

ABOUT THE STATE

Happenings of Interest from Different Sections.

Cornelius Wells, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wells of St. Albans, was drowned in the Connecticut river at South Hadley, Mass., recently while swimming. He leaves a wife and two children.

Carelessness on the part of fishermen in South Newfane set fire to the grass alongside the stream, which ran along until it reached the bungalow of Frank Moss, into which household goods had just been moved ready for summer occupancy, completely destroying the house and contents.

John Gilfeather of Wardsboro Center found one of his steers dead and one of his heifers very nearly dead, with their heads in a hole in a tree. Their horns were locked together in such a way that they could not remove their heads. The tree was cut enough to release them and it is thought the heifer will live.

After over six months of boring at Camp Winneshewauka, the summer camp for girls in Lanesboro, water has been struck in a well 401 feet deep. This is believed to be the deepest well in the north country and the yield is about six gallons a minute of pure water at a temperature of 44 degrees.

A small pig came by parcel post from Whitefield, N. H., Tuesday afternoon to Montpelier and was delivered Wednesday to N. J. Alexander of Worcester Branch road, R. F. D. It is contrary to the rules to ship live animals by parcel post, outside of small chicks, but the little pig got in by mistake and after once started it went through to its destination.

Irene Crahan, the 12-year-old daughter of Mrs. Eugene Crahan of Bennington, underwent an operation at the Putnam Memorial hospital Thursday afternoon following a serious injury received Wednesday evening while at play falling from a small tree. X-ray examination showed an injury to the spine in the lumbar region resulting in paralysis of the leg.

The selection of Bellows Falls granted the appeal of the street railway company to close the national park, which is owned by the railway company. That is, hereafter the company will have control of the road leading to the park and will make a charge for every auto and each occupant of the auto that passes over the road.

FAIR AT ST. JOHNSBURY.

To Be Held Sept. 23, 24 and 25, Directors Have Decided.

St. Johnsbury, June 30.—The directors of the Caledonia county fair have decided to have an exhibition this fall and fixed the dates at Sept. 23, 24 and 25. With the exception of the last two years a county fair has been held at St. Johnsbury continuously for 75 years and the holding of its exhibition this year was made possible by increasing the capital stock $12,000, which paid up the indebtedness of the corporation and left a small balance for a working capital.

Pledge for 100 Per Cent Patriotism.

The American Legion of Vermont has sent the following to Governor Clement: "The American Legion, which is the national organization of former service men, soldiers, sailors and marines, pledge you full support of both the national organization and the branch of Vermont in your efforts to maintain one hundred per cent Americanism based on law and order. This support is particularly pledged you and all those associated with you for good government on this first Independence day after having finished the job for which we entered our country service. We would suggest that you request all former service men to wear uniforms July 4."

Women at the Front.

By common consent in all prudent countries, the participation of women in war is forbidden when the army is what military people call "before the enemy," that is when it has gained contact and battle is imminent. Nevertheless, women have played a vital part in actual battle. The American army must this year clear a few days ago by awarding the distinguished service medal to Miss Grace D. Banker, an American army telephone operator, who in the opinion of the army rendered extraordinary service in the American reduction of the St. Mihiel salient. The citation, read by Lieutenant General Hunter Liggett at a formal military ceremony at Coblenz, is as follows: "By exceedingly meritorious and distinguished service, and by untiring devotion to her exacting duties under trying conditions (she) did much to assure the success of the telephone system during the operations against the St. Mihiel salient and north of Verdun."

In this war the opportunities of observation offered by balloons and airplanes made visual signalling in battle so necessary that it was almost never resorted to. This forced a network of telephone lines which, in order to insure communication as long as possible, was made extremely flexible. But no telephone system is better than it can be made to work, and it was the successful operation of this system under battle conditions that won the decoration for the chief operator.

Too little praise has been bestowed on the American women who went into the field overseas with the American army. The nurses have received more credit than others because they deserve it, but even they have been neglected. The well-ware workers have been mentioned, but the telephone operators are seldom heard of, and yet, as this citation shows, they were not infrequently far forward in the theatre of operations. To be recognized as deserving praise similar to that given to troops of the line in a major operation is a rare achievement. It might be said, setting a high standard of patriotic devotion.—Indianapolis News.

Art Aphorism for the Day.

We stood the other day in the Art Museum in front of Turner's famous "Slave Ship." "Some picture!" remarked a chap who lambed along. "Some picture!" we admitted. "On the whole, though, I think Mark Twain was right about it." "And what did Mark say?" "Mark said it looked to him like a tortoise shell cut having a fit in a platter of stewed tomatoes."—Boston Transcript.

HAD GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Bragg Were Married in Plainfield.

