RANDOLPH

Letter to F. A. Joslyn from His Son, Corp. Elwyn D. Joslyn, A. E. F. The following letter has been received by F. A. Joslyn from his son, Corp. Elwyn D. Joslyn, 47th infantry, Co. A, who has spent one term in the university mentioned in the heading of the letter: "A. E. F. University, Beaune, Cote d'Ore, May 27, 1918. "Dear Folks at Home: I want to tell you about an exhibit of American agriculture and country life that I have just visited here at Beaune—can you imagine such an exhibit way over here in "Sunny France?" "It has been arranged by the faculty and students of our college of agriculture, with the help of the U. S. department of agriculture at Washington. The government part of the exhibit cost $15,000 and it was brought over here by two experts from Washington, who carefully arranged and set up the display. To give you some idea of this part of the show just let me say that there are enough photographs and charts to cover 112 large screens. Besides there are 64 tables and 28 cabinets filled with the various articles of the display. "Models of farm houses, farm buildings, poultry houses and the like, made an interesting study and offered many practical ideas, which we farmers can use to advantage. "A very interesting part of the exhibit was that arranged by the bureau of soils. Here were shown samples of the soils best adapted to the growing of fruit, corn, wheat, cotton, garden truck, etc. "Another section had to do with insect pests that affect our fruits and other crops, together with the various insecticides and spraying material required to combat them. "Modern highway construction was given the recognition that its importance deserves. Models were shown illustrating various methods and processes of road construction. We men of the A. E. F. have come to know and appreciate the value of good roads—France has wonderful roads. We have learned how to build them and we realize that such roads will mean to the future of American farmers. "A model showing the layout and arrangement of an average American farm—160 to 320 acres—was very practical and appealed to me. "Just beyond this exhibition were three booths that interested me greatly. The first showed something of French agriculture, more especially that of this department (Cote d'Ore). The next had to do with European agriculture and the third with world-wide agriculture. These three exhibits were shown by means of charts and illustrations. "Dr. Butterfield gave us a wonderful lecture at one of our assembly periods on the importance of our beginning to think in terms of world agriculture. "Another section that was very instructive and helpful was that showing modern furniture and equipment for the farm home. For instance, a model kitchen had a good range, sanitary sink, kitchen cabinet, freestanding stove, dumb waiter—to carry food up and down from the cellar and save climbing the stairs. Also a model pantry—just a large cabinet with doors. A good idea was the "breakfast alcove" at one end of the kitchen. Here the meal can be served simply and quickly with much saving of labor. It is just two long high-backed seats, with a solid home-built table placed between. "A model kitchen entry was supplied with porcelain wash-bowl and fittings, box for rubbers, and a built-in cabinet for brooms, mops and such things. The laundry had a modern washing machine, driven by motor and a built-in ironing board that was hinged to the wall and folded up into a little wall cabinet. "Then there was the farmer's office, all fitted up very business-like—as the modern farmer should be. Here were a roomy desk, telephone, typewriter, filing case for letters, papers, catalogs, etc. Also book shelves, a wall map and photos of the pure-bred farm stock were on the walls. "The extension work section of the college had charge of a display showing the activities of a rural community. Here are shown charts and models of a community school and farm; also of a playground and recreation center and a combined town hall and farmers' club house. "Splendid, practical plans they were and they have given me a new vision of the dignity and importance of the American farmer. I am eager to get back to the old farm and join with you in helping to make these dreams come true. "The Farm Boy."

The baseball game between the Chelsea team and the Northfield team was almost an errorless game and was very interesting from start to finish. Northfield carried off the honor with a score of 5 to 2. Lyle R. Beckwith umpired the game. The movies, fireworks and dance were all pronounced to be fine and were largely attended. Music for the pictures and dance was furnished by the Chelsea opera house orchestra. Lieut. John W. Sprague, paymaster on the U. S. S. Powhatan, took a run up to Vermont for a 48-hour visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Sprague, over the 4th, while his boat was lying at anchor in Charleston harbor, S. C., he having just returned from his 26th trip across the Atlantic since November, 1917. The Powhatan, which has a capacity of 3,000 troops and a complement of 500 officers and men, was formerly the German steamship Hamburg and was commissioned as a U. S. transport on Aug. 13, 1917, and has a splendid record as a transport during and subsequent to hostilities. Her history as a German vessel chronicles the unique and distinguished honor of carrying as a passenger, Theodore Roosevelt, on his famous trip to Africa and also the marked distinction of carrying as a passenger the ex-kaiser on a trip to the Holy Land. Lieut. Sprague left for Charleston on the night train Friday, expecting to arrive in Charleston early Monday morning and expecting also to sail for Rotterdam, Holland, Monday noon, July 7. On this trip the Powhatan is scheduled to carry 3,000 Germans for deportation, who have been interned in the South during the past year. He was accompanied on his trip to Vermont by Miss Winifred E. Queeney of New York City. Mr. and Mrs. Ray F. Titus of Claremont, N. H., returned to their home Sunday afternoon after having been guests of the former's father, Frank J. Titus, for a few days. Regardless of the extreme hot weather last week, work on the foundation of the new Masonic block progressed finely under the supervision of Contractor Joseph Knight of South Royalton. Manager Joseph K. Darling of the local baseball team arranged a fine game with the local team from Bradford last Saturday afternoon. The game, while not without some errors, was interesting from start to finish and was won by the visiting team with a score of 6 to 5.

NUXATED IRON A DRIVING FORCE BEHIND KEEN SUCCESSFUL MEN AND WOMEN

When you think of the successful men and women you know—people who are doing things worth while—you will find that they possess force, vim and energy—the kind that simply bring over when the blood is filled with iron. Nuxated Iron by enriching the blood and creating new red blood cells, strengthens the nerves, rebuilds the weakened tissues and helps to instill renewed force and energy into the whole system. Three million people use it annually as a tonic, strength and blood-builder.

MAKE THIS TEST

See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired; next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking iron in the proper form.
