

Meat Must Be Sold

Fresh meat is perishable. It must be sold within about two weeks for whatever it will bring.

A certain amount of beef is frozen for foreign shipment, but domestic markets demand fresh, chilled, unfrozen beef.

Swift & Company cannot increase prices by withholding meat, because it will not keep fresh and salable for more than a few days after it reaches the market.

Swift & Company cannot tell at the time of purchasing cattle, what price fresh meat will bring when put on sale. If between purchase and sale, market conditions change, the price of meat must also change.

The Food Administration limits our profit to 9 per cent on capital invested in the meat departments. This is about 2 cents per dollar of sales. No profit is guaranteed, and the risk of loss is not eliminated.

As a matter of fact, meat is often sold at a loss because of the need of selling it before it spoils.

M. C. A. and other organizations aiding soldiers because no use was made of it, was adopted yesterday by the Senate and sent to President Wil-

Good cooks consider MAZOLA better than Olive Oil or 'Frying Fats'

MANY a housewife hesitates to fry fish because of the smoke and odor, but with Mazola there is no such objection. Mazola can be used so hot without burning, that it "crisps over" the fish very quickly—brings it to the table golden brown and delicate, never heavy or greasy. Thousands of American women are using this pure, delicious oil of corn in preference to butter, lard, suet and "frying fats." For salads Mazola is as good as the best olive oil—and it costs much less. Mazola is a most delicate shortening—makes rich but digestible cakes and pastry. Saves time, prevents waste as Mazola is an oil and requires no melting. And Mazola saves animal fats.

SAUTED FLOUNDER

Put into a shallow frying pan enough Mazola to cover the bottom, and when hot stir in one-fourth teaspoon salt. Lay the flounder in bone side down and cook carefully until well browned; then turn over and brown in the same manner. Garnish with lemon and serve very hot.

In deep frying, use just enough Mazola to cover the food, and no more. It must be hot enough to form a crust quickly. Fry only a few pieces at a time.

Mazola is always uniform. For sale in pints, quarts and gallons. (The large sizes are the most economical to buy.) Get a can from your grocer today.

Ask your grocer for the valuable Cook Book especially prepared for Mazola users—or write us direct. FREE.

MORE STRICT SUGAR INQUIRY.

Those Wanting More Than 25 Pounds for Canning Must Prove It.

It has been found necessary to modify somewhat the regulations in regard to the securing by the public of sugar for canning purposes, according to a statement issued to-day at the office of the state food administrator, Frank H. Brooks. The modification does not deny the obtaining of sugar in necessary quantities for canning purposes, but it is intended to surround the transaction with a safeguard against hoarding. The person desiring sugar for canning may go to the grocer and may buy one lot of 25 pounds by simply making and filing with the merchant a sugar canning statement. If the purchaser needs more sugar for canning, another sugar canning statement must be filed out and the approval of the local food administrator must be secured, the following form being suggested by the food office here: "Sale approved, John Brown, Local Food Administrator."

The local administrators are instructed that before approval is given they should reasonably satisfy themselves that the sugar previously purchased has been used for canning and that it was not sufficient to meet the needs of the purchaser. Local administrators are informed that they have a right to inquire just what was done with the previous purchase, and in doubtful cases may ask to see the fruits, etc., which have been preserved.

The instructions to the local administrators conclude with this statement: "Always bear in mind that it is the policy of the United States food administration to preserve the harvest and to let people have all the sugar they will use for that purpose, but at the same time to prevent hoarding."

In a supplementary statement at the food office it was said that the grocers must carefully comply with this modification of the regulations and that they must under no circumstances make a second sale of sugar to the same family unless the certificate has been written across it the approval of the local administrator.

Dayton, O., July 9.—Charles E. Hughes, chairman of the federal committee investigating aircraft production, arrived here yesterday and following an investigation behind closed doors at the federal building it was reported that Attorney General Gregory would arrive to-day. No statement was issued.

COMPLICATED SITUATION

Has Arisen in Michigan, Primary Campaign Over Henry Ford.

Detroit, July 9.—Developments that find no precedent in the political history of the state have given Michigan's primary campaign this year an unusual interest which centers largely in the race for the senatorial nomination. The primary election will be held Aug. 27.

The Democrats in state conference precipitated a situation that promises to upset early calculations. The conference endorsed Henry Ford as Democratic candidate for the senatorial nomination, despite the fact that he had been regarded as a Republican possibility, and invited the Republicans to unite with them in supporting him. Then came Ford's announcement, after a conference with President Wilson, that he would accept the nomination if it were tendered him. He did not specify, however, whether he would make the race as a Republican or Democratic candidate, and the situation was further complicated.

The action of the Democratic state conference has been denounced by Michigan Republicans as an attempt to split their party. Chase S. Osborn, former governor and a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination, has declined flatly to accept the Democratic proposal that he, with two other Republican candidates, withdraw from the race, and has indicated his intention of making a vigorous campaign. Fred M. Warner, also a former governor, who had announced his candidacy, withdrew from the race, but coupled with his withdrawal a statement supporting Ford as the Republican, but not the Democratic candidate.

