

ABOUT THE STATE

Happenings of Interest from Different Sections.

Nine cases of diphtheria are under quarantine in St. Albans.

Eleven in the family of William Gordon of Milton are ill with the influenza.

When a rug slipped on a varnished floor, Miss Katherine Wolcott of Wallingford fell and broke her right ankle.

Elder George Pomfrey, pastor of the Newport Baptist church for seven years, has resigned and gone to the Baptist church in Richmond.

Influenza has almost reached the proportions of an epidemic in Greensboro and public gatherings have been given up to a large extent.

Edward Martin's right foot was broken at the instep as he was sawing wood in Jericho last week, using a gasoline engine for power. He has his foot in the balance when it started up suddenly and caught him.

E. W. Varney's automobile hearse, which was returning to Bristol from a funeral at Lincoln, slid down a 15-foot embankment last week and into the New Haven river. Three men were in the car, including Rev. E. W. Gould, the officiating clergyman, all of whom were uninjured.

Schools in Brattleboro will not open this week, as was expected, on account of the prevalence of influenza. There are over 300 cases in town. The health board has made no restrictions in regard to public gatherings, the school board taking action independently of the health officials.

Mrs. Nelson Cadaret is in a serious condition at her home in Richmond, following an accident which happened last week, when she and her husband were thrown from a wagon, the horse being frightened when a rein broke. Mrs. Cadaret's injuries were about the head and she was unconscious for a long time.

Clement Audette, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Audette of Winoski, died Dec. 26 of burns received Christmas day. The boy fell into a tub of boiling water, which his mother had placed on the kitchen floor while she turned to get some soap powder, with which to do the family washing. There are 10 other children in the home.

About three weeks ago a Winoski machine shop proprietor shipped a casting to the ancient city of Vergennes, where it was much needed at the pump-house of the water department. After a week's delay it was traced to a backwoods town in New Jersey, 20 miles off the railroad, where the casting was taken for a health-ful idol. It was released and is expected in Vergennes soon after Jan. 1.

Charles F. Simonds of Saxtons River, a retired merchant, died very suddenly on Friday. He visited the downtown stores and dropped dead soon after returning home. He leaves a wife and eight sons, two in the army in France, one at Camp Devens, and five living at Saxtons River. He ran a general store at Saxtons River for many years, retiring 10 years ago. He was cemetery commissioner, school janitor, and town historian.

Lieut. John P. Kerrigan of West Rutland, who received wounds in the battle of Ypres, which caused him to lose one foot, has arrived in the United States and is at a hospital in New York City for treatment. Lieut. Kerrigan was entertained a number of times in England at the castles of the Countess of Limerick and Lady Sternfield, who took much interest in the wounded officers at the base hospital in Dartford, England.

Several million feet more lumber arrived in Burlington in 1918 by boat than in any like period for 30 years. The total number of boats was 171 and in the year previous it was only 135. Previous to 1917 the boats unloading lumber at that city numbered about 100 yearly. The amount of lumber received at Burlington by water this year was about 20,000,000 feet. Most of it was spruce. One reason for the big traffic by water was the embargo and the difficulty in getting freight cars.

Miss Ethel Patterson, formerly of Rutland and a pupil in the schools there, has recently been awarded $380 in scholarships at the Collegiate institute in Niagara Falls, Can. First award was for $100, the value of the Carter scholarship, and given by the government of Ontario; the second was the Edward Backus scholarship of $120, and the third was a scholarship in the amount of $160. She took seventh place in the whole province for general proficiency.

IS AN OLD OFFENDER. Jack Bradley is Now Being Linked Up with Vermont Robberies.

St. Albans, Dec. 30.—Thirty-four years in Canadian penitentiaries and a term in the state prison at Windsor is the record of "Jack" Bradley, who Saturday was turned over to Deputy Sheriff George P. Catlin of this city at the Sweetburg, Que., jail to answer to charges against him in the states.

According to report, Bradley is said to have confessed to High Constable Boisvert of Sweetburg that he has made five or six breaks this side of the international boundary since he was released from the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary at Montreal Oct. 8 last. The local authorities, however, say he has made no confession to them and that he expects to secure counsel and fight the charges against him. He will probably have a preliminary hearing in the city court within a few days.

