RHEUMATISM

Physician Believes a Genuine Remedy for the Disease Has Been Found

Rheuma, the wonderful rheumatism remedy sold by E. A. Drown & Co. and all druggists, gives quicker and more lasting relief than other remedies costing many times as much.

Rheuma passes the deadly poisonous secretions into the bowels and kidneys, from which they are quickly thrown off in a natural, healthy way.

Read what a reputable physician says about Rheuma: "I have made a most careful investigation of the formula employed in the manufacture of Rheuma, and I heartily recommend it as a remedy for all forms of rheumatism. I find Rheuma far in advance of the methods generally employed in the treatment of rheumatism, and altogether different in composition from the remedies usually prescribed."—Dr. M. C. Lyons.

This should give any sufferer from rheumatism confidence to try Rheuma.—Adv.

Arms Covered With Small Red Pimples Cuticura Healed

"A slight itching began on my arms at first, and it increased rapidly, being worse at night. My arms were simply covered with small red pimples which itched terribly. I could not sleep nights, and my clothing irritated the eruption, and caused it to become very painful. My arms got so bad I could hardly move them. Later the pimples scattered on my body, except my limbs.

"Finally I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I purchased two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment which healed me." (Signed) Mrs. H. M. Clark, 113 Seaside Ave., Guilford, Conn., August 6, 1917.

Why not use these fragrant, super-creamy emollients for every-day toilet and nursery purposes and prevent these distressing skin troubles.

Sample Each Free by Mail. Address post-card: "Cuticura, Dept. H, Boston." Sold everywhere. Soap 25c. Ointment 25c and 50c.

from those conditions of the blood and nerves in which the combination treatment, Hood's Sarsaparilla before eating and Peptonin after eating, gives so much satisfaction at so little cost as compared with other medicines or physicians' fees. These two great medicines are especially effective in cases of physical weakness, nervous irritability, run-down conditions in which there is iron deficiency. Ask your druggist for them.—Adv.

A NEWBURY CENTENARIAN.

Bancroft A. Bailey Once Saw Chicago a Village of 500.

The town of Newbury boasts of a centenarian. On Sunday the seventh of July, Bancroft Abbott Bailey passed the century mark. He was born in Bath, but went west with his parents when quite young and located finally near Chicago, when it was a village of less than 500 inhabitants. He has seen it increase from that to a city of 2,000,000 people, passing from the hardships of pioneer life to the luxury of modern city conveniences in that great metropolis. He has seen a two-horse team stuck with a barrel of flour and helped out with oxen where now the traffic of one of the principal business streets rushes on with ceaseless activity. He has looked out over the great Lake Michigan, and seen the canoe of the red man on its waters, has seen the steamboat launched on its waves, and watched the lake traffic grow to its present proportion. He has lived in fear of the Indian there, and seen the cosmopolitan population that has followed in his tracks. When the news came to the small village of Chicago that the telegraph was a success, he remarked to a fellow workman that perhaps the system would reach them some day, and the reply was "Oh, no! It will only run between the large villages."

Coming on the occasion to the then small village, which lived on the prairie, he invested 25 cents in the first bunch of matches he had ever seen, and on the way home saved himself from being burned to death in a prairie fire by lighting the grass around a gopher mound on which he entrenched himself. He left old New England in an ox cart and returned in a Pullman palace car. He has reared and educated a family of eleven children, those who reached maturity being college bred. Five sons became ministers, of whom three are living, one a pastor in Nebraska, one in Seattle, Wash., and another in Brooklyn, N. Y.

His wife died after 60 years of happy married life and he came east to live with a son who was then stationed in New England. He longed to see the place where he was born, and the old Abbott homestead at South Newbury, where he had a distinct recollection of going for Thanksgiving, and waiting with the impatience of a hungry boy through what seemed an interminably long blessing invoked by the grandfather of the family. Here he met the widow of Professor G. N. Abbott, and married her at the age of 87.

He has spent his declining years at South Newbury in peaceful seclusion, reading and carrying on a large correspondence for which he learned to use the typewriter in his old age. Life has not been retrospective altogether with him for he has kept in touch with modern life and reform movements. His hearing is impaired, but his eyesight is remarkably well preserved and for a man much younger he would be said to possess remarkable vigor. Owing to the illness of his wife there was no celebration of his birthday Sunday.

FOUND BURIED IN HAY.

Samuel Norris Couldn't Account for His Disappearance.

St. Johnsbury, July 11.—The search for Samuel Norris, the East St. Johnsbury farmer missing since June 22, ended July 9, when the man was found in an exhausted condition in the haymow of William Irwin on the Knapp farm. He had dug a hole five feet deep in the hay under the eaves and was at first thought to be dead when the rescuers found him under a pile of horse blankets. He was weak and in a dazed condition, didn't know why he was there, nor how long he had been there, didn't remember having had any food, but was under the impression that he had hidden in the barn to escape from people, who were chasing him. The man was taken to the home of Mr. Irwin and a physician was called, as his condition was considered serious. Later he was removed to his boarding place.

