist in arranging his wife's affairs prior to her departure, has gone back to Springfield, where he is employed as a machinist. Parents of the boy have arranged to pay for a part of his maintenance while in the orphanage.

At the request of Probation Officer Charles A. Smith, Officer David Henderson went to Springfield to-day to take custody of Angus Stewart, a probationer, who is alleged to have ignored the probation officer in the matter of reporting regularly during the period of his probation.

Sometimes ago the man was arrested on the allegation that he fired a revolver or some other firearm at persons passing by his house. After his appearance in city court he was placed under the care of the probation officer. Mr. Smith planned to bring him before Magistrate H. W. Scott this afternoon.

The fall term at Goddard will open Sept. 25 with those students who are not affected by quarantine regulations. If no other cases of poliomyelitis occur in the city the other students will be one week late. I wish each one of these students in the city and town would communicate with me this week. I want to provide them with textbooks and assign lessons. I plan for our teachers to see all of these students occasionally during the first week and give them assistance. As soon as the quarantine is removed I plan to have special classes for all of these younger pupils until they are ready to attend their regular classes. I shall do everything possible to make it easy for them to do their work. O. K. Hollister—adv.

JOSEPH INDUNI

Died This Morning After Illness of Three Weeks.

Joseph Induni, one of the younger Italian granite manufacturers of Barre, passed away at his home, 40 Pleasant street, this morning at 6 o'clock.

He died after an illness of three weeks. Mr. Induni is survived by his wife, to whom he was married in Barre Oct. 29, 1907, and two sons, Elio Induni and Settimo Induni. There are also left his parents and three sisters in Switzerland, and a brother, who lives in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

The deceased was born in Switzerland, Aug. 3, 1880, and came to Barre around 14 years ago. As a young man he learned the granite cutter's trade and latterly had been engaged in business, having a section of the shed owned by Harry & Gordon on Wiley street.

Mr. Induni was a member of Iroquois tribe of Red Men and belonged to the local order of Eagles. He was highly esteemed by many friends in the Italian colony.

Funeral services will be held at the house Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment is to be made in Hope cemetery.