St. Johnsbury, June 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Bragg observed their golden wedding Saturday in the house where they have lived for 45 years and which Mr. Bragg built soon after he came to St. Johnsbury. Many friends called through the afternoon and evening and gifts of gold and silver and many flowers were given the happy couple. They were married in Plainfield June 28, 1874, and for a few years afterwards lived at Fairlee. They came to St. Johnsbury in 1874 and Mr. Bragg during his long residence has been a builder and contractor. He served the village in years past as the police force, as chief of the fire department and on the board of trustees and he has also been one of the selectmen. He has been through all the chairs in the Old Fellows' lodge and belongs to all the Masonic bodies. They have two daughters, Nellie M. wife of J. E. Bertrand of St. Johnsbury, and Bertha M. wife of M. J. Delaney of Springfield, Mass. Both daughters were here Saturday and presented their parents $50 in gold.

Mr. Bragg was born in Thetford July 10, 1848, and has one sister living there, and three brothers: Charles and William Bragg of South Fairlee and Clarence Bragg of Kingston, N. H. Mrs. Bragg was Lucy Willis Lucas, Mrs. born in Richmond April 22, 1832, where she spent her early life. She has one brother living, E. O. Lucas, of Fairfield.

HUSTIS QUILTS U. S. JOB.

Resigns as District Director of the Railroad Administration.

Boston, June 30.—James H. Hustis has resigned as district director, New England district, United States railroad administration, effective July 1, next, and will be succeeded by Percy R. Todd, who has been acting as assistant to the district director.

The New England district consists of all New England railroads under federal control, including such parts of those roads as extend into New York state and into Canada, and Mr. Hustis was appointed to the position when it was created on June 10 of last year.

When asked as to the significance of the resignation, Mr. Hustis stated that the probable return of the railroads to private operation on Dec. 31 next placed on him a special obligation in connection with the Boston & Maine, of which he has continued to be the receiver. There are many details to be arranged for in connection with the return of the railroads to their owners, as well as in preparing for their organization after their return, and Mr. Hustis will give his entire time to this work as applied to the Boston & Maine.

POSSIBLE OIL AND GAS

In New Mexico Indicated by U. S. Geological Survey.

In an examination of the geologic structure of parts of New Mexico made during the last four years by the United States geological survey, department of the interior, N. H. Barton, geologist, has discovered in the beds of rock many oil and gas domes which may be reservoirs of oil or gas. These substances are present in the regions examined. These flexed beds are parts of formations that produce oil in Wyoming, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Texas, but little evidence of the presence of oil and gas in them has yet been found in New Mexico. A small amount of oil at Dayton and a few small traces of oil reported in water wells at several other places are the only favorable indications so far reported. Only a few deep wells have been bored in New Mexico, however, and these have been bored in places where the structure was not favorable for the occurrence of oil or gas, or the wells have not been drilled deep enough to make them satisfactory tests. Much of the geologic guidance used in locating the wells drilled has come from incompetent "experts," one "dome" having been deduced from hazarded dips taken from layers of cross-bedded sandstone. One probably hopeless project is a deep hole in the middle of Tularosa desert, where there are no rock outcrops to indicate structure. In some of the hectic literature written to promote the sale of oil stock the chief geologist of the United States geological survey is falsely quoted as authority for the statement that New Mexico would develop one of the biggest oil fields on this continent. There is no foundation for such a statement.

Some Promising Domes and Arches.

The general structure of central-eastern New Mexico is that of an eastward-dipping monocline, but there are local reversals of dips due to domes and arches, or anticlines, some of which are rather prominent. Only a few of the many localities where these structural features appear to be favorable to the storage of gas or oil, if either exist in this region, can be mentioned here. In Guadalupe county, for example, the apex of one of the most clearly marked domes is in the western part of T. 11 N., R. 19 E. The uplifted beds, which are 2,500 feet thick, are of Permian and Pennsylvanian age, the Pennsylvanian beds lying on granite at a vertical depth of 2,000 feet or more. On Pintada creek, in the center of T. 8 N., R. 19 E., there is a smaller dome involving the same strata, and a slightly less pronounced dome is indicated in the same canyon a few miles above Pintada postoffice. There are several broad, low arches in this county and in adjoining parts of San Miguel, the next county north. In Quay county a broad, low anticline in the red beds passes a short distance east of Tucuman and extends for some distance.

Wells Should Be Sunk Deep.

All test wells sunk in this region should be carried entirely through the sedimentary series, which in the domes and anticlines mentioned is from 2,000 to 3,000 feet thick and at intervals from top to bottom contains coarse sands, some of which may be oil bearing. More detailed information as to the structural and stratigraphic conditions observed in the reconnaissance made by Mr. Dorton, which covered a large part of New Mexico, will be given in a report, with a geologic map and cross sections, which is now in preparation and will probably be ready for distribution late in the autumn.
