

"Do You Ride All of the Bumps of the War News From Day to Day?"

To follow and feel all these is human and exciting. There is another viewpoint—that of disregarding the daily shifts and changes in the war situation, keeping one's attention concentrated on the long haul of war and final result.

First, above everything else, we should help our Government by buying Liberty Bonds and doing many useful things that are going to help win this war.

Second, in our opinion there is absolutely no question about the final outcome, but when peace does come we should have our homes furnished in that neat and homelike way that will bring cheer to our boys when they return.

We are more than usually prepared this spring to fill all of your home furnishing demands. On account of our pre-war purchase, only in a few instances have we attained the war-time prices.

We know you can save money by buying now of us—even to the anticipating of your wants. Come to see us—we can help you.

G. Cassellini of Cottage street offered himself for the merchant marine, a recruiting station for which has been established in the Red Cross pharmacy. Mr. Cassellini is now awaiting the outcome of the physical examination which he underwent this forenoon.

Foresters of St. John's court, C. O. F., will gather for a corporate communion at St. Monica's church Sunday morning. Members of the court are to meet in the Knights of Columbus hall at 8:30 o'clock, and a half-hour later the line will form and the Foresters will march directly to church for the 9 o'clock mass.

The heavy fall of snow put a crimp in the plans of the baseball management at Goddard seminary for a game on the campus this afternoon, and in consequence of the inclement weather, the Norwich Informals, who were scheduled to play in the curtain-raiser of the 1918 season, have been notified not to come to Barre. It is expected that the game will be played some afternoon next week. Fans at the seminary are disappointed over the turn in the weather, as they were anticipating eagerly the chance to see the new Goddard team in action.

According to the crew of a passenger train over the Barre branch last evening, more snow accumulated on the front of the locomotive during the storm last night than at any time this winter. When the train left the local yard for Montpelier during the night, it began to roll a snow ball that gained in size until the yard limit at North Barre was passed. There the wet and sticky mass, unable to gather any more snow, started skyward. Most of it lodged on the headlight and stuck there until members of the crew crept along the running board and removed it.

The whole sale liquor firm of Wilson & Gaul, which has been operated for some time in Burlington, Rutland and Barre, is to move a part of its equipment from the Queen city to its storage plant in the Kempton mill, so called, on South Main street. The firm has disposed of its bottling plant in Burlington, and a part of the apparatus used therein is to be divided between branch storage establishments in Barre and Rutland. The sale of a modern bottling and storage plant erected by Wilson & Gaul in Burlington was reported soon after the city went dry in March.

Private Richard Hoar, who has been spending a leave of absence at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hoar of East street, during the past several days, being called to this city by the illness of his sister, Miss Berenice Hoar, expects to return to Spartanburg, S. C. this evening, he being stationed at the training camp there. He will be accompanied to New York City by Elliott Pirie, who has been visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Pirie of Graniteville, on a furlough of 30 days, and who will rejoin his shipmates on board the U. S. S. Rhode Island.

The friends of Rev. J. W. Barnett, formerly pastor of the Congregational church in Barre, will be glad to learn of his success in the Y. M. C. A. work in England, to which he went soon after leaving the Barre church last fall. Mr. Barnett was first located at the Eagle but in London, but later was promoted to be religious director of a series of camps near Winchester, England. His ability brought him still another promotion and at the present time he is director of everything in that place, consisting of two huts, a theatre and hospital near Winchester. He has a number of men under him to carry on the work, is furnished with an automobile and, as his duties carry him about the country somewhat, he travels considerable each day. So happy is he in his work that he finds no time to be weary even with the multiplicity of his duties.

April has been making up some of the delinquencies entered against March, among the outstanding vagaries of a month which has produced all kinds of weather being a heavy snowfall yesterday and over night. Nearly a foot of snow lay over the landscape at day-break this morning, although a portion of the storm lodged in the trees and on the wires. It was a good morning for the man who carries a camera, and while the traveling was not altogether agreeable, there was compensation in the scenery. Much of the street department's winter equipment had been stored at the city farm, and the task of opening the paths was left largely to pedestrians.

