45 GRADUATED IN BUSINESS

Most of the troubles in the world come from selfishness, because laborers are robbed of their just dues and because they in turn fail to do the tasks set before them because it is more pleasant to soldier on the job. And in politics self-aggrandizement has been the policy of most men.

But the motto, "There are others," is beginning to sway the world. And it is right that in controversies of a religious, social, commercial or political nature, men should remember that there are others. This is leading to a philosophy of saving the world socially in order to save the individual.

The thing to do is to get the right viewpoint of life. One may adopt the world's philosophy of life that has as its motto, "You can be good and not go to church," or "If you are hit, hit back," or "Be virtuous when there is something to gain by it," or "Views are constantly changing nowadays. Therefore, don't have any." It was such a philosophy that caused the war. Everything depends on whether you adopt this or another viewpoint. Wrapped up in it lies character and career. The time is at hand to choose now and the preparation given at Goddard has started the members of the class on the path to the right philosophy.

Such a viewpoint is that one must not try to help himself, but to save and serve the other fellow. The way one looks at life will be the measure of his success, and so he admonished the graduates to take part in the new world movements like men and women.

Miss Lease and Edward Brush played a delightful duet, "Valse Arabesque" (Lach). The class prophecy was delivered by Walton Brown, who told by the aid of magic spectacles the deeds and works of each member in 1925. The valedictory, "Victory," was given by Hazel Weeks, who said that as a house depended on its foundation, so a life depended on its foundation or education. They had struggled through two years of work and play at Goddard to the final goal and could feel that their foundation was laid. Now they might take steps to a more final victory and to character building. In looking for work persistence modeled after Robt. Bruce, or Lincoln, or the victorious allied armies. The victory of the whole recently won should urge them on to great victories for the individual.

Before awarding the diplomas, Principal O. K. Hollister mentioned the good work of the 143 students who have gone out to do commercial work and urged that in joining them the new graduates take their preparation to serve and help people wherever they might go. With the awarding of the diplomas and the benediction by Rev. S. G. Spear, the exercises came to a close.

Other Events of Week at Goddard. Wednesday—Concert by musical department at 8:30 p. m. Thursday—Fiftieth anniversary day. Montague, '85, Boston; pageant on school lawn at 4 p. m.; reception by teachers and class of the school during the 50 years, including 400 people; prize speaking at 8:30.

MONTPELIER

Graduation Exercises of St. Michael's School Last Evening.

The annual graduating exercises of St. Michael's school in Montpelier took place in the hall in St. Augustine's church basement Tuesday evening, the exercises being attended by a large crowd. The operetta, "Columbia's Daughters," was presented by the children. Rev. Joseph Doyle of St. Michael's, calling Winoski, spoke at some length to the graduating class, giving them a fine address upon the work they have done and their duty to themselves, their country and to God. Rev. P. J. Long, in introducing Father Doyle, who a few years ago was graduated from the same school, asked the children to keep on the same high class of work they have been doing and referred to the fact that the children who are graduated from St. Michael's lead the scholars in the Montpelier high school when they reach it. Father Doyle commended the children upon their success and told the parents that they had been well repaid for the sacrifices they have made, after which he took up the theme mentioned above, giving the children a clear statement of what they should do in the coming years. The class included the following children who were graduated:

Geraldine, Marian Keogh, Alice Mary Lemay, Nellie Teresa Lynch, Catherine Edna Lanier, Gertrude Frances Levesque, Margaret Mary Leahy, Mary Marilla McKenna, Harriet Edna Meigs, Rhoda Bell Murray, Rose Cecelia Murtagh, Helen Evangeline Pine, Guildy Leona Roy, Katherine Agnes Ryan, Agnes Bibiana Roach, Loretta Miriam Sullivan, Madeline Ethel Shambo, James Edward Burns, Edwin Price Callahan, James Edwin Dobbis, James Patrick Gallagher, Wilfrid Joseph Hebert, Harold Ashton McGrath, Joseph Michael Murley, Roger John Sheridan, Bertrand John Shanley, John Frederick Stone, William James Troup, Andrew Anthony Tomasi, Florence Delema Barber, Mary Emotion Carey, Eugene Josephine Doucette, Leona Mary Dancause, Winona Bell D'Arthe, Mary Ruth Erno, Helen Marion Fay, Stacia Mary Good, Margaret Mary Halligan, Leota Eva Hill, Nada Juras.

