TALK OF THE TOWN

Read Shea's adv., page 5.—adv.
Frank O. Spaulding of Edgewood is at the City hospital for treatment.

Paul Mascetti of North Main street was taken to the City hospital Friday for treatment.

Robert Patterson of 20 Long street underwent an operation at the City hospital Saturday afternoon.

Catherine Calvert in "Think It Over," a five-reel Art drama, and a Christie comedy. Bijou Theatre, to-day.—adv.

Dr. F. M. Lynde, who has been away from his dental office for some weeks while enjoying a rest, has returned much improved in health and is back at the office again.

The condition of Robert Patterson, Jr., of Long street, who underwent an operation for appendicitis immediately after his removal to the City hospital Saturday, was reported to be fairly comfortable to-day.

Miss Rose Carminetti, for several years an efficient clerk in the F. D. Ladd store, completed her duties there this noon and will leave soon for New Britain, Conn., where she plans to take a nurses' training course.

E. A. Slayton and three of his race horses went to Montpelier this forenoon to figure in the race meet on the Wisconsin river. On the occasion of the last meet the Slayton string walked away with most of the big money, and followers of the South Main street speedsters were backing their favorites to repeat to-day.

The woman's association of the Congregational church will hold its regular meeting in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A social hour will follow the business session. A meeting of the executive board is called at 2 o'clock. The ladies are asked to bring pieces of print, percale or outing that they may have.

From somewhere in France writes George D. Bartlett, Co. A, 101st machine gun battalion, American expeditionary forces, in a letter to his mother, acknowledging receipt of a package from "Students at Spaulding high school" and desires to thank Prin. H. H. Jackson and students for their kind remembrance to him while in France.

Additions to the K. of C. war camp fund, which Barre and the surrounding towns raised last month, indicate that Orange contributed to the total, although the rough weather and bad going hindered the canvass there as it did in other towns. People in that town who were solicited gave $8.60. Recently $3 was added to the local fund, making the total contribution from Barre City $2,978.05.

Voters, whose address is incorrectly stated in the checklist prepared for use at the election to be held March 5, or those who have changed from one ward to another during the year past, are requested to advise the city clerk regarding the same before Feb. 27. By doing so they will save themselves the trouble of attending the meetings of the board of civil authority, and also help to bring the checklist up to date.

The source of a mysterious gurgling sound which residents of Elm and Hall streets have detected for the past three weeks was discovered Saturday, when the water department located a break in the main. Last week's thaw tended to lift the level of the flowing water and by the end of the week it had reached the surface and was streaming through a section of Elm street and down Hall street. Excavations are to be made at once in an effort to locate the exact spot where the break occurred.

With the time-limit for filing nomination papers only a few hours away, but one candidate has filed with the clerk at city hall, Alderman C. H. Reynolds, whose papers were filed Saturday, will contest the majority election, with Mayor Glysson, the caucus nominee. Papers are being circulated for Charles R. Gallagher, who was defeated at the ward 4 caucus Friday night by Duncan McMillan, jr., the citizens' candidate for alderman from that precinct. Mr. Gallagher indicates that enough signatures will be secured to enable him to file before the gates are closed to-night. No one has arisen to oppose any of the school commission nominees and Aldermen Healy and Alexander seem to be alone in their respective ward campaigns.

Renewed pressure for a municipal woodyard is being brought to bear upon the city council as the result of statements made by State Fuel Administrator H. J. M. Jones at a special meeting of the council last week. Mr. Jones laid a good deal of emphasis on the necessity of cutting wood if Barre's principal industry is to be kept going during the war. The Central Labor union is exerting its influence in behalf of a municipal woodyard, and while there are certain objections to be overcome, among many people who stand ready to substitute wood for coal if it can be purchased reasonably, there is a feeling that the council, through its committee, should go to almost any length in its endeavor to create a supply against next winter's needs.

Private Ernest Lafayette of a company, 101st ammunition train, writes his mother, Mrs. Frank Lafayette of 44 Park street, that the life of a soldier in France is much to his liking. The letter, dated Jan. 21, reached Mrs. Lafayette to-day and the young soldier takes occasion to acknowledge letters and packages received Dec. 13. He says: "I only wish you might see me writing this letter, for I am lying on my stomach with a cigar between my teeth and eating cookies by the light of a candle, some lighting system—one candle-power. We have had good weather the last few days, although there has been lots of wind, which has dried the ground. Was out all day and came in with dry shoes—something unusual." Mr. Lafayette has received numerous copies of The Times and states that the old home news is one of the best treats of the soldier in France. He has invested heavily in insurance, along with many of his comrades in arms, and in the letter he mentions a salary allotment to his mother.

