Bearing out the claim that the Peerless Knitting Mills company of Mattapan, Mass., and Barre is generous in its treatment of employees is the announcement that the company has just insured the lives of all the employees of its plant in Mattapan without cost to the employees, in addition to the usual Christmas bonus. It is probable that the employees of the Barre plant of the company will share in such generous treatment in due time after the completion of the new factory on South Main street. In view of the close relationship which Barre people already feel toward the company, the following newspaper account will be of interest: "The employees of the Peerless Knitting Mills company of this city received a pleasant surprise yesterday when an announcement was made by the management that they were to be presented with life insurance as a reward for loyal and continued service in addition to the usual Christmas bonus. The lives of all of the employees of the company who were on active duty Dec. 15 have been insured under one blanket policy taken out with the Metropolitan Life insurance company of New York. The initial insurance for $5000 and the amount is increased by $1000 for each year's service until a maximum of $15,000 has been reached. The entire cost of the insurance is carried by the company. New employees are eligible to participate in the insurance after three months' continuous service."

The fire department received a second call Saturday afternoon. It had to return to the station from the Emmons fire and the horses were unhitched from the rigs when a telephone call came that the Standard Oil company's barn was on fire. Chief Persons rang the alarm number 135 from the station and the department left for the place. When they reached the site it was found that it was the office of P. Gill. The office is not connected with the granite shed, which probably saved the big shed from getting on fire. There was quite a wind blowing but the department was able to confine the fire to the office, so that probably not over 1000 dollars' worth of damage was done. The fire was caused by defective wiring, it is reported to originate where the electric wires go into the office in one corner and a long distance from the stove, so that it was not due to an overheated stove as was the case in the Henry Emmons stoneshed fire. Both of these fires were far from the station, which gave the horses two hard runs and showed the need of motor fire equipment more than it has been shown for a long time.

The work of registration of automobiles in the secretary of state's office continues with the same degree of rapidity that occurred last week, namely, at the rate of about 400 cars a day, as well as about 200 operators' licenses. The employees are unable to make any material gain on the 1,500 letters. That is to say, they are taking those longest in the office but new ones are arriving fast enough to keep the pile ahead of them. Telephone calls relative to the work are certain in number, many are reaching the office in such quantity that it materially reduced the work of at least one employe of the office.

People of Williamstown: Were you at the Congregational church last night to hear Mr. Walsh? If you were not, you missed a treat. The church was filled with strangers to its pews. And the evening was a treat. It is not often that a small town has a chance to secure a speaker like Mr. Walsh, and Williamstown cannot expect to keep him very long, so come, now that you have the chance. If you never go to church, begin now. Come once and you will come again. All seats are free, and you owe it to yourself and family to take this opportunity to broaden your minds. Plan upon next Sunday morning, when the subject is, "Problems of Rural Life." It is witty, up to date and instructive. Publicity committee of the Congregational church.

Milking to Music.

Long has the bucolic poet sung the pretty milkmaid; her eyes, her ankles, her grace and beauty, have inspired the rural muse, and her way through life has been lightened by the soft glow of poetry and praise. Only now has it been discovered that this romantic pursuit has its utilitarian aspect. Cowing give a more abundant yield of milk when the process of inducing them to part with it is accompanied by music. Down at a New York exhibition of electric appliances the milker was worked out on bossy with and without the accompaniment of the heavenly music's best efforts. Scotch-d and softened by the sweet strains, the gentle Aldernys, Jerseys and Holsteins, on whom the experiments were engaged, produced lacteal reward for the seekers from 10 to 12 per cent in excess of what came when the milk was all the cow had to worry about. And oh, ye high-brows! Rejoice, for bossy gave more milk when she was pleased with the noble harmonies of the classics than when her intelligence was insulted by jazz.