It was an easy matter, for the snow yielded readily to stamping, and folks accepted the inevitable without complaint. Falling foliage added only zest to the pedestrian's ventures, for the temperature through this big April storm continued warm and fringes of snow on limbs and telephone wires dropped with little perturbation. There was a promise of spring weather in the air to-day, and the prospects for a white May day grew more and more remote as the snow began to melt.

Why Should You Buy Early

Last January we told you to buy for spring and save one profit. Now we tell you to buy for summer and save two profits. Just so long as this war lasts prices will continue to advance. Goods bought now for summer will give you a saving. Goods for next fall another saving. Goods one year from now will be half as much more as they are today. There is no guesswork about this. Remember this statement. We have several lots of goods that are today quite a bit under the market prices. Prices good only on these special lots.

Bargain Basement

One table of Misses' and Ladies' Summer Hats. These are last season's Hats, and the style is so near this season's that you won't see the difference. Most of these are less than half price.

One table of Staple Gingham. These are worth at wholesale to-day 22 1/2c per yard. You may judge the retail value. We are selling these for a few days longer at 20c per yard.

Odd lots of Ladies' and Misses' Knit Underwear. One lot of Misses' White Wash Middies. These only 49c ea. Remnants in our Basement.

New lot of Ready-to-Wear Millinery in our Millinery Department for Friday and Saturday. There is style to Ready-Made Millinery that you cannot get in home-made. It costs less and looks better. ### PLAINFIELD

Arthur R. Bolles Writes from France to Mrs. John Parks.

Mech. Arthur R. Bolles, 5th Caisson Co., 101st Amm. Train, somewhere in France, writes thus to his cousin, Mrs. John Parks, Plainfield, on Feb. 10:

Your most welcome letter received this week and one two weeks ago, but did not have time to answer. We are on the jump from morning to night, Sundays and all, so you see we don't have much time. I received the box that father sent this week, also one from Leah. I had been out of tobacco one week and it sure came in time. Oh, your cake was fine and not a bit dry.

It has been real Vermont weather here for the last week, snow, and it was cold. But to-day is more like spring. Tell father not to worry, as I am well, and tell him to keep my guns oiled and not lend them, as I shall want them when I come home, as no German is going to pop me over. So Herm Dix is running the Bancroft mill. He will be a good man for them. Tell him to come over to see me and we will go wild bear hunting. Tell Arch I think I saw his dog, Jack, over here the other night. So Raymond is in the next draft. Well, he will have some fun while he is in the states, but out here it is not all fun.

March 3—I sure had a feast last night. Had had no mail for four weeks, but received ten letters, 30 Barre Times and two boxes. Believe me, I enjoyed them. It is still quite cold where I am.

March 10—Don't think because I do not write that I forget you all at home. We are very busy. We are not very far from the front here now. Would like to tell you where, but cannot. I am writing this lying on the grass on a hill and the airplanes are going over my head. Last night I saw an air raid, but no harm was done.

Tell Grover I thank him for the money he sent me. With love to you all, Joe.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

"The Marriage Question"—Matinee for Ladies Only, Wednesday.

The opera house management announces that "The Marriage Question," which comes to Barre, matinee and night, Wednesday, April 17, is giving a matinee here for ladies exclusively, and it is further announced positively that no gentlemen will be admitted. It is presumed that there is something special planned in connection with the matinee which makes it advisable to bar gentlemen, probably a discussion of matters which are best talked of in the absence of the men. The night show is for ladies and gentlemen both. "The Marriage Question" is not a show for children, although there is some comedy in the treatment of a theme which is so sacred that levity is not apropos at many points. Patti McKenney is playing an important role in this production and her host of admirers will undoubtedly embrace the opportunity to renew their admiration for this talented young actress, who delighted and thrilled thousands during her engagement in this city as the head of her own company of players.—adv.