Notice.
The attention of the accredited delegates from the several towns to the Central Labor union is specially called to the next meeting of said Central Labor union, which will be held in the carpenters' hall, Worthen block, on Friday evening, Feb. 22, at 7:30 p. m. As there is business of the utmost importance to be discussed, it is the earnest desire of the executive committee that every local be represented to the limit. Per order August McDonald, secretary.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Within a few days it is expected that a call will be issued for the annual meeting of the Vermont Poultry association, which held its yearly exhibit in Barre recently. In common with other poultry associations the society has been hard hit by the rigorous weather, but in spite of the cold snap which prevailed during the annual show, more than 200 birds were exhibited, and the enrollment of blooded fowls was numerous enough to put the association in line for state aid. The same does not apply to some other poultry associations, it is said, as in one notable instance, in the northern part of Vermont, an association which in the past has conducted shows in which 1,200 birds were exhibited, was able to show only 250 birds.

Mormon meetings in the Worthen block tabernacle were held at 2 and 7:30 p. m. Sunday, the occasion being the visitation of W. P. Monson of New York, a prominent elder of the church and the president of the eastern states mission. Elder Monson preached at both services, and to a program of congregational singing there were added solos by members of the Mormon flock in Barre. The elder's discourse tended to explain away some of the traditional criticisms existing in the minds of Joseph Smith, a Vermont, and later promulgated throughout the civilized world by followers styling themselves adherents of the church of Jesus Christ and Latter Day Saints. Among those who listened to the address were a number of Gentiles, so-called. Arrangements for the conference were in charge of the two young Mormon elders who are at the head of the Barre mission.

WILLIAMSTOWN

The Rebekahs will hold a card party in Old Fellows' hall on the evening of Thursday, Feb. 21. Everybody is invited.

L. Marshall Jackson, who moved last week from Fred Alger's farm on south hill to a tenement in the Poole house, is at work for Mrs. T. C. Waldo and it is reported that he will rent her farm for a year.

The men of the M. E. church will serve an oyster supper at Lynde hall Wednesday evening, Feb. 27. This is not planned to induce people to eat at an expensive restaurant, but rather to give a change in the home menu by omitting the home supper and coming to this instead. There will be an entertainment after the supper by home talent.

Mrs. Harley T. Martin arrived at home on the 12th, after a visit to her children, Ruth and Richard, students at Brigham academy, Montpelier.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Kevor returned last week from a stay of about two weeks with daughters in Barre and South Barre.

Agreeably to warning by the chairman of the Republican and Democratic town committees, the voters of the town met at the town hall on the evening of the 16th and organized by choosing George T. Colby as chairman and Glen F. Yeatman as clerk. Nominations were made for the various town officers to be elected at the annual March meeting. Among these were Fred Pirie and J. T. Jamison for selectman, James K. Pirie for school director for three years, and W. M. Williams for the same office for one year. Most of the other nominations are for the parties' new holding office.

The meeting of the community chorus last week Tuesday evening was not well attended, the ladies of the soprano being noticeably absent. Let every member be present this week so that the concert that is planned may be up to the high standard set by the chorus last year.

Hiram A. Thurber is printing the reports for four different towns and his son is home from Massachusetts to help him in the work.

It is not expected that Rev. G. W. Keeling, pastor of the M. E. church for the past two years, will be returned here after conference. It is stated that he will be transferred to a conference farther south, where he will pursue his studies further and probably will be ordained as a minister.

It being found out that the first caucus was perhaps not in all respects a legal one, a second was warned for Saturday night, which duly convened and ratified the work of the first, with the exception that in the case of the nomination of selectman, or three years, one name, that of Fred Pirie, was proposed and placed in the nomination for that office.

The following letter from Private C. L. Fuller, Co. M, 103d U. S. infantry, was received by his mother, Mrs. Otto Edson, Williamstown:

Dear Mother and Al: Yes, I got your other two letters. O. K. Cousin Charles is only about 11 kilometers from here. It is a nice young winter here to-night; it has spells of snowing quite hard but don't last long. I hope, for their sake, the boys will stay where they are this winter. When we get paid I sure will have to get my picture taken.

I am driving team myself now, but not the same as the French do. I have four mules and real harnesses; have been driving about four weeks. You know I was always happy when I was pulling ribbons, but I am afraid it is too good to last. I wish I never had to go back into the ranks again for I like this better. I think the next time I go away I will charge at home. Every time I get home I have two or three new relatives. If nothing happens I will do my share towards finding relatives.

Tell Eugene to write any time he can find time, letters are almighty welcome here. I sent the money to Forrest to put in the bank for us.

We had a corking good Christmas dinner, turkey and all, and a real gift. I have read "The Heart of the Desert."

If Otto still sits there asleep, pinch him for me. We each had a package of tobacco from the Penn tobacco fund and it came in mighty handy, though it is easier to get than it was.

It has been pretty cold to-day on the team, though as we have to make one trip of about eight or nine miles the round trip. To-night all hands around went over and took a warm shower bath so we are all ready for church to-morrow. I can find time.

