Apparent Case of Infantile Paralysis Found at Lympus.

Gerald, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis C. Whitaker, who live at Bethel Lympus, eight miles from this village, is ill with infantile paralysis, according to the decision of Dr. Noyes, who came Saturday from Burlington to diagnose the case which the local physicians believed to be one of the dreaded paralysis. The boy became ill a week ago with feverish symptoms and later paralysis developed in both arms. The case is a moderate one and Dr. Noyes expressed the opinion that the paralysis would not be permanent. From a description of the illness of Vernon, a younger boy in the same family, who has recovered, he was inclined to believe that he had a mild case of the same disease. The Whitaker house is quarantined and also the Reed house, where children live who had played with the Whitakers.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."—Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 108 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. In these days of high prices many families have to keep close track of the loose ends. "Gee!" ejaculated the young father. "Guess we will have to keep on washing the baby in the coal shuttle."—Farm and Fireside.

BECAME THIN AND WEAK FROM LACK OF BLOOD

If your blood is not fortified against the multitude of disease germs that surround us, you risk being a prey to sickness. You may not be able to put in a good day's work without a constant feeling of exhaustion.

The experience of Mr. George B. Havey, of No. 619 Parkwood Avenue, Youngstown, Ohio, will interest many. She says:

"I was pale and weak and my blood was impoverished. My appetite was very poor, food distressed me and I often had nervous spells. I was subject to dizziness when every thing would turn black before my eyes. My heart would beat very fast when I went up stairs. I could not sleep. At night I had a dry hacking cough and became so thin and weak that I had no strength to do any work."

One day I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a paper and decided to give them a trial. After taking a few boxes I felt like a different person and took the pills until I recovered. I am glad to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any person suffering with anemia."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic, not a stimulant. They build up the blood and have transformed thousands of sick, grouchy, irritable, tired and nervous people into active, energetic, capable, efficient men and women. They will help you too.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price 50 cents. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free book on the blood.

U. S. Educating Soldiers.

A writer says in an article in the June Farm and Fireside:

"We Americans, as a people, are progressive. We are constantly on the lookout for advancement, for promotion in business, for self-betterment in our particular walk of life. This holds equally true for the boys in our armies to-day. After their day of military maneuvers, tactics, and drills, they want relaxation—and many of them find it in arduous mental tasks.

The foreign-born naturalized citizen is eager and willing to labor over the rules of English grammar. Our American boy of a high-school education also wants mental development—possibly typewriting or mechanics, or a foreign language, will be his selection. Even the college graduate is calling for advanced courses in specialized subjects.

"Uncle Sam saw that there was a need, and made generous arrangements to give the boys every opportunity to perfect themselves along practical or student lines. Some of our less far-seeing business men stormed and questioned: 'French! All right! they will need that on the war front. But why all this energy expended on Spanish and English literature and American history? What place can all that have in the life of a soldier?'

"Directly it can have no influence, but indirectly it yields a mighty influence, for it makes the soldiers contented, gives them a vista of an upward path which will be theirs to climb when the war is over. No matter what subject they choose to follow during their training camp days, it is the very act of choosing to learn all about the job they are to do and then do it to their utmost, that shows the spirit of our soldiers."

It Can't Injure Cows

Some dairymen are under the impression that a milking machine will injure their cows. The Empire Milking Machine will not and cannot injure a cow in any manner whatever—any more than a harness injures a horse.

Do you suppose the North Dakota Experimental Station, as well as numerous other state universities, would use the "Empire" if it injured their cows? Do you think for a minute that Senator A. T. Fancher would use the "Empire" on his world-renowned herd of thoroughbred Holsteins—that the famous Strathglen Farm herd of Ayrshires—the Woronok Farm herd of Guernseys or the Charles Pratt estate herd of Jerseys would be milked with the "Empire" if it injured cows?

On the contrary, Empire Milking Machines benefit the cows because produces exactly the same action on the cow's teat that the calf's mouth does. When it sucks, it draws the milk from the teat. When it swallows, its tongue massages back into the udder the blood that was drawn down into the teat when it sucked. This prevents congestion.

The Empire Pistonless Pulsator acts in the same way. First, it causes a vacuum in the teat cup. Then, instantly the sucking stops and air flows in between the rubber lining and the walls of the teat cup. This makes the rubber lining gently massage the teat from tip to udder.

This action occurs regularly 48 to 52 times a minute and is adjustable. Naturally calm cows, like Holsteins, are milked at the slower rate. More excitable cows, like the Jerseys, are milked at the higher speed.

Having no piston to stick or teak vacuum, the Empire Super-Simple Pulsator is absolutely positive and uniform in its action. This uniformity and regularity of action has a soothing effect on the cow. It induces her to let down her milk readily and in increased quantities. Users tell us they notice a considerable increase in milk production after using the "Empire."

Write us and let us put you in touch with our nearest representative. Let him show you the "Empire." No doubt there are some in operation in your locality. Get our 1918 catalogue No. 20. Write now. Have your "Empire" at work during your busy season.
