

Have the Dining Room Pleasant

The dining room is one of the most important rooms in the house. This is where half of your home enjoyment is taken, and next to the food that is served, nothing lends more to the enjoyment than the dining room furniture.

We have just unpacked and placed on our floor another shipment of dining tables and dining room furniture to match.

Suites in Mahogany and Golden Oak.

We want you to come and look at these new things, which, while new and artistic, are priced at a figure you can afford to consider.

INDUSTRIAL WAR DESTRUCTIVE. Social Reforms Can Best Be Achieved When Production Is at High Level.

A world that has learned the destructiveness of force and violence in domestic and foreign politics, must now learn the danger and folly of violence in the carrying on of the industrial or economic functions of society. Mexico is a good example of the folly of factional warfare in adjusting the political problems of the nation. Cuba, by way of contrast, is finding political freedom as well as prosperity and contentment, through the influence of the United States in abandoning the practice of violent revolution. But the industrial organism is even more delicate in its adjustments than the political.

Harmony in the relations between capital and labor is far more beneficial to everybody concerned than is a victory for one side or the other that is gained as the result of bitter strife. It is now the accepted view that labor's reward must be as large as conditions permit, that hours of labor must be generally shorter than in times past, and that safeguards must be provided against the ills of unemployment and the anxiety that has been general for lack of a system to protect working people against poverty in old age or in times of sickness.

These social reforms can be best achieved where production is not curtailed. Labor will gain more in the long run through moderate methods than through extreme and menacing demands. The education of public opinion will accomplish more than strikes that inconvenience and therefore exasperate the public.—Review of Reviews.

Didn't Need It.

Sam had been a pretty sick stevedore, but he had been cheerful and was given extra attention at the hospital near Bordeaux. The nurse was especially insistent that Sam clean his teeth regularly and brought him tooth powder, brush and water before breakfast every morning. One day about noon Sam asked for his tooth powder. The nurse scolded and asked if he had not cleaned his teeth in the morning.

"Yes'm," replied Sam, "but I jes' wants my tooth powder."
"The nurse brought the powder, water and brush."
"I don't want the brush, miss," Sam expostulated. "I jes' goin' to powder 'em."—Stars and Stripes.
