The young man was but 18 years old.

Electrical showers during the night bombarded the lines of the M. & B. L. & P. Co. with such ferocity that a number of service wires were out of commission to-day, and as a result many granite manufacturing plants, especially in the north end, were compelled to suspend operations. More than the usual amount of trouble has been caused by thunder showers this summer, and while the line-men of the company were abroad early making repairs, some of the plants undoubtedly will not resume operations until Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Walker of Webster street have received a letter from their son, Sgt. John A. Walker, who is a truck driver in the U. S. quartermaster's corps, telling of a 300-mile drive from the base where he is located to Paris. He arrived in Paris July 14 and much of the letter consists of a graphic description of the celebration of Bastille day. American soldiers furloughing in Paris were objects of special attention, and while the celebration continued anything in the city was theirs.

Sgt. Walker has been on active service for some months and assures his parents that the exciting life of a truck driver near the front is much to his liking.

More book donations must follow if the Aldrich public library is to turn in its full quota of reading matter destined for the soldiers and sailors. The response thus far has been encouraging, but the required number of books is yet to be reached, and in renewing their appeal for prompt donation, the librarian and her assistant emphasize the fact that the 600,000 books which the American Library association sent overseas some months ago are greatly appreciated by our boys and the call now is for more.

The supply at the headquarters of the association is nearly exhausted, although the demand for live literature is always increasing. Books may be exchanged at the local library every afternoon and evening.

A police hunt for contraband wood in the north end yesterday solved several granite manufacturers lately. Chief Sinclair, acting on information furnished him by granite men who have lately lost considerable stores of wood, found in one house alone nearly a hundred hard-wood stakes, commonly used in shipping finished granite. They were tucked away in the closet and the occupants of the house, by denying all knowledge of how they came to be there, left the police to speculate over the theory that they may have been snouted from the interior woodwork of the little enclosure. Grand Juror William Wishart is working on another theory.

IN HARD SECTOR.

Florida Cerasoli Writes His Company Was Shelled—Six Horses Killed.

Mrs. Pauline Cerasoli of Berlin street has received an interesting letter from her son, Sgt. F. R. Cerasoli, in France, written July 13. In it he speaks of several Barre boys. In referring to cards received on his birthday, he remarked, "I'll never forget where I passed my 20th birthday."

He then went on to say, "You tell Mrs. Cook and the other women that the money they got was an allotment that their sons are giving them. I saw their sons going in the trenches and they were well the last I saw of them. They probably will write and tell their mothers about the money they got."

"The Carroll boy was operated on at the hospital for appendicitis. He is getting along finely now."

"So they have stopped the state pay. I am not going to allot any money to you, but I'll send you some ever so often. I have $175 saved in the government bank. I can't get the money till I come out of service. If anything happens to me, you get the money. So you see I am not getting all my money."

"We have been on another sector, but we have just changed sectors. We are on a hard sector this time. At the last sector we were on wet got shelled out of the town. The shells struck right in sector we were on we got shelled out of the town. We lost six horses and one of our men got wounded, but that is nothing, mother. That's fun when they shell. Don't worry a bit. Everything is great with me. Give my regards to everybody."

Safety First.

An Irish peasant had taken his wife for the day to Dublin. In one of the shop windows the wife saw some rubber gloves for sale. "Pat," she said, "what would be the use of them things, at all, at all?"

"Whist, ya blockhead!" replied her husband. "Don't let anyone hear ye ask that. Don't ye know them is for washing your hands without wetting the skin."—Boston Transcript.

Black Cat Hosiery made for all members of the family, in all sizes and weight, at prices, quality compared, 20 per cent better than other makes.

Munsing Underwear. Our next winter's Winter Underwear was ordered last January and has been in our store for several months. There will be a big shortage of all kinds of Underwear. When we have 5,000,000 men at the front, you can very quickly see a shortage in all kinds of goods. There is no question as to a higher price. Those with lots of money don't mind the price. They are buying now so as to be sure of having Winter Underwear when wanted. Many styles will be cut out of the line later. Larger prices, smaller assortments. Red Cross Distributions for a Month. "Paris to-day is merely a way station where the Red Cross furnishes medical care, food, clothing, shelter and transportation. In 72 departments of the interior, the Red Cross is supplying relief to refugees, including more or less permanent installation of families in new homes. All organizations, including government agencies, are co-operating in this work, the Red Cross supplying the greater part of the food and clothing needed, and at many points taking command of the situation. An idea of the amount of merchandise thus distributed can be gained from a message from Major Perkins recently received. For one month, it included 156,000 articles of clothing, 20,000 pairs of shoes, 18,000 pieces of furniture, 13,000 kitchen utensils, 50,000 pieces of bedding, 15,000 kilos of condensed milk, and great quantities of other foodstuffs. Some 83,000 people were thus directly reached."—From the September Red Cross Magazine.
