DEBATE TURNED INTO FREE FIGHT

Italian Chamber of Deputies the Scene of Riotous Time

ABOUT 100 DEPUTIES PARTICIPATED IN IT

All the Members of the Cabinet May Resign Because of the Occurrence

Rome, Sunday, Sept. 28.—Debate in the Chamber of Deputies was interrupted to-day by a free fight which lasted 10 minutes and in which about 100 deputies participated. The opinion is expressed in some quarters that the cabinet, as a result of the riotous incident, may decide to resign rather than plunge the country into a struggle during the general election. It is asserted the fight in the chamber indicates what would occur in the country.

All the members of the Chamber of Deputies with the exception of the official socialist voted confidence in Premier Nitti in the chamber to-day. Ten members refrained from casting their ballots.

The correct figures for the vote are 208 to 148 instead of 208 to 140 as at first reported.

The chamber adjourned to-night until Wednesday, when it will decide whether a vote shall be taken on the question of discussing the peace treaties.

In consequence of the fight in the chamber several duels were announced between deputies and between deputies and journalists.

A prolonged heated discussion preceded the riotous scene. The members of the parliamentary league insisted upon asking the government whether it intended to discuss the treaties before adjournment. Premier Nitti answered that he would first have a vote of confidence and then whatever cabinet should be in power would decide what should be done.

Thereupon members of the parliamentary league invaded the ministers' bench, shouting and gesticulating.

CENSUS CLERKS WANTED

Examinations Will Be Held in 21 Places in Vermont.

The United States civil service commission announces that on Oct. 18, 1919, and Nov. 15, 1919, examinations will be held in 21 cities and towns of Vermont for appointment to the position of clerk (male and female) in the bureau of census at Washington, D. C. Several thousand appointments for the 14th decennial census will probably be made from the registers of eligibles established as a result of this examination, at entrance salaries ranging from $900 to $1,020 a year. Promotions through the various grades to $1,080 and $1,380, will be reasonably rapid for those whose services justify advancement.

Appointees whose ability and qualifications justify such action will also be allowed the increase granted by Congress of $20 a month, beginning with the second month of service.

All appointments will be temporary and subject to termination as the exigencies of the service may require, but it is expected that the length of service will range from one to two years, but in no case extending beyond June 30, 1922. Applicants will not be eligible for appointment or transfer to any other bureau or service as a result of this examination. Appointments are restricted to one member of a family.

Applicants must have reached their 18th but not their 50th birthday on the date of the examination.

Persons who are habitually addicted to the use of intoxicants; who have been guilty of infamous or notoriously disgraceful conduct; or who are physically or mentally unable to perform the required duties, will not be eligible for examination or appointment.

As provided by the census act, appointments will be apportioned among the states, territories and the District of Columbia in conformity with the law of apportionment now provided for the classified service.

Subject to the law of apportionment, appointments will be made from the eligible registers in the order of rating.

Applicants may be examined at any place at which this examination is held, regardless of their place of residence; but only those who have been actually domiciled in the state or territory in which they reside for at least one year previous to the examination, and who have the country officer's certificate in the application form executed, may become eligible for appointment for the entire decennial census period.

In case the exigencies of the service so require, the director may appoint persons who have passed the examination herein provided for, by reason of residence or other conditions, are immediately available, but such emergency appointments cannot exceed six months' duration.

Applicants must submit to the examiner on the day of examination their photographs, taken within two years, securely pasted in the space provided on the admission cards sent them after their applications are filed. Proofs or group photographs will not be accepted. Photographs will not be returned to applicants.

This examination is open to all citizens of the United States who meet the requirements.

Applicants should at once apply for form 304, stating the title of the examination desired, to the civil service commission, Washington, D. C., or to the secretary of the United States civil service board at any place listed hereon.

Applications should be properly executed, including the medical certificate, and filed with the commission at Washington in time to arrange for the examination at the place selected by the applicant.