Truman H. Newberry, who served in Roosevelt's cabinet, is the other Republican mentioned for the nomination. Mr. Newberry has never made a direct avowal of his candidacy, but the Newberry campaign committee has announced its intention of making a vigorous campaign in his behalf.

Mr. Ford has had nothing to say since his statement that he would accept nomination if tendered him. It is understood he will make no campaign. Should his name go on both Republican and Democratic tickets at the primary, under the law, he must choose within five days after canvass of the ballots the ticket on which he will seek election.

Gov. Albert E. Sleeper, Republican, is a candidate for re-nomination. John W. Bailey of Battle Creek is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the governorship.

VERY STERN MEASURES

Being Used in Germany in Effort to Prevent Spread of Bolshevik Doctrine.

New York, July 9.—German courts martial evidently administer the law with a stern hand in the attempt to prevent the spread in Germany of bolshevik doctrines. Their application of the law was denounced in the Reichstag by the Socialist, Dr. Cohn, as a disgrace to German justice, according to the Cologne Gazette.

Citing instances to show how severe those sentences had been, Dr. Cohn said that a woman who stooped to pick up her hat, which had fallen on the ground near a trolley car, was sentenced to serve one and one-half years in a penitentiary on a charge of attempting to endanger transportation.

Dr. Cohn said he could enumerate dozens of similar cases.

BECOMING SOLDEIRS DESPITE THEMSELVES

Some Recruits from Southern States Were First Reluctant, But They Wouldn't Quit the Army Now.

Louisville, Ky., July 9.—Some of the men to come to the national army cantonments at Camp Zachary Taylor in the first quota of selected recruits came reluctantly. These same men as members of the 84th division, national army, recently transferred to Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., wouldn't quit the army if they could.

Illustrating this change in feeling, company commanders tell many stories, one of which concerns a mountain boy who profanely objected to his father's efforts to get him out of the army. The boy's father had written many letters to the captain, declaring the lad was not strong and might break down completely under strain of active service. To make sure of the boy's health the captain had sent him before the various medical boards. Their verdicts were that he was in good health.

Finally the youngster came to the captain and wanted to know if these frequent orders to appear before medical boards were caused by any dissatisfaction of the captain with him. Then he was shown his father's letters.

"Huh, pappy's crazy, captain," he said. "I ain't delicate. Look at me. He means well, but you just tell him to go to blazes. I'm going to France."

"And that boy didn't mean to be disrespectful to his dad," said the captain. "He wanted to go to France, and he meant simply to be emphatic about it." Another mountain boy, when he first arrived, while apparently in very good trim, was unable to finish even the shortest practice marches. Recently he came in under a seventy-five pound pack from a forced practice march of twenty-seven miles head up, smiling, the freshest man in the company.

The change had been achieved, it was explained, by army doctors who cured him of the hook worm, removed his tonsils and adenoids, and made other slight alterations.

The boy had been resentful over being forced into the army and showed little promise of becoming a fit soldier. To-day he is about the "smartest" man in the company, his captain says. After several months of service he was given a furlough home. On returning he frankly told his company commander that while he had been mighty glad to see the home folks, he was glad to get back to the army. He expressed the wish that the folks were living as well as he was.

Another boy who had been offered an agricultural furlough to help his father on the farm refused, because he was afraid the division might be ordered to France without him.

Equal Suffrage Convention.

A convention of the Vermont Equal Suffrage association is to be held at the Hotel Sherwood in Burlington July 10 and 11. This is the "most important" meeting in the history of the association, as the suffrage work before it, ratification of the federal amendment, is a part of the women's win-the-war program.

Resinol

surely did knock out that eczema

Three days ago, my arm was simply covered with red, itching eruption and I thought I was up against it for fair. But Joe had a jar of Resinol in his kit. I used a little and the itching stopped right off. In the morning most of the redness was gone and a few more applications finished it up.

Resinol is also a valuable healing dressing for chafes, cuts, and sore places generally. Sold by all druggists.

"Winning the War"

THE ONE important thing today is the winning of the war. It is the supreme task for America, and if every ounce of human energy in this country were directed toward that one end, as it is in Germany, the war would be won by America much sooner, and it would hasten the time when the boys come marching home.

The Chautauqua is bringing Chester H. Aldrich of Nebraska here on the second night for a great war address on the subject: "Winning the War." He has spent months in gathering material in Washington and elsewhere for this tour of the Chautauquas, and he is coming to help each individual to find his place in the big task of "making the world safe for Democracy."

He Has Re-Created the Sam Jones Lectures

DENTON CROWL began delivering the Sam Jones lectures before the death of the great evangelist, and with his special permission. He speaks with the same tone of voice, the same gesture, the same accent and thus re-creates the lectures of Sam Jones.

Those who have heard Sam Jones, say "It's just as Sam said it," or "It's just as Sam would have said it." Giving to the Sam Jones truths their new application, Mr. Crowl has won a place in the hearts of hundreds of thousands of Chautauquans second only to that in which Sam Jones himself was held.

He will deliver the greatest of all the Sam Jones lectures at the Chautauqua, third night, "A Medley of Philosophy, Facts and Fun."
