Robert Imah was arrested this forenoon by Deputy Chief Harry Gamble on a complaint made to Grand Juror William Wisbart. It is alleged that he furnished liquor illegally and he will be arraigned before Magistrate H. W. Scott in municipal court later in the afternoon. The respondent is a resident of the A. Connaal block, and his arrest, it is said, had followed a disclosure made by a man whom the police arrested yesterday.

Funeral services for Perlin Lane, the one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Lane of Barre street, whose death Friday followed a brief illness of acute indigestion, were held at the house Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. B. G. Lipsky, pastor of the Hedding Methodist church, officiating. A number of neighbors and other friends gathered at the house and there were several fine floral tributes. Interment was made in Hope cemetery.

Relief for travelers of Washington street is in sight. Those who have endured for a season and longer the hazardous and inclement of the steepest pieces of hill highway in any Vermont village or city will be interested to learn that the street department, having fairly completed improvements to the main highway at the north end, is spending the remainder of the state road money on improving the main trunk road leading toward the east. Nothing in the way of a permanent highway is being attempted, although so far as the finances will permit, the department plans to construct a road of crushed stone and gravel that will meet present needs.

City schools, including both Spaulding high school and the graded schools, resume their sessions to-morrow after the summer vacation. Some difficulty has been experienced in obtaining teachers, but the school year is to open with no vacancies. Civil service examinations, which teachers passed after signifying a desire to remain in Barre for another school year, promised early in the summer to cause some delay in the matter of filling the complement, but the difficulties have been overcome and a successful year's work is in prospect. There will be a teachers' meeting soon after the schools convene, at which time the superintendent and the new principal, Lyman A. Hunt, who comes to Barre from People's academy, Morrisville, to succeed H. H. Jackson, will address the teachers. To-day most of the teachers were arriving in town, along with a considerable number of tuition pupils.

MONTPELIER

Valentino Colombo, who has lived on Sibley avenue for some years, died Sunday afternoon following a long illness, at the age of 33 years. He was a native of Italy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Colombo, and came to this country many years ago. He was born Nov. 9, 1884. He is survived by his wife and two children beside a brother, Francis, of Montpelier. The funeral will take place from his late home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Burial will be in Green Mount cemetery.

Miss Ruth McPhee has completed her services in the telephone office and has gone to Virginia.

Elmer Johnson and Col. C. S. Forbes went this afternoon to St. Albans to vote Tuesday. He came into the fight late and has been conducting a quiet campaign so that he will make it interesting for his opponent, to say the least.

J. W. Bates and Burton Ward of Moretown were in the city to-day on business. Mr. Bates said reports from his friends looked encouraging relative to his nomination for senator.

There was a marked reduction in the number of automobiles that passed through Montpelier Sunday, the request of the fuel administration having been very generally complied with. Some of the physicians who own teams made use of them instead of their automobiles, showing that they wanted to do their part towards the conservation of gasoline. As far as could be learned no count of the number of machines passing through Montpelier was kept, but it was noted by the police that the number was less than a week ago. There were hardly any tourist machines passing through the city.

Candidates and Labor Matters.

Editor Barre Daily Times: I have been requested by many labor officials to state the attitude of Frank E. Howe, candidate for governor, on labor questions. His record on behalf of the workmen and women of our state is first class. He has always stood fairly and frankly for women and minors. As chairman of the workmen's compensation commission, he had more to do with this bill than all put together. No workman can doubt but that this law is the best labor measure ever passed in our state. Trustee process law, leaving $10 of a workman's wages exempt, reducing the hours of labor to women and minors. All this in one year while he was lieutenant governor, marks his interest on behalf of labor. He is an able legislator for every thing that goes to make Vermont a brighter and better state and that should make every workman rally to his support at the primaries to-morrow.

Other friends of labor: Ex-Representative Hill of Waterbury Center is another friend of labor. He has stood true on behalf of workmen's compensation and was the father of the creamery bill. He seeks the nomination of county senator. Representative Frank Howland needs no recommendation from anybody. He is candidate for county senator and should have no opposition from anybody.

