The regular business meeting of the Barre Woman's club was held yesterday afternoon in Howland hall. After a short business session the ladies were privileged in having as their guest Mrs. W. J. Gill, who gave a delightful and instructive talk upon British Guiana, describing its climate, its products, birds, flowers, reptiles and other interesting features. Mrs. Gill, whose home has been for 16 years in British Guiana, has been spending the winter in this city and the club ladies are very grateful for her kindness in speaking before them. The Japanese tea, to have been given by the club on April 8, has been postponed until April 29 on account of the entertainment, "Over the Top," that is being staged by the club for April 8 and 9.

The Louis Ross Scottish Musical company of Boston, which met with such favor at the opera house when it appeared under the auspices of Clan Gordon three years ago, has again been engaged by the clan for Friday evening, April 4. This musical organization is acknowledged to be one of the most famous Scottish concert combinations in the country. Manager Ross, who accompanies the company to Barre, to personally direct the entertainment, has prepared an especially fine program of nine members of the company, Margaret Withers, soprano; Jessie French, contralto; Robert Bryden, tenor; Daniel Ross, basso; Tommy Lonergon, character artist; Irvine sisters, Scottish dancers; David Ferrier, pipe major; Jean MacDonald, pianist. This will be Jessie French's first appearance with the company in Barre.—adv.

Miss Mamie McDonald of Elm street, who recently underwent an operation at Barre City hospital, was able to be out and about yesterday. Though not completely recovered, she is improving as rapidly as may be expected.

The guild of the Church of the Good Shepherd will meet at the home of Mrs. S. N. Parker, Spaulding street, Thursday evening at 7:30. Every woman connected with the church is asked to make efforts to attend this meeting.

The regular monthly business meeting and social of the Philathea class of the Congregational church was held in the church parlors last evening, and the date falling on April 1, the affair took the form of an April Fool topsy-turvy party. Little went according to regulation form from the time the guests began to arrive, and there were many there aside from the members of the class, it being guest night also. The costumes worn were novel and the topsy-turvy idea was carried out throughout the evening, games and stunts of various sorts keeping the crowd in a happy frame of mind. Refreshments were served and a good time enjoyed.

MONTPELIER

Lucius Goodwin, Civil War Veteran, Died Last Night.

Lucius G. Goodwin, a Civil war veteran, who fought in many of the important battles of that war, died at his home here last night after a short illness due to the breaking down incident to advanced age. The deceased was born in Bakersfield Dec. 21, 1846, a son of Mrs. S. and Lucy Goodwin. He was three times married, his first wife being Sabra C. Wheeler of Newbury, to whom he was married in 1870. His second wife was Belle Richardson, to whom he was married in 1894, and his third wife was Ida Dana, to whom he was married in 1900, and who survives him. He also leaves two children, Edna and Frank, children by his third wife.

He served in two regiments in the Civil war, having enlisted the first in the 4th Vermont regiment in 1861. During his service in that regiment he was at the Battle of the Wilderness, Chancellorsville and many other engagements. He was mustered out of service in New Orleans and re-enlisted there in the 7th regiment, in 1864.

Since returning to Montpelier he has been engaged in various kinds of work, but during the last years has been janitor of the Episcopal church. He was a member of the U. A. R. and J. O. U. A. M., in both of which he had held the principal offices. It is expected that the funeral will take place Saturday.

Mrs. W. P. Smith of St. Johnsbury has been designated by Governor Clement as chairman of the Vermont free library commission. The commission will hold its first meeting in Montpelier Thursday.

James O'Neill, who was several years employed as a stonecutter in Montpelier, died at his home at 152 Barre street last Tuesday afternoon, following a long illness. He was many years a resident of Moretown and then came to Montpelier, where he learned the stonecutter's trade. When this did not agree with his health, he went to Moretown and there he resided on a farm for some time, but last fall came back to Montpelier and with John, his brother, lived on Barre street. He was about 60 years of age. The funeral will take place on Thursday morning from St. Augustine's church.

Isaac Steekolechick and wife have sold a house on Main street to Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Boucher.

The past noble grand's association of the Rebekah lodge gave a dance in their hall Tuesday evening, that was attended by about 70 couples. Refreshments were served.

George Bruno, who was in city court Monday in connection with a liquor case, was injured at the Lawrence stonedish Tuesday afternoon, although not very seriously. A stone being carried through the alley by the traveling derrick, hit him on the back of the head, cutting quite a gash on his neck. The wound was dressed and he was able to go to his home on Sibley avenue. Other than the cut he seemed to be all right.

The report of the birth of a nine-pound son to Mr. and Mrs. James Dexter was received Tuesday at the State House, where a bill is in the hands of the governor for signature or veto relative to the trial of a person once acquitted of a criminal charge. Mrs. Dexter, formerly Anna Feich, was acquitted in Orange county court of the charge of being connected with the murder of her husband, Joseph Feich, Easter morning, three years ago. This is the second child born to the woman in Orange county jail, the first being a girl, born in the fall after the killing of Joseph Feich. Dexter, her present husband, has been a soldier. In probate court, Frederick B. Bailey of Berlin has settled his account in the estate of Julia A. Hill. Charles H. Dudley also settled his account in the estate of Eugene McCarty of Waitsfield. Ferd F. Batchelder of Plainfield has been appointed administrator of the estate of Rossana Coche and also of the estate of Orrin Coche.
