Poison! Farmers, attention! If you use paris green in 50-lb. lots, ask us for quotations. N. D. Phelps Co.

A dance will be held at Woodbury pond pavilion Friday night. Landi's orchestra will furnish music.—adv.

Mrs. David Henderson, who three weeks ago went to Quincy, Mass., has returned to her home, 57 Brook street.

Miss Isabel Mackie of Beacon street, a teacher of St. Johnsbury, is now spending the vacation at her home in this city.

Miss Albra Leslie of Washington street has gone to Boston to spend the rest of the summer months with her grandparents.

Miss Madine Sullivan of this city leaves to-morrow for Old Orchard, Me., where she has employment for the summer months.

Ainsworth Cruickshank of this city was fined $15 and costs of $6.25 in city court yesterday for a second offense of intoxication.

Dance in Howland hall Saturday evening. Special music. Gents, 75c; ladies, free. Gilbertson's orchestra. Dancing will begin promptly at 8:15.—adv.

John Mullaly, the flagman of the Troy and Holden railway crossing, has gone to Quincy, Mass., there to enjoy a two weeks' vacation with relatives.

Matthew Haley, jr., now employed at Hotel Belmont in New York City, came yesterday to Barre to remain for two weeks while on his annual vacation.

Philip Beaulieu of 6 First street left last night for Lawrence, Mass., to meet his bride to be, Miss Alice Couchard. They will be married Monday at her home.

Among the out-of-town commencement visitors at Goddard are Mr. and Mrs. Rich Waite of Calais, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cameron, Mrs. O. C. Pitkin, Paul Pitkin and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown of Marshfield.

One of our leading hair dressers says she has found nothing as good as Parisian Sage to cure dandruff and make the hair soft, thick and lustrous. E. A. Drown sells the genuine.—adv.

Every soldier, sailor or marine, with his family or friends, is cordially invited to the Knights of Columbus rooms in the Scampini block on July 4. Everything will be open to them and every-thing free.

Miss Nora Morris, a student nurse of the Massachusetts General hospital, who for three weeks has been stopping with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Morris of 30 Averill street, has returned to her work in Boston.

A. P. Carey, manager of the Woolworth store in this city, and Chauncey M. Willey, treasurer of the Quarry Savings Bank & Trust Co., have for several days been in Boston on business. The trip was made by automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Dodge of New York City, who have been visiting at the home of O. J. Dodge and attending the commencement exercises at Goddard, leave for New York this afternoon. F. E. Dodge was a member of the class of '85 at Goddard.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jackson and Dr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Jackson and Mrs. Ellen Given of South Main street started yesterday morning for St. Albans, Me. They expect to pass a month camping, while Edward Jackson awaits the time for his discharge from the marine medical service.

Mrs. H. Kealini and son, Rigo, of 92 Brook street will leave to-morrow for Boston and Quincy, Mass., for a few weeks' visit in those places. Mrs. A. Masi and daughter, Neida, of 92 Brook street, are also leaving to-morrow for Boston and Westery for an extended visit.

Margaret H. Robertson, a Red Cross nurse who was stationed in base hospital 51 at Toul, France, for more than a year, after passing three weeks with relatives and friends in this city, left yesterday for Brookfield. She will spend the summer months with her sister, Mrs. Isabel McMinn, there.

William McIntosh, of Winchendon, Mass., formerly one of Goddard's best runners, who graduated with the '17 class, is among the number who came to spend a few days at the school. Harold Wallace of Fairfield is also among the alumni gathering.

John R. Wilson, secretary and treasurer of the Washington County Veterans' association for nearly a quarter of a century, says the campfire program Wednesday was the finest ever heard by that association. The association enrolled 28 new members, but lost, during the year, 26 of whom were veterans and the other two were widows of veterans. All the meetings this year were probably more successful than any have been for years, says Mr. Wilson. Mr. Wilson left last night for Worcester, where he makes his home during the summer.