Among the breaks made in this section which suspicion points to Bradley as having connection with are the store of D. W. Paul, and the postoffice connecting at East Berkshire; W. S. Jolley's store at Berkshire Center; a North Troy store; the store of W. E. Lantman, and the postoffice at East Highgate, and J. M. Hill's store at More Line. There was a store burglary at Rouses Point, N. Y., but the local officers know little about that. At Highgate Springs a mail bag thrown from a train to the station platform was stolen and later found beside the track by section men. Between $40 and $50 was missing from the bag.

Bradley was arrested Dec. 13, the day following the Morse Line break, riding on a freight train in Canada, and on his person were found some goods which were missing from the Hill store. The officers have been on his trail ever since the East Highgate burglary the night of Oct. 31, when they followed him in Canada two or three days but were unable to apprehend him. He is about 60 years old.

KEEP YOUR PLEDGE! Mrs. Nelson Cadaret is in a serious condition at her home in Richmond, following an accident which happened last week, when she and her husband were thrown from a wagon, the horse being frightened when a rein broke. Mrs. Cadaret's injuries were about the head and she was unconscious for a long time.

ORIGIN OF THE AIREDALE. Game Terrier, with Almost Unrivaled Fighting Powers, Valuable as Watch Dog.

The Airedale is a peculiar dog, and his origin is not easy to trace. In all probabilities he is the result of crosses between the old rough Scotch terrier, the bull terrier and the otter hound. Certain characteristics of the latter breed are very prominent in the Airedale of today. About forty years ago the colliers of the valley of the Aire enjoyed almost a monopoly of these dogs, which were highly prized for their fighting qualities, general ruggedness, keen intelligence and loyalty to their owners. The colliers were a rough, hardy set, ready for anything, and their favorite dogs were bright disciples of the school of hard knocks.

Those accustomed to associate the name terrier with a small dog are apt to be somewhat puzzled by the appearance of this late addition to the recognized breeds. He, as a rule, is what may be termed a "big little dog," choice specimens sometimes weighing as much as sixty pounds, which means a dog as large as a heavy pointer. The appearance of the Airedale at once reminds one of the Irish and Welsh terriers, in fact, the dog at first glance looks a very large and somewhat coarse Irish terrier. A closer examination, however, will prove that he has no useless lumber, that he is all dog, and a very smart type of dog at that. To the otter hound he owes much of his bone, strength and his peculiar head. The mark of the hound, too, is apt to show in the ear and the narrowness of the skull. Careful breeding has about eliminated these undesirable features, and the V-shaped ear, larger, but of the same general type as that of the fox terrier, has become a fixed characteristic.

The size and all the valuable qualities of the Airedale make him one of the best of dogs for the country, as they unfit him for life in a city. Being very powerful he requires plenty of exercise. He should have his freedom, for a couple of jaunts daily upon a chain are by no means sufficient for him, or for any other active dog. As companion during tramps about the country, or with the run of a large suburban place, or upon a farm, this dog is one of the most desirable of all the canine race.

He is game to the last gasp, as becomes one of his blended blood. From the Scotch and bull terriers he derives his keenness for vermin and his almost unrivaled fighting powers, while from the otter hound he derives a marked hunting instinct and a readiness to work cheerfully in water, no matter how cold it may be. In his knowing look head is a rare good set of brain, and his nose is excellent. No dog is fonder of a rough frolic, and none is keener to tackle any wild creature, from the rat to raccoon. But strong and ready as he is, he is blessed with a sweet disposition and a spaniel-like faithfulness. He will fight till he dies, for he does not understand what fear is, yet he is no bully. A generous friend and a fair foe, he asks no odds of any dog, and as he is a glutton to take punishment and an artist in administering it, he usually can give an excellent account of himself if attacked by a much larger dog.

About an American country home he is sure to prove useful and in every way reliable. He is one of the best of watch-dogs, and he is large enough to command respect.

How to Be Rid of Dangerous Dandruff

If you have dandruff you must get rid of it quick—it's positively dangerous and will surely ruin your hair if you don't. Dandruff heads mean faded, brittle, gray, scraggly hair that will not grow—then you are bald and nothing can help you. The only sure way to abolish dandruff for good is to destroy the germ that causes it. To do this quickly, easily, and safely and at little expense, there is nothing as effective as Parian sage, which you can get from A. Brown & Co. and good druggists everywhere. It is guaranteed to banish dandruff, stop itching scalp and falling hair, and promote a new growth, or the cost small as it is, will be refunded.
