

MAZOLA brings fried foods to the table tender and dry—never greasy or soggy. Because you can heat it so much hotter than other frying fats, a crisp crust is quickly formed, thus Mazola does not soak into your foods.

And remember: Mazola does not evaporate. It is pure and contains no water or air—another economy feature—that has put Mazola in the kitchens of expert cooks.

ABDUCTED MAN RETURNS HOME

William O. Jenkins, U. S. Consular Agent at Puebla, Captive Since Oct. 19

RANSOM WAS PAID FOR HIS RELEASE

His Condition Is Such That He Cannot Give Details of Experience

Mexico City, Oct. 28.—The release of William O. Jenkins, United States consular agent at Puebla, who was held captive by Mexican bandits in the mountains south of that city and who returned to Puebla yesterday, was affected by one lone man, Senor Mestre, the personal attorney of Jenkins, according to advices received here.

At the beginning of the negotiations for the ransom of Jenkins, Federico Cordova, the leader of the bandits, stipulated that any effort on the part of the consular agent's friends to appear in force at the bandit rendezvous would result in the death of the captive. Senor Mestre, therefore, met Cordova at Hacienda Chavarrá, about two hours' run by automobile south of Puebla. He was then conducted to a room where he found Jenkins lying on a bed. After a short rest the ransom money, $300,000, Mexican, was counted out and a receipt was signed by Cordova. Jenkins was then released.

Few details of incidents which occurred during Jenkins' week of captivity have been learned, as he is not physically able to tell much of his experiences in the mountains except that his abductors were on the move continually to guard against attacks. They treated their prisoner with every consideration possible, however, it is said. Forced to sleep on the wet ground during a week of daily rains, Jenkins suffered a recurrence of rheumatic attacks, which rendered him almost helpless. He is now in the American hospital at Puebla.

TUNBRIDGE

Death of Gideon Avery, Civil War Veteran, and of Mrs. Julia N. Durkee.

Gideon H. Avery, a Civil war veteran, died at the Randolph sanatorium Saturday, as a result of mortification. Some 12 years since, one limb was amputated above the knee as a relief for the same affection. He is survived by a widow, now living with her children in a western state. The first wife, who was Hannah Titus, deceased about 15 years since. Funeral services were conducted by the G. A. R. post Monday and burial was at the village cemetery.

Mrs. Julia N. Durkee died Oct. 19 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Huntington. The funeral was held on Wednesday from the home of her son, Baxter H. Durkee, and burial was at the Durkee cemetery. She was one of seven daughters of Freeman and Clarissa (Stiles) Saunders and was 82 years of age. She is survived by two sisters, two daughters, Mrs. Ed. Brown and Mrs. E. E. Ellis of Brookfield, beside the daughter and son above mentioned, also several grandchildren.

The body of Mrs. Mary (Bellou) White was brought Sunday for burial in the Durkee cemetery. She was a former resident of this town and has many relatives here and in Chelsea. Her late home was near East Bethel. Mrs. J. S. Farnham and daughter, Louise, started Friday on an extended trip, stopping a few days with Harold at Northampton, Mass., and probably extending to New York City, Brunswick, N. J., and the South.

Colburn Fish went last week to Leominster, Mass., with E. B. Richardson and family, who were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Moody.

Rev. J. C. Mitchell is expected here this week and services will be held at both churches next Sunday.

Mrs. Emily Lamb spent the week end in Chelsea at the home of J. D. Ballou and family.

"It's the Bean"

A Secret Known Only to a Handful of Men

MANY of the most famous things of the world are made from formulas. Steel is made from formulas. Gunpowder, automobile tires—even bread and those delicious cakes and pies for which New England is justly celebrated. And the most talked about, most carefully guarded La Touraine formula is the reason for the complete coffee satisfaction that comes to you in every pound bag of La Touraine Coffee. It is the hidden secret of La Touraine fragrance; its body, its changeless quality, its real coffee-goodness. Behind this La Touraine formula is the selection of coffee beans from plantations that produce the choicest crops of the coffee world. These coffee beans are carefully roasted and scientifically blended into La Touraine Coffee-goodness, so that every cup of La Touraine you drink is coffee at perfection.

WATERBURY

Funeral of Mrs. Constantine B. O'Brien Held at St. Andrew's Church.

The funeral of Mrs. Constantine B. O'Brien took place last Wednesday morning from the home of Mrs. O'Brien's parents and later from St. Andrew's church, Waterbury, where a requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Robert Devoy, pastor, assisted by Rev. John A. Lynch of Northfield and Rev. Charles Dodge, S. S. E., of St. Michael's college, Winoski. Burial was made in the Holy Cross cemetery, Waterbury, where Rev. Fr. Devoy officiated. The bearers were three brothers of Mrs. O'Brien's husband, Thomas H. George A. and Andrew J. O'Brien, Thomas and William O'Neill of Waterbury and James S. O'Brien of Winoski.