The Vermont places where examinations will be held are: Barre, Bellows Falls, Bennington, Brandon, Brattleboro, Burlington, Lyndonville, Middlebury, Montpelier, Morrisville, Newport, Northfield, Randolph, Rutland, St. Albans, St. Johnsbury, Springfield, Swanton, White River Junction, Windsor, Woodstock.

TRYING TO RUN BRITISH TRAINS

Only Skeleton Schedules on Lines Out of London Attempted

SCOTTISH RAILWAYS ARE NOT OPERATING

Irish Roads Are as Yet Not Involved in the Strike

London, Sept. 29.—Railroads running out of London attempted to-day to operate trains on skeleton schedules. Hitherto the strike has caused almost total suspension of traffic on English roads.

Ninety per cent of the railway workers in Scotland are idle, but a few trains were run there on Saturday for passengers and perishable goods. Reports state these trains were operated by union men who were desirous of getting to their homes and that these men have nearly all joined those who obeyed the first call from the national union of the railway men. Irish roads are not as yet involved in the strike but the men there have been instructed by union heads to hold themselves in readiness to walk out at any moment.

The concern is felt over the possibility of the strike spreading to the miners and transport workers' unions, which are affiliated with the national union of the railway men. James Henry Thomas, leader of the railroad workers, said yesterday he would ask the assistance of the triple alliance only in case he could not fight the railroad question alone.

Robert Smilie, leader of the miners' union, speaking at Glasgow last night, said that, because of the fact that the mines and railroads were closely related, 90 per cent of the coal diggers of the country would be idle in a few days.

London is being fed by fleets of motor lorries, which bring milk and other foodstuffs to the city. The government appealed to the people to economize as much as possible in their fuel and food.

Miss Eleanor Hopwood has been placed in charge of food distribution in this city. She has long been assistant commissioner in the ministry of food, and was previously secretary to a big commercial firm. She takes an optimistic view. The public need not worry, in her view, as she is confident that the strikers will be defeated. She says the government's appeal for volunteers to operate the railroads and other essential services of the country is meeting with a big response.

One hundred thousand miners are idle in the South Wales coal fields as a result of the railroad strike. Many collieries are closing down and the Swansea harbor trade is paralyzed.

DEMAND MADE FOR FIUME

Italian Chamber of Deputies Said to Have Passed Resolution.

Paris, Sept. 29.—A resolution demanding that Fiume be made an Italian city has been passed by the Italian Chamber of Deputies, according to information received by the Italian delegation here.

Sugar Shortage Bought and Paid For.

Is it not about time to sell to the people of the United States what sugar they need? All through the strenuous days of the war, patriotic Americans willing denied themselves sugar, that the boys in the service and the starving allies might be supplied. An armistice went into effect Nov. 11, 1918, and conditions applying to the supply of sugar to the refineries of the United States soon approached normal. In fact, a large share of the time since the armistice, the refineries have been handling an amount of sugar in excess of that handled before the war.

But this, there has been, for months, an acute sugar shortage in many parts of the country. An equalization board, it is said, apportions the amount of sugar going from these refineries and there is a price limit fixed. A certain percentage of the sugar output goes to the candy makers and the manufacturers of soft drinks. Another percentage, a large one, is exported. What is left goes into the retail trade, and the amount allowed to the retail trade is so small that grocers are besieged by housewives in a daily campaign to procure, in small lots, a moiety of sugar with which to supply the table. Canning and preserving in the homes, such as are carried on in the homes to an extent aggregating many millions of dollars in value annually, have been made impossible, or curtailed greatly, because of lack of sugar. Large quantities of fruits and berries, which might have been canned, have spoiled. More will spoil if sugar for the canning is not available soon. Refineries the while, have been exporting large quantities of sugar. The charge is made that they prefer to export rather than to sell at the price fixed in the United States because they can get a higher price abroad. But there is another factor.

