MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers—Meat Forms Uric Acid.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble. The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system. When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps in the back or you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning, and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful, effervescent, lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.

TWICE WOUNDED.

Gordon Roberts Has Been Wounded Twice.

Gordon Roberts, mentioned Thursday in the casualty list as slightly wounded, is a son of Mrs. Marion G. Roberts of Fair Haven. He enlisted in Co. A, 1st Vermont regiment, at Fort Ethan Allen in July, 1917, and was later transferred to the 162d machine gun battalion. He has been twice wounded.

TO BOOST VERMONT CAMPAIGN.

Food Conservation Committees Urged to Participate.

County representatives of the federal food administration and the county chairmen of the women's conservation committees have received from Frank H. Brooks, federal food administrator for Vermont, a letter urging them to cooperate in every way possible with the Vermont united war work campaign on Nov. 11-18. In addition Mr. Brooks has notified the state committee of the campaign that he is willing to transfer the payment of the fine imposed in connection with the violation of the food regulations from the Red Cross to the united war work campaign for the period of the drive and for a few months following.

While Mr. Brooks makes haste to assure the committee that Vermont's record in the matter of obeying the food regulations has been exceptionally fine and that the penalties imposed, in consequence, will be relatively small, his offer has the effect of temporarily transferring from the Red Cross a source of revenue that should not be overlooked. Hereafter and until further notice the fines will go to the seven constituent organizations of the campaign, the Salvation Army, the Y. M. C. A., the Jewish Welfare Board, the National Catholic War Council, the Y. W. C. A., the War Camp Community Service and the American Library Association.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Try This! Brush Sage Tea and Sulphur Compound Through Your Hair, Taking One Strand at a Time.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

WITH HIS SEVEN WIVES.

Chinese General Demanded Accommodations on Siberian Railway.

Vladivostok, Nov. 7 (correspondence of the Associated Press).—A Chinese general with his seven wives and a small bodyguard walked into the station at Harbin a few days since as the Vladivostok train was about to start and demanded accommodations for himself and party.

The Chinese Eastern, although a joint Russian-Chinese property, is operated by the Russians in conjunction with the Siberian railway.

The Russian station-master consulted his watch, shrugged, and said, "Nilza," which is the Russian equivalent for "it can't be done." He explained that the train was full and it was leaving time.

Without further parley the general dispatched members of his bodyguard to hold the train. One man clambered into the locomotive and covered the engine with a revolver. Others mounted guard on the car platforms.

Then the general ordered the station-master to procure a car "qui-qui," which is Chinese for "instantly without any back talk," on pain of very serious consequences to himself.

Twenty minutes later the train pulled out with the Chinese general and his seven wives aboard in a spacious private car.

PART OF ZARA HELD BY ALLIES

Italian Warships Entered Harbor and Raised the Italian Flag

ZARA IS CAPITAL OF DALMATIA

Lussinpicolo Was Also Occupied by the Italians

Rome, Nov. 8.—Trist dispatches announce that Italian warships have entered the port of Zara. The Italian flag was raised by Captain Deboecard, who had been appointed military governor. The monuments of Francis Joseph and Baron Tegethoff, former commander-in-chief of the Austrian navy, were overthrown by the crowd. The occupation of Lussinpicolo by Italians also is announced.

Zara is a seaport in Austria-Hungary and is the capital of Dalmatia. It is situated on a promontory on the eastern coast of the Adriatic, 170 miles southeast of Venice. Lussinpicolo is a town on an island belonging to the crown land of Istria. It is the principal seaport of the Quarnero islands, between Istria and the Croatian coast.

STILL NEED CONSERVATION.

Allied Military Successes Make No Difference.

Allied military success in Europe and the resulting changed international situation will of necessity be reflected in the food conservation program in this country, Federal Food Administrator Brooks declared to-day, but, he added, while there will be changes in the details of the program, the need for conservation will not only remain as urgent as before but about some lines will be still more so.

Alteration in the flow of world's food will result from the freeing of the Mediterranean from the submarine menace, and there will be released large supplies of certain foodstuffs from the southern hemisphere and Indian, Mr. Brooks said, in making public the following telegram received by him this morning from Federal Administrator Hoover in Washington:

"International food council in London is discussing possibilities of diminishing percentage of substitutes used in wheat bread by Jan. 1 in all allied countries, in view of the new situation. Austrian armistice must result in greater safety of the Mediterranean sea routes, and increased accessibility of the Indian and Australian wheat supplies even if Germany does not quit the war. This could make sufficient wheat from those countries available during the winter to reduce the amount of the substitutes now used in the bread of all allied countries, and also allow substitutes now being imported to allies being used for dairy foods, of which there is great shortage. The same situation in mixed feeds exists in the United States and would also be indirectly relieved by relaxing the use of substitutes now used with wheat flour. The later war situation thus enables us to secure better adjustments between human and animal foods. The change in the war situation, however, does not alter the details of the food demands upon the United States. It will increase our load and therefore there will be greatly increased demands for economy in the use of all foods. We must participate in preservation of the newly liberated peoples in Austria from starvation. It is anticipated that while some wheats may be needed from the United States, the larger part of exports to that quarter will be corn, rye, barley and oats. Austria merchant shipping must be placed in service before exports can be spared to them."

