Mr. and Mrs. W. A. George and daughter, Miss Glenn Marshall, who recently sold their place in Randolph and who leave Oct. 5 for California, where they will make a permanent home, were visitors in the city yesterday and accompanied by Mrs. W. F. Medcalf and Mrs. P. G. Reed of East Brookfield.

Carroll's eight-piece orchestra, which included Kenneth Gale, the well-known trombonist, who is here from Boston on a week's vacation, returned to Washington this morning, where they will furnish music on the fair grounds this afternoon and at the dance in the evening. Several cars followed the trail to Washington, as did many horse drawn vehicles.

As a heating plant for his three blocks running back from North Main street, A. Tomasi has installed a large 20-horse-power boiler. It has been installed in the basement of the brick block on North Main street and steam pipes will be run back to the other buildings. The boiler, which was once used at the Jones Brothers sheds, is about 20 feet in length and has two large fireboxes.

Sabin Miles, a brother of Arthur Miles of South Main street, who has spent the past week or so with his brother, returned to Boston yesterday. Mr. Miles has for many months been head waiter at the Ocean House in Swampscott, Mass., leaving that work to go to the West Indies. There, he will assume the management of the Titcheild hotel at Port Anthony, Jamaica, which is owned by the United Fruit Co. of Boston.

Henry Lundie, who for the past 10 days has been attending the annual convention of the Danish Brotherhood, held at Milwaukee, returned to his home in this city Monday night. Mr. Lundie represented Green Mountain lodge at this city and was among several hundred from all parts of the country. Besides the business meetings pleasure trips about the city were provided and a banquet at the lodge rooms in Racine, Wis., was enjoyed.

The work of revarnishing the 12 Aldrich public library tables and surrounding chairs is gradually being completed and in a few days both the adult and juvenile departments will be opened as before. At present only two tables are utilized by readers in the senior department, the rest being under the paint brush. Will Averill, who is doing the work, has been extremely careful with it, since they have not been revarnished since the opening of the library.

As secretary and representative of the local branch of the Barbers' union, Charles Collins of the Miers down-town shop attended the 15-day international barbers' convention in Buffalo, N. Y. Representatives from every union in the United States and some from Canada made no less than 900 barbers. During the convention many important questions were discussed and acted upon. The convention advocated more pay, bringing the minimum wage of $25 a week and a percentage of the work, and commensurate her school here, after a visit with friends and relatives here.

Some additional light on the career of the motorist who drove a Cole 8 automobile up and down Vermont and then abandoned the car in the woods of Hoosic, N. H., after stealing a battery in Barre, speeding off without paying for 18 gallons of gasoline at Bradford and evading the minions of the law in various places, is furnished by a letter to City Clerk Mackay of Barre from Clair J. Morey of Canandaigua, N. Y., who writes to secure information about a New York number plate which was stolen from his car at Canandaigua and which was on the car found in the Hoosic woods. The stolen car was not the property of Mr. Morey and he knows nothing about the affair except that one of his number plates was stolen and an effort was made to steal the other but in vain. The number plate was stolen from him on Sept. 14, that date indicating that the driver of the car must have made his way directly to Vermont as his first escapades were noted soon after that time. During his stay in Barre the motorist decamped with a battery from the Perry Auto Co.'s garage. The automobile which he had driven in his wild ride was stripped of its tires when found in Hoosic.

RANDOLPH

Miss Nettie Robbins, who has been overseas for more than a year, returned to her home here on Tuesday night for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Cora Robbins. Miss Robbins has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. canteen work for the most part of the time.

Mrs. Keyes, who was the guest of Mrs. J. H. Lamson for several weeks, left on Tuesday night for Montpelier, where she will pass a few days with friends.

Mrs. John Howell, who has been with her aunt, Mrs. N. C. Greene, and family for a few days' visit, returned to her home in Barre on Saturday.

Mr. Bullard, the night operator at the station, who has been here for a long time, has gone to St. Albans for a time, leaving here Saturday night.

Miss Mary Stockwell, who has been teaching in Beanville for this month, will soon go to East Granville to teach, the school at the former place having been given up on account of not having the required number of scholars.

Mr. and Mrs. Eileen Stevens have closed a visit of several days here and gone to their home in Lawrence, Mass.

Donald Salisbury, who has been passing his vacation in town, left on Tuesday for Philadelphia to enter the University of Pennsylvania, to resume his course there, which was interrupted by war conditions.

Arthur Cheney left Tuesday for Burlington to resume study at the U. V. M., where he had been previously.

Mrs. Eugenie Carrigan, living at Judge Rowell's, has gone to Montpelier and Barre for a few days' stay with friends.

Mrs. Martha Williams went to East Brattleboro on Tuesday for a visit with friends in that place.

Miss Mary Priest, Mrs. W. F. Edson and Miss Maude Johnson, her sister, who have been on an auto trip to Springfield, Mass., returned on Tuesday forenoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Locklin of St. Albans arrived here on Tuesday, for a short visit with the latter's father, F. A. Fortin.

L. F. Butman, the manager of the Hood milk plant, has been confined to the house by illness for a few days, but on Tuesday was able to be out, and is much improved.

Mrs. Sadie Boyden, of Boston is in town visiting friends, coming at this time to visit her sister, Mrs. Mabel Adams.

Mrs. Melvin Cooper and three children have come to visit the former's father, A. U. Stephen, for a time, and Mr. Stephen's son, Edward Stephen, of Morrisville is also here for a time.

SOUTH RANDOLPH

C. I. Hood was a business caller here last week.

Mrs. Ruth (Riford) Hamilton of Somerville, Mass., is visiting at Willow farm. Clara Riford came with her to commence her school here, after a visit with her aunt.

Miss Agnes Preston has returned to her home in Bethel, after spending some time with her sister, Mary, here.

Clynt Hyde of Haverhill, Mass., has returned to his home, after a visit with friends and relatives here.

Dr. C. P. House of Orville, Wash., and Mrs. Herbert Wight were callers at J. C. Greene's last week.

Miss Linda Tracy Hanks of New York City, daughter of the late Dr. Horace Hanks of this town, was invited early in the season by the superintendent of schools in Augusta, Me., to supervise the work of the children in the vacation summer school gardens. Miss Hanks accepted and found the work very interesting. The idea is to arouse the ambition of the scholars to have school gardens and productive home gardens, and to encourage them to cultivate and beautify their home gardens, and evidently to induce the young on farms to be content with the possibilities of their own home town.

Mrs. H. T. Hanks of New York City has been visiting for a few days this last week at J. C. Greene's.

E. Barton Camp, who, when he was 16 years old, drove a Ford car twice across the continent, and has driven cars since for more than 25,000 miles without an accident, has finally met his first accident, but he was probably not to blame, as he was run into by a motorcycle running at a terrific speed and probably out of control by the driver. The motorcycle had attached to it a side car with one person in it, besides the driver. There were five persons in the Chevrolet and they were going down a mill (the short hill near C. C. Gifford's) and the motorcycle was coming up hill, but the speed was so terrific when it struck the car just inside of the left wheel, that it drew the Camp car back into the road and up the hill several feet and into the middle of the road, shaved off three 3/4 inch bolts attached to the springs, and nearly doubled up the front axle. The motorcycle was not so badly injured, but the front wheel and fork were somewhat demolished. No one was seriously hurt in either car. C. C. Gifford towed the Camp car to its home garage, Charles Stanley and friends of Washington, who were making the circuit, via Barre, Royald and back by Chelsea, had their car towed into the Camp garage at about the same time and left it there for repairs. Ransom Buck carried the party to their homes that evening.