Refiners who buy raw sugar in Cuba pay thereon a duty varying according to different polariscope tests from 7.5 of a cent to 1.36 cent a pound import duty. They are entitled, after having refined this sugar, if the export it, to receive a drawback not exceeding 99 per cent of the import duty. In practice this works out about one cent a pound. In other words, the advantage to the refiner between selling to the domestic trade at $8.85 per hundredweight and selling the same sugar coming originally from Cuba for export at $8.85 per hundredweight is $1 or the exact amount of the drawback. An embargo on sugar, until such time as the domestic demand is well supplied, might be an effective preventive of sugar shortage in the United States. It is not sense to allow fruits to spoil for lack of preserving sugar, thus causing the loss of large quantities of food for Americans, for the simple reason that there is more money in exporting sugar than there is in selling it in the home market.

In addition, for every one hundred pounds of sugar imported into the United States, refined here and exported, the revenue to the government is decreased by $1 refunded. Thus the government actually pays the exporting refiner $1 per hundredweight for all such sugar (originally imported) refined and exported. In fact, the government may be said to cause the sugar shortage and to pay the refiners for maintaining it. An embargo on sugar until the domestic demand is supplied would do two things. It would stop the sugar shortage at home. It would increase the government tariff revenue by millions of dollars.—Boston Transcript.

New IDEAL-Arcola Radiator-Boiler

Puts IDEAL HOT WATER HEATING comfort at low cost in cottages, flats, or stores, with or without cellars.

The IDEAL-Arcola takes the place of a parlor stove. But a stove wastes much of its heat up the chimney, whereas the IDEAL-Arcola is water-jacketed, and conveys its heat by hot water circulation through pipe-connected AMERICAN Radiators stationed in the adjoining rooms. Every bit of the big volume of heat developed from each pound of fuel is therefore made useful in keeping ALL the rooms uniformly, healthfully warm. There is no coal-waste. The IDEAL-Arcola does not rust out or wear out—will outlast the building —is a genuine, permanent investment!

Shipped complete ready for immediate operation The beauty of the IDEAL-Arcola method is that no cellar is needed. Everything is on one floor. The Arcola is placed in any room that has a chimney connection. No running to cellar. If there are two or more tenants in the building, each can have his own Arcola and make the temperature to suit his own needs—can make his own climate! If you do not wish at first to heat the entire building, buy a small size IDEAL-Arcola and later on buy extra sections for the IDEAL-Arcola and two or three more radiators to warm more rooms.

Simple way of heating a four-room cellarless cottage by IDEAL-Arcola Radiator-Boiler and three AMERICAN Radiators.

Cleanly heating—healthful heating—free from fire risk!

Unlike stoves, there are no coal-gas leaks into the living-rooms. The IDEAL-Arcola delivers the soft, radiant warmth of hot water—not the dry, burnt-out atmosphere of stove heating. There is no fire-risk to building—no danger to children—fire lasts for hours! The Arcola burns hard or soft coal, coke, gas, or wood. Brings cost of heating down to the lowest notch—and gives IDEAL comfort.

Catalog showing open views of houses, individual flats, stores, offices, etc., with the IDEAL-Arcola Boiler in position will be mailed (free). Write today.

Cook an onion with your summer squash. It is said to be an improvement.

When making toast, it improves it both in taste and digestibility if the slices are laid in the open oven for a little while before toasting them. They will toast better and more evenly for this advance treatment.

A Correspondent of the Hartford (Conn.) Courant tells how grape juice may be made without cooking. The directions are as follows: After sterilizing your jars (preferably those with glass covers), and rubbers, put one cup of perfectly clean and sound grapes in a quart jar, adding one-half cup of sugar. Fill to the very brim with boiling water, cover, and put in a dark closet, or wrap the jars in paper. It will take some little time for the grapes to dissolve but when they do, you will find you have the best of grape juice. There will be nothing but the hulls left at the bottom of the jar and the juice will be clear and fine.

Fall Preserve Making. Picnic!—One-half peck of onions, and the same of green tomatoes. Slice, sprinkle salt through them, and let them stand overnight. In the morning drain off the water. Put over the fire with enough weak vinegar to cover, and let it simmer slowly until a little tender, but not cooked to pieces. Drain in a colander and put a layer of the pickle in a jar. Sprinkle over black mustard seed, cinnamon, cloves, allspices and a little sugar. Continue with the layers and spice until the jar is filled. Sprinkle plenty of spice over the top, pour over cold, strong vinegar, cover tight and set away.