DANGEROUS SIGNS IN JAPAN.

Food Riots Tell of a Widening Social Cleavage.

Tokio, Nov. 7 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The recent food riots in Japan are dangerous symptoms of a widening social cleavage, in the opinion of Toshio Fujiwara, a leading business man of Tokio and an authority on social questions. He contrasts the conditions under which the working class of Japan live with the enormous profits of great enterprises, and sees in the ostentation of the country's war millionaires a social irritant which is causing the theories of western agitators to work on the minds of the Japanese wage earners.

Mr. Fujiwara thinks that Japanese skilled workmen have already acquired the ideas of the working people of western countries. He adds: "These ideas, unfortunately mostly in a wrong sense, are steadily working under the minds of our working people, especially those in big cities like Tokio, Osaka, etc." He continues:

"Leaders of the nation are therefore strongly urged to adopt some measures for relief of the general discontent so that disaster may be avoided. Should this general discontent of the working class be left without remedy, we may have more serious outbursts and these may bring about a catastrophe to the empire."

Mr. Fujiwara urges that Japanese statesmen learn a lesson from American and British statesmen in the handling of national problems, especially food problems. Improvement of the living conditions of the working classes in Japan, he believed to be urgently imperative, and this reform should be inaugurated in the big cities of Tokio and Osaka.

NEWBERRY WINS ELECTION.

Lead Over Henry Ford of Approximately 8,500.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8.—On the face of virtually complete unofficial returns last night, Lieutenant Commander Truman H. Newberry, Republican, has been elected to the Senate over Henry Ford, Democrat, by a majority of approximately 8,500. With 50 rural precincts yet to report, the vote stood: Newberry 213,965, Ford 205,594. This is a lead for the naval commander of 8,401. The missing precincts are not expected to materially change the result.

MILLION POUNDS OF BREAD.

Are Being Turned Out Every Day For American Army in France.

American Advance Zone, France, Nov. 8.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Two thousand soldier-bakers turning out a million pounds of bread a day—this is the vast and animated work one sees here at the American army field bakery, which supplies the staff of life to the American army in the entire area of the advance zone. It is a bakery of tents, unlike the ordinary bakery within brick walls and with whirling machinery, but a field bakery right out in the open air and open fields, half a military encampment and half an industrial city, and like all army camps capable of being picked up and transported to another point in a few hours.

A city of tents marks the site of this huge camp bakery, along the country roadside about a mile outside of the large cities of the advance zone—nameless as are all places in the zone of advance. The camp stretches over many acres, lately ploughed ground of a big farm, but now humming with activity of a huge productive enterprise. Above the tents one sees countless smoke-stacks of the bake-ovens, belching black smoke, and in the open air hundreds of soldiers, stripped to the waist, bending over the huge masses of dough, and hundreds more manipulating the loaves in the huge battery of ovens.

The daily bread train was about to start for the front as we arrived. Although the camp is in the fields, yet spurs of railway have been run alongside, and each day this huge train goes forward so that every American division and every camp along the whole front gets its supply with unfailing regularity. The train was nearly half a mile long, with some 50 box cars loaded solid from floor to roof, 20,000 pounds to the ton, or a million pounds of bread to the train.

Nearly, another train was discharging huge stacks of flour straight from American wheat fields and milling centers of the west and northwest. It comes in 98- and 140-pound sacks, of the best standard grades for nothing is too good for the food of the fighting men. Of late, however, said the escort, some of this flour from far western points has not been up to the highest standard, indicating that the rush of an enormous shipment had led to a falling off in quantity.

The soldiers laboring among the flour sacks have now begun to look themselves like flour-sacks, for they have adopted a strange uniform in which the empty flour-sacks take the place of sleeveless shirts. The sacks are slit at the side for the arm holes. They are of rough white bagging, much cooler the men say than the army shirt. Each sack has flaming red and blue letters of its brand, and so they work resplendent with the whole range of American flour brands in their flour-sack shirts.

"The advance of Pershing's army from the 28th day of September to the first of November show, difficult, in the face of tremendous opposition and against the strongest kind of positions, and its consequent very much more rapid advance, including the taking of Sedan, if that place actually has fallen, is as fine a military achievement in a limited area as has taken place in the war at any time."

"GREAT MILITARY ACHIEVEMENT"

Secretary of War Baker So Declares of Capture of Sedan.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The taking of Sedan by American troops "is a great military achievement," Secretary Baker said yesterday when informed that detachments of Lieutenant General Liggett's first army had entered the historic French city. "The news of the taking of Sedan is very good news," said Mr. Baker. "It is a great military achievement. At our last report the Americans were at a distance, I believe, of five or six miles from Sedan, in the most difficult country along the western front, except the flooded territory in Flanders. "The advance of Pershing's army from the 28th day of September to the first of November show, difficult, in the face of tremendous opposition and against the strongest kind of positions, and its consequent very much more rapid advance, including the taking of Sedan, if that place actually has fallen, is as fine a military achievement in a limited area as has taken place in the war at any time."
