A pleasant surprise was recently given Miss Ruby George, who for the past six weeks has been confined to her bed at 14 Elmore street. It was in the form of a sunshine bag, containing a bath robe from the Victory Loan club of which she was a member, a pair of house slippers and a book from the employees of the Woolworth store, a small sum of money and many other gifts from her many friends. Much credit was given Misses Ruth Woodcock, Genevieve Sullivan and Mary Stephen, who were the means of making the surprise a great success.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Lee of Milwaukee, Wis., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mildred Lee, Francis E. Marrion, formerly of Chicago, Ill. Mr. Marrion was born in Barre and is the son of the late E. O. Marrion, founder of the Marrion Cigar store of this city. He now makes his headquarters in Chicago, as assistant manager of the Black & Decker Manufacturing Co. of Baltimore, Md. The wedding will take place in April of next year at Long Beach, Cal., where Mrs. Lee and her daughter are spending the winter.

The most successful fair in the annals of the Ladies Aid and Ladies Auxiliary is the verdict of those who had in charge the necessary arrangements and Saturday night was a fitting climax for over 600 admissions were paid to listen to the program and indulge in the dancing which continued until midnight. It was remarked by many that the hall never before held so many at one time so congested was it during the early part of the evening. A program that was up to the standard of the two previous nights delighted. It consisted of selections by the Zaitz troupe, instrumentalists, vocal solos by Mrs. Alex McHaffie and George McLeod and exhibition dancing by the two favorites, the Naughton sisters, music for the latter being furnished by Piper W. B. Scott. Carroll's orchestra furnished an excellent brand of music to a crowd of dancers while announcements of different character attracted others. The clausmen will realize a good sum from their efforts and feel extremely grateful for the generous patronage accorded them by the public.

EAST BARRE
Farewell Reception Tendered Mr. and Mrs. J. P. O'Hagan.
On Friday evening, about 200 of the friends, neighbors and members of Court Fay Sheridan, Foresters of America, tendered a farewell reception to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. O'Hagan, who leave this week for their new home in Essex. The first of the evening songs were rendered by Paul Snow, Victor Bixby and William Blanchard; an Irish reading by Dr. Roscoe Avery; a fairy dance by 10 little girls, chanted by George Lawson. Neddo's orchestra of Webster-ville furnished music for dancing. Mr. and Mrs. O'Hagan have resided in Barre Town over 22 years. During that time Mr. O'Hagan has served on the board of listers and the prudential committee of the East Barre fire district. He has been financial secretary to the Foresters the past 18 years. In behalf of those present, Dr. N. E. Avery presented them an art square. Refreshments were served.

WIFE WANTS DIVORCE.

Claims Her Husband Deceived Her About His Age.
St. Albans, Nov. 17.—From the matrimonial bureau to the divorce court is the case of Mrs. Martha Esmond vs. Dr. Henry B. Esmond, trial of which was suspended in Franklin county court late Saturday morning when a recess was taken to the first Monday in January, 1920, after the libellant had rested and the libellee had stated that it would be impossible to put in his evidence in less than two days.

Judge Harrie B. Chase, who is presiding, was obliged to leave here Saturday and his time will be occupied in other courts until next year. After the libellant rested, the libellee made a motion for dismissal, which was denied. Trial of the case was begun last Thursday afternoon. The grounds alleged are intemperance and neglect and refusal to support, and Mrs. Esmond bases her accusation of intemperance partially upon the doctor's alleged devotion and fraud regarding his past life.

It appeared, according to the libellant's testimony, that although Dr. Esmond represented himself, when he replied to her matrimonial advertisement, as a man of good character and standing, he was arrested while he and Mrs. Esmond were on their wedding trip to Toronto, and also various matters regarding her husband's past life have come to Mrs. Esmond's attention from time to time. She testified that on her second visit to him when he was in jail she received a message before she reached him telling her to call for Marcus Eastman.

In the trial of the case Police Officer Dawson of Toronto testified that the man gave the name of Marcus Eastman when he was arrested. Mrs. Esmond testified regarding the use of profane, abusive and vile language as the result of which she suffered from loss of sleep, could not eat, her nerves were impaired and she was obliged to seek advice from doctors. It was brought out that this date she does not know on what charge her husband was arrested at Toronto.

A series of exhibits were offered by the libellant as follows:
A copy of an indictment filed in 1890 in the United States district court in New York containing the plea of guilty, by Henry Fredland Bradbury, setting out that Bradbury undertook to make fraudulent use of the mails by sending out pamphlets advertising falsely that there was a medical school at Bennington, Vt., known as Trinity University, of which he was dean. The purpose was to get people to purchase from him bogus certificates and diplomas to practice medicine.
A certificate of probate records in Boston, subsequent to the plea of guilty, whereby Henry Fredland Bradbury changed his name to Henry Bradbury Esmond.

Copy of a decree of divorce secured at the June, 1907, term of Bennington county court by Anna S. Esmond, for intemperance severity.
Copy of a bill of divorce granted to Fieda C. Esmond at the June, 1914, term of Windsor county court for intemperance severity.
Saturday morning the indictment and plea of guilty in U. S. court were admitted temporarily by the court but later on an attempt to postpone the trial, the admission was withdrawn and the court suspended during on any of the offers until the reconvening of the court in January.

GRANTEEVILLE
Athletic Club Formed, with Wm. Alexander, President.
At a meeting at the gymnasium Friday night, the Graniteville Athletic club organized and the following officers were elected: President, William Alexander; vice-president, Frank Finigan; secretary and treasurer, Richard Belanger; directors, Michael Sullivan, Robert Slater, Maurice Smith; manager of basketball, Albert Aldrich; rules committee, Ernest Smith, Kenneth Buchanan, William Alexander. There was a large attendance, and it is hoped that many new members will join at the next meeting. The basketball team starts practice at once, and a schedule with strong teams in this vicinity is being arranged.