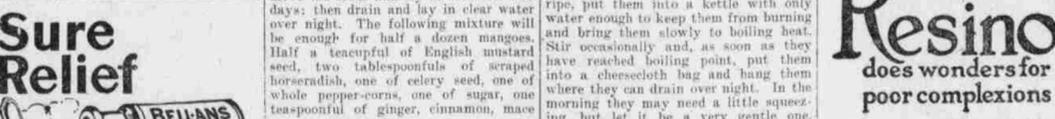

Nasturtiums—Take the small, green seeds, put them in salt and water, changing it twice in a week. Turn off the brine and replace with scalding vinegar. Musk Melon Mangoes—After cutting off one end, or a strip out of one side, remove the seeds and lay in brine for two days; then drain and lay in clear water overnight. The following mixture will be enough for half a dozen mangoes. Half a teaspoonful of English mustard seed, two tablespoonfuls of scraped horseradish, one of celery seed, one of whole pepper-corns, one of sugar, one teaspoonful of ginger, cinnamon, mace

Poker Playing in Vermont.

"The Brattleboro experiment in strict enforcement of the Sunday laws may furnish a basis of adherence to the laws throughout the remainder of the state. If Sunday baseball and golf are stopped at Brattleboro by law rather than by the weather it is probable that similar action will follow in other sections."—Barre Times.

No doubt there will be strong adherents to the rigid enforcement of the laws directed against Sunday baseball and Sunday golf in many sections of the state.

If the angelic factions are to make a state-wide campaign against golf, ball and other healthy amusements, we trust they will be informed as to the extent of the grounds for action that this splendid old "blue law" allows them. We hope they know that the provisions of the law will allow them to put the kibosh on that Sunday afternoon flivver trip, that it is against the law to go galavanting all over the country with a poor old nag that has already done six full days' work. Among other things we hope to see stopped is piazza and parlor visits between neighbor John's family and that of neighbor Jack, the Sunday afternoon stroll, so long in favor with young lovers, candy pulls, song-fests and other dangerous forms of amusement. Oh, yes, and unnumberable poker games that go on behind drawn curtains each Sabbath day in every small town in Vermont. May they not forget these. Let's make the communities of Vermont decent places in which to live!—Swanton Courier.

Thoroughly ripe grapes make a dark, thick-looking jelly, that candies; but unripe grapes have a much finer flavor, and make a light, red-colored jelly.

Green Grape Jelly—Gather the grapes which just ready to turn color. Cook with just water enough to prevent scorching, stirring carefully. Simmer slowly for an hour, drain and add the sugar in the proportion of one pound for every pint of the juice. Heat the sugar in the oven before adding, and stir it steadily till it is thoroughly dissolved. Let it boil for about one minute, then pour into glasses.

Ripe Grape Jelly—Wash the grapes, drain and wash them. Put them into a kettle and heat until the juice separates from the pulp and skins. Strain through a jelly bag. Measure and proceed as directed for green grape jelly.

Grape Jam—Wash the grapes and squeeze the pulp from the skins. Boil the pulp until it separates from the seeds and rub it through a sieve. Then add the skins to the pulp and boil with an equal weight of sugar 15 minutes. Put into small jars or tumblers and seal securely with paper.

Grape Preserve—Press the pulp from each grape. Boil the pulp until tender, then press them through a coarse sieve to remove the seeds. Mix the skins with the pulp and juice, and add as many cupfuls of sugar as there are of grapes. Boil all together until well thickened. Seal while hot.

Grape Juice—Select grapes not too ripe, put them into a kettle with only water enough to keep them from burning and bring them slowly to boiling heat. Stir occasionally and, as soon as they have reached boiling point, put them into a cheesecloth bag and hang them in a warm place until they are nearly dry. Strain the juice through a clean bag, add sugar to taste. Put over the fire, bring to a boil and skim. As soon as it boils clear, not thick, take from the fire and bottle. Dorothy Dexter.