Wardens: S. Newcombe of Waterbury is one of the young live wires and aspires to the high office of representative of Waterbury. He has placed his support for anything that is reasonable and just and that should be enough to insure his election. Virgil Ayers, a life resident of Barre, aspires to the office of representative. His services in the past two years on behalf of war work in all directions, and his previous record as an intelligent employer of labor warrants his election to represent our city.

Alexander Ironside, Secretary Vermont State Branch, Legislative Committee.

SEEK SLACKERS ON WALL STREET.

Soldiers Compel Young Men to Show Credentials.

New York, Sept. 6.—The hunt for draft slackers slowed down yesterday. Three thousand men rounded up during the night were examined at armories, but the number brought in during the forenoon did not reach the proportions of those captured during the same period the previous two days.

A feature of the hunt yesterday was an invasion of the Wall street district by soldiers, who formed a cordon across Broad street at Exchange place, and another at Beaver and Broad streets, and held up all young men who attempted to pass with a demand for their credentials.

The New York Curb market, where several hundred young men dealt in stock, was within the enclosure.

The total of men examined during the round-up is estimated at about 60,000 in the metropolitan district, but the exact number of those proved to be delinquents was not available yesterday.

About 400 were sent yesterday to army camps, making the total over 3,000.

Mr. DeWoody, under whose direction the drive has been conducted, asserted that in New Jersey 700 men have been turned over to the military authorities, that in Brooklyn more than 600 have been found to be delinquents and that the total for Manhattan and the Bronx will run to about 1,500. Mr. DeWoody stated he felt sure that at least 1,000 men "under moral suasion" had gone to their local boards and given themselves up. The decrease in the number of arrests was attributed to the fact that registrants made sure that they had their cards with them.

At the headquarters of Adjutant General Sherrill there was a rush of young men who had lost their registration cards and desired duplicates. More than 4,000 were issued.

Brazil Wants American Clothes.

"Opportunities for a greater sale of American manufactured goods in Argentina and Brazil were never so bright as at the present time," stated Ansel B. Clark, manager of the local office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, in an interview to-day.

"Especially in Brazil is there a growing demand for wearing apparel and textiles," continued Mr. Clark. "Imports of such commodities increased 336 per cent between 1913 and 1916. This increase might have been even larger in volume had American manufacturers studied the Brazilian market more closely, with a view to replacing goods that could not be obtained from Europe.

"Brazil offers a promising field for the sale of medium and high grade wearing apparel and American manufacturers still have an excellent opportunity to make and maintain good connections, which will be of the greatest possible advantage when the war is over and the old competition is resumed.

"The sales of imported wearing apparel in that country are confined chiefly to the larger coast cities, as the people of the interior supply their needs in the matter of clothing from the products of domestic industries. As in most other South American countries the people desire to dress as well as possible and are willing to pay good prices. They buy the best they can afford.

"A special report, entitled, 'Wearing Apparel in Brazil,' has just been published by the bureau," stated Mr. Clark, "and may be obtained at the local office."

German View of Christianity.

Friedrich Wilhelm Nietzsche was one of the most noted of modern German philosophers. How much has his philosophy affected the views and character of the Germans of to-day? Is not the answer written in the blood of the women and children, the old men of occupied France and Belgium? Are not the Lusitania victims witnesses to German adoption of Nietzsche's faith?

Here is his indictment of Christianity: "With this I conclude, and pronounce my sentence: I condemn Christianity. To me it is the greatest of all imaginable corruptions. The church is the great parasite; with its anemic idea of holiness it drains life of all its strength, its love and its hope. The other world is the motive for the denial of every reality. I call Christianity the one great curse, the one great intrinsic depravity, the one great instinct of revenge, for which no expedient is sufficiently poisonous, secret, underhand, to gain its ends. I call it the one immortal shame and blenheim upon the human race."