The first part of the program was given to excellent training in which the boys took place, while the second part was the operetta by the girls. Miss Agnes Maloney was pianist for the exercises. The program was:

Overture, John Stone, Robert Kane, Charles Reagan; chorus, "Victory," boys of the seventh and eighth grades; "Our Heroes," John Stone; "The Hope of Our Country," Roger Sheridan; vocal solo, (a) "The Angel of Peace," (b) "Lullaby," Rose Murtagh; "Gualberta's Victory," James Burns.

Part second: This part of the program consisted of an operetta, "Columbia's Daughters." Practically every feature of war work in which the American girl participates, farmettes, Red Cross, chauffeurs, etc., was passed in review in taking songs and recitations. Famous women of the past, as Molly Pitcher and Betsey Ross, were also introduced. The cast: "Columbia," Marilla McKenna; "Columbia's" attendant, Margaret Halligan; historian, Ruth Erno; "Betsey Ross," Agnes Roach; "Molly Pitcher," Geraldine Keogh; "Dorothy," Katharine Ryan; "Edith," Edna Meigs; "Florence," Guildy Ray; flower girl, Margaret Leahy.

Some 50 admirers of W. A. Pattee, who was many years captain of Co. H, Vermont National Guard, gathered at the armory Tuesday evening for the purpose of giving him a little surprise to show their appreciation of his efforts in the many years he has been connected with the company. David Spicer called the meeting to order, after which he called upon Col. F. B. Thomas for a few remarks. These were made with well selected words, in which Col. Thomas paid Captain Pattee a nice compliment for the excellent training he gave the men who have been under his direction in the many years he has been at the head of the company and then he presented Captain Pattee a purse of $60 in gold as a token of the esteem which those present and many other friends desired to show to Captain Pattee. Captain Pattee received the gift with words of appreciation.

A buffet luncheon was served under the supervision of Clark and Pierce, after which a short program was enjoyed in conversing about different things that interest military men. During the evening there were placed in Captain Pattee's hands, blanks for the formation of a Co. H, the new company of the National Guard. He accepted the job and appointed Captain Raymond Paine as clerk. The work of recruiting the company commenced by some 20 persons signing applications last evening.

The marriage of Willard E. Coghlan of this city and Miss Agnes M. Milne of Barre was performed at 7 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Augustine's rectory by Rev. F. J. Long, the rector. Miss Almedia La Pierre was bridesmaid and Captain J. Edward Coghlan, brother of the groom, was best man. The bridesmaid wore a brown dress. The young couple left by automobile immediately after the ceremony to a point unknown to their friends, where they will take the train to Boston, in which city, and in other Massachusetts cities, they will spend their honeymoon of ten days or two weeks. The groom, who is a son of John Coghlan of 23 North Franklin street, attended St. Michael's school and has been a resident of the city nearly all his life. He is also well known in military circles, having been a member of the National Guard for eight years. He was first sergeant of Co. H during the Mexican border trouble, and at the outbreak of the war. At Spartansburg he was in Co. H of the 57th Pioneer infantry and later when sent to France was transferred to Co. A, 49th U. S. infantry, of which he was also first sergeant. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Milne of Barre, and has been employed at the home of L. D. Taft. Both young people have a great many friends in the city.

The hearing in the matter of T. H. Cave, Jr., administrator of the estate of Nat Page of Plainfield, which was to have been heard in chancery yesterday afternoon, did not occur owing to E. H. Deavitt being out of town and the fact that some of his witnesses were out west, so that the hearing was continued until July 21. The question arises over certain property which went to the son of Mr. Page for the care which he gave his father, while Grace Page seeks to break the agreement made by her father during his lifetime.

Rev. P. J. Long has sent to Senator W. P. Dillingham in Washington, D. C., petitions signed by 1,100 persons, members of St. Augustine's parish, protesting against the passage of the Smith-Towner bill, which is against private educational institutions. Major Harvey E. Goodell was in Windsor yesterday and to-day looking after some of the state work. He attended some of the college commencements at Middlebury and then went to Windsor. Fred Abbey has returned from an army service in France. Benjamin Gates, state auditor, went

The state board of veterinary registration is holding its annual spring examinations in the State House to-day and to-morrow. Beginning Monday of next week the state board of charities and probation will work under the new law that was enacted last winter, in which the town and state pay one-half of the expense of poor and needy children. The state places the children in homes that have been accepted, inspected and approved by the officers of the board. There are several homes that have been qualified to care for children under this plan, but there are still several needed by the department. The state pays $3 a week for the care and looks after the outside bills, including medical attendance.
