BETHEL

Mrs. C. G. Clifford Elected Member of School Prudential Committee.

The Whitcomb high school district at its annual meeting last evening confirmed its policy of the past 12 years of having a woman on its prudential committee, when it elected Mrs. C. G. Clifford to that position for a term of three years. Mrs. C. D. Cushing, who has served 12 years very efficiently, had expressed a wish to retire from the committee and when nominations were made Mr. B. Briggs nominated John S. Kimball, and Mrs. Guy Wilson nominated Mrs. Clifford. J. A. Graham was appointed teller and he collected and counted 11 votes for Mrs. Clifford and 10 for Mr. Kimball. The member-elect of the committee is a former teacher in the school and has special qualifications for the office and owes her election in part to the fact that she is the daughter of some of the men present to recognize the rights of the women to be represented on the committee. Several women were present, but they were a minority. C. D. Cushing was elected moderator, Guy Wilson, clerk; J. A. Graham, treasurer; A. Lee Cady, C. L. Lilley and W. C. Harvey, auditors; W. R. Briggs, collector. A tax of 90 cents, same as last year, was voted, 2 per cent to go to collector and 3 per cent to taxpayers paying on or before Sept. 1, Harold P. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Nora Tilton and small children in their recent sad bereavement.

A PAINFUL SUBJECT FOR MISS WOODMAN

She Had Lumbago and Stomach Trouble but Has Finally Found Relief.

Lumbago is a form of muscular rheumatism affecting the muscles of the back, the muscles that do the heavy work. If the blood gets thin and these heavily worked muscles are undernourished they will give notice by the sharp pains that are characteristic symptoms of lumbago. The remedy is to build up the blood so that the muscles will be nourished.

The thin blood that starves the muscles of the back will also cause the digestive organs to revolt, and so it is not unusual to find lumbago complicated by stomach trouble and both yielding to a treatment that really built up the blood and enabled it to carry nourishment to the organs and muscles that need it.

"I was afflicted with lumbago complicated with stomach trouble," says Miss Olive A. Woodman, who lives at No. 507 Main street, Lewiston, Maine, "and my head seemed to be affected, for I was very short of breath. I had a sharp pain in the lower part of my back, was very weak in my limbs, was pale and lost flesh steadily. I would be sick to my stomach for an hour or more at a time and had frequent dizzy spells.

"My father had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills years ago, and after I had spent a lot of time on useless treatment I decided to try them. Almost immediately after I began to take them I noticed an improvement, and my friends spoke of it. The pain in my back, which was continuous, never bothers me any more unless I over-exert myself, and I am never sick to my stomach, nor am I troubled with dizzy spells. I do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to anyone who is suffering with lumbago or stomach trouble. Everyone who sees me tells me how much better I appear, and I certainly have been greatly benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

A valuable booklet, "Building Up the Blood," containing information about diseases of the blood, will be sent free upon request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50.—Adv.

WASHINGTON

William Martin with Army of Occupation in Germany.

From her son, William Martin, with the army of occupation in Germany, Mrs. Julia Martin of Washington has received the following letter, dated Meisenheim, Feb. 22:

"Just received your letter and was pleased to hear from you, as it is the first letter, and I write every other day or two. I did not get your box."

"I do not know how long it will be before I get back. As for the girls, I do not think I will bring one back. No, I have not seen Alcide. We do not have anything to do with the French soldiers. Do not send me anything, as it most likely would not reach me.

"Well, mother, we could not win the war by staying in France, and we had to win by fighting. We were not allowed to tell where we were when the fighting was going on, but now it is all right, as the peace treaty is most to an end."

"Do not send me anything for my birthday, for it is not safe to send. I do not think I will be back by then."

"Well, mother, I am not a corporal, because I am a cook. I mean, an army cook. I boil water without burning it, and open cans without cutting my hand. Cooking is fine. I am at present cooking for 17 sergeants, and I tell you they are fussy. I do not care to be a corporal any more, as it is hard to hold down. You are always jumped on if your men are not just right, so I decided to be a cook."

"Our last hard work in France was the hike to the Rhine, about 250 miles, and we did it in one month. With all the rest, we had a stopover in one big town. I tell you the way we counted the miles, and with full pack at that. But the Rhine cannot be beaten. One wonderful sight. We were the first troops to reach the Rhine and had dinner on the Rhine. We struck the river about 20 kilometers from Aherweasel. Look on the map and find Aherweasel and figure about 15 miles towards the mouth of the river and you can see where I struck the Rhine out of the mountains. There are no old castles everywhere here.

"We do not have anything to do with the Dutch people here and I am sleeping in a fine bed, one of those Dutch beds, and I tell you it is fine. When you land on one, you sink way in. Well, I must close now, as I have to get up at 4:30 to-morrow morning to make hot cakes for the sergeant and that is no fun, but as soon as I get dinner ready I go to sleep. The sergeants are eating on plates, and real ones, and at a real table. I have a man to peel potatoes and wash the dishes, and all I have to do is cook. Some job."

"I made some cakes the other day and they said that they wished I had made them at the front as they would have been good to throw at the Hun, for they were hard as a rock. I made a pie and they had a pie-eating contest, but none of them won, for they could not break the crust. You see I always make a good one or myself and if I make one that is tough, why they will not ask for more. You have got to learn to figure in the army."

"Well, I had a good Christmas, if I was in the hospital. Had a good dinner. This is what I had: Deer steak (one of the lieutenant doctors went out and killed it), chocolate pudding, fried potatoes, bread, tea, chocolate candy, cookies, cigars, pumpkin pie, cake, one package of Bull Durham. How is that? I also went to midnight mass, as I was well enough to go."

"Talk to a church, well, the states have not got anything on this one at Maria Laach. About 100 monks there. I tell you it was swell. Here is luck to you all and best wishes. William."

What Makes Men of Blood and Iron? Men of Stamina, Force and Success—Men Who Lead The Way

Physician Explains Secret of Strong Nerves, Keen Active Brains and Great Physical Energy—says

Nuxated Iron Helps Pot Strength and Energy Into The Veins of Men

It is the men of blood and iron—a man with the war-hardened fellow—returning from camp and field—who will forge ahead in the business and political life of the country today. Living in the open, eating coarse foods and leading regular lives have made blood rich in iron for these strong, healthy, vigorous specimens of manhood. But no such opportunity for building up their health is open to thousands of men and women in civil life whose wearying tasks and iron-improving food sap their energy and make them weak, anemic and run-down and often cause their blood to literally starve for want of iron.

In commenting upon the probability of building up a stronger race of people by increasing the supply of iron in their blood, Dr. George H. Baker, formerly Physician and Surgeon, Monmouth Memorial Hospital of New Jersey, says: "It is absolutely necessary to change food into living tissue, muscle and brain. Without iron there can be no strong, red-blooded men or healthy, vigorous women, and unless this strength-giving iron is obtained from the foods we eat, it must be supplied in some form that is easily absorbed and assimilated. Refined foods and modern methods of cooking have robbed us of much of the iron which Nature intended we should receive. For supplying this deficiency and increasing the red blood corpuscles, I know of nothing more effective than organic iron—Nuxated Iron. From a careful examination of the formula and my own tests of Nuxated Iron, I feel convinced that it is a preparation which any physician can take himself or prescribe for his patients with the utmost confidence of his efficiency and increasing the red blood corpuscles, I know of nothing more effective than organic iron—Nuxated Iron.
