TALK OF THE TOWN

See Abbott's bargain basement. Buy violins and records at Bailey's Music Rooms, 14 Elm street.

Mrs. William Rees left yesterday for Franklin, N. H., where she will make a visit of a few days with relatives.

Miss Marjorie Wheeler of Currier street left yesterday for Waterbury, where she has secured employment.

Mrs. Euphemia Potts of Utica, N. Y., is spending a few weeks at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alexander Gardner of Hillside avenue.

Miss Maude Whitcher, who has been spending several weeks with friends and relatives in this city, has returned to her home in Newbury.

Miss Nettie Lawless of the Currier block returned to the city last evening from New York City, where she has been on a business trip.

Mrs. Felix Franz of Berlin street returned last evening from Waterbury, where she has been visiting with friends and relatives for several days.

D. J. Morse of Tremont street returned last evening from New York City, where he has been spending the past few days on business in the interests of the A. P. Abbott store.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Nichols, who accompanied the body of their son, Lloyd Nichols, from Burlington to Barre for funeral and burial, have returned to their home in East Montpelier.

Miss Marion G. Martin, who recently took the civil service examination at short-hand, typewriting and stenography, has received word from Washington that she has been appointed stenographer.

Miss Martin was asked to report immediately at the war department in Washington.

Mrs. C. M. Rizzi of 4 Blackwell street, whose son, Private Walter Arthur Rizzi, enlisted in the 2d cavalry at Fort Ethan Allen nearly a year ago, received yesterday from the young man the following postcard advice: "The ship on which I sailed has arrived safely overseas."

A number of other Barre boys were in the 2d cavalry.

A number of Barre people were in Washington Tuesday to attend the funeral of Lucian A. Downing, a prominent resident of that town, whose sudden death occurred Sunday night. Services were held in the Universalist church, with the pastor, Rev. Paul Weller, officiating. The bearers were: Harry and Ellis Downing, Fred Downing and Albert Bressette. Interment was made in the family lot in the village cemetery.

Sentiment about town seems to favor a clean-up campaign similar to like movements held in former years, and many are looking to the city council to take the initial steps. The invitation of the New England clean up and paint up committee to participate in its clean-up operations early in May is in the hands of the aldermanic health committee, and a report on the invitation will be made at the next meeting of the aldermen. A silver cup is offered in connection with the campaign, the trophy to be awarded the municipality whose campaign shall show the greatest results. By those who are anxious to see a municipal clean-up, it is reasoned that much is to be gained, even though the silver cup should eventually go to some other city.

Hotel Milano, long the residence of Joseph D. Ossola, and the scene of many Sunday and other dinners during and after the days of its prime, is to be stripped of its interior furnishings, according to the terms of a mortgage issued in favor of John Frow. Notices to that effect that the rather ornate fittings and furniture of the famous mansion on North Main street are to go under the hammer have been posted about town. The sale will be held April 30, and H. J. Stanton, a local deputy sheriff, is to be in charge. The notice states that seven "full-length" mirrors, remembered for the conspicuous part in the mural decorations in the Ossola residence, are to be sold, along with furniture, scenery and other appurtenances. Incidentally a bar, a back bar, glassware and bar-room tables are to be included in the sale.

The culmination of the membership contest, which the Netop class of the Methodist Sunday school conducted during February and March, came last night, when the reds, who were the winners, were entertained by the blues. Supper was served at 6:30 and 48 members of the class sat down to the tables, which were spread in the basement of the church. The decorations were in the contest colors, red and blue, the place cards also being of these colors, and each bearing an Indian head, significant of the Indian name of the class. After supper came the monthly business meeting and following that a social hour. Progressive games caused great rivalry and amusement. The peanut and hotpin table was apparently the most popular, with the latter proving a close second. This social was no exception to the usual jolly time which is enjoyed by this class at its monthly meetings.

Special convocation of St. Aldemar commandery, No. 11, K. T. U. of T., Thursday evening, April 11, at 7:30 o'clock. Work, red cross. Per order E. C.

Regular meeting of Barre aerie, F. O. E., Thursday, April 11, at 7:30 p. m. Business very important. D. McDonald, W. Pres.

MONTPELIER

City Council Transacted Much Important Business.

