AMUSEMENT NOTES

DeRue Bros' Ideal Minstrels to Be Given Thursday Evening.

One of the principal features with DeRue Bros' Ideal Minstrels will be the appearance of the Leley brothers in America, direct from the tour of the principal cities in Europe which included a ten weeks' engagement at the Coliseum Hippodrome in London, England, where their act met with great favor and was witnessed by DeRue Bros', European agent, and immediately they were engaged for their first return appearance in America. They have the distinction of being one of the few acrobatic duos which have performed before royalty. Their sensational novelty is without doubt the most marvelous performance which has been seen in America, performing seemingly impossible feats of acrobatic agility. DeRue Bros. guarantee the appearance of this feature act at each and every performance, at the opera house on Thursday, Oct. 2.—Adv.

"Fair and Warmer"

"Fair and Warmer," the Avery Hopwood farce with which Spaeth & Co. made the outstanding hit of last season in New York, and which they will present to local playgoers at the opera house on Wednesday, Oct. 1, has a most uncommon distinction. During the year of its run at the Harris and Eltinge theatre, it was advertised only by its audience. The billboards which were allotted to it were used by other plays, and the theatrical printing ordered for it waited in the store rooms. "Fair and Warmer" sold out on its second night at the Eltinge theatre. Every night thereafter was sold out from one to twenty days ahead, and advertising was needless. It was not till Spaeth & Co. placed this merriest of farces on tour that they began to advertise, and then only to advise the persons who were looking out for it the date of its arrival. It comes here with an ideal cast of farceurs.—adv.

Macasheba attention! The regular meeting of Harmon Review, No. 1, will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Guards are requested to be at the hall at 7 o'clock for practice.

Aspirants to the army life are very scarce in this city, according to the report given by First Lieutenant Herbert Ernest to-day. The four days' recruiting in this city, has been all in vain, so the officers have now turned their attention to Montpelier, where they hope to secure a few recruits before pulling stakes here next Thursday morning. It was the intention of the party to leave this city yesterday, taking their equipment and tents to Montpelier, but a break in the army truck necessitated the stay in Barre and they now await special parts from Boston.

Lieutenant Ernest attributes the lack of recruits in this city to the exceedingly good labor conditions here and takes note that practically no young men are idling about the streets during working hours.

This party, which left the fort about two months ago, has secured quite a number of enlistments in its itinerary, which included many Vermont towns. Montpelier is the last town scheduled for them, and if the truck is repaired by Thursday the soldiers will return to Fort Ethan Allen.

MONTPELIER

The fire department was called out about 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon for the first time since July 15 for a small fire burning in the hen house of Mrs. Harry Walley on First avenue. The property is owned by Mrs. Cantillon. The fire appeared to have originated from combustion of sawdust and leaves in the house, which had been shut up since noon, when Mrs. Walley fed the chickens, of which there were about 35. These appeared to have been roasted. The loss of these and some $50 damage done to the property was the extent of damage.

The large part of Monday was occupied in probate court with the settlement of the estate of Clara I. Patterson, late of Plainfield. Dean Towne objected to the settlement and H. W. Scott appeared in his behalf. Wheeler J. Batchelder, the administrator, however, finally settled his account. Harold Fitts of Barre was appointed administrator, with will annexed, of the estate of Emily J. Waters, late of Barre.

Glen Hackett has been discharged from the army. He enlisted from Montpelier early in the war, going into the cavalry at Fort Ethan Allen. His father lives in California. One morning, about the time that this country entered the war, Mr. Hackett appeared at the stamp window of the local postoffice, inquiring of George Whelan, the clerk on duty, relative to what he would advise in connection with enlisting instead of waiting for the draft. This he did. Mr. Whelan kept in touch with him, but was surprised the latter part of last week to see the young man walk into the office, saying he had his discharge. He has since obtained his state pay.

Henry Hall of the auditor's office has gone to Augusta, Me., in connection with his new duties in the new financial system, which the board of control is installing in the state offices.

"Are the hours going to be changed in the offices at the State House" is the question that was on the tongue of almost every clerk Monday when the newspaper men visited the several offices. It appears that someone started the report and the clerks seemed to believe that the newspaper men ought to know if there was anything to it. It appears that the rumor started from a casual comment made, that some of the clerks were getting into the office pretty late and that possibly it would be advisable to change the morning hours from 8 to 8:30 o'clock and the departure time from 5 to 5:30. No one on the board of control seemed to know anything about it Monday.

Louis Bardis, who has a shoeshine parlor and had cleaning place in Montpelier, left a few weeks ago to visit his home in Greece and is now in the army. He expected to bring his wife back to this country, but upon his arrival at Greece, he was at once taken in custody and placed in the army. A similar regulation is effective relative to those who go back to Italy. Mr. Bardis will probably have to serve three years.

Karl Forsell of Glens Falls, N. Y., is visiting with E. E. Dodge, his father-in-law, who is very low.

The committee from the Community club has made arrangements with the trustees of the Wood Art gallery for the use of those rooms which the Y. M. C. A. used when it was in operation in the city. The writings have not been drawn up yet, but it is expected they will be in a few days. The rooms are very suitable for the Community club. The only big drawback is the heating plant, which was a costly affair to the persons who tried to use it to heat the building, and it is understood that this is to be put in a suitable condition before the final arrangements are accepted by the Community club.

A divorce has been granted Agnes M. Benedict from Fred Benedict, in county court, and the custody of the minor child given to the petitioner.

The board of charities and probate has interested itself in the family of Michael Good, with the result that the children have been taken from the home and are to be cared for by relatives.
