TALK OF THE TOWN

Miss Anna Blair, who is employed in Springfield, is calling on friends in the city.

Miss Florence Moore, a senior of Goddard seminary, has gone to her home in Warren for a few days' visit.

Don't fail to hear Henry Carroll in his song at the Universalist concert and dance at Howland hall this evening—adv.

Mrs. Annabel E. Miner, who has been passing the winter with relatives in Barre, has gone to her former home in Jeffersonville for a visit.

Mrs. Paul D. Kaiser and daughter Pauline, together with Mrs. Edwin Hall have returned to their homes in Stowe after a brief visit with relatives in this city.

H. B. Partridge and brother, A. S. Partridge, were called to Randolph by the death of their father, L. D. Partridge, who died recently at the age of 86 years.

William Donahue, William Francis and I. E. Vandow, returned yesterday to their homes in Essex Junction, after taking the third degree in the Knights of Columbus here Sunday.

Diagrams of the surroundings connected with the murder case of last Sunday were obtained by reporters of the Boston Traveler last evening from the city engineer's office in the city hall.

Alexander R. Match, arraigned in city court yesterday morning before Judge E. L. Scott for a subsequent offense of intoxication, was to be released to-day as soon as the required sum of money, $22.25 could be obtained by him.

Macabres, attention! Regular meeting of Harmon review, No. 1, will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Initiation. Guards wear white. The captains of the army and navy teams request a large attendance. Come and find out which side you are on.

Miss Bessie Massie of Garfield avenue, a graduate of Spaulding high school, class of '18, spent the past four months at Pinehurst, N. C., at a winter resort. Saturday she returned to Barre and is now employed as a stenographer in the office of A. A. Sargent.

Raymond A. Bruya, nephew of L. L. Bruya, and before his departure from this country in 1917, a frequent visitor in the city, has arrived at his home in Burlington, after receiving an honorable discharge from the 302d field artillery, which returned to its former encampment at Camp Devens recently.

Sheriff F. H. Tracy of Montpelier came back yesterday from Schenectady, N. Y., where he recently addressed a number of prison officials at a convention on prison reform. He came directly to Barre to confer with State's Attorney E. R. Davis in connection with the recent murder.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bailey and six-month-old son, Harold, left this city yesterday for Syracuse, N. Y., to reside. Mr. Bailey completed, since receiving his release from the navy, a ten weeks' course as a special agent with the Travelers Insurance company and now will cover the territory in and about Syracuse in that kind of work.

The large Buzzell hotel sign which extended across the sidewalk at the entrance to Pearl street and which heretofore drew the attention of people by night, due to its illumination, was removed yesterday. The reason for its removal was due to increased price of electricity necessary to keep the sign well lighted. The proprietor did not think sufficient benefit was derived to pay the extra charge of $12.

Captain Guy R. Varnum and Major H. Nelson Jackson, who is connected with the E. L. Smith company of Barre, left last night for St. Louis, Mo., where they will act as two of seven Vermont delegates attending the convention of the American legion. This is a preliminary movement to organize the legion of the world war what eventually will compare with the Civil war veterans' G. A. R. organization.

Miss Helen Brown, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Brown of North Main street, is meeting with excellent success in the advertising line and is now traveling representative of the Smith Hill Publishing company of Pittsburgh, Pa. At the present time she is working on the War Veterans' Journal, and at a salary double what she was receiving from the Compton brothers of Findlay, O., for which firm she previously had worked. She has nine girls under her management.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lawless are visiting with relatives in the city. Leonard was one of the first boys to leave Montpelier under the selective service regulations, going in the first contingent from Washington county. He was held at Camp Devens until the following summer, when he went to France in the 76th division. He was promoted to sergeant, which office he held when he was discharged from service a few days ago. He came back in the same division with which he went to France.

MONTPELIER.

B. M. Hayward Made Water Commissioner of Howland City Hall Janitor.

A special city council meeting took place Monday evening, when most of the matters under consideration were in result of the council's visit to different streets in the city Saturday afternoon. Other features which were taken up were the appointment of the property committee of the appointment of H. Pollard as janitor of the city hall. He will assume full responsibility and will engage such help as he feels he needs to handle the work. Another matter was the election of B. M. Hayward as water commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the death of J. J. Gilmaney. Mr. Hayward has been acting commissioner during the latter part of Mr. Gilmaney's illness. The water committee was authorized to draft suitable resolutions relative to the death of Mr. Gilmaney. It was voted to expend about $1,200 on relieving a sewer condition that has been left over by past councils from year to year. This is located at the foot of Sibley avenue and has been in bad shape for several years, so that with such rain cellars in that vicinity have been flooded. It was voted to repair Fuller, Liberty, Hill and Ridge streets, all of which are small jobs. The matter of relieving bad conditions on Terrace and Northfield streets was referred to the superintendent of streets and committee to obtain data as to the expense and report at the next meeting. This job will cost approximately $5,000, if constructed. The matter of a sewer which damaged Redfield Phillips' land was referred to the sewer committee to investigate. The police were instructed to have old boxes and two rocks on Elm street removed, if it had to be done at city expense. The nuisance and breaking of the city ordinances by putting ashes in the streets was under consideration, and the superintendent of streets was directed to furnish the city clerk a list of places, the clerk to write the persons to stop the practice.