For three days men had followed the river bank and searched the woods and fields and were preparing to push their search to the river, fearing that the man had ended his life. A man was seen around the Irwin farm Monday night and food had been taken from the pantry, so the hunt was renewed at the farm Tuesday. Mr. Irwin, Harold Orcutt and Edward Parker, finding the man burrowed in the hay.

Mr. Norris was last seen the morning of June 22. He ate his breakfast at Mrs. Henry Lyon's in East St. Johnsbury, where he boarded and started to walk toward the McGinnis farm, which he had just sold. He was last seen sitting on a rock, in a field with his head bowed in his hands. The man came to East St. Johnsbury three years ago from Charleston and engaged in farming. He had just exchanged two farms he owned, the McGinnis and Knapp places, for the house on Cross street and the Bay street laundry building, owned by Dr. T. R. Stiles, and seemed to be depressed over the loss of the farms. He is forty years old, unmarried and considered queer by his neighbors. His mother lives in Charleston.

Three cows belonging to E. A. Rhoads of Richmond, were killed by lightning last week.

CONSTANT PAIN AFTER EATING

The Tortures of Dyspepsia Corrected by "Fruit-a-lives"

St. Martin's

"For two years, I suffered tortures from Severe Dyspepsia. I had constant pains after eating; pains down the sides and back; and horrible bitter stuff often came up in my mouth. I tried doctors, but they did not help me. But as soon as I started taking 'Fruit-a-lives' (or Fruit Liver Tablets) I began to improve and this medicine, made of fruit juices, relieved me when everything else failed."

CABOT

Grand Celebration in Cabot on Fourth of July.

One of the largest gatherings seen for several years in Cabot was on Thursday, July 4, when from all nearby towns and some from far away came in autos, carriages, horseback and on foot to pay just tribute and homage to our nation's birthday. Although somewhat different in spirit than in former years, when all countries were at peace and families were all united at home, the Fourth of July was considered a holiday and a jolly day. This year many families were broken up by the terrible war, which all had hoped and prayed would be at an end, and the boys be home to help celebrate the one day of all the year, July 4.

At 10:30 a. m. a street parade was formed, headed by Marshfield band, which marched up Main street, reaching nearly half its length, and encircled the park, the different societies being aptly represented. Following the band were carriages and autos, appropriately decorated, the G. A. R., Red Cross, prize calf, Huns, Studebaker auto, farmerette wagon, carrying the pig which was donated by two parties, horseback riders, campfire girls, hayseeds, a steer drawing a young couple, a pony and young couple, and many other oddities.

At noon the I. O. G. T. served a bountiful dinner, donated by the townspeople, in their hall, to over 300 people, the tables and hall being tastefully decorated with ferns and daisies. At 2 p. m. a few field sports were carried out, a tug of war, potato race, etc. At 2:30 the crowd mostly gathered in front of the schoolhouse to listen to a message by President Wilson read by W. Walker, after which ex-Mayor Burt of Burlington gave a very earnest and patriotic talk, which was highly appreciated by all and was loudly applauded many times. He referred very feelingly to the fathers and mothers whose boys were far away over the wide ocean, not knowing whether they were facing the cannon balls and bullets or down in the trenches, and how they would many times ask themselves, "Where is our boy to-day? When will he come home?" little children, too, questioning "When will papa come?" He also paid honorable tribute of respect to the Red Cross by saying it was one of the greatest organizations of the world, closing his remarks with a fine poem.

Following was the sale of the registered Holstein calf donated by Angus Smith to the Red Cross. Mason Chester secured the calf, but he announced that it would be sold at auction to the highest bidder, who was Mr. Dunn, who bid $72. Mr. Riampy of Danville won the pig, which brought $20.15. The net proceeds of the day were $424.98, which was presented to the Red Cross and of which the following is a list: Dinner, $70; calf, $182; Red Cross tags, $46.80; ice cream, $39.25; pig, $20.15; mystery tent, $13.88; wild west tent, $3; baseball tent, $2.35; flowers sold, $1.44; baseball game, $6.58; popcorn, $16.48; moving picture show, $47.40; total, $448.33; expense of band and speaker, $24.25; net profit, $424.08.

Save Fuel Wisely

Saving fuel is working hand in hand with the Government these days. And one way to save wisely and well is to use SO-CO-NY—the quality gasoline. It means minimum consumption and maximum power.

Inferior, low-grade mixtures mean waste in the form of increased consumption, lost power and excessive carbon deposits.

There's power in every drop of SO-CO-NY. It's clean, quick starting; reliable; obtainable everywhere.

Look for the Red, White and Blue SO-CO-NY Sign. It's the wise way to save fuel.
