TALK OF THE TOWN

Public dance, Friday, May 3, Worthen hall, round and square dances.—adv. A rehearsal of the Methodist choir will be held Friday evening in the league rooms at 7 o'clock.

James Mackie of Summer street has returned home after spending some days in Boston on business.

Max Soule returned this forenoon to his home in Fairfield, after visiting with his brother, Harris Soule, a member of the senior class at Goddard seminary.

Raymond Reed, who has been visiting during the past few days with his sister, Miss Alice Reed, a student at Goddard seminary, returned this forenoon to his home in Concord.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Murphy of Hartford, Conn., are the parents of a son, born a week ago. Mrs. Murphy will be remembered here as Miss Mary Carroll, for several years a secretary at Goddard seminary.

H. G. Bennett, B. A. Eastman, A. L. Averill and Levi G. Bixby of Montpelier have returned from a trip to Detroit, Mich., making the overland journey home in automobiles obtained in the Michigan motor metropolis.

Harry Britton, who was formerly employed as manager of the local American Express company's office, returned yesterday to St. Johnsbury, where he is at present in charge of the local office, after spending the past several days with friends in this city.

Clarence F. R. Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bishop of Washington street, has been promoted to chief petty officer of a drill squad in the U. S. navy, according to information received by his relatives here. Mr. Bishop enlisted in the navy late in the winter and has been stationed at the navy yard in Charleston, S. C.

International Labor day, observed May 1 in many continental countries and on a smaller scale in some American communities, had little to distinguish it from other days in Barre. The labor committee abandoned its former custom of holding a mass meeting, and the parade which has formed a feature of May 1 observance in other years, was conspicuously absent.

The Barre pipe and drum band, which has been granted a larger share of the money appropriated by the city for open-air concerts this year, is practicing arduously in anticipation of a series of concerts. It is expected that the first public appearance of the band will be made on Memorial day. New music has been distributed among the pipers and a greater variety of selections will be rendered by the Scottish music makers this season.

Tracts of land owned by the city in the third ward have been left to the care of Alderman A. J. Loranger this season, and people who wish to engage in war gardening must confer with him. Most of the land is located in the vicinity of Cable street, where earnest workers harvested good crops last season. In ward 2 one or two sections of city land may be cultivated. Alderman J. A. Healy has the matter in hand in the second ward.

Mrs. William Oliver, jr., and children of Park street left the city this forenoon for Indianola, Ia., where they are to make a visit of several weeks at the home of Mrs. Oliver's parents. They were accompanied by Miss Edie Ross, who has been visiting during the past three weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver and who will make a visit of a few weeks with relatives in Chicago, before returning to her home in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. William Oliver, sr., of Elm street returned to the city last evening from Westley, R. I., where they have been visiting with relatives for several weeks. While absent Mr. and Mrs. Oliver attended the tenth wedding anniversary of the latter's sister and husband, which was held two weeks ago, Mrs. Oliver being one of the three persons who were present at both the wedding and the anniversary. They also spent a few days with their daughter, Mrs. William Bailey at Providence, R. I.

Enterprise alley is being paralleled by a storage track, the property of the M. & W. R. railroad, and if favorable weather conditions obtain to-morrow, the work of spanning the distance between the rear of the Miles building and Prospect street will be completed. Much of the track runs across a strip of land owned by the city, and permission to use the property was granted by the city council a year ago after lengthy negotiations. Teamsters are privileged to use a turnout at the north end of the track, and other rights are reserved by the city. Officials of the road have stated that the track is to be used mainly for storage purposes, and that "empties," for the most part, will be run over the new road bed, thereby relieving rapidly congesting conditions in the main yard of the M. & W. R. and the B. & C. railroads.

Next to a flying squirrel which an Orange naturalist shipped west in the fall of '87, a rat terrier which Dr. O. E. Barr consigned to a friend in East Boston yesterday is the smallest passenger that ever traveled over the Barre branch of the Central Vermont railroad. The cottage street veterinarian had named the dog "Germany" because its chances of growing any larger are so small, but interest among the trainmen who attended the little passenger's departure center chiefly around its size and shape, and not its cognominal intention. Pressed for details, Dr. Barr explained that the rat catcher weighed nine ounces at birth, "Germany" gave early promise of living up to its name, as it ravaged a nest of young chickens at the age of 17 days. A week later it was defying the largest rats, and now at three months, its growth completed, the terrier seeks new worlds to conquer. "Germany" tipped the beam at 21 ounces when the express man weighed the traveler for excess.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lyman H. Howe has made a picturesque tour of Alaska an important feature of his latest Travel Festival, which comes to the opera house on Thursday, May 2.

One of the big things of Mr. Howe's screen excursion through America's northern possession is a series of views of icebergs in their moment of formation. After great risk and delay, the persistent Howe camera man recently caught some actually amazing "close-ups" of huge icebergs breaking off from primeval glaciers and crashing into the sea. Some of these glaciers are 75 to 250 miles long and 400 feet high. The effect of mighty avalanches of ice and snow sliding down the sides of these white mountains and plunging into the ocean directly in front of the camera is one of the most sensational things of nature ever filmed.

Other remarkable Alaskan scenes show the modern methods of gold seeking: by steam dredge, which shovels the earth from the mountain sides and automatically sifts it; and the hydraulic method, by which powerful streams of water pound a hill into mud, ready for the sluice boxes. In picturesque comparison to these up-to-the-minute methods of fortune finding are the views of the old river boats, used in the days of the Klondike gold rush.—Adv.

All-Wool Means Lasting Style

Do you realize what "all-wool" means to a garment? It is the only thing that makes fine tailoring worth while; garments of poor material, however well-made, will not hold their shape. They soon go to pieces in looks and in reality, and customers, of course, are highly dissatisfied.

In view of such conditions we are gratified to be able to recommend unreservedly the quality of our Coats, Suits, and Skirts. They are absolutely all-wool, and more than ordinary workmanship put into every detail. See these values while the line is complete.
