

Fine Furniture That Reflects Refinement

We have devoted careful thought and attention to the selection of Furniture that reflects the highest skill, both in design and finish. Such Furniture seems to breathe a certain air of refinement, which in turn it imparts to the interior decorative scheme of the home. Thus the home becomes more interesting because one never tires of its attractiveness, to a great extent due no doubt to the influence of Fine Furniture possessing character and individuality.

We want you to come in and talk over your furnishing proposition. See us to-day. You're welcome.

Regular meeting of Ruth chapter, No. 33, O. E. S., Wednesday evening, Nov. 14, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. George E. Bond of East street is making a visit of several days with relatives in Boston and vicinity.

Mrs. E. S. Giudici left to-day for Greenfield, Mass., where she is to make an extended visit with friends.

Miss Ida C. Bianchi of Summer street left the city this morning for Albany, N. Y., where she is to make an extended stay.

K. E. Waterman of Endicott, N. Y., is passing several days in the city, having been called here by the illness of his grandmother, Mrs. C. S. Larkin of South Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. George Leith and Mrs. Elsie Cannon of Merchant street left the city last evening for Watertown, Mass., where Mr. Leith has secured employment in an arsenal.

G. A. Simonds, who has been employed as a teamster by W. A. Bradford for the past five years, has completed his duties to accept a position as tool sharpener in a local stonemason.

F. T. Cutler of North Main street has returned home after passing several days in Greenfield, N. Y., where he was engaged in setting a soldiers' monument for Temple Bros. of Rutland.

Iroquois tribe of Red Men initiated its series of winter dancing assemblies last evening, when a sizeable party gathered in Clan Gordon hall after the regular business meeting of the tribesmen. It is planned to hold a dance on the evening of each monthly meeting.

Raymond Arkley, who has been passing a few days' leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Arkley of Washington street, left this forenoon for Springfield, Mass., there to make a visit with Mrs. Arkley before returning to Chelsea, Mass., where he is attached to the naval hospital corps.

Marshall M. Bartholomew, a Y. M. C. A. worker who addressed a gathering in Spaulding assembly hall last evening on the work of the "Red Triangle" in the war, left early this morning for New York City, after having made several speeches before Vermont audiences. An effort to obtain Mr. Bartholomew as a speaker at the high school chapel this morning had to be abandoned when it was learned that he was due in New York to-night.

Margaret Mayo's laughable farce, "Twin Beds," was enjoyed at the opera house by a small audience last evening. The complicated and embarrassing position of an Italian opera singer who mistakenly enters the wrong apartment at dawn caused no end of laughter. Louis Bolton, as Blanche Hawkins, married to a man, house parties, twin beds, etc., handles her role very well. Virginia Fairfax, as Signora Monti, the outspoken wife of the temperamental opera singer, was well chosen for the part and proved no end of enjoyment. The stage settings were of high order.

Mrs. William Hurry of Washington street has a message advising her of the sudden death of her niece, Margaret Hurry of Saginaw, Mich. The dead child was a daughter of William Hurry, a former resident of Barre, whose wife was a sister of Mrs. W. Hurry of this city. A Saginaw newspaper contains the following paragraph relative to the child's demise: "Margaret Hurry, nine years old, daughter of William Hurry, 1467 Atwater street, was instantly killed in her front yard when a shotgun in the hands of Arlington Brown, 26, was discharged late this afternoon (Nov. 6). Whether the shooting was accidental or otherwise Coroner S. C. J. Ostrom hopes to determine by an inquest to be held to-morrow morning. The child was shot in the face, just below one eye."

Although a shortage of flat cars has interfered seriously with the shipment of Christmas trees from the Barre station, two carloads of Yuletide foliage went out over the Central Vermont road to-day and more are to follow. The flat near the George Straiton plant at the south end has been used as storage ground for Christmas trees that the contractors couldn't ship, and at one time and another in recent weeks the Yuletide trees have taken on the appearance of a rather dense undergrowth. Most of the Christmas tree harvest in this vicinity is being cut in Williamstown and automobiles and teams are being used to get the evergreen to this city. Over Washington and Corinth way Christmas choppers are said to be doing their chopping early, but most of the crop is being shipped from Bradford.