At the regular city council meeting, held Wednesday evening, it was voted to give the patrolmen of the police department one day off duty in 20 without loss of pay. It was also voted to hang a silver flag. It was estimated that about 250 have gone from this city. The council voted to have a special meeting next Thursday evening, when the matter of issuing licenses to the following concerns will be considered: Standard Oil company, City of Montpelier, C. E. Lowe, R. H. Nelson. It was stated that the traction company has not yet paid its share of the construction of the Rialto bridge and that interest of $1.13 a day will be collected up to and including the day upon which the bill is settled. The council voted to sign a bond provided for the transfer of Andrae Cassini from the Proctor sanatorium to the Heydensville, Mass., sanatorium. The property committee was authorized to buy 30 tons more of coal, which will be enough to heat the city hall in addition to the present 90 tons on hand, through the fiscal year. The supply committee was authorized to buy uniforms for the police and firemen, and 1,000 feet of hose and other needed supplies for the fire department. The same committee was authorized to purchase an electrical washing machine for the city home. At the special meeting next Thursday evening the public is invited to give its opinion as to whether the council shall buy a new sprinkler, whether automobile or horse-drawn or water their streets by garden hose or eat dust. Various prices on sprinklers will be submitted at the meeting. The street committee was authorized to hire a civil engineer for the summer months. The matter of paying $8,000 damages to Clark Stewart or buy his farm at $10,000 did not meet the approval of the council, although more investigation will occur. It appears that in four years the value of the farm, according to figures given the council then and now, has reduced $2,000. The council seemed to think the price still rather high, while it was agreed that he had suffered somewhat from loss of bathing and health since the state board of health stopped bathing in the pond. A meeting of the board of health occurred during the same time, at which licenses were granted to the milk dealers to sell milk. These are the same that had licenses last year.

It is understood that State Probation Officer W. H. Jeffrey has been successful in bringing the Woods family together. A suit had been brought in county court by Amelia Woods against Frank Woods for a divorce, but the records of the court show that the suit has been discontinued. Mr. Jeffrey was in conference with Mr. Woods, who is now employed in southern Vermont, and Dame Rumor tells the story that Mr. and Mrs. Woods are to resume their residence together.

They have a son and if Mr. Jeffrey has succeeded in reuniting the family he will at least have lessened the expense of the state of Vermont.

Echoes about the court house are that as a result of two trials which have taken place this term, two new ones will take place. One is that Moses Goslant is to bring suit against Asa Tyrell for recovery of damages done to Mr. Goslant's automobile in an accident last summer. Mr. Goslant was the defendant in a similar suit between the two parties and the jury returned a verdict in his favor. The other is that of L. F. Fortney and perhaps the administrator of the E. D. Bartlett estate will bring suit against Antonio Bonazzi to recover damages. Bonazzi lost in a recent suit against Mr. Fortney. Mr. Fortney missed the train the night following a verdict in his favor last week and, having telephoned the victory to his wife, walked home.

Ellen Covell, alias Durkee, has been arrested in Manchester, N. H., at the request of the state probation officer and will be returned to the state's prison to serve the rest of her term for adultery, of which she was found guilty a year ago in Windsor county court. The woman was paroled last November. She has a husband and children living in Colebrook, N. H., and it is alleged by the probation officer that she was living with Durkee in Manchester when arrested this morning.

Probate court this morning, Dr. E. H. Bailey of Barre settled his account as guardian of Mary Bailey of Barre City, and H. N. Bailey of Berlin was appointed executor of the estate of Mary J. Bailey, late of Barre City.

Fred Kelley of Richford, T. C. Cheney of Morrisville and Kyle Brown of Lunenburg, who were here yesterday to attend the quarterly meeting of the Vermont Mutual Fire Insurance company, have gone to their homes. Routine business was done at the meeting.

Musicien Harry White of Co. I is home with Mrs. White and their new baby for 15 days. Mr. White is one of the two musicians of the company in which there have been many changes in the last few weeks. Lieut. Clarence LePage, who has been commanding the company, has gone into aviation service and is at San Antonio, Tex., while C. E. Hummel, who has seen 20 years of service in the Maryland National Guard, is captain of the company. Lieut. Archie McDonald has been transferred back to the company from Co. I, which he was commanding while Capt. E. W. Gibson was in Vermont. W. E. D. Coglian is top sergeant while Edward Buley is duty sergeant. Arthur Mack is supply sergeant. George Buley is company cook. Ralph Willard, formerly of Montpelier seminary, is Mr. White's companion musician. Among the corporals are William Wright and Harrison Martin, while John Moriarty is company clerk.

The work of finishing the latest spire that is to go to Salt Lake City, Utah, in memory of Hyrum Smith is progressing very fast, the contract being with Marr & Gordon of Barre, who are rushing the order; in fact it is being rushed all along the line. It was quarried at the Boutwell, Milne & Varum quarry in less than a week and last night the big spire was laid under the polishing wheels in the Marr & Gordon plant. The shipment of the monument is expected to take place during the early days of May.

Mrs. H. M. Farnham, Mrs. G. B. Young and Mrs. G. H. Smiley returned last evening from St. Albans, where they attended a meeting of the women's Liberty loan committee in the morning Wednesday, and a luncheon given by Mrs. E. C. Smith. Several speeches were made by persons connected nationally with the war. C. F. Lowe of this city was also present. There were about 25 women at the meeting. Mrs. Farnham has been asked to take charge of the campaign in the state grange. Mrs. L. H. Higginson of Boston, the federal reserve chairman for women in New England, C. H. Darling of Burlington, Capt. Jack Findlay, who was wounded in the battle of the Somme, and Col. F. S. Stranahan of Providence, R. I., were among the speakers. It was an enthusiastic meeting, which will result in a stiff campaign conducted by the women of the state.