Daisy said in her letter that she had sent me a Christmas box, but I am still looking for it. If they took care of the roads in the country the way they do here, working for the town. There is only about four inches of snow, but they were scraping the roads this morning. Well, there is not much to write about, so will close for this time. C. L. Fuller, Co. M, 103d U. S. Infantry.

Just the Lady.

Elery H. Carter, Aged 75 Years, Died Saturday Afternoon.

Elery H. Carter, aged 75 years, died at the home of Capt. S. H. Morey, back of the Lawrence block, about 3:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon following a few hours' illness. Two weeks ago he suffered from indigestion but seemed to be recovering. He ate dinner Saturday with the family but after dinner he seemed distressed. For a time he was in great pain and then seemed to have been relieved; but about 3:30 o'clock his pain became acute again and he died in a short time. With Mrs. Carter he came here from their home in Concord, N. H., for a visit with Mrs. Carter's daughters. They had been here about two weeks when Mr. Carter was first taken ill. He was a native of Littleton, N. H., and was born April 9, 1842. He had been a painter most of his life. He was in the 11th Vermont regiment in the Civil war and was wounded on picket duty. He was twice married, his second wife being Mrs. Emma Hinkins, who survives him. He also leaves one daughter, Miss Grace Carter of Foxboro, Mass., and one grand daughter, Miss Alice Richardson of Concord, N. H. The funeral took place this afternoon.

The horse owned by Charles Wiggins, who lives on the Worcester Branch road, became frightened while coming up State street Saturday afternoon, tipping the occupants from the sleigh into the street. The beast was stopped by William George without damage to the rig.

A meeting of the board of civil authority took place Saturday evening which resulted in some 140 names of women and 64 names of men being added to the checklist to be used at the March meeting. This will make a total of 750 names of women on the checklist. The board decided that it was unnecessary for the woman to take the freeman's oath but one of the women said she did not want the men to put anything over on them; therefore, they took the oath, after which their names were added to the checklist. Another meeting will occur Tuesday evening.

Politics appears to have livened up considerably in the last three days. Mayor Mitchell, as predicted a week ago, will be unopposed for re-election, while Alderman Pitkin seems to be headed for a re-election to serve the rest of the term in ward 1. There bids fair to be a fight in ward 4 and ward 6, while Alderman Ryan, after persistent asking, has consented to accept a re-nomination. In ward 4 Alderman Galleher refused to run until it looked as though no one was in the field and until many had asked him to do so; but apparently he is not to have it his own way, for G. H. Almon has announced himself for the honor, while in ward 6 there are three candidates, A. W. Prescott, Carl Dudley and Louis Jerue. The ward caucuses are to be held Wednesday evening.

One of the features of the annual meeting of the Washington County High School association which takes place in this city May 8, will be a scriptural memorization contest for children between the ages of 12 and 16 years. The contest will be relative to certain passages taken from the scriptures and the girl and boy ranking highest will be given the opportunity to go to the state meeting a little later for the purpose of competing in the best posted student of those ages on the scriptures.

Mason S. Stone has received notification from the federal government that the four-minute speakers in Vermont may be used in the state granges. Some time ago he took up the matter with the officers of the state grange. They were agreeable to it and then he took up the matter with those in charge of the four-minute speaking at Washington. They studied the plan thoroughly, because it was set forth that owing to the small number of moving picture places in the state in which the four-minute speakers could be employed results which should be obtained were impossible; and the use of the grange was suggested. Vermont is the first state to take up the matter and the federal officers are watching its progress with the intention of developing the work further along that line if the results in this state should give satisfaction. Mr. Stone has sent to the granges a letter explaining the plan, while letters from W. N. Cady and O. L. Martin of the state organization have also been sent.

Merrill Haskins and Oscar Trim of Northfield were committed to the county jail Saturday evening on the charge of burglary for want of bail. They were arrested by Chief of Police J. M. Donahue of Northfield.

Commissioner of Education M. B. Hillegas this morning received a message of the death of Burt Burbank of Concord, who was the superintendent of schools in the Essex southeast district, with headquarters at Concord. Mr. Burbank was first taken ill with pneumonia, which he had suffered with complications for two months. He was about 45 years of age and lived for many years in Danville. He is survived by his wife and two children, among other relatives. The funeral takes place at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the Masonic hall in St. Johnsbury. Mr. Hillegas leaves in the morning to attend the funeral.

Rev. A. W. Hewitt leaves to-night for Washington, D. C., where he represents Vermont and the educational department at the conference this week in that city upon "Rural Life and Rural Education." Mr. Hillegas expected to attend, but owing to the death of Mr. Burbank will not go.

Lieut. Harkness has received an honorable discharge from Washington, D. C., and will resume his practice here as soon as he is able. In the meantime, he will attend to a few calls at his home at 14 Loomis street.

For the remainder of the winter at least, Montpelier will have but one motion picture house, a consolidation having been arranged by the managements of the Comique and the Playhouse, whereby the Comique theatre will be closed after this week.