Though the rain held up for a time this morning the work on the victory arch at City square, it did not prevent Charles Abate, the sculptor and modeller, from progressing with his plaster figures soon to adorn the edifice. Already four large plaster horses have been formed under the woodsheds of S. D. Allen & Co. A great many workmen stop each day to watch the progress of the sculptor who so cleverly makes beautiful figures out of a few boards and plaster. If the remainder of the arch is as well constructed as those of Mr. Abate's figures and is as artistic in comparison, people from surrounding towns will be well repaid if they make a trip to Barre just to see the arch.

As the time approaches when Goddard seminary's baseball stars and Montpelier seminary's artists are to meet, excitement grows more intense. Everyone interested in baseball in the two cities is planning to see this game, and all are bound to be well paid for their travel to Intercity park to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, the time set for the game. Ever since the two coaches came to an agreement to meet, though the Montpelier seminary team is advertised under the name of the Moretown Athletic club, both aggregations have had some of the hardest grueling practice possible. This afternoon the local seminary team is scheduled to receive even more of it since some of the old players, many of them with large college teams, have agreed to perform on the diamond.

Joint committee meeting of Iroquois tribe and Pocomantas in Clan Gordon rooms to-night, June 27, at 7 o'clock.

MONTPELIER

George Chadwick Dropped Dead on Main Street Thursday Afternoon.

George Chadwick, aged over 60 years, died on Main street in Montpelier about 4:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon of heart disease. He had been employed during the day at the stoneshed of C. P. Gill and had gone home with Mr. Doucette. They separated near the Volholm store, Mr. Chadwick crossing the street, while Mr. Doucette went to the Williams garage. Mr. Chadwick had almost crossed Main street in front of the Shipman store when he fell forward. Mrs. Avis Sunderland, reporter on The Argus, was probably the closest to the man when he fell, while Officer P. J. McAvoy was close by and was one of the first to his side. Chief Connolly, Officer Sloan and members of the city council were soon present. Dr. F. W. Harriman was called. The man was taken to the hospital after Dr. Harriman reached his side. He was carried to the Barber & Lanier undertaking rooms, where the body was made ready for burial after permission was given by Dr. William Lindsay, health officer. Mr. Chadwick had lived in this section for some time. He was employed in the granite industry. A son, Wilbur, lives in Quincy, Mass., a daughter in Harnard and his wife was living in Bethel. There are two other sons. A grandmother, Minnie Clogston, is trying to locate the others. The deceased was identified by the pay envelope of C. P. Gill found in his pocket. He carried a watch and some $23 in money, with a few other pocket pieces.

Grover Greenwood, who is visiting relatives in the city, will go to Pittsburg, Pa., the coming fall to take charge of the athletics in a private school. He has been similarly engaged for the past year in a school in New York, taking the professor's place who was in the war and who returns this fall. He met with excellent success with the athletics, the school team meeting and defeating the best teams along the Hudson river.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Dunn, who have been visiting with Miss Hilda Sheridan, have gone to their home in Boston.

Miss Evelyn Blanchard and Mrs. Blanchard, mother of White River Junction, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Tracy. Miss Blanchard was recently awarded at Burlington the prize for canning the largest amount of fruit last season, some over 500 cans of different varieties.

The case of Marion Palmer of Barre against Brisbane Palmer, a libel for divorce, dropped out of court quickly yesterday afternoon. It appears that the woman had not lived in Vermont a year, therefore she could not get a divorce.

Shirley had applied to the court for temporary alimony and a hearing was to have taken place on that matter but when the hearing had been commenced A. G. Fay raised the question of the length of residence of the woman in the state and when the reply was made a dismissal of the matter occurred.

Harold Dwinall, who was graduated from the University of Vermont this week, has been engaged as county agent in Orange county, succeeding E. H. Loveland, who goes to Burlington. Mr. Dwinall four years ago graduated from Montpelier seminary. Last year he was assistant county agent in Franklin county, so that he has enjoyed considerable experience to begin his work in charge of the farm bureau in Orange county. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Dwinell of Calais.

A runaway look place on State street about 10 o'clock Thursday night. The horse ran to the lower end of the street, where it was stopped without damage to the rig. The owner was not learned.