Mrs. O'Brien's maiden name was Philomena Fields. She was born in Oakland, Cal., where she was married 11 years ago, her parents having been among the first settlers of St. Mary's parish. She was educated in St. Mary's parochial schools and Heald's Business college, and since her marriage has been an active member of Sacred Heart church.

She was respected and loved for her many beautiful Christian traits of character and was especially esteemed for her remarkable deeds of kindness and charity, that were so unsparringly and unselfishly performed, her hospitality and love of home, showing a devotion that was admirable and exemplary.

Although suffering from ill health for some time, she bravely made the trip across the continent to attend the 50th wedding anniversary of her husband's parents and tried in a jubilant way to enter into the spirit of the family reunion. When no improvement of her condition was noted, she was taken to the Fanny Allen hospital, where she had the very best attention, but all efforts were in vain. She died on Monday morning, surrounded by her husband and his two brothers and two sisters, besides her nurse and a good sister of the hospital.

She leaves her husband, two sisters, a brother and two nieces, all of whom have the deepest sympathy of their many friends of Vermont and California in the sad bereavement they have sustained.

Library Association Held its Annual Meeting Last Saturday.

At the annual meeting of the library association held Saturday reports from last year's officers were read and adopted and the following officers were elected: President, Rev. J. Wesley Miller; vice-president, Rev. Will C. Harvey; Prin. W. T. Davis and Mrs. Charles Batchelder; secretary and treasurer, Guy Wilson; Librarian, Mrs. A. Leo Cady; assistant Miss Dorothy Cady; executive committee, John J. Wilson, Mrs. C. D. Cusling and Mrs. A. Washburn; book committee, John Noble, Mrs. Guy Wilson and Mrs. Mary Parker.

Miss Ruth Leonard, substitute teacher of grades six and seven, has been taken by Miss Dorothy Parker.

The film production from Master-link's "Bluebird," will be given under the auspices of the Women's club at the Bascom theatre both matinee and evening next Thursday.

Mrs. C. G. Clifford of the school committee was at high school yesterday and informed the students that the selection had granted the use of the town hall for basketball another season. The same price as last year will be charged, $5 for each game. For practice purposes the basketball team will pay for heat and lights only and will confine itself to the hours and days designated.

Mrs. J. H. Bedwith yesterday entered the sanatorium for treatment. Leo Wight of Hollowell, Me., a native of this village is here to visit his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Wight.

Road Commissioner P. A. Bowen has finished graveling the road from the Randolph line to Harold C. Bowen's. This was the worst stretch of road in this vicinity. The improvements at this place have taken several years in straightening, widening and reducing grades. The graveling cost $840.19.

Cards have been received announcing the marriage Oct. 22 at the bride's home of H. Raymond Paige, formerly of this place, and Miss Hattie M. Haven of South Londonderry. They will be at home in Burlington after Nov. 1.

Anti-Mittinen yesterday accompanied his daughter, Lino, a high school student, to the Pembroke sanatorium in Concord, N. H. for treatment.

Mrs. David Wylie and Miss Geneva Wylie were in Barre last Saturday.

NEWBURY

Newbury abounds in historical homes and one of these homes which connects the past with the present is that fine old colonial residence situated at the Oakhow—the residence of Deacon Sidney Johnson. The builder of this, Col. Thomas Johnson, was a man of affairs, one of Newbury's first merchants, a large landholder, "a monarch of all he surveyed." He was a progressive man, a builder of homes. His first house was built in 1706. In 1775 he built the square house now the home of Charles Dodge and in 1809 he laid the foundation and built upon it a home indicative of his wealth and station. Here he entertained and dispensed his hospitality. The broad hall with its graceful staircase, the spacious rooms, the dance hall, which long ago resounded with song and laughter, clearly indicate the character of the man who was one of the rulers of Newbury 100 years ago. His death occurred Jan. 4, 1819, and his funeral sermon was preached by Rev. David Sutherland, a noted divine of a century ago. In this stately old home, which has withstood the storms of New England winters for 119 years, there gathered last Saturday evening, in response to an invitation given by the wife of the great-grandson of its builder, Mrs. Haines Johnson (who, by the way, is a breeze from the White mountains, as she was formerly a Franconia girl) fifty friends and relatives, who came to help and enjoy an old-fashioned quilting bee given in the hostess in honor of Mrs. D. S. Jones, the wife of the principal of the Newbury high school, who soon will commence housekeeping in the Dr. Darling house on Pine street. After a busy social evening, refreshments were served and again the old home, with its many pleasant memories, was made merry with song and laughter.

Dr. Harris Watkins of Burlington, a brother of Mrs. A. W. Silsby, was in town for a day last week.

Mrs. C. F. Darling has closed her house and will spend the winter with her daughter, Miss Jeanie Darling, in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Neave of Easton, Pa., were in town the first of the week, calling on friends. Mrs. Neave will be remembered as Miss Rosa Chamberlin.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Silsby have closed their home and will winter in Hartford, Conn.