The music and art department of the Barre Woman's club had charge of a very interesting and instructive art loan exhibition yesterday afternoon at their rooms in the K. of P. hall. Two long tables and several smaller ones were covered with rare articles of both ancient and modern date, while many other specimens of value were arranged about the room. A short program was given, consisting of selections in keeping with the day upon both the victrola and the piano by Mrs. Dean H. Perry; readings by Blanche J. Tilden and a short descriptive talk concerning an old-time musical instrument by Mrs. W. J. M. Beattie, illustrating which selections were played by Mrs. Beattie and Miss Isabelle Beattie. This instrument was one of the most interesting features of the day, made in Barre, of the style known as the rocking melodeon. The tone has been wonderfully well preserved. Mrs. George Nye of Barre Town is the owner of this valuable antique. It was through the kindly co-operation of many members of the club that the afternoon was made successful.

Card of Thanks.

As I am about to leave the employ of W. A. Bradford, by whom I have been employed as a teamster for the past five years, I wish to bear witness to the excellent treatment I have always received from him and from his other employes. Mr. Bradford has been uniformly kind and fair to me, and my fellow employes have been ever thoughtful and ready to assist. To Mr. Bradford and his men, I wish, while regretting that circumstances make it advisable for me to leave his employ, to express my deepest gratitude.

Smart Coats for Practical Wear

The Latest Models That Invite Service, Quality and Style, in This Week's Showing

Only two weeks to Thanksgiving, and as Thanksgiving marks the boundary line between fall and winter, these two weeks will be very busy ones, in our Coat Department. We are demonstrating every day that Coats can be made thoroughly practical as well as smart.

The Wooltex and Printz-Beidermann Coats and Suits are made of All Wool materials and interlined, assuring unusual warmth. The quality of material and the high grade of tailoring gives special durability. The smart styles you can see for yourself. These makes we use for standard of quality. All other makes of this grade must reach the standard.

See These Special Suit Values

We are putting on sale this week about forty Suits of the season's best styles and quality, at prices that will surely interest all who want a good Suit for Thanksgiving wear. In these Suit values are the season's best models, made of such cloths as the popular Wool Vellour and Rib Rodier cloths, and lined and interlined, making a practical garment for fall and winter wear.

These Suits are in quantities that sold at from $25.00 to $45.00 each and are the season's best style values, and the qualities are guaranteed.

This lot of Suits we are putting on on rack in this Pre-Thanksgiving Sale at one-third off from the regular prices. This is a chance to get a good Suit at less than the material alone would cost.

Our Warm Coat Values

We were very busy last week in our Coat Department. The many new values that have been received in the last few days are surely interesting to those who want a good, warm Coat for the season's wear.

We have some special values in good, warm, serviceable Coats at only $12.00 each that are exceptional values for this season.

At $15.00 is a lot of Coats that we picked up in the market last week, and they are especially good values for the money. The cloths are a good quality and the Coats are good and warm.

In the better Coats, at prices from $18.00 to $55.00, we can surely give you some good values. We have a lot of Sample Coats in the better grades that we are selling at special prices.

REVERSE FOR BARRE K. OF C.

Harshly Treated by Their Montpelier Brethren Last Evening.

Cribbage and pool players of Barre council experienced their first setback in the Knights of Columbus series at the capital last evening, when the Montpelier knights captured all but two of the contests. The outcome, favorable as it was to the Montpelier council, does not eliminate the local fraternity as a contender, as the inter-council matches were gotten under way only a week ago and the lead may be expected to fluctuate in the next few weeks, as six more competitions are scheduled before the championship is awarded. The entertaining council was on its mettle last night and where the Barre team had things pretty much its own way last week, the Montpelier cribbage and pool players reversed the tables in the second meeting. Montpelier made a clean-up on pool and nearly swept the cribbage boards, winning four of the six tables.

The third match of the series will be played in the clubrooms of Barre council next Tuesday evening. Below is the tabulation of last night's games.