A. G. Eaton, marshal of the parade which will take place Wednesday afternoon, has announced the following sides in connection with the management of the parade: H. C. Lawson, G. D. Pitkin, W. R. Sterling, G. B. Walton and W. W. Russell. The fraternities in the city, as well as many other organizations, have made floats and will appear in the parade. The bands, which include the Sherman band of Burlington, Norwich university band, Marshfield band, Morrisville band, and the local band, will be properly placed in the parade to give the best music. The organizations will be in their places not later than 1:45 o'clock. The parade will be started promptly at 2 o'clock. The trolley cars will stop at the corner of Barre and Main streets from the beginning of the parade until after it is completed. The organizations participating will break up at the head of State street.

The Marquis de Lafayette chapter, D. A. R., held a meeting in the Knights of Columbus hall on Saturday, May 3, about 50 ladies being present. The meeting was opened in the usual manner, and after a short business meeting the following program was given: Song, Miss Turner, accompanied by Mrs. Cleaves. The subject for the afternoon was "Great Leaders of the World War," and Rev. F. Barnaby Leach gave a most interesting and instructive talk, which was greatly enjoyed by all. Then Miss Turner followed with another song. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. C. H. Beaton, Mrs. McCuen, Mrs. Squires, Mrs. Fifield, Mrs. Hoadley, Mrs. Deming, Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. Wilcox, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Smilie, Mrs. Ferrin, Mrs. Hanson, Miss Dewey, Miss Cross, Miss Hodgdon.

Dr. F. W. Harriman, who has been in the medical corps of the regular army, has arrived home and in about two weeks will resume his practice of medicine in the city. During the time he was in France, he was promoted to the rank of captain.

WOMAN SLAYER STILL AT LARGE AFTER 48 HOURS OF SEARCHING

city's rooming houses, the officials have found conditions which caused them to utter expressions of disgust and to say that the local board of health, or the state board of health, ought to be called in to make the rooms sanitary at least. One of the officials made the statement to-day that after climbing innumerable staircases he had come into rooms where he actually could not remain for a minute because of the conditions. It is such places as this that the "floaters" resort to, while not a few of the more permanently located population find their home in similar quarters. It is probable that one of the high officials of the state may make the recommendation that some of these places be "cleaned up."

Those Loose Buttons Still Figure Prominently.

The part which the loose buttons will play in the investigations still looms large, for upon the determination regarding them will hinge a theory whether the crime was committed at the spot where the body was found or in some building. If the buttons were ripped off the woman's clothing in some room, it is evident that the murderer or murderers made diligent effort to leave no traces in the room because the loose buttons were picked up with the clothing and deposited in the heap of articles that lay beside the body Sunday morning. If the buttons were ripped off the clothing at some outdoor spot it is not probable that the murderer or murderers would have taken the trouble to pick them up with the clothes, even admitting that the buttons were discernible outdoors in the darkness of the murder hour.

That the buttons were enclosed in the pile of clothing or near the bottom is testified to by those who were on the spot when the clothing was moved, for it was still some of the articles found there down in the pile had been turned over that the buttons were revealed; and, in fact, Chief of Police Mitchell picked up one button from a place about a foot outside of the pile of clothing and near the edge of the grass between the body and the fence. All the theorizing seems to point to the fact that the place where the body was found was not the place of the murder. That being the theory, it devolves upon the investigators to find the house and the room in which the life of the woman was forced out by brutal strangulation.

Searching for the Murder Room.

To find this room is one of the efforts to which the prosecuting officers and attorneys have directed their attention during the past 48 hours and which is being continued by the augmented force of deputies under Sheriff Tracy, who came to Barre to-day and joined in a conference which was held with other officers and Attorney General Archibald and State's Attorney Davis. Attorney General Archibald asserts that he plans to stay on the job until the matter comes to a head or the state is forced to admit itself baffled. He is at Hotel Barre and can be seen by anyone who has bona fide evidence which they wish to submit.

Who Saw Mrs. Broadwell Saturday Evening?

It is this voluntary evidence which may prove of tremendous help in solving the mystery, at least so far as the steps of Mrs. Broadwell in the early part of Saturday evening is concerned. It is considered probable that Mrs. Broadwell was seen on the street, in the stores or at the moving picture houses at some time in the early part of Saturday evening before the beginning of the tragic chapters which led to her death. Friends or acquaintances of the woman who saw her early Saturday evening would be contributing to the solving of one of the most brutal crimes in the history of the state should they make known their evidence to the officers, Attorney General Archibald, State's Attorney Davis, or some other.

A possible clue which led to Waterbury did not turn out to be as effective as it was at first thought to be. Deputy Sheriff Parcher arrived from that town this forenoon and made known the result of the investigation of the clue there.

While these investigations are being made, the state's officers are waiting for the official report from the state laboratory of hygiene concerning the condition