The fire department was called to the top of Capitol hill about 9 o'clock Thursday evening for a grass fire. A lively fire was going on the westerly approach to the hill, which was put out after quite a fight.

An automobile driven by Massachusetts parties tried to knock over the silent policeman at the head of State street about 10:30 o'clock on Thursday evening. The men in the car were talking and did not see the "policeman" until they struck it.

A conference of the district highway commissioners, took place this morning in the office of the state highway commissioner. The morning was mostly occupied with the subject of maintenance of highways, while the new laws were to some extent discussed.

The report of a fatal accident was received at the office of the commissioner of industries this morning. Park Holton of Cavendish was injured May 6, being burned by throwing a short circuit in the Colonial Power & Light engineering company, where he was employed. He was burned about the hand, legs and body so that death occurred June 21 and the report has just reached the commissioner's office.

Miss Ruth Brown has returned from Asbury, N. J., where she attended the annual meeting of the American Library association. Miss Evelyn Lease will return this evening.

Frederick Love, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Love, arrived this morning from his service in the army, having recently returned from France.

Secretary of State Harry A. Black is studying the problem of how to stop the large number of accidents that are reported to his office every morning. He is inclined to think that the drastic measures that are being used by the secretary of state in New York will have to be started in Vermont. For instance, a man reported yesterday hitting a child when driving his automobile at the low speed of four miles an hour, which is about the speed that a draft horse walks on the highways, but the accidents are altogether too numerous and there is a feeling that unless drastic measures are used the practice of breaking the laws will not be stopped.

Attorney General Frank Archibald of Manchester was in the city to-day in connection with his state duties.

Wayne M. Reed, who has been ill for a week, has returned to his duties in his store.

F. G. Howland has settled his account in probate court surviving executor of the estate of William St. Littlejohn, late of Barre City. Mrs. Emma Hanks of Warren has been appointed administratrix of the estate of Warren Hanks, late of that town, and guardian of Aleta Hanks, a minor, living in Warren.

The board of control was still in session to-day, considering whether the clerks and others whose salaries are not paid by law, are worth the salary recommended by the heads of the different departments.

The horse of F. Bonazzi, which was reported to have been stolen and so reported to the state's attorney, was found Thursday afternoon near the three-mile bridge. It left a barn Monday night and Mr. Bonazzi did not report the matter until Thursday. It appears that the beast probably left the barn of its own accord and that the wind closed the door afterward. The finding of the closed door was the fact that gave indications of robbery.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Mrs. Oliosi and infant son of South Ryegate arrived in Barre last evening and are at the home of Mrs. Angelo Colombo, where Mrs. Oliosi will visit for a few days.

Lieut. Johnny Burns of the Fort Sill, Oklahoma, flying squadron, is back with his old teammates at the seminary. Three years ago he covered first base for Goddard and later for U. V. M. This afternoon he is expected to appear in the alumni lineup. At Fort Sill he still keeps in trim by playing with the team of that post. Every Saturday or Sunday his service team flies to some other army post or town just to play ball and has gained the reputation of being the only team in the world which flies to all its games. It was after returning from a similar trip on the night of May 8 about 10 o'clock at night, that his machine began to waver. Realizing motor trouble, he nosed the machine toward the ground. Just how far he dropped he does not know, though at the start he was above the clouds and around 2000 feet from terra firma. His next realization was that he was in a hospital minus a few teeth and with many bruises and he later learned that the other young man who occupied the machine with him was severely hurt and that the machine had been entirely demolished by the fall. He is now on a sick leave, due to report back to Fort Sill July 3. For many months he has been an instructor at this camp, but upon returning will prepare for an exhibition tour. This will include many of the larger western cities, one of which will be San Diego, Cal. Later he will go to Honolulu and the Philippine islands. He brings news also of Roscoe Melver, formerly connected with Goddard. He is stationed at Ellington field, Texas, and upon learning of Burns' presence in city 200 miles from where he was stationed, made a flight to visit his old schoolmate.

Didn't Disturb Him. Mrs. Grogan—Wake oop, ye foghorn! Oi can't slape a wink on account av yere snoring.
