Members of the American expeditionary forces returned from foreign service, under the leadership of Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and others, intend to establish an organization of world war veterans to do for the survivors of great wars in history what the G. A. R. has done for its veterans of the struggle between the North and the South. Those who have taken the initiative represent all parties, in an association upon which partisanship makes no claim and in which "politics stands adjourned." The membership of such a movement is indissolubly knit by common memories. The men who fought together at St. Mihiel or Belleau wood, or in the Argonne, have reached an understanding of the world without can never know. They have shared an experience which for all its agony and bitterness is priceless. They will not be the same again. They return to the old, familiar places changed. Their scale of values is revised. They are justified in expecting the country that sent them forth to modify its own institutions and customs to square with the ideals their own sacrifices have been made to establish.

The world war veterans' association will be no ordinary society, for it is not merely casual and trivial purpose of entertainment that supplies the common denominator. It has a definite and an important charge. The highest type of soldier is the best of peace-makers. The Sidneys and Havelocks of this world never liked fighting for its own sake. They accepted it as a deplorable necessity in an imperfect social system, and they drew their swords in battle for the sake of peace. The men who went to the front for America saw nothing in their experience to make them wish for the recurrence of war's horrors, and everything to lead them to the resolve that the fields shall henceforth be furrowed not by the cannon and the tank but by the plowshare. The armies that stood together at Armageddon in the name of the Lord will continue after demobilization their struggle to make and to maintain a lasting and honorable peace—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

MONTPELIER

MONDAY, JUNE 9, 1919.

The funeral of Fred B. Alexander, who died Friday night without previous illness and whose body was discovered by his wife Saturday morning, took place this afternoon from his late home in Montpelier, Rev. Mr. Pipper officiating. The bearers were Charles, Arthur and Ned Alexander, brothers of Mrs. Alexander, and Ned Alexander, a cousin of the deceased. The interment was in a cemetery in Worcester.

The departure of the afternoon mixed train on the Montpelier & Wells River railroad was delayed something over an hour and a half Saturday afternoon, the train being held so that two cars loaded with beef might be taken to Wells River on the train; but the derailment of engine 205 near Montpelier Junction prevented their getting to Montpelier in time, so finally about 4 o'clock the train for Wells River left without the cars.

A meeting of the American legion will take place in the armory in Montpelier at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening when speakers will explain the work of the legion. An automobile accident took place on Saturday afternoon near the house of O. D. Clark in Montpelier and thus far the names of the parties have not been learned. No report of the accident had been received at the secretary of state's office this morning. It appeared to be poor driving, for the car left the road and ran into a tree. The driver was injured on the face and one hand, while other occupants of the machine were also bruised. They left later in the day for St. Albans.

GERMAN PROPOSAL

TO HOLD A TRIAL

To Determine Those Guilty of Starting, Lengthening and Losing the War from the German Standpoint.

Berlin, Sunday, June 8 (By the Associated Press).—The constitutional convention has completed its consideration of a bill creating a state court which would try those accused of starting, lengthening and losing the war. It will be presented in the national assembly soon.

The measure provides for a committee of 15 members of the national assembly to investigate the political and military leadership of the country prior to and during the war, and requires the government to produce any documents needed at the trial. Deliberations of the court would be secret and there would be no appeal from its verdict.

"The people demand an explanation as to who is guilty for the war, why it was not ended earlier and what the balance result could not have been partly or wholly avoided," says a statement by the convention. "This is the task of a state court, although it can render no final verdict because it is unable to see the archives of other countries participating in the war."

LEAGUE OF NATIONS LOAN

Advocated by Dr. Dernberg to Finance Weak Nations.

Berlin, June 8 (By the Associated Press).—Dr. Bernhard Dernberg, minister of finance, advocates in an interview in the Tageblatt a league of nations loan to finance nations seeking to recover their economic equilibrium.

Arguing that the "irreconcilable demands" of the enter are "largely due to the preoccupation of France over her grave financial position," he says: "The chief difficulty of the unbearable financial clauses of the peace terms would thus be solved. The speedy reconstruction of France would be assured, and Germany would get bread, work, and a possibility of fulfilling her obligations."

GET NO COMMISSION. Deputy Revenue Collectors Are on a Salary Basis.

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9.—Reports have reached the bureau of internal revenue that some taxpayers are under the impression that revenue agents sent out to check up income tax returns are receiving commissions on amounts found to be due the government. The bureau of internal revenue to-day issued a statement declaring such impression to be erroneous and wholly without foundation. Revenue officers engaged in checking up returns, it was stated, are on a salary basis, and there is no incentive to add to the correct amount of the tax due.

TO DIVIDE MONEY ANEW.

Plans for World Series Profits Are Contemplated.

Chicago, June 9.—The method of dividing the players' share of the world series profits undoubtedly will be changed again, according to President Johnson of the American league. He said to-day the subject would be considered at a meeting of the national commission at Cincinnati Thursday. In a conference with President John Heydler of the National league a few days ago, John said, it was agreed that a change was desirable. The new plan probably will allow the first two teams in each league to share in the receipts.

FROM $12 A WEEK TO $5,000 A YEAR.

Waiter Became Captain in Army and Then Got Good Civilian Job.

Washington, D. C., June 9.—A man who before the war was a waiter at $12 a week and tips, went to war as a second lieutenant after attending an officers' training school, came back as a captain got a job paying him $5,000 a year, was described to-day by Colonel Arthur Woods, assistant to the secretary of war. "Such little stories as these," said Colonel Woods, "show that the average honorably discharged officer has no difficulty whatsoever in placing himself again in civil life."

Up to date 104,000 officers have returned to civil life, and 8,000 have applied for assistance in securing employment.
