Business men in Barre and vicinity, who listened to an address on "Business Now and After the War," by Charles Coolidge Parlin in July, 1918, will be interested to know of his views on the present situation. Speaking before the Pilgrim Publicity club in Boston a few days ago, Mr. Parlin, whose home is in Philadelphia, said that he was confident of the future of business in America. Nevertheless, he warned manufacturers and sellers against the period of falling prices. Mr. Parlin's words in part were: "The period of depression which followed the Civil war did not get back to normal until 1878, some 13 years after the war closed. During my investigation in parts of Kansas and elsewhere in the west recently I found farming districts in which 80 per cent of the inhabitants had no telephones, and more than 45 per cent had automobiles, with other things in proportion." Roger W. Babson, referring to what Mr. Parlin found in the middle west, said that to him it appeared evident that that section was stocked for almost a generation. The farmers of America fed the world during the war, but now that the people of Europe have turned to the cultivation of their own fields they will soon be prepared to eat their own farm products.

The beautiful polished water fountain of dark Barre granite which for many years was stationed at the north corner of the city park to accommodate horse-dogs, pigeons, etc., and which was moved in July, 1919, so that a Victory arch might be erected temporarily, remains in obscurity and the beauty of the fountain is taken from the environment of the city square. Meanwhile an iron tub, devoid of the facilities to the animal world, which the original fountain contains, sets at one side of the park, and is seldom used. Sometime ago the water department attempted to find a place which would be more suitable for the granite fountain, as the fountain replaced at the north and south would reduce traffic at the congested street junctions. Its removal from this spot seemed inevitable even before the arch was thought of but the abandonment of the fountain was not contemplated. Drivers of horse drawn vehicles hope for its return to its design as a more favorable than the high iron tub. The granite tub was designed for horses and other animals at the specification of Herman Lee Ensign in his will, who some years ago left a large sum of money for the erection of fountains for dumb animals. Mr. Ensign was a generous and thoughtful friend to animals. Barre's petition for one of these was answered and eventually it was manufactured from the beautiful "Rock of Ages" stone.

HOW HE OVERCAME DIZZY SPELLS AND STOMACH TROUBLE

The importance of building up the blood in the treatment of stomach trouble is demonstrated by the experience of Mr. Charles Cota of No. 4 Martin street, Hartford, Conn.

"I had been in poor health for nearly two years," Mr. Cota said, when seen recently at his home. "After eating I had severe pains in my stomach and sometimes at my work I had such sudden dizzy spells that I would have to sit down until the trouble passed away. I also had headaches a great deal and sometimes became so weak that I would almost fall over. There were pains in my back and limbs.

"I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and made up my mind to try them. Two weeks after I began the treatment I began to gain strength. My digestion improved in a very short time and it wasn't long before the pains left my back and limbs. I am no longer subject to dizzy spells or headaches. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for they are the only medicine that gave me lasting relief."

When the blood is thin the whole system lacks tone. The blood goes everywhere, practically, and improving the quality of the blood by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills tones up the whole body, improves the appetite, puts color in the cheeks, strengthens weak nerves and gives new vitality generally.

Do not neglect yourself but begin treatment now with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If your druggist cannot supply you the remedy will be sent postpaid by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, 60 cents per box. An interesting booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be mailed free on request.—adv.

Only a Snack.
"After a frugal little lunch in a country hotel, the millionaire, who was touring in his 20-horsepower car, called for his bill.

"Yes, sir," replied the waiter promptly. "Four sandwiches and a glass of cider, you had, sir. That will be—"

"Wait a minute!" interrupted the motorist. "There's my chauffeur somewhere. What has he had?"

"Oh, I know about him, sir," replied the waiter. "He says he's just had a snack—an omelet, grilled trout, lamb cutlets and peas, iced coffee, a half-crown cigar and a bottle of claret, sir."
